As Scheidemann made his accusations the Nationalists, pointing to the diplomatic box in which foreign representatives were seated, cried: "Why reveal these things to our enemies?" They then left the chamber.

Scheidemann charged that a secret military chief of staff existed in the ministry of war, which since 1922, collected 40,000,000 marks annually for the secret munitions fund of Berlin and the establishment of a Junkers airplane factory in Moscow, which now employs 2,000 men. The Socialist leader avowed hundred 'planes for German use.

"The German people want peace and reconciliation with the allies" he declared, "but the military activities of the Nationalist elements endanger that peace."

Making Every Effort To Move Damp Grain

Estimated 25,000,000 Bushels Still in Elevators and Farmers' Hands

Winnipeg—Urgent measures for the handling of damp grain not yet delivered by Western farmers for marketing will not be taken at the present time, according to a statement issued here by J. Leslie Boyd, K.C., chairman of the Board of Grain Commissioners.

Following a conference of members of the board, and an investigation, it was stated everything possible will be done to facilitate the movement from the farm to elevators and if the situation becomes serious in the view of the board, emergency measures will be adopted To speed up the movement of damp grain it has been decided that farmers and elevator interests will be supplied with cars out of turn on receipt of an affidavit which must accompany a request for such cars.

These applications will be accepted by Commissioner M. Mann, who has the board's Winnipeg office.

The quantity of damp grain still in country elevators and in farmers' hands is estimated at 25,000,000 bushels, with the bulk of it in North Eastern and South Eastern Saskatchewan.

The Christmas Tree

Custom Apparently Originated in Germany in the Seventeenth Century

London.—The origin of the Christmas tree is said to centre the union of two elements—the old Roman custom of decking houses with laurels and green trees at the Kalends of January, and the popular belief that every Christmas, all apple and other trees blossomed and bore fruit.

In England there is an old belief in tree blossoming at Christmas connected with the well known legend of St. Joseph of Arimathea. When the Saint settled at Glastonbury, he stuck his staff in the ealth and it put forth leaves. Moreover, it blossomed every Christmas Day.

The first historical mention of the Christmas tree is found in notes of a certain Strasburg citizen of unknown name written in the year 1605. "At Christmas," he writes, "they set up fir trees in the parlors at Strasburg and hang thereon, rose cut out of many colored papers, apples, wafers, gold and sweets."

The Christmas tree was introduced into France in 1600. In 1800 between 30,000 and 35,000 were said to have been sold in Paris.

In England it is alluded to in 1789, but did not become at all general until 1840 when Queen Victoria and Prince Albert had a Christmas tree.

The original Christmas tree was intended to be a thing of beauty and radiance—a blaze of wonder, adorned with countless lights and glittering ornaments, with gilds of gold and silver, and bright colors of all kinds. Gifts were hung from its boughs. These were laid apart upon a table.

Minneapolis Factories Looking to Saskatchewan and Manitoba for Supply

Auld, deputy minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan.

Xmas Or Christmas

Campaign Started in Western Way to Eliminate Use of Xmas

New York.—Yorgensen may not mind whether it is spelled "Xmas" or "Christmas," so long as Santa Claus makes his annual visit with toys and candies, but a campaign has started to eliminate the use of Xmas as being contrary to the reverence due to the word.

Several clergymen will speak against the use of the abbreviated word from their pulpit, in this city and there will be radio addresses on the same purpose. The sponsors of the move hold that Xmas has a subtle tendency to destroy the beautiful thought that connects with Christmas as well as to bring the name of Christ to the very brink of contempt.

Governor Hayes and Bishop T Manning were named as churchmen who have endorsed the campaign

Provence Increase In British Immigration

Applications Already Received Nearly Double Those of Last Year

London.—Immigration from Britain to Canada next year will show a second increase, in the opinion of J. Bruce Walker.

The applications already received are double those for the corresponding period of last year, and although many may not fulfill the qualifications demanded and therefore must be eliminated, those in closest touch with the situation believe that the net result will be a tremendous increase in emigration.

Mr. Bruce Walker refuses to estimate the actual numbers, saying it is impossible to do so at present but expresses himself as being very pleased with the prospects, particularly with regard to family emigration. It is obvious also that the organization will be able to absorb the, 300,000 men who are now out of employment, and this should serve to stimulate emigration.

FEDERAL HOUSE IS ADJOURNED TILL FEBRUARY 8

Ottawa.—Final reading was given in the House of Commons to the supply bill totalling $46,580,950, representing the balance of the amount of the main estimates, and the House then adjourned March 31 next. The bill was given royal assent in the Senate by Chief Justice S. A. Taschb. It passed the Senate and House of Commons shortly before the ceremony

Immediately afterward the commons re-assembled and formally adjourned for Christmas recess

In the course of the brief discussion on the bill, J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre, described the Canadian Minneapolis Grain Exchange, and pended about by Mr. Acheson and P. H. Auld, deputy minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan.

Two big Minneapolis concerns, the Finnimus Insulating Company, and the Minneapolis Manufacturing Company, are finding the local flax straw supply insufficient, and are extending their purchases into Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and Mr. Auld suggests that farmers who have flax straw should hold their stacks of it for a while.

Home Grown Christmas Gifts

Suggestion is Made as a Means of Promoting Trade

As a means to promote trade between the various parts of the Empire, the suggestion is made that Christmas gifts be purchased in the country of the donor. Thus, if a Canadian wishes to send a present to his friend in Australia, he should purchase a Canadian article. If he wishes to send a present to his friend in Canada, he should purchase a Canadian article. Canadian dairy products are particularly recommended, and are at present very reasonable in price.

The sacred edifice was nicely filled by members of the congregation, together with a large number of friends who had assembled to join in this special service. The ordination service was taken by the Rt. Rev. J. R. Lucas, D.D., Bishop of Mackenzie River and at present acting Bishop of Saskatchewan, assisted by the Rt Rev. E. A. PIONEER PASSES AWAY AT SARDIS, B. C.

This district, where he was so long and favorably known, will learn with deep feelings of regret of the death of Andrew Eckford, who passed away of pneumonia at his home, Sardis, B.C. on Wednesday, December 15th. The deceased had reached the advanced age of nearly 77 years. He is survived by his widow and a grown-up family of two daughters and four sons, namely, Mrs W. Blissett, Sudbury, Ont.; Mrs R. C. Holmes, Sardis, B.C.; Herbert F., Vermilion; Walter S., C.N.R. conductor, Kamsack, Sask.; William J., Vermilion and Sidney A., Sardis, B. C. Another son, Hector H., was killed overseas, where he served with the Birch Machine Gun Corps.

The late Andrew Erkford was born at Arnprior, Ontario on January 22nd, 1850 which was his home for many years and where he was married to Jane Wilson. After several years in Parry Sound the family moved west in 1900 settling at Fort Saskatchewan. In 1904 Mr. Ekford died on land in the Ottawa district and moved from the Fort in 1907 where he farmed continuously until the year 1919 when he went to British Columbia, spending two years at Hillsboro and Kamloops. It was only last November that Mr and Mrs. Ekford with their little 5-dogged daughter, moved to Sardis where he had purchased land in 1913. The deceased had always enjoyed the best of health throughout his long life. The sympathy of all goes out to his widow and the family in their hour of bereavement.

Junior Hockey Re-organized

The Vermilion Junior Hockey team which won such notable success last year, has recently been re-organized and are now being put through their daily work-outs under the managerial eye of Mr. H. W. Harper. Owing to the absence of Weaver, Eagles', Hanson, Badgero and Fraser, much new material has to be groomed into shape and as things now stand it looks as if Eddie Mooney, of Edmonton junior hockey fame, will pair up with husky Dill Mead on defence, while between the sticks we will have the cool-headed Clarence Welch. On the front line George Donnely will be on the job again at right wing, while the rest of the line is as yet mostly conjecture. Watty, of the V. S. A., will probably hold down left wing, with the pick of "Dick" Cowper, "Tenny" Carson, Art Wiebe, and Barry Bell for the centre ice position, and the others will act as utility men.

Investigate Death Of Slawa Woman

Stomach of Mary Pawlak Is Sent To Edmonton for Analysis

The stomach of Mary Pawtyk of Slawa has been sent to Edmonton for analysis in order to ascertain the cause of her death. Last week the police detachment here was notified that the Pawtyk woman had died suddenly under peculiar circumstances. Constable Curry in his investigation found the woman had been drinking methylene whiskey for two or three days prior to her death that there were marks on her head and that she had died during convulsions. Examination of the stomach will probably reveal the immediate cause of death.

Bible Printed In 1630

Alberta Man Prizes Ancient Book

(Edmonton Journal)

His attention attracted by a news item which appeared in the Journal of December 14, which told of a Bible 296 years old, valued at $15,000 in the possession of a Pennsylvania family, H. A. Searle, Vermilion, walked into the Journal office on Monday and left a Bible printed in London in 1630. This makes the Bible 296 years old, but Mr. Searle was unable to say how long it had been in the possession of the family. He would be glad to have some local expert examine it.

On the faded fly-leaf there appears first the name of Wm. Wisby, born 1710. A descendant of his Susan Wisby, born 1813, married Abraham Searle about 1840, and the book was brought to Canada 25 years ago.

Robert Barker, printer to the Kings Most Excellent Majesty, by the Assignes of John Bill, is the publisher of the book. In the translators note to the "Most Gracious and Mighty Prince, James the Sixt of that name King of Great Britaine, France and Ireland," James I is complimented on being crowned "after the long and tedious night of Rebellion," and a hint of the social and political trouble to come is given in

Let some beau call for me driving a horse,
Even a horseless would not be so worse.
Let me come trotting back to [illegible]
Let me say, "Thanks for the old buggy ride."
Let me give parties where all behave well,
Proper in manners or stories they tell,
Let some good dancer with decorous grip
Waltz me around with no flash on his hip.
O, let me rest from this soul killing pace,
Throw away compact and cigarette case;
Turn out the radio, let me expand
Playing sweet airs on the upright or grand.
Let me wear shirts that are down to my heels,
Put on a bustle to see how it feels.
How I'd love low heels, regardless of height;
Give me my corsets back, just for tonight

GREENFIELD PLANS ENGLISH CAMPAIGN

Hon. H. Greenfield, who is going to England as special immigration agent for the Alberta government, expects to leave about the middle of January. He will, on arrival in the old country, take up headquarters in London and from that centre will carry on an active campaign of publicity and education with a view to attracting desirable land settlers for this province.

It is probable that considerable prominence will be given in the legislature to the government's new immigration policy, which by that time will be fully decided upon and ready for announcement. Mr. Greenfield's work in England is to be part of that general program, and it is anticipated that co-operation in the effort between the provincial and federal governments will be possible on a larger scale than heretofore.

Great Immigration Movement

Peace River District Destined to Become Alberta Gateway

In a recent editorial on the success of Herman Trelle, at the International Grain and Hay Show, Olympia, in Vancouver Sun states: "Herman Trelle, age 30, of Wembley, Peace River, Alberta, was the world's champion ploughman for both wheat and oats This means two things: It means that the Peace River District still produces the best grain on the face of the earth. It means that Peace River offers unstinted agricultural opportunities for young men.

"The fact that Peace River has grown the world's best grain should be broadcast in every country where agricultural workers exist. It is just such facts as this, dramatizing the wonderful fertility of the area, that will sell the rich area of Peace River to the world.

"Peace River, with its marvellous productive ability, its thousands of virgin acres, its cheap land, is destined to become the great immigration magnet of Western Canada."

Brandon Claims Honor

Believing in a motto that appeared in a journal recently that there were 650,000 members of the boys' and girls' calf competitions in North America, Mr. J. D. McGregor, Brandon, Man., said that it is notable that the very first event of his kind held anywhere was held in Brandon. "These competitions have done more to encourage good live stock breeding and create more interest in stock generally than any other event any where" he said.

Cold In France

Earthquakes in Mid-Atlantic Changing Course of Gulf Stream

France is shivering this winter in the coldest weather that has been experienced for twenty years and scientists put the blame on earthquakes in mid Atlantic and the Gulf stream.

They have been taking the temperature of ocean water among the Atlantic islands and have reported that every year the ocean is growing colder. In their opinion the day is not a thousand years distant when Ireland will be a winter resort and France will be deserted except during a few months of the summer.

If the Gulf stream, which gives certain parts of France its mild winters, is shifted only a few hundred miles out of its course by further changes of the ocean's bottom, the heat bringing waters from the tropics will be a course for Iceland and might even bring winter primroses to Greenland.

Scientists found that the Atlantic earthquakes, which lifted the ocean floor off the French coast, while affecting the bottom of the mid Atlantic to sink deeper, had pulled the Gulf stream further out towards the middle of the sea.

It is the waters in that stream which make central Channel Islands and parts of the French Atlantic coast so warm in winter as Florida or the Riviera. France has always felt herself able to answer for the general heating system, but scientists now point out that a few more quakes and the central heat will be turned off. The storms blowing down from the North Sea would then give France the winter temperature of Alberta.

World's Poultry Congress

Delegates to Attend From the Four Quarters of the Earth

Exhibits at the World's Poultry Congress to be held in Ottawa, July 27 to August 4, 1927, will cover more than two hundred thousand square feet of floor space and will make a record for any single branch of agriculture. The national educational exhibits will occupy a floor space of fifty five thousand square feet There will be approximately ten thousand live birds on exhibition, and those will include specimens of every breed and variety in the American standard of perfection. Commercial exhibits will be one of the main attractions, and one hundred manufacturing firms has already taken seven thousand square feet of space.

Among the European countries that have decided to take part in the Congress are Germany, Roumania, Italy, Russia, Denmark, Poland, Belgium, Holland, Spain, and Latvia. The meeting of the people from Europe with the English-speaking peoples of the old and new world and the lands of South America, at the Congress in Ottawa is believed, do much to promote national friendship, and encourage good fellowship.

Settler From Illinois Satisfied

Farming Conditions in Canada Compared With the United States

Twenty three years ago W. M. Garland came to Westlock, Alberta, from Clute, Illinois, U.S.A., and took up his area of homestead land. He then had $400 in capital. He now owns 320 acres, 160 of which are under cultivation, and he estimates the value of his property at $18,000.

In a letter written recently to the Edmonton, Alberta, Board of Trade, Mr. Garrison states that he likes Alberta very much. The taxes, he says, are lower than in the United States, and the greatest advantage is that rural districts are good and the land cannot be surpassed for fertility. After 23 years' experience he states that in his opinion anyone coming to Western Canada, willing to work and prepared to exercise economy until he becomes well established, cannot help but be successful.

Moreton, Mr. J. D. McGregor, Brandon, Man., said that it is notable that the very first event of his kind held anywhere was held in Brandon. "These competitions have done more to encourage good live stock breeding and create more interest in stock generally than any other event any where" he said.

Record Salmon Pack

All previous records have been broken by the salmon pack in British Columbia for 1924. It is estimated that the total pack for this year, when all returns are in, will be, in round figures, 1,500,000 cases. The nearest approach to this was in 1921, when 1,250,000 cases were put up. The pack by species are sockeye, 323,415 cases; spring, 65,000; cohoe, 160,307; pink, 349,686; blueback, 19,314; chum, 582,633, and steelheads 1 773

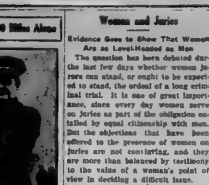
The Future of Aviation

Air Development of Great Importance During the Next Few Years

It was a fascinating and alluring picture of the future of aviation that Sir Alan Cobham depicted in the address he delivered at the civic reception tendered him on Saturday. The distinguished British flier thinks the air development of greatest importance during the next few years will be along the lines of private flying, and sees the day in the immediate future when small, privately owned aeroplanes will be in general use.

No one who has heard Sir Alan could have any doubt that flying has come to stay, and that the greatest transportation developments of the future will be in the air. This does not mean that other forms of transportation will be superseded by either commercial or private flying, but that they will be supplemented. Air Liner will never take the place of an Atlantic liner, a freight steamer or a transcontinental train, but it will be a valuable complement to all of these means of transportation when fast service is desired.

Sir Alan has told of the formation of aero clubs in England and America and of the splendid work they are doing in these countries in training fliers who hope to own their own machines when they have qualified as pilots. He has emphasized this important matter, and it is to be hoped that before long similar clubs will be formed throughout the Dominion. For the fostering and developing of interest in aviation there could be no better start than a club such as he has given abundant demonstration of the possibilities of an organization of the British Empire. He is completely "sold" on the project and himself, he has also the ability to impart his enthusiasm directly and successfully, and that unbounded enthusiasm that never fails to beget a like confidence in others—Toronto Globe.



One bears a lot about the independence of the present generation, but Andrew Knight, aged one year and seven months, of Scotland and Vancouver has established a new record for present day travellers.

Almost a month ago, Andy an everyone affectionately calls him was deprived of both mother and father. There was no one to love him, to cuddle him or tuck him in at night. He was all alone in the world, which seemed pretty cruel to such a tiny mite of humanity.

Then someone remembered that there were relatives in Vancouver, and Andy in a new blue knitted travelling suit (he is wearing it in the picture), set out alone on one of the many journeys ever made by one of such tender years. But having such a way with him, Andy soon made friends with everyone on the ship, and the 6,000 miles proper he covered in seven and a conductor passed very pleasantly indeed. He couldn't complain about the service either, for his whole trip, over the Atlantic on the C.P. liner Montclare and all the way from St. John to Vancouver on the C.P.R. each train exactly five dollars.

Believes Smoke One Cause Of Pneumonia

High Death Rate in Pittsburgh Taken as Proof

Pittsburgh considered to stand as a basis experimental laboratory to determine whether smoke directly increases the death rate from pneumonia and other acute respiratory diseases, Dr. William H. Park, pathologist of the United States Public Health Service at Washington, told the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Dr. White was introduced by the question that smoke was one of the contributory causes of pneumonia, irritating the membranes of the nose, throat and lungs and enabling it easier for the disease germs to get a foothold.

If this could be generally recognized, he said, the smoke problem would be regarded, not merely as an annoyance, but as a direct death threat.

"Pittsburgh presents two striking facts," he said. "It has a low tuberculosis death rate, but the highest constant pneumonia death rate of any community in the world. Furthermore in analyzing the pneumonia death rate by wards it becomes evident that the denser the smoke content of the air the higher the pneumonia death rate."

Machine That Tears Steel

Made in England to Test Girders for Suspension Bridges

Looking at the thick steel girders of a bridge, or of a large building under construction, it seems as though anything short of an earthquake could break their rigidity.

Yet, for the biggest single span bridge in the world, in course of erection across Sydney Harbor in New South Wales, Australia the steel work for which is being constructed by an English firm—an entirely new kind of testing machine has been built.

This machine will be housed in a workshop at Middlesbrough, and it will test the compression and stretching power of each of the girders, which are to be sent separately to Australia.

No previous steel testing machine has been as powerful as this new British one, which is capable of exerting a force of 1,000 tons. The heaviest material possible can in one year to prove a steel bar 6 inches thick.

More Big Yields

Reports of more big yields of wheat have recently been issued to the Alberta Department of Agriculture, including the following from Patrick district: A. Smart, 41 bushels per acre; H. Headrickson, 42 bushels, M. Sim, 43 bushels; J. A. Morrow, 44 bushels; H. Tupper, 44 bushels; A. F. Williamson, of Vetchall, reports 46 bushels per acre, and W. H. Fraser-Hag, of Lacombe, 50 bushels per acre.

Women and Juries

Evidence Goes to Show That Women Are as Level-Headed as Men

The question has been debated during the last few days whether women jurors can stand, or ought to be expected to stand, the ordeal of a long criminal trial. It is one of great importance, since every day women serve on juries as part of the obligation entailed by mutual citizenship with men. But the objections that have been offered to the presence of women on juries are not convincing, and they are more than balanced by testimony to the value of a woman's point of view in deciding a difficult issue.

There have been rare instances of loss of self-control by women jurors. Against this must be set the experience of so capable a witness as Sir Robert Wallace, the chairman of the London County Council, that women are as level-headed as men, and and that if juries have changed at all since women sat on them they have become more intelligent. The human appeal cannot be ruled out of any tribunal. It is obvious that the case for believing that women are more apt than men to allow it to influence their judgment is specially strong in cases, especially divorce suits, there seems little doubt that the inclusion of women jurors definitely aids the course of justice

It is no uncommon thing for a man to be called to jury service, and there is no reason why an woman who feels herself incapable of the task should not claim the exemption which the judges are always ready to grant when there is ground for it. But it is only recently that the right to sit on juries has been conceded to women will be exercised in England and Wales.—London Daily Mail.

John Bull Very Much Alive

Is Facing Long Pull Ahead With Optimistic Spirit

The troubles old John Bull has had to face during the last few years would have sufficed to knock the stuffing out of almost any other nation on the face of the earth. But John has met a heavy load for many years to come, but he is facing it with teeth clenched and an optimistic spirit.

Quite a few outsiders have been inclined to read the burial service over the old gentleman in many of the ways which may have been father to the thought.

But let the old chap learn! ever get one foot in the grave. It is useless for the expectant beneficiaries to start their rebuilding the estate among these wolves.

Everybody who has anything to do with the big business in Great Britain at the present time is agreed that, with the end of the coal strike, British industry is in for a long pull and a hard one.

Recently orders for home and foreign contracts have been booked worth several hundred millions sterling in the aggregate.

Engineering, shipbuilding, dam building and other steelworking, which all their eggs in one basket, are practically occupied for from eighteen months to two years, even if they do not receive another order.

An old reliable firm that produces a good job and sticks to its contract is known in little time as "good as gold," no matter how serious the competition may be.

Immigration To Canada

48,826 Canadians Return from United States Since April 1st.

Immigration to Canada for the month of October totalled 19,812, according to an official statement by the Department of Immigration and Colonization. This is the highest monthly record since October, 1920, when the total immigration was 7,262 The immigration for October, 1924, consisted of 2,651 British, 1,799 from the United States, and 6,580 from other countries.

For the ten months of the calendar year up to and including October, 1924, immigration to Canada amounted to 122,848, which is an increase of sixty three per cent over the same ten months a year ago.

In addition to the immigration totals shown by the above statement, 4,606 Canadians returned to Canada during October as having returned from the United States after having entered the country with the intention of remaining there permanently. These new devotees their intention of remaining permanently. During the total number of such Canadians returning from the United States since April 1, of this year is 48,826.

Agriculture and Transportation

By C. W. Peterson

The export products of the farm are subject to the inexorable law of supply and demand. An excess or production in any year throughout the world, often results in prices as low that the margin of profit is eliminated. While many countries are affected not only by home demand, but the surplus of these commodities must compete in foreign markets with other productive countries, having varying conditions of labor and transportation. It was those farm products most open to competition on the basis of supply and demand in these various "World Markets" it is obvious that the cost of transportation must in the ordinary race be deducted before the producer is paid.

If the Alberta farmer wishes to buy an automobile he pays the Windsor price plus freight. If he wishes to sell wheat in Liverpool he receives the price of wheat in Liverpool less the freight charges. This is a fundamental charges. The farmer pays the transportation cost on both the sale and the wheat. He must invest in the Liverpool market, the seller from every part of the world. Transportation charges are the price of access to the farmer, they directly enter into and affect his profit. He pays transportation "coming and going."

The most important factor in the determination of prices of industrial products is the element of quality. Volume of output results in certain extraordinary reductions in cost. The same principle applies to agriculture. Transportation, but even more so. Density and volume of traffic is the controlling factor. The density of the Canadian makes his contribution to traffic volume. Every new farmer creates a transportation problem. Settling in cleared agricultural settlement in Canada will solve the cost problem in the most economical and satisfactory as far as it is susceptible, to solution A vigorous colonization policy is the most feasible remedy against this bar den.

Explanations and Comments

I. Four Fishermen Called to Follow Jesus (Mark 1:16-20). It was early in the day when walking along the shore of the sea of Galilee, Jesus saw two brothers, Simon (who is called Peter, Mt. 4:18), and Andrew, casting a net in the sea. They were fishermen. Jesus called to them, drawing it up. Rest on one side of the boat and the other. The work done for a man often ceases, they had none out in a boat to let a net down and then would draw it in from the land. Peter called Jesus Master in the Palestinian sailor, saying, "Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men." They were not to give up their nets in following Jesus, but to employ them as the figure of speech means.

It is was not the first time the two brothers had seen Jesus. Some days before left the nets and followed him. "Mark the difference in the obedience of these companions. Christ, the great fisherman, preached to them the gospel of redemption. "For though they were in the midst of their work, and though they knew already a thing fruitful to get when they left it, yet they immediately delayed not, they precipitated not, they did not, Let us return home and consider what our business is, but they forsook all and followed him."

To you and me Jesus says Step by step now, your school, your home, your business, and follow me. Do everything in my name, and do what every one else is doing, and to do for others for my sake

A whimsical smile played with the corners of her mouth. "I remember," she said, "that you promised me, that first day at Yvonne's that you would be awfully fond of me." The smile disappeared, and left her wistful. "And I remember, too, that you are the only one, Teddy, who has turned out to be just what I thought you would be. All the rest are different than I expected."

"Are you, too, different than you thought you'd be?"

She laughed, gaily but all she said was, "Bingo." Her subtle joke escaped, and, "But my mamma's remainder, Teddy! It may transpire that some day I shall have nothing left but remainder. And if that happens, I'll want them all saved up. You'll be one of the best of them."

He caught her hand, when she rose, and held her. She di l not draw away, but stood quietly, her eyes meeting his. She was so close to him that he felt the warmth and tenderness of her, and that she was almost breathless. Her nose had a little tilt, and it curled into a riot and he was dizzy. When his head cleared he felt her crushed against him, and realized that it was his own arms that were holding her there, holding her so tightly that already her body was yielding to his. Seven Must Die For Assaulting Girl

Ten Others Are Given Jail Terms By Ross Court

LENINGRAD, Russia, Dec. 28.—Seven Russian youths today were sentenced by the provincial court to be shot for an attack on a young factory girl in a public park here. Ten others, who participated in the crime, were sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from one to ten years.

The trial attracted nation-wide attention, because of the declaration of the public prosecutor that cases of collective assault were becoming shockingly prevalent. He demanded the death penalty for all seventeen defendants, as an example. After fifteen hours' deliberation, however, the court imposed the death penalty only on seven.

Relics of Exploration Party Found

Seventy-eight years ago a gallant party of British naval men, braving the stark terrors of Thule, sailed north into the Arctic Ocean in search of the Northwest passage.

They never returned and the Franklin party is in the annals of the Arctic explorers, as a tragedy eclipsing the lives of 105 men. This year relics of the ill-fated party have come to light in the Canadian Arctic "far-at-on-tomorrow, 20th, for Dock's Fish River," is the last message from the men. It was found in 1859 at the party's last camp. The note was written by Capt. F. R. M. Crozier of H. M. S Terror on April 25th, 1848. Sir John Franklin was the commander of the expedition. His ships were the Terror and the Erebus. He had sailed from England in 1845.

Buried Gems

Several years passing without news of the expedition, relief parties were sent out by sea and land and it was by these expeditions and by further attempts to learn the fate of Franklin that it is true that the few details now known were secured. In 1854-51 Captain William Penny located the site of Franklin's first winter quarters on Beechey Island; in 1854 Dr John Rae learned from natives that a party of white men had been seen travelling over the ice near King William Island, and in 1859 Captain M'Clintock found many relics including Captain Crozier's record already referred to, reporting the death of Franklin, the abandonment of the two ships in the ice to the west and south of King William Island, and indicating the stirring way south.

Scraps of the 105 survivors to make which way south.

Of recent years little additional information about Franklin had been secured but during the summer of 1926 Pete, Norberg, a trader, picked up a small piece of shoe leather, pieces of navy cloth, and fragment of an oar, rotting at Simpson cove on Adelaide peninsula opposite King William island.

Last Attempt

The significance of this discovery is that the relics were found on the route that the survivors would have to take in order to reach Back's Fish river. This river is now called Back river after its discoverer Captain George Back, R.N. Mr. Norberg who is a retired green trading, turned these relics over to Mr. John F Mosan, inspector of the North West Territories, and whose branch of the department of the interior, spent the winter of 1925-26 on King William island and investigated, so far as possible, the story current among the natives there that a large ship lies submerged under twelve feet of water among some reefs to the east of Matty island. This information was corroborated from five different sources, all of which agreed in detail, but as the sea was frozen he was not able to do more than gain a knowledge of the location. That location, however, is consistent with the known facts as to the place where the ships were abandoned, and the set of the currents.

Driven Over Reef

According to reports of natives the ship was driven over a reef and broken in two, and it can be seen quite clearly when the ice goes out in the short Arctic summer. Mr. Inspector Jarvis was not able to form an opinion as to which of the two ships it might be. He has secured a number of relics in the form of scraps of brass and iron; a piece of mahogany, apparently part of a quarter-deck railing; a wooden bowl similar to the one found by Mr. Hoare; etc. He convinced from the amount of iron being used by the natives for spear and arrow points, that a large quantity of European goods, particularly casks and cases, looped and bound with iron, must have been scattered along this coast.

Of course, what all explorers search for are log books or memoranda of any kind, but the finds of this season did not include such treasures.

Xmas at Wildwood

KITSCOTY DISTRICT

A most successful entertainment was put on by the teacher of Wildwood school, Mrs. E. J. Bradley. The building was filled to capacity. The program, consisting of choruses, dialogues, Christmas thoughts, recitations, drills and songs, was well carried out and showed the mark of efficient training. The Ladies' Aid of Wildwood church put on a sale of work at the close of the concert, good business being done and ready made for all the articles being made. The ladies are gratified at the amount realized.

After the sale the great event of the evening took place, when Santa Claus made himself busy by distributing of his bells. While he made his appearance there was an intense excitement for a short time, for the hopeful look reflecting itself on each visage showed that they were confident of a gift from Santa, and in that they were not disappointed. As each one's name was called out, the present was handed on by Santa with a kind word of greeting. When all was distributed, a sumptuous lunch was served by the Ladies' Aid, followed by Mr. Mitchelson, minister on the field acting as chairman, called for a vote of thanks to Mrs Bradley for the wonderful success and those who had taken part in making it a success. Before parting the chairman asked the audience to rise and sing "God save the King" which was heartily responded to, bringing a happy evening to an end.

Vermilion, Alta., Dec. 30, 1926.

THE PASSING OF THE YEAR.

This is the last issue of The Standard for the year 1926 and we take the opportunity to extend to all our readers sincerest wishes for a happy and bright New Year. May the incoming year hold in store for them a full measure of success and prosperity, many warm friends, and good health.

To our advertisers we express our warm appreciation of the support accorded us through the advertising columns of the paper upon which every publication is entirely dependent, and it is a pleasure to state that it shows a considerable increase over the previous year; the job work department also has had a like result. The latter is a source of satisfaction, particularly in the face of the fact that mail order concerns and personal solicitation from outside centres has been most pronounced — and in company with others who shop out of town to the detriment of their own community. Merchants have been loyal and fractions which are in the same category. However, we can only trust that in the future, as they see the year for 1927, many may see the error of their ways.

To all, then, blessings in the new year.

PAYING OF BILLS AND PROSPERITY.

When Roger Babson, economist, was asked by a Vancouver paper to state what he considered were the best helpful message for the year-end, he sent out the following:

"Pay your bills—and New Year Resolutions; but why wait until the "New Year? How about resolving to pay them up now all debts, especially "all current bills"

"Credit is like the blood flowing in "your veins. Anything which retards "the flow of credit harms the business body. Hence when you owe money "all of your city suppers. Do not."

"Debts cause death both to men "and communities. If you really are "determined to improve business pros"perity, pay up all your current bills im"mediately so that others can pay "theirs."

The words of this noted economist apply equally as forcibly to smaller communities in their dealings one with the other. The New Year is accepted as a time to force such truths home, and we take an especial opportunity when good advice may receive a more kindly reception.

START THE NEW YEAR RIGHT!

Reading matter, given in the spirit of the year about to break, is responsible for the adoption of the following resolution by Standard advertisers:

"Resolved, that we, the staff of the "fifty two weeks of the year 1927, we "will have our advertising copy in "the hands of the printers by Tues"day noon; that one 'phone call from "the office of publication as a remin"der in the morning of the said day "day will be considered a full and "ample reminder to us. By this "means we feel that we can co-operate materially and in a most desir"able way with the publishers to "Watch the heating of the lowly "paper in good time, which we con"sider in a bounden duty on our "parts."

The way to lead the citizens of Canada to a realization of the revenues of fire waste is to begin at the beginning and train the children; if the school boards could be brought to realize the importance for the teaching of fire-prevention methods much would be done towards reducing the annual drain on our national wealth. The value of training was demonstrated in the report of a recent fire where a little girl put out a fire in her home by using a rug to smother the blaze. The child had heard a lecture given by a fire inspector which interested the children what to do when certain situations arise. The child had discovered a blaze in the kitchen and she grasped the rug and smothered it. Then she told what had happened. Asked how she happened to use the rug, she replied: "That's what the fire inspector told us to do in his lecture."

The sugar factory at Raymond, Southern Alberta, finished business for this season last month, with a total delivery of about 24,000 tons of beets. About 150,000 has been paid out to the farmers for beets. About 100,000 bags of sugar have been made, with 12,000 tons of pulp available for stock feeding.

Oil has been struck in the Imperial Oil company's well in the Lloydminster district, on the west side of the boundary line between Saskatchewan and Alberta, at a depth of 1,330 feet. It is said that officials of the Imperial company admit that the flow might possibly be 300 barrels a day. This is the first well brought in in the Saskatchewan Alberta field. Several companies are drilling in this field at the present time.

Tree and Entertainment at Tolland

A very successful entertainment was put on by the day school teacher and the Sunday school teachers at Tolland on Monday evening 20th Dec. when a welcome and excellent program of recitations, tableaux, songs, dialogues, and sketches was well sustained by the pupils and young people of the district. The emotional part of the evening arrived when the tension of children and the elderly people as well rose to the high level mark as the sound of Santa Claus bells was heard. Then Santa arrived with smiles all over his face, and began the dismantling of the Christmas tree of all its lovely gifts. Mrs. O. H. Webber, with her usual generosity, gave a special gift from herself to every child in the district.

Mr. Michelson, the minister on the field, who acted as chairman, called for a vote of thanks to the teacher and the Sunday school teachers, and one of the day school, Miss F. M. Wolters, who took part in bringing about this splendid program is a successful issue, which was heartily responded to. After, a one-minute inch purveying and served by the ladies of the district, a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Webber for his usual kindness in bringing the tree for the occasion.

A joyful evening was brought to a close by everyone present rising and singing "God save the King."

At a cost of $400,000, approximately 450 miles of new roads were graded in Saskatchewan this year. Those roads are known as "relief roads" and are built in localities where they were most needed by settlers. Every mile has been built to specification.

General News Matter

For the third time the Melnesh Rod has been pronounced the finest dessert apple in the British Empire, having captured first class honours at the Imperial Fruit show recently held at Holland Park, London, Eng. The Associated Growers of British Columbia are the winners of the distinctive honor and, having been successful competitors in the dessert class in the British Empire section for three years they now become the owner of the silver challenge cup presented by the Associated Growers of British Columbia, Quebec, Ontario and Nova Scotia. The second and third prizes in the dessert apple section were also won by British Columbia with the "Jonathan" variety. The same province was awarded the first and second prizes for the best cooking apples, "Hemes Beauty" carrying off the first prize and "Northwest Greening" the second. Five other prizes in different sections were won by British Columbia. Ontario won three prizes and one second, Nova Scotia, three first and three second and Quebec, one first. The apples known as the Melnesh Red, now internationally famous, was first produced several years ago by the late Henry McMelnesh, on his farm at Dundela, near Iroquois, Ontario.

The sudden death of Sir James Whitmyer, in England, has brought to light the fact that a syndicate had been organized in the Old Country for the purpose of taking over the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. Sir James was one of the company and was to have left England on the day of his death for British Columbia with a party for a final inspection of the territory served by the road. It was proposed to complete the line to Prince George, where connection would be made with the Edmonton-Prince Rupert line of the Canadian National Railways, and extend it to the upper Peace River country, where, presumably, connection would be made with the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia line, now being operated by the Alberta government. It is reported that Sir James' death will not interfere with the plans of the syndicate, other than to delay action for a time and it is expected that a proposal will be submitted in tangible form to the British Columbia government in time to be dealt with by the provincial legislature at its next session. Sir James and his colleagues were induced to take up the project by the land grant offered by the Government for the completion of the road.

Fifty thousand Cossack farmers of Southern Russia who decline to submit to Soviet rule want to emigrate to Western Canada, according to a statement made by Joseph Obolitch, of Belgrade, who is in Canada as the representative of the Prague Society of Russian Agricultural Societies.

Canada's largest combined ranch is now being established at Swan Lake, about 40 miles west of Quesnel, in Central British Columbia. The farm consists of an area of swamp land, hills and woods, totalling about 7,500 acres, a large part of which has been enclosed by wire fences. There are about 4,000 mainrems on the farm now and re-stocking is taking place, weekly disbursements to trappers amounting to $1,000. It is calculated that the farm will eventually have an annual output of $0,000 pelts

One of the first and most important things to be remembered as a protection of fire in the home is to keep matches out of the reach of children. Never allow children to play with fire, and they should not be left alone when there is a fire in the stove. Matches should always be kept where there is no danger of mice chewing them as that is sometimes the cause of many homes being burned.

There is no mystery about the Wheat Pool. It is merely an association of farmers who are trying to get reasonable prices for what they produce in the way of wheat. For 20 years this was sought by statutory enactment. These regulations did not curb or regulate the trade whose members were growing wealthier while the farmers who produced the commodity out of which the trade made its millions became poorer. Then in desperation came the pool, which has grown into a gigantic commercial success, handling more than 250,000,000 worth of wheat annually. It is not the oil charges as the price-determining factor that is the cause of the world's Canadian farmers' revenue from wheat any more. The orderly marketing system of the Wheat Pool has put a stop to that phase of the grain trade which in other years made wealthy men of every land that handled grain at the expense of the producers. And the first important thing to come before parliament will be the Canadian Wheat Board Act for the Pool, in which the bulk of the grain produced is shipped to Pool terminals to meet the demands of the world's markets. This is the measure that became law, so far as the house was concerned, at the last session of parliament, but which failed to get by the senate. A powerful lobby is organized against it. Will all the farmers vote for the Pool management if this will exist, then become law in order to give the Pool a chance to function? Or will they vote against it? Will they, in other words, vote to continue the present system which does not seem to be burning the Pool, as memberships and volumes of grain are steadily increasing in all three provinces of the consolidated Pool

The Standard is pleased to report that the condition of little Kenneth Thompson is reported as more favorable. Suffering from a serious attack of pneumonia and under the care of a special nurse, it was deemed advisable to move the patient to the hospital which was done last Monday night. It is trusted to hear of his continued improvement.

At a meeting in the Fire Hall on Wednesday under the supervision of H. W. Harper, three juvenile hockey teams were organized, captained by Kenneth Carson, John Bosgaike and Douglas Cooper Games will be played every Tuesday and Thursday.

THE DEVIL

(Family Herald and Weekly Star)

Men don't believe in the devil now as their fathers used to do.

They've turned the door of the broad road creed to let his majesty through.

There isn't a grain of his cloven foot or a fiery dart from his bow

To be found in the earth or air today, for the world has moved on.

But who is mining the fatal draught that poisons heart and brain,

And lands the earth of each passing year with a hundred thousand slain?

Who blights the bloom of the land to day with the fiery breath of hell,

If the devil isn't dead forever was?

Won't somebody rise and tell?

Who dogs the steps of the toiling saint and digs the pits for his feet?

Who sows the tares in the field of time wherever God sows His wheat?

The devil is voted not to be, and of course the thing is true;

But who is doing the kind of work the devil alone should do?

We are told he does not go about as a roaring lion now;

But whom shall we hold responsible for the everlasting row

To be heard in home, in Church, in State, to earth's remotest bound,

If the devil, by a unanimous vote, is nowhere to be found?

Won't somebody step to the front forthwith, and make his bow and show How the frauds and the crimes of the day spring up, for surely we want to know,

The devil was fairly voted out, and of course the devil's gone.

Some simple people would like to know who carries his business on

Canada's Diamond Jubilee Year

Canada enters the new year with a bright prospects as ever faced the Dominion. There is not one dark cloud on the national horizon. All reputable authorities are in agreement in predicting that the steady progress and general betterment in conditions which started in 1928 will be continued on a still larger scale in 1927. The heads of all our chief banking and industrial institutions, the executives of our railways, our captains of industry and commerce, our political leaders all foresee great advancement for Canada throughout the new year.

There are substantial grounds for these optimism. Apart from general encouragement which, of necessity, is always present during the winter months, employment generally remains at a high level. Nor are there any lowering clouds on the labor horizon in the shape of strikes or other industrial upheavals. Railways in all lines have been good, and promises to be better. The farmers' crops of Canada, and the balance of the trade in favor of the Dominion steadily increasing. Building activities and works of construction of many kinds which showed remarkable expansion in 1926, give every sign of enabling new high levels to be reached in 1927.

In common and with all the good conditions which at present obtain affecting the people of Canada are contributing to their advantage as the Dominion enters upon the auspicious year of the Diamond Jubilee. Coupled with this improved economic situation, the decisions of the recent Imperial Conference now conferring a new status to many of the British dominions, the effect of existing Canadian tariffs and the new tariff bills before the Canadian House of Commons of 1927 and can see a high standard for all to follow.

September has previously been regarded as the vacation month in Canada, with consequent business inactivity and decreased prosperity. The United States has proved it and Canada experienced it in 1926. The reserve must be provided for a period of shorter tax receipts in 1927, and of 11 August to September inclusive, and it is to be met and given the full 11 per cent interest with, merely because and the necessary requirements of the country at the same time bearing in mind the heavy taxation, will to some extent be doubtless be provided for. Meanwhile, a progressive policy in tax reduction will create still greater confidence.

Coupled with this financial and business situation economy in the administration of public affairs, and the encouragement of developing the export trade of the Dominion a far-reaching act encouraging to immigration policy which will result in bringing to Canada legitimate that increased population which is necessary for the development of our vast resources. Such a policy was in making 1927 the banner year of Confederation.

The new year will see the Hudson Bay railway nearing completion, the first shipments of grain to the markets of the world. It is to be hoped that new year will likewise witness the inauguration of policies calculated to assist the Maritime provinces to secure their proportionate share of the general prosperity which is being enjoyed by the rest of the Dominion. Particularly should the agricultural and industrial and agricultural possibilities of these provinces be developed to the fullest extent, and the natural resources and prosperity of the other provinces be brought to their full development. Such a policy would be a powerful contribution to the new Dominion. Let the whole country, and all racial sections to bring this about. It is a world while north to occupy the best minds and energies of the Canadian people, in order that its possibilities may be realized.

And inasmuch as united national action, for the promotion of individual welfare and unity of purpose is believed each citizen of Canada to take a broad view of Canadian questions, to refrain from petty political and sectional spectacles, and when occasion apply himself to the particular task at hand in helping Canada along the road to that destiny and liberality we should see for it.

Preparing For Royalty

New Zealand Getting Ready for Duke and Duchess of York.

Preparations for the Duke and Duchess of York's visit to New Zealand in the new year are being made throughout the Dominion. Wellington, the capital, is being specially decorated for the occasion. Auckland, the largest city, is also preparing for the royal visit. The Duke will be the first member of the royal family to visit New Zealand. His father, the late King Edward VII., visited the Dominion when he was Prince of Wales.

Entitled To Peace Prize

British Navy Should Receive Award Says Bridgeman

New years Nobel peace might to be awarded to the British admiralty instead of to the nations, in the opinion of the Rt. Hon. William C. Bridgeman, first lord of the admiralty, addressing the annual meeting of the British Legion.

He have an opportunity of saving a political catastrophe in the Balkans, he said. Mr. Bridgeman made this announcement in a speech in which he declared that naval officers are somewhat shut off from the world and do not prepare articles. Since the administration of the Washington naval treaty, however, he has been compelled to write articles for the information of those and other countries and that there was no pretense with a public from it appeared to greater favor for peace than the officers of the British navy.

American Farm Settlers

Canadian Government Maintaining Seventeen Agencies in the United States

Movement of settlers from the farm entirely to Canada continues to be, notwithstanding the lateness of the season during the winter months, according to Canadian Government Agents at Fargo, North Dakota, forwarded 122 settlers and their cars and effects. Already this year there have passed with 385 settlers and four cars of effects in November, 1927. For the same month of October, 1926, the agents there reports an increase from four settlers in 1925 to 16 in 1926. The increase is most noticeable in the month of November, an increase of two hundred per cent over November a year ago.

The Canadian Government Department of Immigration and Colonization has built up an extensive agency in the United States, and forwards point to every active spring immigration from that country.

Fought Against Kitchener

Intimate Chief is Dead at Age of Ninety

The death at Wadi Halfa, of Osman Digna, the Mahdi lieutenant in the Sudan wars of the eighties and nineties, was reported in a Cairo despatch to the Exchange Telegraph.

Emir Osman Mohamed Digna, or Osman the Ugly," as he was nicknamed, lived to be more than ninety years of age. He commanded many of the battles he had fought. His origin has always been a matter of doubt, which is a pure native or of mixed native European breed. He was originally a slave dealer and joined the Dervish Mahdi in 1883, when the latter revolted against the British.

Osman Digna became the Mahdi's right hand man and fought Kitchener repeatedly, he also routed the Italians at Kyrthrea in 1896. The British engaged him in many unprofitable battles in 1900, and after keeping him for twenty two years in a cell allowed him to reside at Wadi Halfa under supervision.

Speaking of valuable home remedies that every mother should have in the house, Nurse Agnes Carrington says: "I haven't met any preparation more helpful than Nerviline. It's the ideal liniment; every drop rubs in well and relieves at once and in Nerviline coming in a short time. For chest colds it's the best stuff under the sun. I've found that Nerviline relieves the tightness in the chest like magic when applied warm. Nerviline is making 1927 the banner year of Confederation.

The new year will see the Hudson Bay railway nearing completion, the first shipments of grain to the markets of the world. It is to be hoped that new year will likewise witness the inauguration of policies calculated to assist the Maritime provinces to secure their proportionate share of the general prosperity which is being enjoyed by the rest of the Dominion. Particularly should the agricultural and industrial and agricultural possibilities of these provinces be developed to the fullest extent, and the natural resources and prosperity of the other provinces be brought to their full development. Such a policy would be a powerful contribution to the new Dominion. Let the whole country, and all racial sections to bring this about. It is a world while north to occupy the best minds and energies of the Canadian people, in order that its possibilities may be realized.

And inasmuch as united national action, for the promotion of individual welfare and unity of purpose is believed each citizen of Canada to take a broad view of Canadian questions, to refrain from petty political and sectional spectacles, and when occasion apply himself to the particular task at hand in helping Canada along the road to that destiny and liberality we should see for it.

Grain Commissioners Issue New Regulations

Rules Regarding Drying of Grain Have Been Changed

Changes in the regulations regarding the drying of grain have been issued by the Board of Grain Commissioners for Canada.

"All wheat, barley, rye and oats, the moisture content of which has been determined by the board's inspection department, whether received by public terminal or private terminal elevators, shall be subject to the terms and conditions relating to the handling of tough or damp grain as provided in the present elevator tariffs. Adjustment shall be made on the following basis of moisture content to cover loss in drying:

"Wheat, barley and rye graded tough shall be adjusted on drying basis to 14 per cent moisture content; graded damp to 15 per cent moisture content; graded damp containing 17 to 20 per cent moisture, 2.5 per cent for 20 per cent of moisture, 12 per cent moisture content.

"Oats graded tough shall be adjusted to a drying basis of 12.5 per cent moisture content; graded damp adjusted to 13 per cent moisture content; graded damp containing 15 per cent moisture, 2 per cent for 15 per cent moisture, 10 per cent for 20 per cent moisture.

"Flax graded tough and barley the moisture content of which has not been determined by the elevator at the point of delivery the same shall be entitled to deduct 2½ per cent from the amount as shown on the outstanding warehouse receipt for each one per cent of drying."

It is also announced that oats, barley or rye graded tough shall not be dried to a lower moisture content than that of Canada, such as the crop requires, and that wheat, barley and rye graded tough shall be dried under supervision of the board of grain commissioners through its inspecting officers.

CHILDHOOD CONSTIPATION

Constipated children can find prompt relief through the use of Baby's Own Tablets. These tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which will give relief to regulate the bowels of stomach, thus giving out constipation, biliousness, colds and simple fevers. Concerning them Mrs. Gus Gaudet, Lorette, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets have been of great benefit to my little girl who was suffering from constipation and indigestion. She was pale, cross and ailing and now he is in the best of health." These tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Refused Large Offer

Christmas card poets are telling how Tennyson declined the largest sum ever paid for a poem, namely when he was poet laureate. A firm of publishers offered him £5,000 for the right to publish eight lines of an eighty number his name. Believing the offer incompatible with his position as poet laureate, he declined the proposal with thanks.

Time Has Tested It.—Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil has been on the market over half a fifty years and in all that time it has proved a blessing to thousands. It is in fact more thoughout Canada and its excellence has carried its fame beyond that of all rivals. Why double the price it would be a cheap liniment.

Reviving Old Mabit

Snuff taking has again become in fashion society, although it has not yet reached the open-and-shut-board stage. Packets of high social standing are now out most regular customer," said the manager of a West End tobacconist's establishment. "They will still shy of performing in public, but very soon some strong-minded person of note will flaunt his snuff box in his cloak."

Become So Weak Could Hardly Stand

Mrs. Wm. Palmer, Tweedsmuir, Alta., writes:—"I had a bad cold, a long spell of sickness and became so weak I could hardly stand. I could not sleep at night as the least little noise would wake me up. I read about Tanlac and other nerve pills, but they did not do me good, and I was getting worse.

I wrote my mother about my condition, and the next one there bottle of

BANK OF MONTREAL HEADS OPTIMISTIC ON CANADA'S OUTLOOK

Optimistic references to business conditions in Canada were made at the 100th annual general meeting of the Bank of Montreal by the president, Sir Vincent Meredith, and by the general manager, Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor.

A broad survey of trade conditions, declared Sir Vincent, finds much to hearten and little to discourage. In almost every department of business, activity is greater and profits higher. This finds practical demonstration in the growth of the pulp and paper industry, the exploitation of our mineral resources and the harnessing of our enormous water power possibilities.

Describing present conditions in Canada, the president drew the conclusion that the Dominion "has emerged from the shadow of restricted business, unsatisfactory earnings and unfettered balance sheets and the trend of business is now distinctly upward in practically all lines of trade." I cannot see any indication that this period of prosperity is soon coming to an end. I believe the unfolding conditions are unusual and the future can be viewed with confidence."

Sir Frederick Williams Taylor, in his address, reviewed the business services rendered by the bank in the past year. He said that the yield of the fertile plains is a population of over two millions, greater than that of millions of rich and idle acres available elsewhere in 1900 in the whole field crops of these provinces is over 1.2 billion dollars, now it is over 2½ billions. This, the report says, is in the nature of a cure and rapidly increasing.

Secondly, although Canada is known as a non-industrial country, it may be realized stated that the gross value of our manufactured products in 1924, the last obtainable figures, was greater than that of either the agricultural production for the same year, the report says. Canada has a world lead in harnessing water power, that Canada is now developing more horsepower than in this respect in the world "When developments now under way are completed," Canada will have by end 4,500,000 horse power, representing a capital investment of 1½ billion dollars, and transmission lines of 35½ million dollars."

"These three facts alone," the General Manager said, "should be sufficient to attract the notice of British capitalists, promoters, financiers, manufacturers and intending emigrants"

An Interesting Contest

Sheet Metal Products Co. Puts Prize for Name to Make New Product

One of the most interesting campaigns ever held in Canada, to select a name for a new product, is now being put over by Sheet Metal Products Co., of Canada Ltd., in Toronto.

This firm invented a spendid new fireplace heating unit, easy to operate and has three locks in each section which prevent it bulging and makes it very fuel economical.

A name was wanted for this product and a contest was launched among Canadian hardware merchants. Contest ran from April 5th, and ended November 30th, and the lucky win ners of the money were:

1. C. M. Parsons, e-o-l & A. Parsons, Ltd., Toronto, Ont.
2. E. W. R. Phalen, travelling salesman for Northern Canada Supply Co., Cobalt, Ont.
3. Lal L. Brisebois, e-o-l & Brisebois Hardware, 190 St. Catherine St., E., Montreal, Que.
4. Walter Hinch, Hardware Merchant, Elmira, Ont.
5. And the name selected was Fair Made-Pipe, which also embodies the principal letters, HMP, used by this big firm.

First Burmese Woman Lawyer

Burma, known as the land of the pigeon blood ruby and the imbibing belle made famous by Kipling, has taken another step in its strife toward women's rights. Ma Pwaloe, daughter of a Burmese official of the Rangoon municipality, is the first Burmese woman barrister. She is also the only Burmese woman to adopt the law as a profession.

Scientists are Always on Note That Light Travels

Twice a year the National Academy of Sciences—between two and three hundred of the most eminent scientists of the nation, chosen because of what they have done—meets in some centre of learning. This is the select body of our scientific world; it corresponds to the Royal Society in Great Britain and it is altogether more of a social accomplishment society than a "mutual admiration society"; extremely few members are honored by membership before their fortieth year and the majority not until after their fiftieth.

The autumn meeting of the Academy was held this year in Philadelphia. We shall not comment on more than one of the many papers delivered. The one that appears most to our interest is that concerning Professor Albert A. Michelson's recent redetermination of the velocity of light. The spectacular thing in existence—as far as is known—is light. It travels about 186,000 miles a second, which is many times faster than the human intellect can conceive. "About" 186,000 miles, we say, because exact value, which, in spite of American physicists—also the world's foremost authority on optics has refined the 186,172 miles to 186,172. This is what he told the National Academy of which, by the way, he is president.

Worms, however generated, are found in the digestive tracts, where they take away the nourishment needed to the health of the child. There can be no success for the child in many lives until the harmful intruders have been expelled. An excellent preparation for this purpose is Mother Graves' Worm Powders. They will immediately relieve the worm and restore the conditions that were favorable to their existence.

Being one of the old-time boys of Vermilion and ever popular with everyone, it was a real pleasure for former friends to greet him once again after a lapse of some six years. Mr. Pitblo had accompanied a couple of settlers to Manitoba and took the opportunity to visit his parents. It was a happy reunion for the family. Albert reported most favorably on the trend of immigration from across the border and anticipates that 1927 will be an exceptionally heavy year. He left on his return journey Tuesday.

When measured up, the porcupine showed a length of 3 feet, 2½ inches from point of nose to tip of tail and 2 feet 8inches in girth; the quills stood up 4 to 5 inches in length. It took a few minutes before the recipient was able to grasp just what it was all about The friends responsible for the happy gift were prompted by a sense of appreciation on the part of the time of the town in having such an outstanding master musician as Mr. Uzzle in our midst; it was a small tribute to his talent and to his good citizenship

Junior Hockey Boys Organize

League Will be Formed

The junior hockey team organized for the season's work on Monday evening in the Fire Hall. R. J. Gough was elected president, Gerald Hogan, secretary, and Horace Bary as manager. The Juniors will have at least twelve or thirteen players from which they can select his "aggregation." The boys have already had several try-outs on the ice and those who have looked on say that next season's team will be able to give a good account of itself. It was the Juniors that brought Vermilion to the fore last year. They won from Stettler and then were pitched against a Calgary junior line-up at Lacombe and lost out. The Calgary team is said to have imported two or three seniors and the result was anything but a fair deal. An effort is being made now to have the Junior Hockey association confined to teams outside the cities. This would place them all on a more equal footing.

The local league this year will probably include only Macmillan and Vermilion. Neither Mannville nor Vermilion wants to travel far from home and it is reported that further games can be had between the two towns. Exhibition games may, however, be played with teams outside the league. It is possible the opening game will take place early next week. It may reveal hockey fans can look out for some classy work from these young stars.

DEATH OF MRS. ARNSTON

Many friends will regret to hear of the death of Mrs. Olaf Arnston on Friday, Jan. 21st inst. The deceased had lived in the district for a number of years and her genial manner and kindly disposition had endeared her to all in the neighborhood. The funeral took place on Tuesday, January 4th, service being held at the family residence, west of Chatsworth school. Where a large number of friends gathered to show their respect and deep sympathy. The Rev. M. S. Kerr took the service and gave an address full of comfort and consolation to the bereaved family.

A most beautiful arrangement of flowers were placed around the casket. Mr. Waring drew the appropriate selection to the card placed on a large floral piece with the words "Love—from the neighbors," showing how sincere was the good feeling toward the dear one who had gone before.

Interment was made in the family plot at Vermilion cemetery, Mr. J. Waring conducting the funeral. The sympathy of the Standard and a large number of friends is extended to the bereaved and family in their sad bereavement.

The late Mrs. Arnston was born in Norway on the 2nd of October, 1853, and was married to Olaf Arnston on 19th January, 1877, almost fifty years. The family remained to Minnesota, U. S. in 1881 living there until 1909 when they moved to Vermilion and settled northwest of town where they have resided ever since. Besides her husband, the deceased is survived by three sons and one daughter. She was 73 years, 3 months and 24 days of age at the time of her death.

DEATH OF MRS. JOHN NESBITT

The funeral of the late Mrs. John Nesbitt of Lake Saskatoon was held from the family residence, near Pidgeon school, on Sunday afternoon last, January 2nd. A large procession of friends and neighbors followed the corpse to the Ottawa church where a most impressive service was held. The Rev. M. S. Kerr of Vermilion gave a stirring address, urging all present, at the commencement of a new year, to remember that at some time they also must come to this same end, and should so conduct themselves that they might be prepared for the better life beyond. Interment was made in the cemetery adjoining Ottawa church Mr. J. Waring conducting the funeral. The deceased had lived in the district for over sixteen years and leaves her husband and one son to mourn her loss. A display of beautiful flowers from neighboring friends spoke plainly of the fond regard held for her by the community.

The sympathy of the Standard and a host number of friends is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Duncan, of Vermilion, who last night motored to Edmonton on Sunday to meet their daughter, who arrived on the Imperial Limited from the east that morning. Mrs. Duncan, who has been visiting friends in Toronto and Hamilton for the past few months, was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Jean Duncan, who has been attending school in Toronto. Mrs. Duncan and daughter will remain in Edmonton for a few days visiting friends before returning to Vermilion.

International Ignorance

Ignorance and misunderstanding among the nations cause more trouble than the machinations of politicians, however blamed from time to time by wordy men. Remember the recent case of Japanese farmers in some of the states who have applied for permission to own land. Their request was refused by the legislatures of those states, and the action aroused a storm of protest in Japan. Many articles appeared in the Japanese newspapers, the general tenor of which was to the effect that the Japanese people had been insulted and that the United States was guilty of a breach of international courtesy. Fortunately the matter was settled by diplomatic negotiations before it had time to develop into a serious international question. Nevertheless, it is a fact that the incident caused a great deal of bad feeling between the United States and Japan.

The Japanese government has now issued a statement in which it declares that it has no intention of making any representations to the United States government in regard to the matter. The statement says that the Japanese government

A pretty wedding occurred in Vermilion residence last place on Thursday, December 30th at Grimly Rose Cooke when Mr. Robert Burns and Mrs. Jessie Dunby were united in matrimony. Rev. M. S. Kerr officiated. Miss Pearl Dunby acted as bridesmaid. The ground was supported by Mr Harry Hamilton, while Bills Wilkerson and Irene Hanby made pretty attendants. The wedding march was played by Mrs. McDonagh, an intimate friend of the bride. The bride looked lovely in a dress of jade green silk, and crepe. Miss Dunby wore turquoise green.

After the wedding ceremony the party repaired to the [illegible] dinner. The table was centred with a lovely three-storey wedding cake. The invited guests from town were Mr & Mrs. Harry Hamilton, Mrs. A. Blake, Mrs. McDonagh and Rev. M.S. and Mrs. Kerr.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts and during the evening the popular bridegroom was bombarded the congratulations of his many friends and neighbors

Writing in the monthly Telegraph and Telephone Journal J. W. Stacy, superintendent of telephones in Palestine, says:

Palestine has in addition to the three official languages (English Arabic and Hebrew), several other languages in common use, such as Greek, German, French, Turkish, Italian, Russian, Armenian and Egyptian.

This is a formidable list, but failure in any of these languages can be averted without much trouble in a locality of average size, where the telephonists speaks at least three languages well, and can deal with simple enquiries in a number of other languages.

Farmers residing within a few miles of Prince Albert will be some members of the Alberta Wheat Pool and have signed contracts to ship their grain through it. This is an example of what one fine crop of initial grain did in Northern.

Stresseman Admits Conference Refused by Germany Would Have Averted War

People who are no more that the League of Nations is a tin foil have many such people at Washington and elsewhere round the country—may well ponder the declaration of Foreign Minister Stresseman of Germany the other day. Mr Stresseman, whose government opposed the famous Ruhr in August 1914, in addressing to take part in a conference proposed by Mr Edward Grey to patch up the Austro-Serbian row, thinks that the work of the league thus far has made another great European conflict impossible, and goes so far as to declare

"If the statesmen could have met for four or five weeks in the Ruhr, if the foreign ministers met at Locarno and spoken, and discussed the situation frankly and openly I am convinced that the great war would have been averted."

Well, that was a costly lesson for Germany and the world that is by Stresseman does it so plainly, but it is either a politic or extremely frank one who insist that the league is merely a means of settling trouble. Mr Hughes, Secretary of State, Washington, said a few Stresseman's mind also to the effect that the league was no more impossible to enforce than anyone else. If a conference would have prevented the war this Germany stated, it was for the Germans that blood and treasure, and not a meeting of the diplomats. It will not be easy to get around that. Loose Clothing Is Warmest Pernicious Zone of Warm Air to Circulate Around Body.

It is because vitality varies considerably between individuals that some of us are cold more than others. But many are cold because they don't know how to keep warm.

If two persons, of equal vitality, went out on a cold day, and one was dressed up in heavy and close fitting garments and the other wore loose clothing of medium weight, the latter would be far warmer. Clothes have a three fold function. They interpose a barrier to the outside air, they absorb moisture, within reason, like that, the warmth generated in the body, and (when hence) permit a zone of warm air to form between the body and themselves. In woollen clothing, too the fabric, if loose—a tight vest is no use—will trap

District Court

John Chamaylo, Joe Hanaryk, and Carol Bleiech, three prominent residents of the Maughan district, were fined guilty in the district court here on Tuesday last for committing a common assault on one Mike Jacula. No fine was imposed but the accused were ordered to pay the hospital and doctor's charges and the costs. The charge as laid was that of committing assault with intent to cause actual bodily harm. The charge was reduced by His Honor Judge Dubord presided.

The affray from which the complaint arose took place at a dance held at Monkman in November last. It appears that Jacula had been in the habit of making more or less of a bravado of himself on previous occasions of this kind and these three men thought it was about time to check him up a bit. They then proceeded to do on the night in question and gave him such a trouncing as to send him post haste to see a local doctor who, in turn, banished him to the hospital for a few days. Jacula will probably have cause to remember the night of the final bell that Mooney and Taylor in rapid succession notched their sticks for a counter upon.

Both teams showed considerable new material in their line-ups, and were fairly evenly matched through out the game. They should, before the season is over, show speed sufficient to make them a formidable aggregation.

Welch maintained his reputation in goal while Bill Mood and Eddie Mooney made a creditable defence. Donnelly, Bell and Taylor formed the advance party with Cooper, Webb and Clow subbing. Manager Barr used his subs considerately and made them feel responsible for a share of the spare at the team

Junior Hockey League Again Organized for this Year

On the strength of the showing made by the two teams in the game on Monday, a meeting was held of the executive of the two clubs and a league formed to play for the possession of the McLean Cup which was put up two years ago and which has been in the possession of the Vermilion Juniors ever since. Harry Fraser of Mannville was named President with E. J. Gould of Vermilion secretary. Various matters were discussed relating to the league and another meeting will be arranged at the next meeting to be held in the Board of Trade room on Monday night when all the remainder of the schedule of eight games will be arranged so as to avoid conflict with Senior hockey.

KITSCOTY STARTS CURLING SEASON

The Kitscoty curling club is away to a good start. The rinks were re-organized at a meeting of the club last week. All members have had a good workout since the rink opened and a successful season is assured. The first games of the new schedule were played Thursday.

The Kitscoty W. I. held their first meeting of the year at Mrs. Trevitt's home on Jan. 5. An excellent program for the year was arranged. [illegible] dance on Jan. 6, held by the Women's Institute, was a great success.

A pleasant period of weather prevailed so far over this New Year. Cars are running to Lloydminster and Lea Park without any trouble.

Junior Hockey Series Opened At Mannville On Monday Night

Not without a struggle did the Juniors accept a 6-2 defeat at the hands of the Mannville Aces on Monday night. The ice was good and the weather man rather favorably disposed to outside hockey when Referee McCallum called the players into action. And the Hins proved as sports fors present was evidence of the interest in Junior hockey in the western town

Cooper, for Vermilion, drew first blood when he scored midway in the first frame but the tally was evened by Mannville before the bell rang "time up." Not so fortunate in the second stanza the visitors were sore hit when the home team ran up two tallies. The final period saw the boys go into action with grim determination written all over them, but in turn, banished him to the hospital for a few days. Jacula will probably have cause to remember the night of the final bell that Mooney and Taylor in rapid succession notched their sticks for a counter apiece.

It was a peculiar and distorted view.

Men are more interested in food and make the best cooks, declared Norman Venner, novelist, in the London Metropolitan official organ of the Metropolitan Club. The Library acknowledges with thanks several books which have come to hand from residents of the town. We still have ample book space and any further contributions will be much appreciated. The Library, which is well used by students, is being built up steadily with a view to the ultimate formation of an Extension Library which will serve residents of the town and district as well.

SCHOOL FAIRS NOTES

The publication of several new school fairs in the Vermilion district is being undertaken for 1927. It is expected that these will have their centres at Viking, Bonis, Mares, Myrnam, Elk Point and Edgerton.

Several new schools are being asked to join the Landonville School Fair as only an increase in the number of schools participating is required to make the Landonville fair one of the best rural school fairs in Alberta.

Supervision of the Edmonton and Provincial Fiber School Fairs has been vested in the Vermilion district office and there will be some thirty-five school fairs operated under the direction of the school of Agriculture this year.

It is a matter of great satisfaction that no school fair in the Vermilion district failed to show a surplus of receipts over expenditure in 1926 and every effort will be made to enlarge the field of benefit to the children of the area in the Edmonton and the Peace River districts this year.

ANDERSON — FORSYTHE
(Special to The Standard)

A very pretty wedding was celebrated in the Presbyterian Church of Pomine, Michigan, on December 30th, when Myrtle Edythe Forsythe, of North Bay, Ontario, was united in marriage to Orval D. Anderson, of Pomine. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. H. Savage, pastor of the church.

The bride was pretty in a gown of yellow georgette, trimmed with pollet satin. She wore a close-fitting hat to match and carried a bouquet of butterfly roses.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Forsythe, who wore a gown of peach charmeuse satin trimmed with silver brocaded satin and had a small black hat to match. She carried a bouquet of ophelia roses.

The groom was attended by his brother, Jack Anderson.

After the ceremony a large number of friends and relatives from Detroit and Pomine were entertained at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Anderson, 81 State Ave., Pomine, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will spend their honeymoon visiting the bride's parents in North Bay, Ontario, after which they will make their home in Detroit, where Mr. Anderson is employed in an automobile factory.

MIDNIGHT FARMER KILLS 135 OWLS

Bunches of Owls Filled with Carcasses—Bones, Hide, Skull and All

QUESNEL, B. C., Jan. 10.—A total of 155 horned owls have been killed by Gordon Farwell, of the Mosquito Creek farm on the Fraser River, between, during the past six months. The last three owls caught were of the Arctic variety, being almost pure white

It has always been a mere or less dangerous occupation to shoot owls or not horned owls preyed on much rats. But now, so far as the Mosquito people are concerned, the question has been definitely settled, and they will continue to make war upon the hooted nuisance of the night.

Examination of the captured owls showed that the bodies of many were filled with the carcasses of muskrats bones, hide, skull and all

The owls are caught with a steel trap, suspended on the top of a post imbedded on the lake shore, or in a meadow

Some years ago the provincial government placed a bounty on horned owls, but the ranks full of bums and others which soon began to deface the government offices, threatened a bankrupt the province and the bounty was taken off

WEEKLY NEWS BULLETIN

Issued by the Publicity Commissioner, Government of Alberta, Edmonton, January 10th, 1927.

New Minister of Public Works

The announcement was made last week of the retirement of Hon. Alex. Ross, minister of public works for the past five years, and the appointment of Hon. C. L. McPherson, speaker of the house, to the portfolio. The portfolio of labor will be taken for the present by Premier Brownlee. Hon. Mr. Ross has been a speaker of the legislature since 1922, and is a prominent farmer near Vulcan, in Southern Alberta.

New Deputy Minister of Health

Announcement is made by Hon. Geo. Hoadley, minister of public health, of the appointment of Dr. Malcolm Beef, of Regina, Sask., to the position of deputy minister of health for Alberta, filling the vacancy created by the death of Dr. Laidlaw. Dr. Bow will take over his duties at once. He is a graduate of Queen's University, and held the position of assistant pathologist and bacteriologist for the provincial laboratory at Regina, and since 1913 has been medical health officer for the city of Regina, and since 1920 has been superintendent of the general hospital there. Dr. Bow also holds the degree of doctor of public health from Toronto University. He is about 40 years of age. His appointment has been made by the Alberta government after thorough canvass of the Alberta possibilities. Dr. Bow is expert most of his professional life in public health work, and is thoroughly conversant with services along that line. He comes highly recommended to the government with respect to his ability, tact and administrative capacity.

Attendance at Agricultural Schools

An unprecedented attendance at Olds agricultural school is recorded during this term, some 199 students having enrolled up to date. That is the largest attendance in the history of the school and exhausts the capacity of the building. Applications are at the other three schools operating is also good.

Dairy Products

The creamery butter production in Alberta during 1926 was somewhat higher than that in 1925, the estimate for the past season being 29,750,000 lbs., compared with 19,630,000 lbs. in 1925. Owing to the fact that the price of butter-fat remained higher than the previous year, however, the total values of dairy products will show a decrease.

Prepare for Seed Fair

Preparations are now going forward for the annual provincial seed fair which is to be held in Edmonton, January 18 to 21. Special speakers have been arranged for the meeting of interested growers, and instructive talks will be given. There will also be special exhibits shown.

Deputy Attorney-General Resigns

The resignation of Deputy Attorney-General R. A. Smith has been received and accepted by the provincial government. He has been with the attorney-general's department for five years, first as chief solicitor and later as deputy. W. S. Gray, chief solicitor, has been appointed temporarily to acting deputy.

SENIORS WIN OPENING GAME OF HOTLY-CONTESTED EASTERN HOCKEY LGE.

The Vermilion Seniors annexed the first game of the season by a score of 5-0 on the border city's home ice last Thursday night. The game is reported as fast and clean.

Teams comprising the newly formed Eastern hockey league are Vermilion, Lloydminster, Islay and probably Kitscoty.

LLOYD. HOCKEY TEAM TURNS TABLE ON LOCALS

Score Was 2-1 in Close Game

In a game in which all of the thrills and good hockey were packed into the last twenty minutes, the Lloydminster sextette avenged their earlier defeat by trimming the Vermilionites on their home ice to the tune of 2-1. On the whole the game was slow and with the exception of the third period was a modern exhibition.

The first frame had a slight Vermilion linge but resulted in no score. A scrimmage play by Mead in goal and numerous of a looser variety by the visiting goalie were the high lights of the period. The second was a fast one, the reverse of the first, the border town boys being all over our puck-chasers like a lost and were entitled to more than their one-goal lead on the strength of the play. However, the locals eventually came to life in the third period and for 10 of the last 20 minutes had the visitors bottled behind their own blue line. That attack was long enough to let Lloyd. score a somewhat fishy goal, the puck caroming off Mackinnon's defence into the corner. Ill luck and dazzling Mead no chance to save. Mackinnon, who had been the shining light for Vermilion all evening and was perhaps the outstanding performer of the night, soon his way through the opposing defence and netted the homesters lone goal. For the rest of the period the visitors maintained a desperate defence, sometimes resorting to shooting the puck the length of the ice to relieve the pressure around the goal mouth.

Bill Barr, big defence man of the home team, suffered a nasty cut on his foot just below the ankle which necessitated a hasty call to the hospital. Bill will be out for several games as a result.

REVENUE FROM LIQUOR SALES IMPROVED CASH

Alberta Cleared $1,496,616 from Government Control Operations

Predictions that the government would make a round two million dollars in liquor profits as a result of the 1926 operations, were not very wide of the mark, a statement issued by the Liquor Control Board Monday giving the actual profit for the year as $1,496,616.39.

The amount exceeds the estimated revenue for the year, by $118,852.50 over the 1926 estimates prepared by the government, being $1,700,000.

The revenue for 1926 exceeds the revenue for 1925 by $316,359.99, the revenue for the latter year being $1,484,256.90.

Sale of permits during 1926 totalled $183,972.76, an increase of $18,852.50 over the 1925 permit revenue of $165,120.26.

In addition to the revenue as shown a sum of $21,667.20 has been set a side for depreciation on furniture, fixtures and equipment, so that the actual revenue is $1,396,616.39.

Minburn Farmer Discoverer Of New Variety of Wheat
Now Registered at Ottawa as "Vermilion" in Honor of Famous Vermilion Valley District -Is a Natural Cross
Frank Larcombe, the Grower
In these days when new varieties of wheat are being tested out as to their adaptability for the various soils of the great wheat belt of the West as well as to climatic conditions which may be common in different areas, the introduction of a wheat which stands up well under dry conditions and yields heavy at the same time will ultimately, taking the seasons' year in and year out, become a favorite variety over a very large percentage of the prairie provinces of the country. Such a wheat, the Standard is convinced, is the new variety now registered at Ottawa in the Department of Agriculture as "Vermilion" wheat, grown by a well known farmer at Minburn, Mr. Frank Larcombe who has been experimenting with this natural cross seed for several seasons past until now he is in a position to place a quantity of "Vermilion" wheat seed upon the market.
A short history of when and how Mr. Larcombe first turned his attention to seed culture might prove interesting at least to our farmer readers. The soil on his farm is light and to secure good returns a season of fairly heavy rainfall is necessary. It would be made the discovery in his crop of a few heads of what proved to be a natural cross. He threshed the grain a stool from a single kernel. The products of this stool sown in 1926 were practically identical in all traits, a very small quantity only being left. In the season of 1921 this was hailed but not fully. Seed was sown in the same area in 1922, the yield from this being close to 80% bushels on light land and the pounded in the pound kept by Thos. D. Canada and Japan

Dr. H. M. Tory, president of Alberta University, chairman of the National Research Council, and recognized educational authority throughout Canada, has been appointed by the Canadian Government to make a survey of Japan's educational system. Dr. Tory will leave for Japan in May, and will be accompanied by Mrs. Tory. The trip will occupy about three months.

It is understood that Dr. Tory's mission is three-fold. He will be called upon to advise the Japanese Government in connection with the reorganization of the Imperial University of Tokio, and will also be asked to make a report on the educational system of Japan in general. Finally, he will be expected to make a report on the possibilities of Canada and Japan developing closer trade relations.

Dr. Tory's appointment is a recognition of the fact that Canada and Japan are drawing closer together. Japan is keenly aware of the value of Canada as a market for her products, and is anxious to develop trade relations with the Dominion. Canada, on the other hand, is looking to Japan as a market for her products, and also as a source of supply for certain commodities. Canada has a golden opportunity before her for the development of trade and commerce with Japan on a real scientific basis. The foundation has for some time been laid by the establishment of a line of steamships between Canada and Japan, and by the fact that Japan has been represented at Ottawa by a Minister. Canada has also been represented at Tokio by a Minister. The next important step in the development of trade between the two countries is the establishment of a Canadian Consulate in Japan.

Japan is a country of great possibilities. Her population is over 50,000,000, and is increasing at the rate of 1,000,000 every two years. Her people are industrious, and are willing to work for low wages. Japan is also rich in natural resources, and has a large area of land which is capable of cultivation. Her manufactures are increasing by leaps and bounds, and she is rapidly becoming a formidable competitor of Great Britain and the United States in the markets of the world. Japan is also a large buyer of raw materials, and is a heavy importer of machinery. Canada has a splendid

On the table stood six large red candles in their mark holders After cards and games had been played, two of the youngest pupils, Nettie Hunt and Joe Hart, dressed as bride and bridegroom, entered the room to the strains of old-time music from Calgary, followed by three little girls carrying a beautiful linen basket of gifts for their teacher After opening and exhibiting her presents, Miss Daley said a few words to express her thanks to the school. Refreshments were then served

Poultry Show And Seed Fair In February

2 Day Event

Owing to the great, increased interest and vast extent of the entries which was evidenced in last year's seed fair and poultry show, the board of directors decided to make the annual event a two-day affair and have set the date for Monday and Tuesday, February 7 and 8. It is fully expected that the action of the officials will be amply justified

The many benefits from the exhibits were in a great measure lost in the one-day show, the programme of necessity being too crowded for the short time available, following the judging. This year the public and the exhibitors will have ample opportunity to view the displays as well as to enjoy the special lectures by the several judges. Everyone should commence now shaping up their birds and preparing grain and root exhibits with the one idea of making the eighteenth annual Seed Fair and fifth annual Poultry Show the most successful and outstanding held to date. It is expected that the Parish building will be severed for the purpose of the show.

The copy for the Prize Lists is now in the printers hands and in a very few days will be ready for distribution by the secretary

Flowering Perennials For The Prairie

Many Varieties Can be Depended Upon to Give Good Results

Many of the most beautiful varieties of perennial flowers can be depended on to give thoroughly good results in southern Alberta Experiments in illustrating these at the Lethbridge Experimental Station beside the experts looking to recommend to the public those who owns a garden the planting of some perennials.

At the Lethbridge station a representative of bloom during the whole summer was secured commencing in the spring with the iris and ending with the Golden Glow. The perennials recommended are the Iris Phlox Subulata, Iceland Poppies, Oriental Poppy, Iceland Poppy, Delphinium, Rhasta Daisy, Coreopsis, Michaelmas Daisy, Chrysanthemum, Lupine and Golden Glow.

If carefully set in good soil these perennials require comparatively little attention for years, except a rain by mulching of stable manure and summer cultivation. These plants will come too rounded Mr. Driscoll the superintendent of the station recommends that they be lifted in the fall, divided up and replanted.

Scotland Yard Has Record Of Records

Every Crime is Catalogued and Each Division Exhaustively Sub-Divided

In every capital there exists a criminal record office where are tabulated thousands of sets of finger prints, thousands of photographs and details of descriptions of criminals, male and female. The tabulating is amazingly complete in the Record Office in Scotland Yard, where is a sort of record of records, in which about a thousand letters of crime are catalogued.

The main divisions are "Arson," "Burglary," Counterfeiting, etc., and these are exhaustively subdivided. There are, for instance, two offices under Counterfeiting, one dealing with coin and the other with paper money. Under Forgery, the one office deals with bonds and the other with cheques. The criminals who commit the various crimes are also carefully classified, and in this section personal peculiarities. When a criminal is convicted of the criminal is one of the officers. If the prisoner maintains his innocence, and pleads, (1) that he has already been in the London area, (2) that he has changed his clothing, (3) where he was on the day in question, and (4) that he can produce witnesses to prove his statements, the officers immediately set to work to find out whether he has been telling the truth.

Vancouver population increased by 9,000 during 1926 according to the annual report made to the City Council by Assessment Commissioner Bell. The assessment rose $37,197. The total assessment of land is now $1,000,000,000 of this approximately $2,000,000,000.

Many Submarine Cities

Were Built Below Sea Level and Gradually Became Flooded

Some few months ago a Russian vessel, bound for Baku, was driven out of her course by a strong gale and compelled to shelter in the lee of one of the sandbanks in the Caspian Sea, writes G. J. Matson, in Popular Science. It was then the storm abated and the morning dawned several of the crew looked over the side of the ship and were attracted to see the ruins of an old town. Many of its large buildings and longest streets could be seen distinctly, and investigation proved it to be an old town called Harabasachar.

This, however, is by no means the first discovery or first known existence of a submarine town (there have been found and are known to exist about the shores of almost every country in the world. It is thought that there are several at the bottom of the Zuider Zee, and quite a number have been found round about the Greek Islands. These were lost through earthquake which lowered them so much below sea level that the waters very soon flooded them. Another very interesting city is supposed to have existed off the coast of Brittany some centuries ago. The city stood below sea level, and the water was kept out by stone dykes, but a certain Princess Dahut, wishing to end her life, opened the gates and submerged the waters to flood the city.

Another submerged city of very great interest is one off the coast of Jebu an island near Tunis. It was discovered by an Arab fisherman not many years ago and investigation has led us to believe that it was once a part of the ancient Phoenicians.

Boys Growing Taller Says Chicago Doctor

Lead by Over Two Inches Boys of Fifty Years Ago

The American boy is two and a half inches taller than he was 50 years ago, Dr. Homer Hrdlicka of Chicago told the anthropological section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Philadelphia.

"In comparison with the figures published by Bowditch in Boston in 1872 and 1878," he said, "our modern American born boys of American-born parents exceed in height by an average of slightly more than two and a half inches.

Dr. Gray's figures were worked out at the local site for Juvenile Research at Chicago.

"This paper is concerned not with the cause," Dr. Gray said, "but the phenomenon. It might be argued that the American boy of today is taller because he has more sunlight and fresh air than his father had. But the lead of two and a half inches is maintained from six years of age right up to eighteen and therefore this argument falls.

"Difference in stature of children of the higher and lower economic or economic class. But presumably the more important cause for this apparent increasing tallness is due to progress in control of infantile diseases which damage growth or in the correct artificial light, sunlight and vitamins."

Expert in Slow Motion

Indian Animal in London Zoo Very Deliberate in its Movements

The newest arrival in the London Zoological Gardens is an Indian expert in slow motion stunts.

It is known as Slow Loris—a corruption of the Dutch word "Loris" meaning a clown—but the Bengalis call it "Marmulah" (Little Man) and on account of its leisurely movements. Those who have watched the rickety-legged deliberate manner in which a chameleon moves — strikingly suggestive of slow-motion cinematographs — will have some idea of how the Slow Loris goes about the world. As it feeds chiefly on fruit, there is no need for haste so long as it reaching it before it ripens and falls!

The Loris is really the Indo-Malay equivalent of the lemurs. They are commonly called sloths in India, but their soft fur, huge staring eyes and long curved tails and imperfectly developed index fingers render Lorises easy of recognition. The smallest is the Slender Loris of the forests of Madras and Ceylon, a creature smaller than a squirrel.

The Slow Loris after taking its latest exercise by night, takes its rest clinging to the top of a branch, upside down.

PRAYER IN THE CHRISTIAN LIFE

Golden Text: Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. —Matthew 7:7.

Lesson: Mark 1:35; 14:32-36; Matt. 6:9-13.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 63:1-8

Explanations and Comments

I. The Habit of Prayer, Mark 1:35: The gale struggle for life as the strenuous work Jesus was in the habit of going off early in the morning to a quiet spot—a deserted place, where there were no people—and pray. He kept up the day with God. Alone in communion with his Father his strength was renewed and his problems were clarified, for there he learned his Father's will as we consider that he should need to pray." Because of the greatness of life, the urgency of even the best life, to run its course, Nobody knows it as well as Jesus did. See what he said about it. See elderly what He did about it. He was in the midst of a great crowd. He lived the life of prayer because for Him it was worth living."—(William Fraser McDowell.)

New Science Of Television

Development Will Bring Radio Movies Right into the Home

The family of the not far distant future will gather around during an evening's entertainment.

Radio engineers have their hopes for the development of the new science of television on a radio apparatus exhibited in New York by R. D. Parker, Jr., consulting engineer of the General Electric Company, and of the Radio Corporation of America, which causes a picture to appear in light to radiate and blend across a screen.

Demonstrating his apparatus before the Institute of Radio Engineers, Dr. Alexanderson, by rotating three light discs rapidly, caused the radio screen to be covered by lines of light of different intensity.

The remaining problem, he explained, is to modify these lines by a reflected image so that the various tone values will be projected by electrical processes to the carrier wave and through the receiving instrument to the screen.

Radio photography is now an accomplished fact, he told. A single photograph, five or six inches, can now be sent through the air in two minutes, by the dot and dash system.

Mr. Alexander said, however, that before television can be developed broadcast which, under ideal conditions, produces a smoother reproduction of a photograph at a speed.

By Dr Alexanderson's method, the radio photographs are made as if a beam of light through by electric impulses, were drawn rapidly up and down the picture, registering black or grey or white.

By this method, Dr Alexanderson said, he has broadcast three pictures of Calvin Coolidge to his laboratory, two miles away. They were pictures of 24 inches, and were made in two minutes.

"We may speculate," he said, "about its practical possibilities, whether its general adoption will be treated by public amusements, transmission of pictures, or moving picture films to homes by the new pictures from distant parts of the world.

"On the other hand, we may foresee that the facsimile of events will supersede telegraph by code We may even hope that it will take the place of letters of daily correspondence that is carried on by mail and type-written sheets may be transmitted to distant points as fast as they can be written."

Successful Wintering Of Bees

Must Have Adequate Protection From Cold and Changeable Temperatures

In Canada there are three important factors necessary for successful wintering of bees, the neglect of any one of which will either cause the death of the colony or so seriously weaken it as to make it an unprofitable producer. These factors according to Mr. E. F. Phillips, in Beekeeping, Adapted to His handling on Whitney Bees in Canada, are: First, stores, (that is to say) population, colonies rather suitably of sugar bees, second, an abundance of winds some stores, a 5, third adequate protection from cold and undesirable temperatures.

For the carrying out of the second these Mr. Constantinople advises that not more than 10 lbs. of honey should be packed in the cases in the fall and that for cellar wintering they should be left in the hive until cold weather commences, that the cases are outdoor wintering should be large enough to hold 8 lbs. of honey in each hive and to the colonies should be strong to prevent the spidling becoming cool, that they be carefully packed in a good wind break, that indoors the cellar be protected from outdoor temperatures that the temperature must be kept within a range of from 45 to 50 degrees F. by the cellar be kept dark, that there be a good system of ventilation, that the bees be not disturbed after being placed in winter quarters, that they be left in the cellar until it is and that they be not disturbed in spring at least until settled weather.

The reason why Empire grievances are no readily discussed at Imperial Conferences is that so few real grievances exist.

Said an Irish physician of a patient, "If he lives till morning he may pull through, but if he doesn't, there is no hope for him."

Paradoxical though it may seem, a wedding ceremony isn't considered a success unless there is a hitch in it somewhere.

If a young man says wild oats raised which old rye he is reasonably sure to raise a disturbance.

THE NEW RAILWAY SOUTH OF VERMILION.

An advertisement is running in the Wainwright Star giving public notice of the intention of the Canadian Pacific Railway to apply to the Parliament of Canada at its next session for an Act authorizing it to commence and complete the branch line of railway from a point at or near Unwin, on its Cutknife-Wainford Lake branch in Saskatchewan, in a generally northwesterly direction to a point at or near township 44, range 9 in Alberta. An announcement of this proposed line of railway appeared in the Standard some few weeks ago. Unwin is the starting point of the new line, is located near the southern boundary of township 46 and its terminating point in township 44, range 9 shows an advance northward in the intervening distance of twelve miles at least, depending upon where it enters township 44 on the east side. This gives a pretty fair idea as to just what course the railway will take in running through the south district. Authorization is as well asked by the Company for the issuing of securities in respect thereof to an amount not exceeding forty thousand dollars per mile.

Boy Boxers Make Bright Display

On Saturday, January 15th an exhibition boxing competition was staged in Grace Church Hall for the boys belonging to the Boy Scouts and Boys Club. Though they are all novices and have had to learn about the "noble art of self defence," yet quite a number of the youthful competitors showed promise and all gave a good account of themselves in the ring.

The boxing was at all times interesting and victory and defeat were accepted in the true sporting spirit. A short account of the contests is appended.

Fly Weight, 95 to 75 lbs.

First series—A. Wiebe beat A. McDonagh; G. D immumbe beat A. Duncan. Final—A. Wiebe beat G. Drimmumbe; these two soldiers boxed with great vigor and were one of the best bouts of the evening. Wiebe, however was a bit the heavier and were his opponent in the end. The round A thoroughly well deserved plucky loser's prize was awarded to young Drimmumbe.

Bantam Weight, 80 to 90 lbs.

First series—H. Craig beat O. Wiebe by decision. T. Dewhurst beat R. Porter, G. Drimmumbe a bye. Final—H. Craig beat K. Corson. There was little to choose between these two beauties, for both were quicker on his feet. Craig missed fairly frequently with his vicious swings and should have mixed things a bit more and got to closer quarters

Light Weight, 90 to 105 lbs.

First series—T. Dewhurst beat R. Porter, G. Drimmumbe a bye. Final—T. Dewhurst beat D. Drimmumbe by decision. This bout was a very pretty exhibition of boxing and gave the judges little on which to make a decision. Dewhurst seemed to be leading but Drimmumbe kept at him and both should try to put more sting behind their punches.

Welter Weight, 105 to 110 lbs.

Final—A. Waldenberger beat J. Craddock. This bout was a short lived affair as just at the close of the first round Waldenberger landed a heavy right-handed swing on Craddock's jaw which nearly put him out for the count. Craddock felt too groggy to resume. Waldenberger has a good punch but must try and get control over his footwork and adopt the correct stance

Light Heavyweight, 110 to 120 lbs.

First series—K. Hoehn beat G. Sinkiz, J. Drimmumbe beat J. Dutcombe. Final—K. Hoehn beat N. Drimmumbe; the latter was handicapped by a recent attack of flu, but Hoehn had more weight and hitting power, though not more and much in evidence on either side

Heavyweight, 120 to 130 lbs.

First series—N. Drimmumbe beat D. Bodington, L. McCain beat A. Bostien. Final—N. Drimmumbe beat L. McGhan (plucky loser's prize). Very little separated these finalists and an extra round was needed to decide the issue. Drimmumbe showed quite good style, though for his weight he should be able to muster a heavier punch.

The committee in charge were a special 3-round contest in which G. Mix (130 lbs.) beat W. Hall (124 lbs). This was a clearing match of the kit or mitts variety. At the end of the 3rd round the judges decided that they were even on points and ordered an extra round, in which Mix gained the verdict. Mix was hoisted to his low and both showed to more regard to the direction of their punches and, thereby avoid a useless expenditure of energy in wild hitting which fails to "connect."

Messrs F J Buch and E. Barber very kindly acted as referees and Mr. J. W. Hopkins officiated as referee, whilst Scoutmaster Young M. C. and Capt. E. R. Gibson time keeps.

At the conclusion, Mrs. Craig very graciously presented the prizes to the winners and the plucky losers.

It is hoped that this competition will stimulate interest in the Scout movement in the youth of Vermilion, and that further competitions, perhaps with boys from the neighboring towns may be arranged.

† WEEKLY NEWS BULLETIN †
Issued by the Publicity Commissioner, Government of Alberta, Edmonton, January 15th, 1927.

Big Wheat Crop

Alberta harvested last fall the second largest wheat crop in its history. The estimate now made final by the provincial department of agriculture is 112,000,000 bushels or 12,139,000 bushels, being an average yield throughout the province of 18½ bushels per acre. The Peace River crop district had the largest crop in its history, and averaged 26 bushels to the acre, with many fields averaging as high as 36 and 40 bushels.

Progressive in Health Matters

An outstanding example of the manner in which Alberta has kept in the forefront in progressive public health legislation comes as a result of a request from the Canadian Medical Association to the Alberta Government that certain institutions for the care of drug addicts. Alberta's Minister of Health has pointed out that two years ago the Alberta Government passed the necessary amendments to the Mental Diseases Act to make provisions for the care of drug addicts at our mental institutions. A number of the addicts are now being cared for at those institutions. The Canadian Medical Association has congratulated Alberta on her progress in this matter.

Alberta Legislature

The first session of the Alberta Legislature newly elected last June, will open on February 10th, it is officially announced by the Government.

Proud of Record in Exhibits

Alberta is particularly proud this year of the record made by exhibits from this province at the International Shows. The outstanding triumph has been the capture of the world's championship at Chicago in both wheat and oats by Mr Herman Trelle whose farm is 750 miles south of the international boundary, in the famous Peace River Country. This is the third time that Alberta has won the world's championship in both wheat and oats.

Alberta exhibitors in seed grain took sixteen prizes in all at Chicago, including two championships and three first prizes.

At Toronto Royal Show, Alberta livestock captured forty-nine prizes, including two grand championships and five reserve championships.

In poultry, at Toronto Show, Alberta won fifty-six prizes with only 92 birds shown. A most unique record was established by Young and Sons, of Berkshire, with a white leghorn, which was awarded the championship both for conformity to type, and for production. This has not been done before in poultry history, and forever settles the controversy over the question as to whether the two types, the show bird and the productive bird, could be united in one bird. The winning of the championships in both classes by the bird shown by Young and Sons will prove a splendid stimulus to the breeding of the combined type of bird.

In creamery butter, Alberta was again in the prize money to a considerable extent at the various exhibitions throughout Canada the past season. In all, Alberta butter won $10 prizes at the various exhibitions from coast to coast, out of 1068 total prizes offered. A total of 79 first prizes, 120 seconds, and 102 third prizes, was taken by the various exhibits from Alberta creameries.

Alberta's Coal Production

Preliminary figures on Alberta's coal production for the past year show the total to be 4,117,000 tons, which is an increase over the previous year

Alberta's Oil Production

Alberta's petroleum production will exceed 200,000 barrels for 1926, when all returns are in, compared with 183,000 barrels in 1925. The production of Royalite No. 4 well, in Turner Valley, exceeded 100,000 barrels for the year up to November 30, the average production being 822 barrels of sale per day.

Special Fodder Crop Cars

Special fodder crop cars, supplied to the department of agriculture by the C. P. R., will be operated by the department during the month of February on the C. P. R. lines in central Alberta. Lectures will be held on the cars at the following places, the schedule being as follows: Feb. 1, Innisfail; Feb. 2, Bowden; Feb. 3, Olds; Feb. 4, Didsbury; Feb. 5, Carstairs; Feb. 7, Crossfield; Feb. 8, Airdrie; Feb. 9, Cochrane; Feb. 10, Gleichen; Feb. 11, Strathmore; Feb. 12, Carbon; Feb. 14, Three Hills; Feb. 15, Acme; Feb. 16, Crossfield; Feb. 17, Olds; Feb. 18, Innisfail.

Demonstration Of Hockey As It Should Be Played

College Staff and Bachelors Stage Contest Of Thrills - Honors Even

A very snappy game of hockey was played on the College rink between the Bachelors' Club and the Staff on Thursday evening, January 13th. The line-ups were: Cub—goal, Redmond; defence, Riggs, Levasseur; forwards, Glanville, Houston, Canton; subs, Simms, Taylor, McFarlane, Moreland, Stone, Wray, Henderson (Mrs.); College—goal, Elliott; defence, Newsome, Hechbert; forwards, Malsher, Stone, Armstrong; subs, Whitehead, Andrews, Alexander (Jerry), Edwards, and others. The game was called for 9 p.m.

Excitement rippled over the rink from the crowd of fans as the two teams took the ice, promptly at 9:15, and were called together in the centre by the referee, Dr. W. W. Bell, who handed to the college team for the day, the well-worn playing shakers, checking their offsides and general disregard of rules. The puck was faced down to somebody, someone to Glanville and Glanville scored, evening up the score. Pandemonium was let loose, and brass the college could bring on their subs and reliables, with a look of genuine sorrow the referee called the 1st—Score 2 all.

Two overtime periods were played, but the reporter was unable to follow the play sufficiently except to say, no score and no casualties

Afterwards the teams adjourned to the College, where a very dainty supper was prepared by Miss Edwards; (we know now why there were so many subs.) Thoroughfares was apparent in the favors distributed, individual rainbows to sit on. Arches of evergreens tastefully decorated the festive board and sandwiches garnished with the hockey club colors, black and blue. Made a wonderful setting (though some did not sit). A short dance was held afterwards and everyone voted they'd home having had a wonderful time

The ante receipts will be announced later when the gate receipts are found

Returned Men Win Spurs On Canadian Land

Amazing Successes Reported in Survey of S.S.R. Commissioner

OTTAWA, Jan. 15.—More than 50,000 ex-soldiers have benefitted under the Soldier Settlement legislation of 1917 and 1919. Over 24,000 have received direct financial aid and 6,500 have been given free grants of dominion lands without financial aid.

In a survey covering nearly nine years of operation, Major E. J. Ashton, commissioner of the Soldier Settlement Board of Canada, gives the people many interesting facts. Eighty-four among the soldiers who took up land during 1925-26, stated the commodities they had purchased with their loans totalled dollars into the dozen mill in treasury, a sum which in addition to carrying all administrative costs, more than suffices to provide for funds needed during the year for general construction purposes. Housing and tables under the 2,000 British family scheme.

Amazing Successes

"There were 17,351 settlers with payments due in 1925-26. Of these 15,175 met their payments in full 6.1% made part payments and 1,541 made no payments. As at November 30, last, 918 had repaid their loans; of these, 518 were still farming and had sold their farms. Among these who have repaid their loans are men whose earnings in the difficult years of war years have been amazing some who started with little are today rated by their bankers as worth $5,000 to $20,000 all made from the land. They are by no means unusual among the men with large farms in the province of our jurisdiction and are well re- ... bed and are today a credit to Canada and to the communities in which they live"

Major Ashton stated that while there is no particular intended upon the settlers in less fortunate circumstances, their cases have been reduced to a minimum. Attention is now being drawn to another phase of the situation which has been in the background for too long, he says. "That another settlement has produced a considerable crop of failures is undoubted. What is not generally realized is that its successes—and there are a large a part of its small numbers do the successes among the general farming public of Canada. Many of the successful are men who are taking a leading part in Canadian activities."

Among the successful farmers ... since the inception of this work in February 1918 a period of time during which considerable change has taken place in our civic and provincial life, the following service medals and clasps have taken a heavy toll. From these and other causes 7,500 returned soldiers have abandoned their undertakings"

The quality of the land actually ... has been a large factor in the success ... the selection of land has been ... the result of much careful investigation ... the Board. Land generally ... settlers has been selected ... Board's own inspectors ... Board's own inspectors ... Board's own inspectors

JUNIOR HOCKEY

Showing a marked superiority over the local team, the Mannville Aces challenge lads' team defeated Vermilion last Saturday night on local ice by a score of 6-1. The Western boys were full value for their win, crossing up their foes in two and three rushes and seeming always to possess a formidable defence. Every man was a live player and played true to the visitors' goals came as a result of fine combination work.

The Vermilion team went on to the ice without last year's star defence man Bill Mead who suffered two broken ribs in the Lloydminster game. Especially starts at centre had to be put at back on defence, this disorganizing the front line somewhat. Bob Taylor and Donnelly, the two brainy wing men, were just recovering from recent spells of influenza, so lacked their usual pep. The Vermilion juniors have five new and young players on their line-up, while five have been with two exceptions, the same team that started with two years ago. Give our youngsters time to get a little experience and team play, and they watch them go.

Bonspiel In Final Stage

17 RINKS PARTICIPATED

At press time the annual bonspiel of the vermilion Curling Club, which has been under way since Monday, was running into the finishing stages. Seventeen rinks competed, twelve from the town and five from outside points; last year there were ten visiting rinks and nine local entries. The visitors are, however, attaching a few scalps of the prizes. R. L. Horton of Vegreville clinching the Brunswick Hotel Cup and fourth prize in the Grand Challenge; his team-mate McLay), Wotherspoon, Duncan and Cundal (Mannville) reached the jewelry Wotherspoon was Local Secretary, and hands the winner of Duncan vs Cundal in the final of this event.

Phillie Read and Wotherspoon, Peacrest (Islay) and Cundal (Mannville) are in the jewelry while Boding, Hamby Knoll make up the four. Cundal meets the winner of these last and Wotherspoon plays Beacrest, the winners meeting in the finals.

The rinks entered for the bonspiel were: Beacrest, Islay; Hemsley and Cundal, Mannville, Horton and McDonald, Vegreville; McKone, Waldenberger, Wotherspoon, Duncan, Knoll, Corley, Patton, Morison, Cameron, Boddington, Bell and Parker, all of the Vermilion curling club."

The curlers were up against very cold weather Monday and Tuesday but conditions for the last two days are ideal, making all games most enjoyable both for the players and the spectators. Many hard battles were fought several games going to the thirteenth end. Taken altogether the bonspiel was a great success though, it was regrettable that the outside entry list was not larger.

An Inspiration To Canadian Youth

All America is ringing with praise of George Young, the 17 year old Toronto boy who won the great athletic marathon between Catalina Island and the mainland of California, successfully negotiating the stretch of icy water in a manner wherein man himself must bow to the superiority of the world's most honored swimmers. It was a wonderful achievement, and following the performances of John Miller, of Sydney, Nova Scotia, who set a new world's record for a year by winning the Channel Swim, Miss Ederle and others, it does raise over the 36 mile course and the exhilarating which Canadian lads and lassies are asserting in the big American pools. In fact the whole of Canada is feeling keenly the call of further exciting laurels for Canada as a land which produces the finest types of sturdy young manhood.

Through his great feat, George Young has only won a substantial financial reward, but he brings with it much fame. He will be honored, cheered and feted, and his name will long be remembered in the annals of great feats of courage, strength and endurance.

But it is not because of his victory alone that Canadians should be proud of George Young and find delight in doing him honor. Rather our deeper admiration of his splendid young physique, of his mind and heart and character which the youth displayed in approaching the hard trial to which he set himself, and the noble impulse which dictated his action.

A poor boy, with no relatives but a widowed, crippled mother to whom he was devotedly attached, George Young voluntarily sacrificed his summer vacation as a swimmer and staked his all on this one effort. He did so not because of a personal desire for fame or money but in an all consuming desire to be able to take his injured mother to California and provide her with the means whereby she might regain her health.

The brave strength of character, his grim determination, and his willingness to gamble on those were sturdy assets, lacking the necessary railway fare from Toronto to California, he started to make the journey on a patched up motor cycle and tragedy pushed his way as far as Arizona. A boy of less stamina, of not perseverance would have "quit the bat" in order to reach the goal of his desire. Had George Young not achieved fame as he has done, it is safe to say that, in any event, he would have made a success of his life and in whatever sphere he might choose.

Premier Mackenzie King rightly expressed the sentiments of the people of Canada when, in extending congratulations on behalf of the Government and people of the Dominion, he said that this country shared with equal pride George Young's success and his beautiful tribute to his mother and all that followed the secret of his splendid achievement.

Such an achievement in the face of obstacles to be overcome that might well daunt the stoutest heart is an inspiration to the youth of Canada. Thousands of Canadian boys who can never hope to be great athletic champions and whose names will never be found on the lips of millions of their countrymen but who in meeting the problems and difficulties of everyday life, and in shouldering the responsibilities that may be forced upon them, do so with the same keen sense of character, the same determination, the same willingness to bear those self for the good of others, are equally heroic, and of them Canada will be equally proud.

George Young has installed better than he knew His mother has borne brattonary in the clearness of his young life, and George has in spectacular fashion shown all Canadian boys that a clean life, free from bad habits and dangerous pays. He has brought honor to his mother and to his home that where there's a will there's a way, in bringing fame to Canada, he has likewise brought something of far greater and more lasting value, an object lesson which will mightily appeal to the imagination and love for the best in every normal Canadian boy.

This is a real national asset, because it is only through the cultivation and development of the spirit of which George Young is a winner that the boyhood of Canada, or of any country, can realize full success in their endeavors no matter what direction they may take or how humble they may be It requires exactly the same qualities to make a real success in anything in life as were required to successfully swim Catalina channel.

Hardiness of Weed Seed

Seeds Lying Dormant for Forty Years Will Germinate

The seed of some of the troublesome varieties of weeds show a great tenacity of life. They will resurrect long after they are supposed to have been killed if not thoroughly and skillfully disposed of. The Michigan Agricultural College is glad, as reported in Bulletin No. 72 of the Dominion Department of Agriculture on Crop Rotation by Seeds, that this can be continued for 100 years has already been conducted forty years. After being in the soil for that time in the soil it has been found that black mustard pepper grass, pig weed, ragweed, wild carrot, dandelion, plantain, purslane and curled dock will still germinate. Some of those weeds removed in the earlier years of the investigation can be did so in later years. Ragweed failed to germinate in every trial until after it had been forty years in the soil. The authors of the bulletin referred to (Messrs E S Hopkins and W. C Hooper of the Soils and Agriculture section of the Dominion Experimental Farms) suggest it is apparent that there can be little hope in the fight against weeds, especially if the land has once become infested and that prevention of seed formation a start is preeminently the most important method of weed control. Neglect for two years may result in a plague of weeds for a life-time and longer.

FATEFUL YEARS FOR ALL WOMEN

Much Suffering Can be Avoided Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

The most fateful years in a woman's life are those between forty-five and fifty. Many women enter this term under depressing conditions; through worry, overwork, hurry, or a wrong condition of the blood, and they suffer heavily.

Among the commonest symptoms are headaches, palpitation, dizziness, backache, depression and other well-recognized disturbances of the health which show that the blood requires attention. Women stand in need of rich red blood at this time, but nevermore so than at middle age, when the nerves are like bare wires and overwrought, in this condition there is no other medicine to do as much for women as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for these pills make rich, red blood, which gives tone to the whole body, thus restoring robust health. Thousands of Canadian women have proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in many of this kind. Among them is Mrs J H Johnston, Lion's Head, Ont., who says: "I am writing to tell you what the wonderful good your pills have done me. I was a complete wreck, and would faint if I crossed the room. I was going through the change of life, and was so weak I could not do my work. I was told to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I am going to give them a trial. I took the pills steadily for a month, when I returned to my work again, and was able to do my work with ease. Friends here say it's a wonder I am alive after what I went through, and I am thankful to say I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which saved my life."

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Vegetarians Are Not Immune From Cancer

Cases Occur Among People Who Abstain From Flesh Foods

Inquiries have been conducted among meatatic communities in England by doctors connected with the health ministry and from the information thus obtained it has been conclusively proven, says Sir George Newman, chief medical officer to the ministry, that cases of cancer occur among people abstaining from flesh foods

There is therefore no foundation for the assertion that vegetarians are immune to cancer, he adds

The investigations were made among the Carthusians, a Fyeth order; Benedictines, Italian; Carmelites, first founded in Syria, and Jesuits, all of whom enter this term under depressing conditions; through worry, hurry, or a wrong condition of the blood, and they suffer heavily.

British Subjects Should Use Canadian Ports

Delay When Landing at New York Would be Avoided

Canadians are reporting themselves, for the most part, to the port in the line of delay and discomfort in the experience of landing from ocean liners in New York Harbor. Delay, discomfort and inconvenience may increase and multiply until Canadians learn to land at St. John and Halifax. In the meantime, as Canadians learn to sail from Montreal and Quebec in summer time. United States laws governing the landing at the Port of New York may yet teach British subjects that landing at Montreal is a much easier matter, is easier to bear than the delays and discomforts prepared for British subjects at the Port of New York.

FASCISM FOR ITALY APPROVED BY CHURCHILL

Rome.—Warm approval of Fascism as applied to the people of Italy was expressed by Winston Churchill, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a statement given out to the newspaper correspondents. The chancellor, Rt. Hon. Antony Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, came to Rome to see for himself the achievements of Fascism and confer with Premier Mussolini, Finance Minister Count Volpi, and other Fascist statesmen.

In the part of his statement, Mr. Churchill said:

"If I were an Italian I am certain I would be with you from start to finish in the fight against Communism abroad."

In regard to the United States attitude toward Europe the British statesman of the time may had this to say:

"An avalanche of American tourists rides no other power, and it does not prejudice the interests of anyone who visits America with a friendly mind. Rather the knowledge and experience of Italy will facilitate the development of that friendly international atmosphere and mutual instrument. And the United States pours very well much longer remain aloof."

Conferring of Titles

Discussion is Opened by Suggestion Made by Premier Ferguson Toronto.—Considerable discussion has followed the suggestion made by Hon. Howard Ferguson, prime minister of Ontario, at the banquet in honor of Col. Harry Cockshutt, retiring Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, that the House of Commons should remove the ban placed on the conferring of His Majesty's favor for distinguished service in appropriate positions like that just vacated by Col. Cockshutt. He emphasized that he did not suggest that the "me titles" ban be removed in the case of persons elected by the people.

W. F. Nickle, K.C., who, while member for Kingston in the Commons in 1918, was the father of the "no titles" resolution which was endorsed and sent to His Majesty, said he saw no reason for changing his opinion. He thought there ought not be started to any democratic country "an outgrown and worn out system."

OLD AGE PENSION BILL INTRODUCED IN B. C. HOUSE

Victoria, B.C.—An act to provide for old age pensions for the people of British Columbia was introduced into the Legislature by Premier John Oliver. The bill authorizes the province to enter into a general scheme of old age pensions with the Dominion on a fifty-fifty basis. Any agreement entered into would be under any act of the Dominion hereinbefore or hereafter passed relating to old age pensions and would call for the payment by Canada to the pension authority of an amount equal to one-half of the pension paid out during the previous quarter by British Columbia.

Under the bill the administration of the act would be by the heads of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

The Premier's proposal in the House is in the form of definite legislation by which the Provincial Government would be empowered to enter into an agreement with the federal government for British Columbia to share in old age pensions, the cost being divided equally between the province and the Dominion. The bill is the outcome of the special session of the early introduction into Parliament of the old age pension bill promised by the Liberals during the Mackenzie King government and rejected in the Senate.

U. F. A. WOULD WIDEN SPHERE OF ITS INFLUENCE

Edmonton.—Broadening the scope offered by executive members of the organization, to concentrate on the immediate problems of the development of the movement in the province, the United Farmers of Alberta, in convention here, removed these barriers by a policy of inter-provincial co-ordination and national organization.

The proposals were opposed by several directors of the organization who emphasized the dangers of embracing matters outside the province. The political field had not been thoroughly considered.

The proponents of national solidarity generally agreed that the farmers of Canada must depart from their old time parochialism and active allies and enter upon a broader undertaking, which would provide greater uniformity of action and enable the organized agriculturists to introduce the influence in federal matters to which the importance of their industry was entitled.

Shortly after the convention had endorsed this policy of action, H. W. Wood, who was re-elected to the presidency of the U.F.A. for the twelfth consecutive term, indirectly drew attention to the possible consequences of overdoing the development of the organization.

Mr. Wood was dealing with the problem of fostering and strengthening the co-operative movement in Alberta. There had, he said, been a slight inclination of the development of a spirit of class consciousness in the co-operative branch, which did not appear to be the most desirable thing. A

Employment Situation Improved Last Year

Statistics Show Greatest Expansion of Any Year Since 1922

Ottawa.—Employment as reported by employers in Canada to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics during 1926 was in greater volume than in any other year since 1922.

There was almost uninterrupted expansion on a large scale from early in January until the first of October. This upward swing carried the curve of employment to a level many points higher than in any of the last five years. During these eight months of advancing employment nearly 125,000 persons were added to the staffs of the reporting firms, a greater number than had been taken on in the same period of any other year of the record except 1922, when the expansion of industry following the depression of 1921 caused the employment of approximately the same number of extra employees.

In 1926 the most extensive gains were recorded at the beginning of May, June and July, as is usually the case. There were smaller increases in the next three months, followed by a drop in employment in December, the net loss therein being divided equally between the province and the Dominion, for the year as a whole. The effect of the early reintroduction into Parliament of the old age pension bill promised by the Liberals during the Mackenzie King government and rejected in the Senate.

WOULD ABOLISH DOMINION GRAIN STANDARDS BODY

Edmonton.—Abolition of the Dominion Grain Standards Board, as at present constituted, and the creation of a new body, affording equal representation to the producer and the grain trade of the three prairie provinces was urged in a resolution passed by the United Farmers of Alberta.

Bitter criticism was directed against the work of the existing standards board and the claim was made that the farmers of Alberta had suffered an appreciable loss through the adoption of a standard ordered a decision of the board.

It is in accord with the provisions of the standards act, under which the board would be re-[illegible] Dominion Government representatives from each province and two respectively from farmers' [illegible] and British Columbia.

The Dominion government will be asked to effect the suggested [illegible] act.

Advocates of the resolution allege that the standard established on the 1926 crop has not contained a fair sample of Alberta wheat and that they could not be applied on a fair volume of the wheat grown in the province. It was suggested that any representative samples from the various parts of Alberta in reaching a 1927 standard, as in that case would be no protection for the producers of the province.

Annual Meeting Of Vermilion United Church

A FLOURISHING YEAR

With no deficit, all expenses paid, a balance in hand from six of the various activities of the church and a total amount raised of $4000, the Vermilion United church brought a most successful year to conclusion last Friday night at the annual meeting of the congregation. W. R. Cash was elected chairman and R. J. Gould secretary of the meeting. The session report read by J. B. Hunt showed an increase in the membership of 204. During the past 24 new members were received into the church and three new members, one from another church and two by profession of faith, were added into the membership of the church. The Sunday school report read by the secretary, showed a total of 22 teachers and officers with an enrolment of 232 pupils. This does not include the adult Bible class. The receipts for the year ending 31st-26. For the missionary fund of the church the Sunday School raised $1051. The mursery work under the supervision of Geo. Law showed that 72 certificates and diplomas had been won by the scholars during the year. The total number of verses memorized, by the pupils amounted to 6412. In addition to the beautiful nursery Bible presented to the scholars completing the whole of the Scripture memory course, the pastor has guaranteed a special prize to be awarded to the pupil memorizing the whole of the shorter catechism this will be given in the diploma to be granted by the United Church for the memorization of the Shorter Catechism.

The Women's Missionary Report was submitted by Mrs W. H. Scott. At present the membership of the Society is 37, an increase of 14 new members since last April. The budget of the W. M. S. in 1926 of which $150 has already been raised. As the financial year ends March 31st, there is every likelihood of the total amount being raised. In the absence of Mrs. J. B. Stephens, the Mission Band report for the earlier and junior divisions was read by Mrs. H. J. Clarke, in the senior Mission Band there are 18 members and in the two branches of the Mission Band there has been added since last April. The total membership of Mrs. Geo. Hay's Ladies' Aid has a banner year to record. The total amount to the credit of the society is $1051.51. It was moved by R. Mc Geo, chairman of the Board of Management, seconded by Geo. Law, that the congregation thank the Ladies' Aid Managers under this organization for their splendid work for the very splendid year and for the church during the past year.

The Managers' statement submitted by Geo. Law, treasurer, A. L. Mills, pastor, showed receipts of $2243.81. After disbursements a balance of $122 was on hand in the bank. During the year considerable expense had been involved in renovating and enlarging the church and in the purchase of interior accommodations. This had been met and paid for. In regard to the pastor's salary it was moved by Geo. Law, seconded by Mrs. H. J. Clarke, that the congregation thank the pastor for his splendid services during the past year and that the salary be increased to $2500 per annum. Carried unanimously.

The auditors' report read by Geo. Law showed receipts of $2243.81 and disbursements of $2121.81 leaving a balance on hand of $122. The auditors were Messrs. Mills and Law.

The following officers were elected by acclamation: Chairman, W. R. Cash; secretary, J. B. Hunt; treasurer, Geo. Law; auditors, A. L. Mills and Geo. Law; Board of Management, Messrs. Cash, Hunt, Law, Mills, Hay, Scott, Clarke, Mrs. Hay, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. Mills, Mrs. Law, Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Cash, Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Hay

Sheep breeders elected officers at the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Sheep Breeders Association, conducted at the annual meeting at Moose Jaw

Honorary president, Hon. C. M. Hamilton; president, J. J. Rushton, Bascarille; vice-president, W. C. Heron, Blackwood; secretary, J. G. Rochefort Regina; directors H. Follette, Rural; F. E. Hatton, Kendrew; Hon. Berg, Lovebern; Wm. Daubenspeck, Laura; J. R. Willey, Bienfait, William Kerr, Hanley

Mr. Rushton's delightfulness for sheep breeding has been proved by the success attending it. Herds of sheep are to be found in every part of the best on the continent," declared J. Rushton, president of the Association, "although we have not yet reached the point where we can export to the United States. But many people are beginning to take to sheep, and we are hindered by the menace of dogs and coyotes."

Mr. Rushton said the sheep industry was one of the most profitable branch of farming. Mutton and lamb prices for some time past had been satisfactory, and although wool prices were unstable at present, he believed the co-operative shippers would overcome the difficulty and a future sale had been conducted by the association at Regina during which 200,000 pounds were disposed of. The encouraging success attending the sales, and wide call stating that all had been paid were held and 906 cars were sold.

Stock purchased from the best live stock breeders in the province, and the Dominion, in the province for distributing their produce throughout the province and thereby increase the profit of these breeders for the work they were doing in maintaining the high standard and quality of the most popular breeds said Mr Rushton He hoped to Dominion, at Provincial Government would be of great future assistance to the actual ability of assisting in further operations from the Old Country.

Inland Fisheries Thriving

Western Provinces are Extending Shipments to Distant Markets

The Inland Fisheries of the Canadian West, and particularly those of Alberta, are apparently thriving and extending their shipments to distant points on the continent. The summer fish catch on Lesser Slave Lake amounted to more than 850,000 pounds of whitefish, 168 711 pounds of pickerel, 310,162 pounds of pike and smaller quantities of other fish. In one week 30,000 pounds of fresh pickerel were taken from Pinebrute Lake, near Lac la Biche, and with quantities of the same herring shipped to the United States market. A carload of trout weighing 22,000 pounds from Pinebrute Lake left Edmonton a short time ago for Minneapolis, to be followed by three other cars, and from the same lake and Lac la Biche, 120 tons of whitefish went to New York. The first plant in Canada, outside of the Dutch Colonists, for the freezing of fish, poultry, and eggs under the Ottoman process is to be installed in 250 Edmonton, with an initial capacity of 50 tons tons per day

For a United Canada

Dr. Tory of Alberta University Urges Tendency to Nationalism

"Think of Canada as a spiritual unity and that all men who breathe Canadian air, are Canadians," declared Dr. Henry Marshall Tory, principal of the Alberta University. I mention, in a few words, the idea for a united Canada when addressing the Ottawa Women's Canadian club recently. He urged "this thing and a sense of pride from one part of Canada to another," and to base our sense of unity on national grounds and not on sectionalism."

As a parting shot, he told his audience that "we've got to learn to use our common brains to solve Canadian problems."

He was most emphatic in stating that "we have no room for provincialism in Canada was a crime. "The truth is" he said, "we have never been willing to recognize a non-partisan development of our great national enterprises. We must develop an intense patriotic unity."

"The fellow Boots has been saying about me"

"Indeed! What does he say?"

"He says I'm drinking whisky and can't remember. I'll sight, and it ain't so, I have sense."

Judge—Young woman, were you speeding?

Fair Accused—No, sir! I merely passed a fellow who was.

Canada Attracting Attention

Has Greatest Expert Trade of Any Self-Governing Country

Canada is becoming more widely known all the time. In an address before the Chamber of Commerce at Stratford, Ont., on the subject, "Canada, and Her Commercial Relations," Dr. Walter A. Riddell, advisory agent for the Dominion to the League of Nations, declared that Canada's export trade has shown a greater increase than that of any other self-governing country in the world since 1913. He went on to point out that today, due to the rapid expansion in foreign commerce, her exports have increased 207 per cent since 1913, and to the fact that she is selling products in 56 different countries and dependents. Canada is no longer living to itself, for in taking a foremost interest in the world affairs it finds confronting other countries. As a result, as declared, Canada is attracting more attention than at any other period in her history.

Rural Advepsity And Its Compensations

By C. W. Peterson

The last decade has been a difficult one for agriculture, not alone in Canada but the world over. But we must as well take all the comfort out of the past unsatisfactory agricultural situation that we can. The most demoralizing influence any business or calling could possibly be subjected to is without a doubt continued prosperity. On the other hand, the most prudent business tonic is a reasonable measure of adversity. Prosperity leads to extravagance in living, personal, careless in business relations and in production. Why worry? But when adversity comes we focus our attention on the apparently trivial things. How can we cut down expenses? How can we "tempted off the fat" and the like? We are forced to go over every item in our operations and apply the acid test. A plan is made and the plan we would never be seen. Already is a great teacher. Adversity generally lays the foundation for future happiness and prosperity. Therefore, as trying must not be regarded in the light of a misfortune, but must be accepted as discipline. Properly, much needed discipline. We have all felt the heavy hand during the last few years, and only a fool will maintain that those who practised the stress and economy which has since been forced upon us were not better off. Conditions are forcing us now. First a run by all outsides, a long run—if you will, a hard run—but a run for them and believe, best of adversity, to make the most of the good fortune in the days to come. Then and then only will we be of much ultimate use.

Farmers are prone to take the pessimistic attitude of trying to justify their ample cause to complain. But we must not run away with the idea that there is any cause for such pessimistic forces. The record of failures in urban business life has been appalling, and we will not deny that the fact that during the past seventeen period of depression has been almost beyond belief. Unemployment has been rife, and starvation far from unknown. Only those with fixed salaries and permanency of employment have escaped the ravages of the whole—have escaped the ravages of the whole. Turning our eyes to Europe, we find a prosperous, rural agriculture, in comparison with which our most troubles seem childish and petty. And it is only by drawing comparisons that we are able to form an estimate of our own lot in life. The Canadian farm is a pretty good place to live in. It has its compensating advantages. The obstacles in the way of a reasonable degree of success are relatively few and gradually being ironed out in accordance with innumerable economic laws. It may be that some of these laws are economic adjustment, but the fact remains, that the process is at work and the tendency is in the right direction. We are looking for a larger imminence flow into Canada in the immediate future, while will add a long-surprising touch to Canadian agriculture.

Has Built Novel House

Ottawa Woman Used all Sorts of Foods for Material

Miss Ethel Chamberlain, of the Dominion Government's Dairy Department, Ottawa, has been playing architect and builder—but she has used no bricks all sorts of good foods and she has made of them a little house that children delight to play in. Miss Chamberlain is to be world and before which the grown-ups stand fascinated. It is of course, a doll's house, and is modelled smoothly over a nine-cornered foundation; the opened shutters are of brown bread; a pale yellow silk of dainty texture is the house is shingled with Graham wafers, and the chimneys that rise at the gables have been added for decorative occasions. No. 1073 is in sizes 1, 2 and 4 years. Size 2 requires 1¼ yards of 40 or 54 inch material Price 20 cents the pattern.

Golden Text: In that He Himself that suffered being tempted, He is able to succor them that are tempted.—Hebrews 2.18.

Lesson: Luke 4.1-13; I. Corinthians 10.12, 13.

Devotional Reading: Romans 6. 11-23.

Explanations and Comments

I. The Scene and the Nature of the Temptation, Luke 4.1, 2.—Yielding to the control of the Holy Spirit, who had come to Him in a special way at His Baptism, Jesus went from the Jordan into the wilderness, there to meditate undisturbed upon the work God had given Him to do. During forty days spent there, a period referred to here perhaps as a "round number," representing many days, he was "tempted of the devil." As the story is told in Mark, Jesus seems to have wrapped his great strength about out his wild-beast lodgers, for we read that "the wild beasts were with him," while would never be seen. Already is a great teacher. Adversity generally lays the foundation for future happiness and prosperity. Therefore, as trying must not be regarded in the light of a misfortune, but must be accepted as discipline. Properly, much needed discipline. We have all felt the heavy hand during the last few years, and only a fool will maintain that those who practised the stress and economy which has since been forced upon us were not better off. Conditions are forcing us now. First a run by all outsides, a long run—if you will, a hard run—but a run for them and believe, best of adversity, to make the most of the good fortune in the days to come. Then and then only will we be of much ultimate use.

Farmers are prone to take the pessimistic attitude of trying to justify their ample cause to complain But we must not run away with the idea that there is any cause for such pessimistic forces. The record of failures in urban business life has been appalling, and we will not deny that the fact that during the past seventeen period of depression has been almost beyond belief. Unemployment has been rife, and starvation far from unknown. Only those with fixed salaries and permanency of employment have escaped the ravages of the whole—have escaped the ravages of the whole. Turning our eyes to Europe, we find a prosperous, rural agriculture, in comparison with which our most troubles seem childish and petty. And it is only by drawing comparisons that we are able to form an estimate of our own lot in life. The Canadian farm is a pretty good place to live in. It has its compensating advantages. The obstacles in the way of a reasonable degree of success are relatively few and gradually being ironed out in accordance with innumerable economic laws. It may be that some of these laws are economic adjustment, but the fact remains, that the process is at work and the tendency is in the right direction. We are looking for a larger imminence flow into Canada in the immediate future, while will add a long-surprising touch to Canadian agriculture.

Might Be A Satisfactory Plan

Placing Date of Maturities on Dairy Products is Being Considered

There is a tendency in all trading towards more accurate description in marking of packages, stated Dr. J. A. Ruddick, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, at the recent conventions of Ontario Dairymen. This is especially true with regard to products that are subject to deterioration in which the date of manufacture is of some importance.

The Danes have recently adopted the practice of placing the date of manufacture on all packages of butter with the avowed object of checking speculation in butter and the holding of it in storage for that purpose. They realize that the reputation of Danish butter has rested in no small degree on the fact that it is consumed as freshly made and the manufacture of the butter is carried out on the understanding that it will be consumed within a short time. Date marking has been practised to some extent in Australia and New Zealand. It was first practice in New Zealand 20 years ago to stamp the date of making on butter packages before they left the factory. When here was a probability that it might remain in storage for some time.

The matter of date marking is also being raised in the United Kingdom. The chairman of the Australian Commonwealth recently said, "the trade had the right to ask that when butter was put into cold storage the fact should be stated." Mr. Ruddick added that in his opinion the dating of cheese and butter was the best way to prevent trade in the United Kingdom, and would increase the good-will towards and the mutual confidence in Canadian produce

It is not the intention to proceed with this matter in a hasty or unconsidered manner, but we are giving it careful study and obtaining the views of all those who are concerned in the matter. There is one objection that might arise and it is the multiplicity of dates that will be required in the trade in the United Kingdom, and would increase the good-will towards and the mutual confidence in Canadian produce

Sound Conveyed By Light Beams

Marvels of Modern Science Demonstrated Before Royal Society

Sound was transmitted over a flickering beam of invisible light at Cam bridge, England.

Donald G. Stockbarger, of the Physics department of Physics of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is the man who invented the wheel who produced the phenomena.

Invisible motion pictures, transmitted on invisible ultra-violet rays, suddenly sprang into life when he turned the switch of the apparatus normal.

Dr. Stockbarger forecast an era when automobile headlights will be used instead of blinding the eyes of drivers, and will flood the highway with invisible ultra-violet light. Other automobiles, fences, posts and buildings covered with a fluorescent substance will then leap into color under the dark rays.

All this may come about, he believes, by 2,000 A.D.

Hundred's heard a human voice coming through the air when as part of a radio broadcast sent over a beam of invisible violet light. Then a person's face appeared on the screen, and the rest of the body and the clothes. Finally the whole picture flashed before the audience.

The invisible rays, which are those of the ultra-violet, were sent through a glass screen which prevented the passage of all light except the invisible rays. Then the picture was thrown on a screen covered with a fluorescent substance which made the invisible rays visible.

Dr. Stockbarger's apparatus was developed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories, of New York, and the invisible light was sent over telephone wires.

Mystery of British Navy

Secrets of Aircraft Carrier Are Most Carefully Guarded

One of the most secret of the British navy is the Hermes, a vessel built especially as an aircraft carrier

The Hermes has been lowering secret. Nobody serving in her is allowed to have a camera in his kit, and no photographs are allowed to be secured her. The secrets of the vessel are most carefully guarded.

The Hermes is said to be generally described as a sea going aerodrome. All that the war taught us about the best of flying decks, and especially this type of ship has been incorporated in her design. She carries twenty machines, and is fitted with the most modern hangars to the flying deck by electric lifts, and she is equipped with all kinds of wireless.

Everybody knows that aircraft carriers exist. What is important to few understand is the secrecy placed on the size of these strange ships has wrought in the conduct of warfare especially in the days when the Hermes was built.

The best captain ship at sea is her Devereux's limited by the range of her guns. Her speed is another of the few of such restrictions. All she need do is to appear off Hankow or any other port and send up her planes, and the whole place lies at her mercy Nor need the carrier run much risk her self. Her planes can fly at a very great height and return to her ship from her target that the best of almost defence cannot touch her.

It is the secrecy that she is so easily able to send planes to bomb an army inland as she is to bomb a town near the shore.

Mixed Up Vodka

Prohibition has been proclaimed in the vast autonomous republic of Yakutsk, in the Union of Soviet Republics, and the Soviet Press the people of the district were spending so much money for vodka that they are unable to buy their bread. The natives, who are akin to Eskimos, have been struck with consternation by the proclamation, which threatens severe punishment to part with their best reindeers and even their wives for vodka.

Deaths from Alcoholism Increase

The Statistical Department of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company announces that deaths from alcoholism which for 1920 were above an increase of 11 per cent over 1919. More than half the deaths from alcoholism in all Canada were in Ontario. The Company estimates that deaths due directly or indirectly to alcoholism during the year were 4,000.

Made Miserable By Eczema in Blisters Cuticura Healed

"Eczema broke out in watery blisters on my face, hands, arms and limbs and made me miserable. After the blisters appeared they festered and they were terribly itchy, causing me to lose my rest both day and night. I could not do any work, and could not keep my water. My clothing aggravated the breaking out on my limbs.

"I was treated and tried different remedies but they did not help me. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased some and in less than a month I was greatly benefited." (Signed) Mrs W. Robinson, Box 166, Holdfast Sk., Brackenridge, Can

"I didn't think the newspapers would announce me," John said, shyly. "It was very kind of you to. I had not told her when I was coming."

They loosed to assume the spectators briefly. "Come inside," he added, to his able librarian related to between Kenilworth and Michael and, almost without a word, conducted the latter back in her chair. She smiled to the crumpled

"Sweet, Mother," she said "this is all I have to me."

The crumpled, as there was no one to bring, perished himself to the rare pleasure of an exchange with Mademoiselle Joanna.

Twice she assured that Mademoiselle should have been so unlucky!"

She shook her head, still leaning back in her chair, and smiling at him queerly.

"Merci, M'sieur," she said, "but I am very happy. Unlucky as you may know, lucky in love. I want to be very lucky today, M'sieur—at here!"

She put up, then, and looked up at him with a smile that was half understanding translated by the suddenness of the pulling up of her increased on the chair. Her eyes were bright with the crowd behind her crowd. Needs turned to see her been play. "I'm right!" she declared, with a shrug. "Five hundred francs—5,000—onto the table. Only it was not the money that the crowd behind her roared

The fourth game of the McLean Cup series will be played at the local arena on Tuesday night at 8 p.m. when the Vermilion and Mannville juniors will clash horns. With the local boys improving every time out and Mannville among the top-up, this out-to should be a whirlwind affair.

A Boxing Tournament under the auspices of the Senior Hockey Club is advertised to be held in the Columbia Theatre next Monday night, Jan. 31st at 8 o'clock. The programme calls for three preliminary bouts of 3 rounds each between well known opponents of the manly art and an exhibition bout between two members of Capt. Gibson's Boy Scout Troop. The main attraction staged for the evening, consisting of ten rounds, is between Jack Kemble, middleweight champion of the R.A.F. and Ted Williams who has many contests in the ring to his credit. The tournament is being put on by the management of the hockey club in an effort to raise funds towards meeting expenses of the season. It is indeed regrettable that the home games played in the local arena to date have been so poorly supported that the Club are over $30 in the hole.

HOCKEY

ISLAY 5—VERMILION 5

Twenty minutes overtime failed to break a 5-5 deadlock between the local Farmers and the Islay team in a scheduled league game on the latter's ice last Friday night. At one time the score read 3-0 for Islay, but this was evened up and the Farmers had 5-4 with but three minutes to go, a long shot which Mead lost sight of owing to the rather poor lighting of the rink forced the game into the overtimer period, which yielded no markers

FARMERS WALLOP ISLAY HOCKEYISTS ON LOCAL ICE

With both teams locking several of their regular players, the Islay and Vermilion teams resumed their drawn encounter of last Friday night on local ice Monday evening, the homesters walking off with the laurels to the tune of 5-0. The first and last periods were fairly even, but the Farmers ran wild in the second with scores and tallied four times in rapid succession; the first goal scored in this period was exceedingly lucky and undeniable, the visiting goalie's breezeless rest

MANNVILLE ACES TAKE 3RD STRAIGHT GAME FROM LOCAL RIVALS

(Special to the Standard)

Mannville, Jan. 27.—Jack Milligan served his team-mates from certain defeat at the hands of the Vermilion players last night by turning in an outstanding an exhibition of goal-tending as has ever been seen in this man's town. Jack only let two shots out of some 30 odd once got by him, while his team chalked 4 against the contestants on the strength of the play the score should easily have been reversed.

Manager Burt trotted out the best looking aggregation that he has had on the ice this winter and may touch Jack and brilliant goal-tending robbed them of victory last night. Donnely and Curson scored for the Tigers while Proctor, Hetzler and Porch watched the Aces' counters. Mannville played without Cundal, while Mead was absent from the Tigers' line-up.

Annual Meeting Town And S.D.

Finances In Favorable Condition-Tax Rate Will Remain Same

Some fifty-odd ratepayers, many of whom were ladies, attended the annual meeting of the town and school district held in the Veterans' Club Rooms last Friday night. Dr. Scott was moved to the chair, following which the financial statement of the town for the past year was read by secretary-treasurer H. P. Jones.

The report showed receipts of $68,-916.75 for 1926. Cash on hand and bank balance at the 31st of December amounted to $11,564.91. The big items in the receipts were: Electric Light and Power customers $13,314.35; Municipal Tax Collections $14,891.06; School Tax Collections $10,961.47, Hospital District No. 2 $2,720.84, and bank debit $1,202.76. Current revenue account balance stood at $4,580.74. The surplus of the power plant for the year was $2,271.13, making a total surplus earned by this public utility of $4,097.70 to 31st December, 1926. The debenture indebtedness of the town has been reduced to $39,321.61

Mayor Fallow gave a resume of the work of the council during the year and indicated that the tax rate for 1927 would practically be the same as last year. For the past four years the town had financed itself and there was no reason why it should not continue to do so. The policy meant a considerable amount in the saving of interest. Mr. Fallow paid a well deserved tribute to the services rendered by the fire brigade, and referred to the addition of a hydrant connected with the C. N. R. water main in the west end, which rendered a system so protection in this portion of the town. Practically an unlimited supply of gravel within the vermilio had been opened up and the low cost made it possible to use it extensively on the streets. The outstanding work of the Municipal Hospital was warmly commended. Before closing, the Mayor stated the great need felt for a covered skating rink. Such a building would cost around $6000.00. A recent change in the Act empowered town to issue debentures for this purpose but he was opposed to borrowing money by this means. He, however, felt that the demand was so urgent that some plan should be formulated whereby action might be taken to it along towards this end, and the council was prepared to contribute from current revenue certain sums of money provided the Athletic Association and other organizations raised a like amount. He promised a start of $1,000, one thousand by the town and the other through the other associations. This would cover the [illegible] portion of the structure and the [illegible] ums. When the building was ready for skating it would own it free of debt.

Decision Given In Dwyer Case

Vermilion Resident An Interested Party

Judgment was filed last week at Halifax, Nova Scotia, by Mr Justice Chisholm in the case of the Eastern Trust Company versus Dwyer et al, an action for the administration of the real and personal estate of the testator, the late Michael Dwyer, valued at over $100,000. The decision of His Lordship is an involved one, dealing with various questions which were propounded by the counsel for the heirs of the testator during the course of the trial. The questions came up on a motion to confirm the report of C. F. Fremlin, K.C., who was appointed referee in the action. Those heard were the trustees comprising John William and Frank Dwyer, Mary Hickman, Eileen Jack and Laura Dwyer, Mary H Dwyer and Gerald Dwyer, Margaret, Eileen and Michael, and the children of the estate of the testator born and unborn. The William Dwyer mentioned was in Vermilion

Big Boxing Tournament

Fifteen Round Bout Went To Rennie By Narrow Margin-Events Good

On Monday night at the Columbia Theatre the people of vermilion and surrounding district were treated to what was perhaps the best exhibition of boxing ever seen in Vermilion. The tournament was arranged under the Vermilion Hockey Club.

The programme consisted of five bouts, four preliminary bouts in which some really good amateur boxing was seen and which prepared the spectators for the main event of the evening a 15 round bout between Jock Rennie and second middleweight of the Royal Air Force, who won a close decision from Ted Williams of Clan Donald who has met some of the best known welterweights of Western Canada.

The first bout, twelve 2 minute rounds between Albert Duncan and Allan Wiebe, both big boys at heavyweight was a good exhibition of both kinds of self defence, Duncan had a slight advantage over his opponent and was awarded the decision. The second event, also between two Boy Scouts Hugh Craig and Orlando Wiebe was a very good exhibition of boxing, and as closely matched were those that the result was a draw.

In the third event Steve Marsh of Lumsdens and Jim Gamble of Vermilion met in a 3 rounds bout of three minutes each, both these men entered the ring at 170 lbs. Fast work was witnessed throughout this bout, much to the delight of the audience. Marsh was aggressive all the way, but Gamble covered up cleverly and landed some useful punches on the remaining three he received. However Marsh had secured a lead over 2 rounds which gave him the decision.

The fourth event, going 3 rounds or three minutes between Jack McPhee, 145 lbs of Clan Donald and Ken Hall, 148 lbs of Camp 2 Lake 31 was an exhibition of good clean boxing which carried the crowd along in hearty anticipation of the main bout to follow. Hall and McPhee were very well matched, McPhee showing considerable mastery of the art, but a better and kept Hall busy making the best of his long reach and quick footwork in avoiding some well directed punches. There was a difference of opinion between the judges as to the winner of this bout and the referee gave his decision as a draw which caused a big spot with the whole-hearted approval of the spectators.

In the main bout Rennie entered the ring at 151 lbs. and Williams at 148 lbs. The first round opened with a cautious feeling for openings by both men, but quickly, changed as Rennie very deftly made up his mind to find out early in the game what is expected from his opponent. Williams met him roundly and cleverly, stopping several well directed blows, two or three of which, however, connected, gaining the first round for Rennie. The second round was short, with only one good punch getting home which gave the round to Williams

Rounds three and four went to Rennie on a narrow margin, some fast mix-work was seen in the fourth, three or several rallies on the ropes which kept the crowds busy. Williams covered up cleverly but took a little punishment. Rennie showed up in the fifth, and Williams connected with a couple of good blows which gave him the round.

Some good boxing was seen in the 6th and 7th rounds, each man giving, and taking an equal number of jabs, which resulted in both rounds being a draw.

The eighth went to Rennie on a clear margin. Williams started out the aggressor and pinned Rennie in the corner, getting in a couple of useful jabs but Rennie covered up and cleverly evaded himself, following this up with a whirlwind attack of forcing Williams on to the ropes as the gong sounded.

Williams had a slight advantage in each of the 9th, 10th and 11th rounds, also used footwork and clever defence most of well, a few well-timed jabs giving him a slight lead in points. The 12th resulted in a draw they being little action in the round

Rennie came back in the 13th round with a rush and a punch which had his opponent groggy, to such an extent that he was unable to defend himself, and the referee stepped in with the announcement of the fact that Rennie was the winner by a narrow margin, showing that those men are very evenly matched which leads us to believe that both men are anxious for a return bout. This, we understand, may be arranged in the near future. A couple of doubtful blows were struck during the fourth bell but it was conceded that these were accidentals as was shown by the friendly handshake between the opponents on being warned by the referee.

Jack and Ted are to be congratulated on clean and sporting show with which they entertained a very appreciative audience, all of whom hope to see them meet again soon.

The preliminaries were refereed by Mr Jackson of Minburn and the main bout by Brent Marsh. The judges were Mr Stewart and Capt. Gibson, Mr Bodington was timekeeper. Great credit is due to Mr F. Burk and those who cooperated with him in arranging one of the best events in the interest of sport which has taken place in Vermilion for a long time

Fumbling for the Key

A candidate for political office, while making a campaign speech, sought to discover the denominational sympathies of his audience, in order that he might turn the information to advantage. "My great grandfather," he began, "was an Episcopalian (strong applause) but my great grandmother was a Methodist (more applause) and I have always followed my great aunt" (loud and continued cheering). He got in

"Pardon me a moment, please," said the dentist to his patient, "but before beginning this work I must leave my drill."

"Good gracious, man!" exclaimed the patient, "you don't you pull a tooth without rehearsal?"

Sixteen Years Ago Today

Interesting Items gleaned from the Files of The Vermilion Standard
FEBRUARY 1, 1911

Officers of the Vermilion Agricultural society, members of the Board of Trade and others met in the council chamber last Thursday evening and prepared for the mails some 1500 circulars in connection with the short course at Vermilion, February 28 to March 4.

Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture, has made the announcement that no announcement in connection with the establishment of the demonstration farms for the province will be made until spring. That's good enough for us, long as we get one.

Messrs. Robinson & Thomas have opened up a real estate office and live stock exchange, including insurance and general loan business.

J. K. Carey leaves on Monday as delegate from Vermilion to attend the Alberta Dairy Pool convention in Edmonton, which opens on Tuesday morning.

The annual banquet for the Manville Curling club opened on Wednesday morning. A rink from here skipped by J. A. Morison is taking in the event.

War Farming

The Provincial Department of Agriculture is being besieged at present with requests for the establishments of war farms, and for Dominion Government grants over large areas, including thirty on many of the lakes in the province.

Hon. Mr. Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture, announces in this connection that nothing of the kind has been arrived at between the Dominion and Provincial governments, whereby all swank, idle will be administered for this purpose by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, under regulations agreed to, and all applicants for its farming rights are being informed by the minister, who wishes it to be certainly known throughout the province, that a definite policy in respect to the war farming industry is being formulated and that no action towards granting special rights will be taken until spring, when a proper survey can be made of the lands and lakes involved.

Big Dairy Convention

Indications from all over Western Canada will gather at Edmonton during the week of February eighth, to the seventh Canada Dairy Convention which is expected to be the largest in its kind ever held. Special exhibits are being prepared for this occasion and prominent speakers will deliver addresses. Delegates will be present from the four western provinces, it is just thirty years ago that the first move was made by government authorities to form the first association of the dairy industry in the West. The history of the development of the industry in that period will be one of the interesting topics of the convention.

Honey Production

Honey production in Alberta is on the increase. In 1925, a total of one hundred and fifteen thousand pounds, was produced with a value of twenty three thousand dollars. In 1926, nearly twice as much was produced with a value of over thirty-two thousand dollars. One man alone in Alberta produced last year nearly fifty tons, while another produced sixteen tons, both of these being in the Lethbridge district. It has been predicted by well known bee experts that Alberta will be one of the largest exporters of honey within ten years.

Governor General Coming to Alberta

The Lieutenant-Governor, governor general, will pay a visit to Alberta in the middle of April. Arrangements are being made for his visit by governmental and city authorities in Calgary and Edmonton. The University of Alberta will also confer an honorary degree upon him during his visit.

Heavy Gasoline Production

Over 200,000 barrels of 72 degree natural gasoline were produced at Royalite No. 4 Well in the Turner Valley, south of Calgary, during 1926, the record month being January with a production of 20,170 barrels, while a total of 18,447 barrels were produced in December

There are now three other producing wells in the Turner Valley, the latest to come in being the Macleod No. 1, which came back into production again last week with a flow of but one hundred nearly nine million cubic feet per day.

Kept Song in His Den Yesterday - "Groundhog Day"

Bruno, the bear owned by Mr Jas Daw, town, returned to leave his cosy den yesterday, "groundhog day," and unlike his hibernating cousin did not, therefore see his shadow. Whether this was due to absolute indifference on the part of bruin as to the destiny of the human race, or whether he knows enough of Alberta weather not to make any propitious regarding it, is up to us to guess at. And Bro'r Bear may be wise, at that!

SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE NOTES

The last V. S. A. hockey team defeated the Minburn team on the College rink on Saturday, Jan. 29th, the score being 4-3. Intense interest was manifested by the spectators as play surged back and forth. Ray Myers, in goal for Minburn, put up a good exhibition of net tending while Frank Mead, the V.S.A. goalie, handed out his usual good brand of defense of the game.

Bill Mead and Robinson played splendid defense while Wattle, Bell and Taylor carried the aggressive line up especially Taylor.

Ed. Mooney refereed very satisfactorily.

The V. S. A. students entertained the visitors at a dance in the school assembly hall after the game.

Commencing the 31st, the V. S. A. team went to Minburn and again defeated the western team, this time by a 5-0 score. The college boys victory was attributed to their splendid and machine-like combination play throughout the entire game, while the defence held Minburn's forwards at every turn. This game was fast all the way through, Minburn fighting steadily until time was called.

The line-ups for both games were: Minburn: Ray Myers, French, Young, Park, Robinson, Ashley, McCallum, H. Myers, Donaldson. Vermilion School of Agriculture—Frank Mead; Robinson, Bill Mead; Wattle, Bell, Taylor, Black, Craig, Milligan.

Charles Hughes refereed to the satisfaction of all.

The people of Minburn entertained the visitors at a social evening and dance at the conclusion of the game and the V. S. A. team and its supporters arrived home rejoicing in victory and in a knowledge that their good feeling and clean sportsmanship had characterized the games.

Mr. Herman Trelle, Wheat and Oat King of the World, and a resident of the Peace River country, has placed two baskets of his world winning wheat and two baskets of his unbeaten white oats at the second prize level for the best judges of grain among the second year boys of the V.S.A.

On Friday, Feb. 11th a special invitation Valentine's Dance has been arranged. The decorative scheme will feature pancombe items, the color scheme will provide their usual peppy medley of the reds will be up to Miss Edward's usual high standard. Assisting classes are slightly higher than last year when it is understood that the object is to raise funds in order to enlarge and improve the skate and provide certain installations, etc. It is felt that everyone will be glad to help in bringing about this much needed improvement. Tickets may be purchased at Long's Drug store on presentation of an invitation card. Everyone from both town and will be provided, the school bus leaving Long's at 7:30 p.m., 8:15 p.m. and 9 p.m.

GOOD REPORT FOR ISLAY MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL.

The annual auditor's report for the Islay Municipal hospital for the year 1926 as published in the Standard last week, is a most satisfactory one, showing as it does a credit balance in the bank of $7,580.73, an increase of some $1300 over the balance of the previous year. The receipts reached the substantial sum of $21,620.76. The hospital had 2916 hospital days with 227 patients on record. There were 38 operations and 41 maternity cases. The average cost per patient per day was $5.63.

ETHELWYN M. D. IS STRONG POSITION.

The annual financial statement for Ethelwyn municipality shows a cash balance carried over from December 31, 1925 of $11,849 42. The large sum of $17,326.79 was expended on public works, which included the government grant, and some excellent roads have been constructed throughout that district. Five hundred copies of the statement were mailed out this week to ratepayers by the secretary-treasurer, Harry Wood.

APPOINT SECOND HIGH SCHOOL INSPECTOR.

Hon. P. Baker, minister of education, has announced at Calgary that Mr. L. Fuller, principal of the Wetaskiwin high school has been appointed as high school inspector. This will give the province two high school inspectors instead of one, as has been the case for the past two or three years, in November last Mr. Morrison, chairman of the Vermilion centre school board, urged such an appointment up on the minister and the matter was then promised consideration. It is understood that Mr. Fuller's appeal to the department has met with a debt for result.

POOL NOTES

A. Jesse Stamp, a well-known farmer of the Clarendon district, was elected as Director by the delegates from that district at a meeting held in the Wood Pool office. Mr Stamp succeeds Hon. G. L. McPherson, who resigned when taking over the provincial portfolio of Public Works. The new director hails from the Provincial centre of Clarendon in 1904. He now farms two sections of land there.

Present Wheat Pool contracts expire with the handling of the 1927 crop, and new contracts are being prepared for another sign-up Saskatchewan and Manitoba are making stiff bar plans. The present contract in use in Manitoba runs for five years from the date of signing. In Alberta and Saskatchewan all contracts expire at the same time.

Most of the Alberta Wheat Pool directors are making their customary annual rounds of their districts addressing mo ings. These meetings are principally for Pool members, but non-Pool farmers and others in search of talks of life are urged to be present. These meetings afford an excellent opportunity to learn about the operations of the pool.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture in the Saskatchewan government, in the course of a message to members of the Wheat Pools, says: "It is not necessary to argue or demonstrate that the farmer receives more in the aggregate for his goods by this voluntary, systematic and ordered marketing method. All the average farmer desires is the average bill for his product, and that is what every Pool contract signer is receiving, minus the worry and anxiety of speculation and the profit and running for early empty cars."

The Alberta Wheat Pool has approached the body appointed whereby her Director Board with the object of making representations for a Board of Conciliation between Vermilion No 1 at Vairmyer. The chairman of the board has gone to Ottawa and a decision will probably be reached on his return to the coast.

R. A. MacPherson, Pool Director for North Calgary, has been appointed representative on the Central Selling Agency of the Pools, taking the place of Hon. G. L. McPherson, resigned. The Alberta Pool has three representatives on the Central Selling Agency, namely: L. W. Wood, C. Jensen, and R. A. MacPherson.

VERMILION JUNIORS LOSE FAST, EVEN GAME

Manville Boys Made it Four Straight on Tuesday Night

The fourth game of the junior hockey series between Manville and Vermilion took place at the local arena Tuesday evening, when the local boys did their utmost to register a win over their western rivals. How ever, experience, weight and the "pucks" of the game all combined against them and they went down fighting in the tune of 4 goals to 2. The territorial play in the first 2 periods favored Manville, but in the third the reverse was the case, while the Vermilion lads throughout had a far larger number of shots on goal to their credit. Milligan, the Manville goalie, was on his toes, however, and handled all but two. Welsh, for Vermilion also put up a nice game and the tallies that passed him were from close in and hard to stop.

The first frame displayed nice hockey, with Manville having a little the better of exchanges, and they scored twice before the Vermilionites found the range. Jumbey, however, worked down behind the Manville goal, passing out to Cooper who slammed in the first counter. Play reversed in Vermilion territory, and Bill Mead star defence man, ran foul of one of the Manville boys, getting a nasty bump which laid him up for this period and all of the second. Play in the second stanza was mostly Manville and they ran in another goal (which looked decidedly offside) while Vermilion failed to tally. Both teams pasted up a couple of juicy opportunities to score in this period.

The third frame saw the fastest hockey of the game. Manville scored again after five minutes play, making the score 4-1. The local lads put all they had into the fray from this on, and Ed Mooney, who had been playing a stellar game all evening, sent a bullet shot into Manville's net for Vermilion's second goal. Back checking like fiends, the red and gold boys kept the play almost entirely in the enemy's territory, but had failed to register any further, the game ending with a 4-2 score.

Gordon Chanville referred to the entire satisfaction of all. Only three penalties were handed out. Manville drawing the lot. The night being very cold, the game was poorly attended only about fifty fans turning out to rent. The boys need better support than this, so everybody come next time and give them a hand.

Support Endorsed By Athletic Association

Pledge Themselves To Raise $1000 For Covered Rink This Summer

The proposal to erect a skating rink in Vermilion found a further impetus at a meeting of the Vermilion Athletic Association held in the Town Hall on Thursday evening, with President Morrison in the chair. His Worship, Mayor Fallow again outlined the scheme he had in mind and which included the suggestion that the town council contribute one dollar for every dollar raised by the athletic or other association in town. He was in favor of having the rink erected by wages, so that the burden of cost would be spread over a term of two or three years, and when completed would be free of debt. He also suggested that the waiting and dressing rooms might be heated by the waste steam from the electric light and power plant. The cost of installing such system would be very small. He strongly favored a covered rink—in fact no other would meet the requirements of the town. The meeting was unanimous as to the need of a live rink forthwith.

The purpose of the meeting was explained by the chairman—it was to ascertain the attitude of the association in regard to the proposition submitted by Mayor Fallow and which had been endorsed at the ratepayers' meeting the week before. A motion was, after some discussion in which the problem was viewed from different angles, carried that the association pledge itself to raise at least $1000 during the year 1927 to be devoted to the erection of this proposed rink. A finance committee comprising Joseph McKone, H. W. Harper and A. M. West, was appointed to look after the raising of this money and another committee comprising Owen Burns, J. A. M. Craig and A. H. Williams to be known as the construction committee to arrange for the building. It is anticipated on behalf of the Town Mayor Fallow offered a number of lots in the west end, on Main St., north of the electric light plant and near the C. N. R. hydrant, asking that the offer be considered by the association. The offer was on motion accepted. There did not appear to be a dissenting voice in the meeting, although the question propounded by J. A. Kirkpatrick near the opening as to whether the meeting thought the town could afford to build a $25,000 rink at present time a rink costing some $15,000 remained unanswered. The idea also advanced that before he left to enter the business required but did not meet with any favor. Solving Western Problems

Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the National Research Council, and father of the Universities of Alberta, making a recent tour of a number of the cities of the west, in the work of research in Canada says: Such an organization is necessary if we wish to be made to stand up to the times all the time and to keep abreast, which, for us, is no light undertaking.

In Toronto, a team of animal experts are at work planning the growth of pure potash and in one where applications have been made for the use of the product. Another team is at work on the problem of refrigerating the Hudson Bay route. However, above questions that there are deserving of attention.

The truth of the matter is, that, to be successful because in making possible the use of the latest word in the field of industry. In addition, it will bring to Canada the best brains that can be obtained for the solution of the problems of industry as they arise from time to time, whereas until recently matters were left to chance. Many of the most important industries were frequently started on the strength of some individual's enthusiasm for a product or a process which in the end proved to be a disappointment because it was not the best product.

The National Research Council is within the limits of its comparatively small funds, granting what in the best practice are to the best-indorsed benefits of scientific research applied to the needs of industry. A few days ago announcement was made that research work of really vital importance to all the western provinces is to be carried on at all the provincial universities of the three prairie provinces in association with the Dominion government laboratories at Winnipeg. The particular problem to be tackled is of the greatest importance, of which will be appreciated by any farmer who has visited Ottawa during the present crop season.

The National Research Council some time ago appointed a special committee on grain research, to study various problems connected with the production and marketing of grain, including factors affecting milling and baking quality, commercial grading, and diseases affecting grain plants, particularly rust. This committee now proposes an immediate survey of the methods employed in grain drying to be followed by a study of the different methods with a view to determining which is most advantageous from the viewpoint of economy and the resulting quality of the dried product.

In order to make investigation as thoroughgoing as possible, the Universities of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will co-operate in the work. Milling and baking test laboratories of the most modern type have already been installed at the Alberta and Saskatchewan Universities and the same equipment is to be also installed in Manitoba. Dr. Tory has expressed the opinion that it is doubtful if a research of such magnitude has ever before been undertaken by Canada.

Our Prairie Universities are playing a large part in the development of these provinces and in finding solutions for many problems. Research work is necessarily slow. To be of any value it must be most thorough, frequently covering years of study and many tests. Anything haphazard will not do because of this, many people are impatient of research work and are critical of money spent on it. But the fact remains that it is here the work of science and experts, principally, that has made the United States the great industrial nation it is today. The industries of Great Britain built up their world trade, not because of tariffs but through the application of scientific discoveries. Industrial Germany was for student of research work probably to a greater extent than any other country.

Canada it must be admitted has been backward in this respect, and our manufacturers are largely to blame because for years they have been obsessed with the idea that in Customs tariff- and in Customs tariffs alone- was prosperity to be found. If the Canadian manufacturers would throw the whole weight of their influence and resources back of the National Research Council, a new and better era in Canadian industry would result.

Delivery Horses in Demand

Reserve Animals Always Needed to Fill Up Gaps

Clean, upstanding horses, sixteen hands high, especially strong in the legs, weighing from 1200 to 1600 pounds, and single broken, are the type of animals business firms want for delivery horses, members of the Saskatchewan Horse Breeders' Association were told at their meeting in the barge of meeting by Arthur Newman, Winnipeg. Mr Newman was speaking for the larger firms in that city who require a number of horses for service on their delivery wagons.

"There are over 400 delivery horses in daily service in Winnipeg," Mr Newman stated, "and reserve animals are needed at all times to fill up the gaps in the ranks. Only one in ten of the animals we get now are single broken, and one can imagine the difficulty of breaking them in busy streets of Winnipeg. Any farmer who has a horse or number of horses that answer the description of what we consider the "Typical Delivery Horse" will at once be able to sell them, and at good prices

Swollen Joints, Quickly Limbered Up

Rub On Nerviline

Two words—spread—at the word—aerial—and—Nerviline—in the name of such cases. Bring this and not as much as a groan. Rub it on briskly and quickly, and down it sinks into the tissues and the pain is long vanished before it can whimper. For stopping pain—for relieving pain for rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, neuralgia, sprains, bruises, and all pain—Nerviline is a complete success. Get a large family bottle—a trial bottle may be had for the asking—the large bottle is the more economical. Nerviline is sold everywhere in large 35 cent bottles.

France Electrifying Railways

Going More Than Any Other Country In Use

Here is one reason why railroads will have to change their method of propulsion sooner than in the days before. Hauling a train weighing more than 1,000 tons, a 16 wheeled electric locomotive has just made the run of 243 miles between Paris and Vierzon at an average speed of 84½ miles an hour.

Steam has done as well as this when it comes to speed, but those records have been made by engines in the barge of the under stress. Moreover, a steam locomotive, due to its reciprocating parts, must be run at a speed considerably less than the electric, which can do a fast run, and then turn right around and run back at once.

France is doing more than any other country, right now, toward the electrification of railroads. Several lines are almost completely electrified, and work is proceeding on such projects. Some time ago the head of the electric development fostered by the government with the idea of relieving the coal famine, which has made the United's mined coal, and providing cheap power for railways and industries.

That Overseas Trip

The Canadian Pacific Railway are operating through tourist sleeping cars between Montreal and Toronto to connect with steamers sailing from Saint John, N.B. This arrangement has been made in order to provide every convenience for overseas travellers. These tourist cars are direct to Saint John's side, and assure connection which facilitate transfer from train to steamer. See any ticket agent of the Canadian Pacific to arrange for berths and reservations on these cars.

Ice Fall is Perennial

Public Health Scholarships

Social Hygiene Council to Create an Endowment Fund

Creation of an endowment fund to provide for one or more public health scholarships in a Canadian university, to be initiated, will be one of the most significant items on the program of Canadian Social Hygiene leaders during the coming year.

As far as is known, no similar fund now exists anywhere in the Dominion and the proposal to open for research set out in detail demonstrates how keen rapidity, during the past few years, has been the realization of the fact that health is not merely a matter which concerns only the individual and the family directly affected, but is as vitally a matter of public interest as the tariff or freight rates and the welfare of the whole people of the country as a whole.

While no details are yet available, the foundation of the fund, it is understood, would likely be offered as an aid to selected medical students who have shown special aptitude or liking for public health work and are inclined to specialize in that particular field of medical work.

A DOCTOR'S PRAISE

A Noted Doctor Strongly Endorses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

The test of any remedy lies in its acceptance and employment by the qualified medical practitioner. No less an authority than Dr. Andrew Amiel, physician to the Papal household, writing on the subject of anaemia, impoverishment of the nervous system and disorders attributable thereto, strongly endorses Dr Williams' Pink Pills, recommending them in preference to other tonics.

Dr Amiel's testimony reads as follows:—"For several years I have made use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in my work and I have always found them efficacious in the treatment of disorders due to impoverishment of the nervous system, anaemia and neurasthenia, stomach weakness, retarded development in young women, and irregularities. There is no lack of tonic remedies, but in my opinion no one of them manifests a superior efficacy to that of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

No more conclusive evidence of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills could be asked for or given, than is found in the above endorsement of this noted European physician. Besides this, however, this medicine has enjoyed a world-wide public endorse for more than a third of a century and has brought relief to thousands and thousands of weak and suffering people.

Try Dr Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness and stomach trouble. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and entirely as a resistance that will keep you well and strong. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Agriculture On Up Trend

Farmers Have $6,250,000,000 Invested In Country

Hon. T. A. Crerar, president of the United Grain Growers, predicts that Canada's development in the next fifty years will be unparalleled in history. Agriculture in this country is now starting a great forward movement, he said, and farmers have already invested $6,250,000,000 in the country.

A Wonderful Age

Seventeen Has Been Heralds Age for Many People

Many are the readers who laughed till the sides ached over Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen." The hero of that book is a typical boy at an age when his emotions subjects swing into high key. Girls, tall and short, blond and brunette; clothes, his first dress suit, a necktie, and the hardest necessity of shaving twice a week; flowers, bonbons, dates—at seventeen, what a life!

Yet seventeen is an age of something besides these things usually associated with callow youth. George Young, winner of the Catalina Channel swimming contest, is seventeen. Think of the qualities necessary to achieve a swim of 22 miles in cold, rough and dangerous waters. One hundred and two men and women made the start, some of them experienced swimmers for a decade or more, but it was a youth of seventeen who was there at the finish.

Seventeen is an age when most anything might happen. Then and there again it has been an heroic age for some. At that age many a youth has borne the load of the home and support and borne it uncomplainingly. Purit- rode, pluck, persistence, audacity, all these belong to the age of seventeen and because of this fact youth is the wonder of the world. Was it not St. Paul who wrote to a young seventeen man "Let no man despise thy youth."

Miller's Worm Powders will eradicate the worm evil that bears so heavily on children and is believed to be responsible for many deaths. They are acceptable medicine to children and can be safely relied upon to relieve the food channels thoroughly of these troublesome parasites and restore the inflamed and painful stomach to healthfulness. They are an excellent remedy for these evils.

Farewell Message to Canada

Loyalty to Empire Means Peace and Security Said Premier Coates

"We have an extraordinary heritage and tremendous responsibility to make the best of it. And taking the position that is ours after centuring of struggle. If we are loyal to our ideals, we will be the first nation that which means equal opportunities and security and safety to all who live within it."

This was the farewell message of Premier J. C. Coates, of New Zealand, to the people of Canada, delivered in an address to the Canadian Club at Vancouver, prior to leaving for Sydney, Australia, whence he sailed on the last lap of his journey homeward from the recent Imperial Conference at London.

"It seems to me that the atmosphere has been cleared," said the Premier in referring to the conference. "There is an agreement among us, and we have the spirit that keeps us together. The next problem is to bring it to practical form. We have everything we require, and the next problem is to develop it to prosper, to make our people prosperous."

Hebridians for Alberta

Fifty Hebridean and Northern Irish families will be established in a new colony at Saddle Lake, Alberta, early this spring. This will be the second settlement of Ne Island in this province—the first having been established north of Vermilion. Buildings are now being erected on fifty farms at Saddle Lake and it is expected that new arrivals will take over holdings there not as soon as necessary arrangements can be made.

Far-Flung British Empire In Area and Extent Is Something At Which To Marvel

Commenting on the recent Imperial Conference and its accomplishments, a contributor to the World Wide magazine remarks that, even without the self-governing Dominions and India, Great Britain and her dependencies would constitute quite a respectable Empire. That, of course, is true enough, but it would be an Empire of the older type, not a common wealth of free, self-governing states bound together by community of sentiment and interest and acting together for the common good. In other words, a great experiment of incalculable value to the world, would be sacrificed were dumpdom to come. But apart from this side of the question, might people have only a vague idea of the vast extent of the territories that the Mother Country has established or administered and to keep the peace within. World Wide, indeed, has applied the powers of stocktaking to the British Empire in its separate parts and in the whole, and the result is a valuable survey of the Empire's resources and activities.

Of the British Isles, the Channel Islands rule in every detail, every constituent in at least imitated, save that of Northern Ireland, which is a part of Scotland and her system of Labrador is similated.

In Europe, there are Northern Ireland, Gibraltar, Malta and Cyprus.

In Asia, in continental possessions and lands under direct control of the British government, are India, Ceylon, Aden, Southern Rhodesia, Northern Rhodesia, Nyasaland, British East Africa, Zanzibar, Somaliland, Nigeria, Gold Coast, Sierra Leone, Gambia, Mauritius, Seychelles.

In Asia, other than India, there are Cyprus, Malaya, Straits Settlements, Federated Malay States, Unfederated Malay States, Brunei, Sarawak, North Borneo, British Hong Kong, Weihaiwei.

In Oceania, Papua Islands and Fiji Islands, and the Tonga Islands.

To complete the list, outside the Dominions, there are the mandated territories of New Guinea, Nauru, Samoa, Pitcairn

SHOW RECEIPTS OF NEARLY $700.00.

The annual financial statement of the municipal district of Vermilion valley shows receipts of $94,041.03, and a cash balance on hand at the end of the year of $16,585.65. A heavy expenditure on account of relief works was made in 1926 totalling up to $21,281.65 and results are apparent. In the line roads which have been opened up and graded. The report is a most encouraging one.

Owing to heavy demand made upon our space this week, the "Thirty Years Ago" items are omitted but will be included with those of our next issue.

It was found impossible for this paper to make any comments on the suggestions contained in the communication of Mr Morrison appearing elsewhere, on the rink proposition now before the public. We trust to do so in a later issue. The columns of The Standard are open to anyone who feels like expressing their views on this or any personal movement.

GEORGE BECK,
608 Returning Officer

Last autumn the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire announced a competition for a Christmas Card design, offering a prize of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) to the prize-winner, but stipulating that the Committee might withhold the prize if no entry reached a sufficiently high standard in the estimation of the judges. Unfortunately the judges, both members of the Order and experts with whom the Committee consulted, have decided that no entry deserves the prize. The Committee very much regrets having to announce this decision and hopes that another year entries may be received which will fully justify the Committee in awarding the prize.

DEATH OF MRS. MAYHEW

Practically the whole of Sunniva district and many friends in town were flung into mourning on Friday last when news came of the rather unexpected death of Mrs. E.A. Mayhew who passed away while in the local hospital. Although the deceased has been in failing health for a long time, and periodically had similar attacks, she had always been able to fight it off and the highest hopes were held out for her until the very last.

The funeral was held in Sunniva on Sunday afternoon, the Church being filled with friends and sympathizers from the district, many of whom had to stand for lack of seating accommodation. The Rev. F. J. Rushton took the services and preached a very feeling sermon on the duty of all Christians to try and lead others to Christ, especially among their own kindred, for family prayer and worship is the home life

Mr. J. Warring, who had charge of the funeral, spoke of the very kindly feeling shown in the community, which had brought the extreme sympathy to her husband and family, but it had also given the people an opportunity of showing her their friendship and sympathy could be

The late Mrs. Mayhew was born in the province of Quebec 42 years ago, where she met Mr. Mayhew quite early in life. Nearly twenty years ago they took up land in the Bayrichia district and there spent a very happy life with their family, always ready to help others with goodly and kind, ruling an active part in any project for the welfare of the district. A lovely design of flowers was sent from many to the high esteem in which she was held by neighbors and friends, effection received being a beautiful wreath from Husband and Children; also designs from the Sunniva Mission by the Rev. Mr. & Mrs. H. E. Mayhew, Mr. & Mrs. W. Mayhew, Mr. & Mrs. H. Armstrong, Mr & Mrs. Geo. White, Mr. H. A. Crosby & Family, Mr. & Mrs. W. Parsons, Mr & Mrs H. Simmons, Mr & Mrs. J. B. Seaborn, and the Barrichie, P. F. A. The Standard joins with a large circle of friends in extending most sincere sympathy to the husband and family in their deep sorrow and bereavement.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE G. W. HUNT

A large number of people gathered in the Knox United Church at Isleyton on Monday afternoon last to attend the funeral of the late George William Hunt, who died on February 2nd at the Isley Hospital.

The service was taken by the Rev W. T. Cronk who spoke most feelingly of the deceased and comforted the mourners in the name of all present. The deepest sympathy in this their time of bereavement. It is believed that in that happy home they would feel a great void, there would be the vacant chair, and the expectant looking for the familiar form that would never again enter the door, and there would be a yearning to hear the voice of him who could so readily raise in its cheering song; even with the heating blades of time there would abide in the hearts of those whom he loved an aching void that could never again be truly filled. He prayed that the comforting grace of Almighty God be vouchsafed to Mrs Hunt, to her daughter Mrs Sherriff and Mr Sherriff in their great loss

Mr Hunt had been a familiar figure on the streets of this community, always active in his duties connected with the farm he had by industry and perseverance erected a real English home and beautified it in excellent taste. It was one of the tragedies of life that after reaching a certain degree of comfort and independence the last Reaper should come to and remove the busy hand, leaving only his handiwork to remind us of the irreparable loss that comes into our lives. The late Mr. Hunt was born in England in December 1875. He came to Canada in 1911 and after three years in Calgary came to the Isley district and took up farming. For the last four years he had been gradually failing in health and several days before his release when the end came. He leaves behind to mourn his loss his widow and one daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs Sherriff, besides his mother, Mrs. W. Hunt, and two sisters, Mrs Hutchinson and Mrs. J. Maebel who reside in England. A beautiful display of flowers were placed on the casket and burial took place in the Isley cemetery, Mr. J. Waring conducting the funeral.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Mayhew and family wish to express their thanks to all friends and neighbors for the kindly expressions of sympathy and help extended in their recent and bereavement.

THE TENNIS CLUB DANCE

A dance will be held in the Community Hall on the evening of Feb. 18th, under the auspices of the Tennis Club. As in the past for the purpose of raising money, special features must be provided in order to draw a crowd. This has been done. Novelty dances are arranged and the lucky winners will receive valuable prizes. Refshe will have a chance to prepare to many ladies while questing for the minute hours; if they get the nitit they can try again. Though not leap-year, the ladies will be given an equal chance to corral happiness. Refreshments will add to the attractiveness and gaiety and a supper fit to appease the stomach of a millionaire will be served. A special musical programme is being prepared by the Orioles Orchestra and an evening of fun and frolic is assured. Come prepared for a good time, pessimists only will be disappointed.

COMMUNICATION

Editor, The Standard.

With regard to the desirability of building a covered rink in town there can be no question, but there may be a difference of opinion as to how that building should be financed. I do not think either the ratepayers meeting or that of the Athletic association had sufficient information before it to warrant any definite action in the matter. I understand that as late as the date of the latter meeting the town council had not, at least, formally discussed the question. Unquestionably it should take the lead. Personally I am in favor of a debenture basis. This appears to be the fairer and more equitable method. The revenues from the rink, one way or another, should to a large measure meet the debentures each year to a year. It is possible that some could be sold locally. The town of Camrose financed the building of their rink in this way. Their loan was for 10,000 on a ten year basis at six per cent. The total cost of the rink was over $15,000. By this scheme the athletic association would be free to equip the gymnasium and in that connection it would have to rent a portion of the rink premises from the town. It is needless to assert here the crying need of such an institution in Vermilion. If, however the council is opposed to this principle and feels the people contributing fifty per cent. of the cost of the rink, then perhaps should be an arrangement whereby subscribers are paid interest on their money as well as time re-payment. Such is the principle adopted. There does not appear to be any other objection to this scheme as well as the principle involved. The only basis say $1.00 on the dole of the town and income from rentals, etc., would be sufficient to meet the interest. Why should we be asked to [illegible] the building at a [illegible] some other [illegible] ing them a rent? [illegible] be paid out to [illegible] The town [illegible] appealing to popular [illegible] more I feel we are playing [illegible] in a position where the proposal is apt to end in failure. The mayor's suggestion that we build by stages I think is the best. That depends upon whether you can keep up the enthusiasm and interest. I doubt it you can. Let us first be sure we are right and then go ahead. It would seem to me the council should adopt a definite policy in the matter, and once this is done it behooves the people to back it up, but in any event, it should not cost over subscription. We remain without provision for repayment with interest if fully believe, however, a plebiscite would show a majority of the citizens in favor of a debenture basis. Perhaps someone else has a better scheme still to offer.
Yours truly,
J. W. G. MORRISON.

Horses Holding Their Own

Number in Canada Not Decreasing Says Reliable Authority

Speaking to the assembled Rotarians the other day, Mr. Harry Griffith somewhat surprised his audience by informing them that the horse population of Canada was not decreasing now. Most people imagined that it was, but Mr. Griffith is in the best area of making working horses for horses, as he had plenty of statistics to show that his statements were still quite numerous. The horse population is about 2,500,000 which we'll admit is quite a remark table owing to horses.

It's a sad fact people get the idea that the automobile and the tractor have decimated the horse population. It's probably because people who live in cities write about these things and don't know any better.

They have seen the old hitching posts with chewed off tops removed from the main street so more to this week's empty motor boats, and in a creek with a rickbush head over top getting a ride in the back of a buggy. Yes, there's where you see that take a horse to run away as well spill the hauling horse in the right street, or a horse with the lines on, have fearfully convinced that horses been a dropping off of course like the Dodo and the Buffalo, but it's a long tack of low clouds.

Truth is, he have never been kept in the herds and they don't come along the main streets for our cows the country roads like they use to. They look more interesting to ramble though and watch the fellows at their drive or grow in to stall. He has a that half per cent. of the horses and pull his competitors out of the ruts when he'll cuts a little fat on horses for stamina.

Mr. Harry attributes the falling off to the increase of the number of motor cars and tractors on the farms. Now, we don't think a good tractor can replace a horse for all purposes, but we do think that a good motor car can replace a horse for many purposes. Mr. Harry says the farmers in Canada have increased their horses by 1,000,000 since 1911, and he attributes the increase to the motor car. We don't think that's right. We think the increase is due to the fact that the farmers have been raising more horses because they have been getting more money for them. Would Import Camels To Saskatchewan

Russian Farmers Make Move to Bring Camels from Siberia for Work on Farms

The importation of between 50 and 100 camels from Northern Russia to replace draft horses on Saskatchewan farms, is contemplated by a group of 11 Lutheran farmers of the Eastern district.

The farmers, when born on their fathers' farms in Northern Russia, used camels for farm work and believe them greatly superior to ever the best bread draft horses in this country.

The camel stands six feet high and is easy to maintain than horses, can work longer hours, requires less food, where oats are not required and hay and straw will suffice the year around, are faster walkers than horses and never tire. In addition, camels live much longer than horses and are in their prime when they are 50 years old.

Headed by Henry Doering the 11 farmers have organized to bring the camels from Russia, subject to the approval of the Soviet government which is supporting horses from West into Canada.

The Doering has with him Hon W. R. Motherwell, federal minister of agriculture, respecting the co-operation of the government in securing the permission of the Soviet as to the importation of the beasts.

Through communication to Mr. Motherwell, Mr. Doering explains that prior to the great War the Mennonites in Russia's native land. With the outbreak of hostilities between Russia and Germany, the Mennonites were called upon to serve in the army, or to be a non-combatant army, and we always did have a considerable regard for camels."

Last Year's Wool Clip

Every Province But Three Mentions Report Increase Over 1925

Final estimates of the wool clip of the Dominion for the year just closed place the total at close to eleven and a half million pounds. Of the amount around five million pounds were used locally, the bulk of the clip in Quebec and certain New Brunswick settlements in the West never reaching commercial channels. Of the remainder, about 2½ per cent. of 2,500,000 pounds to be exact, was marketed on a graded basis through the medium of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers. This is a substantial increase over a year ago, when 2,274,000 pounds were shipped by the co-operative.

Southern Alberta and Southern Saskatchewan, where sheep are ranged over the prairies in large bands, are the most concentrated sheep raising areas in Canada, and consequently the co-operative has found it profitable co-operatively come to Weston from those two sections alone. Every province but Prince Edward Island, in the 1927 time, reported an increase over 1925.

Farming In Argentine

Alberta Representative of Wheat Pool Makes Tour of Latin Republic

Flighty per cent of the farmers of the Argentine own no land and have therefore little or no standing with the banks and, in a country which is primarily agricultural and pastoral, 2,000,000 out of a population of slightly under 10,000,000 live in the city of Buenos Aires. This was one of the facts included in a survey of wheat-growing and rural economic conditions in the Argentine republic submitted to the board of directors of the Central Selling Agency, Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, Ltd., by W. J. Jackman, Brantner, Alberta, who has returned from a three-months tour of special representative of the Canadian Wheat Pools.

The area for wheat-growing in the Argentine, he said, was limited to less than one-third of the republic. Sunt, rust and worms were quite common, and hail damage was about the same as in Western Canada. Gophers were unknown and the locust problem, which caused a great loss some years ago, had been coped with.

May be Run by Electricity

Possibilities of the Hudson's Bay Railway being operated by electricity were held by Dr. Dobbie, superintendent for Northern Manitoba, during an address recently at the 80 Boniface Kiwanis Club. Water power is available in the Northern area, he explained, is estimated at 2,500,000 horse power which could be developed at small cost. The tomb of St. Peter himself. Mention must here be made of the 36 tons of gold, which are kept constantly burning around the tomb in memory of it. Right!

The full extent of the dome, for undoubtedly underneath the crypt, which to the observer looks like one of the bridges below, is a huge cavern, can nowhere conceive people and can be reached by a spiral staircase in the form of a corkscrew. Here, I was told, many pilgrims built the dome. Michael Angelo built the dome double, the inside diameter being 42 feet, the outside 70 feet.

Largest Church in World

Everything Connected With St Peter's at Rome is on Vast Scale

St. Peter's, at Rome, is still said to be the largest and most wonderful church in the world, and Rome itself still holds the palm as the "city of churches."

In Rome, at one time, there was said to be a church for every day in the year, 365. Today there are over 400 in existence, and the population of Rome is considerably under 700,000. Of these 400, St. Peter's was erected on the supposed site of the martyrdom of St. Peter, the Apostle, and of the early Christians of Rome. It is estimated that more than $50,000,000 was spent in erection.

The cathedral is of immense size—in fact everything connected with it is on a vast scale—but the details of the interior are so perfectly proportioned that the beholder is not at once aware of its vast size.

The floor is 257 feet long and 164 feet high. Its depth is 613 feet, and the height of the dome, the highest in the world, from floor to cross, is 452 feet 446 feet higher than that of St. Paul Cathedral, London!

This vast edifice was the successor of the basilica of great magnificence erected in the year 306 by Constantine the Great.

Although St. Peter's was begun in 1450, it took, however, 176 years to complete, during which time the plans were changed several times. Michael Angelo is credited with the work of the most effective change between the tomb of St. Peter himself. Mention must here be made of the 36 tons of gold, which are kept constantly burning around the tomb in memory of it. Right!

The full extent of the dome, for undoubtedly underneath the crypt, which to the observer looks like one of the bridges below, is a huge cavern, can nowhere conceive people and can be reached by a spiral staircase in the form of a corkscrew. An Important Industry

Great Increase Shown in Seed Production in Canada

Seed production in Canada is rapidly becoming an important and profitable industry, declared Hon. Mr. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, in his latest report. The inherent qualities of winter hardiness and vigour of growth possessed by Canadian grown seeds has brought a great demand for them in foreign lands, and the thorough system of grading, strictly enforced by the Dominion Seed Branch, has given foreign and domestic buyers complete confidence in our seeds.

Canada produces an exportable surplus in high class seeds of cereals, forage crops and vegetables. The production of these seeds is continually increasing and they are supplanting imported stocks on the home markets. Especially great progress has been made in the production of the seed of alfalfa, mahing barley, and brewing or Rhodes island bent grass.

The alfalfa crop of 1926 was from 2½ 000 acres in 1920 to 153,000 acres in 1926, and this remarkable increase has been brought about largely by the production of home supply from varieties which can withstand the severe winters. In Northern Ontario and Manitoba alfalfa is extending to the growing of barley seed, as mahing hay of high quality, which finds a ready market, can be produced in the region. In British Columbia one dealer alone gave a yield of 75 tons of timothy seed and 45 tons pounds of meadow fescue of the highest quality. Many other examples of the rapid extension of seed growing might be cited, all showing the great possibilities the unoccupied lands of this country.

Official Weights Are Lost

Put Away for Safe Keeping Cannot Now be Found

Lost—The standards of Canadian commerce.

Somewhere in Ottawa, probably in some obscure nutshell or a dusty vault in a great iron bound chest which it would take six men to lift, contain the fat official weights and measures of Canada. With elaborate ceremony the standards received from England in 1874 were given in custody of the commons mark in the securities and placed in "safe keeping." They apparently were well hidden for 1925 Mounted Police secret agents of the government and House of Commons searching committee of six are search ing on for without results or the valuable weights.

Exasperated Daughter—"Because I'm not in order to be able to curl it, mother dear."

Conscription of labor in time of war may not be the only one thing that will prove to be unfair.

When a man professes to doubt a woman's ability to keep a secret, he usually betrays his own lack of tact.

Even to realize that it may result in life lasting comfort or struggle.

THE DANGER SIGNAL

"KING OF PAIN"

Is Universally Known

Prince of Wales Attracts More Attention Than Any Other Person

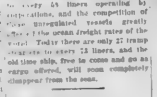
"He is talked of in places where the great war was never more than a vague rumor. On the M.S. Sunday of India I have seen the eyes of a wild Afghan gleam with interest at the mention of his name. A group of naked Borneo hunters around a camp fire in the basin of the Zambesi insisted on applaud a legend of his hunting prowess. I saw his photograph hanging in the mud hut of a native chief in the Sudan. I shall have beside picture postcards of him in most of the bazaars of Egypt and Palestine and Arabs discussing him fantastically on a Tigris mahalla."

At a dinner party in a villa on the Bosphorus I asked by Turkish host to interpret the subject of an animated struggle that was in progress at one end of the table. The only current quoted is from the first chapter, of "If It Is—A Character Study of the Prince of Wales," by Major F. E. Verney, M.C. The writer records similar experiences in Vienna, Paris and the United States, which, though less remarkable, support his statement that the prince attracts more universal interest than any 3 big persons.

Tramp Steamers Disappearing

Are Being Gradually Replaced by Scheduled Ocean Liners

Tramp steamers, picturesque and dirty, are gradually giving way to ocean liners operating on specific routes on regular schedules. Between 1914 and 1925 the number of tramp steamers registered in the British Empire decreased by 44 liners, particularly in the Australian and the competition of these unregulated vessels greatly affected the ocean freight rates of the world. Under these conditions it is difficult for tramp steamers to earn 7½ liners, and the old time ship, free to come and go as cargoes offered, will soon completely disappear from the seas.



"IDEAL fashions"
by Jean Raye

Cost of Raising Reindeer in Alaska Is Very Low

More than 250,000 reindeer, distributed in 119 herds, are now being herded in Alaska, according to statistics and thirty-three and forty-five per cent, thirty three and forty five per cent annually. Within recent years, the raising of the animals has become an important industry. There are known as "three-way" producers, meeting food, clothing and for transportation, for these needs, are supplanting the dog teams for hauling. The cost of producing averages only about $3 a year for each animal, while prices of $50 to $75 are realized in the butcher markets. Between 1918 and 1925 about 4,000 reindeer and caribou meat were exported from Alaska. The government is endeavoring to improve the breed. There are known to be nearly 44 liners operating in the Australian and the competition of these unregulated vessels greatly affected the ocean freight rates of the world. Under these conditions it is difficult for tramp steamers to earn 7½ liners, and the old time ship, free to come and go as cargoes offered, will soon completely disappear from the seas.

SICK CHILDREN
LOVE "CASCARETS"
FOR THE BOWELS

Give "Candy Cathartic" for a bad cold, sour stomach, constipation

Get a ten-cent box now.

Most of the ills of childhood are caused by a sour, disordered stomach, sluggish liver and constipated bowels. They ca'ch cold easily, become cross, fretful, feverish, peevish, restless, tongue coated, don't eat or sleep well and need a gentle cleansing of the bowels—but don't try to force a nauseating dose on a sick little body; give the sick stomach—it only acts like candy. Cascarets start, sweeten and set things right while you sleep and by morning you have a well, playful child again. Mothers can rest easy after giving this gentle, thorough laxative which costs only 10 cents a box at any drug store.

Agriculture in B.C.

Farming Population Has Doubled Within Ten Years

There are 32,000 farmers in British Columbia and a total farm population of 90,000, according to the Hon F. H. Barrow, Minister of Lands. He points out that the farm population has doubled in ten years and that within this time dairy products had risen from $2,000,000 to $10,000,000 in value. Total farm production rose during the ten-year period of 1915 to 1925 from $31,000,000 to $63,000,000.

About English Word "Home"

The French have adopted the English word "home." The lack of its equivalent in the French language although a language possessed by cultured people, with an air of patronizing pity. Department and furniture stores have active articles for "le home," and newspapers use the word as a caption for domestic and women's news.

Christian like charity, should begin at home.

Canada's Urbanization

(By C. W. Peterson)

The question pushes in the minds of thinking people that insufficient attention is devoted in Canada to the problems of our country-side compared with that devoted to our urban centres. At any rate, the rapidity with which Canada is building up her towns and cities may well give cause for serious thought. Between the census year 1911 and that of 1921, Canada's total population increased by a little over one million, while her urban population increased by a little under three millions. During that period there was an enormous increase in urban population in the provinces while there was an actual decrease in rural population in five provinces with Ontario barely holding her own. In fact 49 per cent. of our population are engaged in agriculture. In 1921, only 30 per cent. worked the land. Such a course portends even the prospect of agricultural population diminishing at an astonishing rate but while there was an actual decrease in development in an overwhelmingly agricultural country such as Canada, it is disastrous.

Possible explanations of this phenomenon are offered. The first and one is that the increased mechanization of agriculture is displacing workers on the land. The second is that the high wage scale in industry has attracted many. Mechanization has been even more startling in urban industry than in agriculture, where it might most reasonably be supposed to release an even greater number of workers for the farm. There are, however, other and more subtle explanations of this alarming development. The simple story is that life in the town is less lonesome, better paid, more exciting and amusing, gives more leisure hours, admits of greater personal freedom and is more in accordance with the "spirit of the age" on the ground of the preached word of the Gospel," with a view to an attempt personally to set himself as a glorious church, holy, without spot or blemish. Even as Christ loved the church, so ought husbands to love their wives. He that loveth his wife, loveth himself.

"Although the husband's love for his wife may be compared to what is called his love for himself, nevertheless he is bound to regard her wife as his own, and to feel all that concerns her as if it concerned himself, the two lives are certainly different in their essence. There is no division in self love; it is the product of reason, not of feeling; and it is a man's nature, not in the sense of obligation but in the sense that it necessarily belongs to a rational creature. The bonds of connection between her are different, and is to be found, not in the rational part of man's nature, but in the affections. The love is spontaneous, and makes firm by reflection, and made firm by the sense of duty. No one can never become a morally rational regard for another's happiness, but a love for one's own."—T. R. Abbott.)

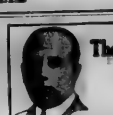
The Best Laxative He Ever Tried



Mr. W. J. Dorice, New York, writes: "Rich headache, indigestion and constipation have troubled me for years. I tried everything but I can truthfully say your CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS is the best laxative I have ever used. I find that they are small, easy to take and that their action does not gripe me. They keep me regular and I want to tell you how I appreciate this purely vegetable medicine, knowing, due to my experience in laboratory work that laxatives containing Mercury, Calomel and other poisonous drugs are dangerous."

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are sugar coated, small, easy to swallow, and everyone in the family can take them in perfect confidence as they are a doctor's own formula.

FEBRUARY 12.

MAKING OUR HOMES CHRISTIAN

Golden Text: Let us love one another; for love is of God.—1 John 4-7.

Lesson: Ephesians 5:1 to 6:4.

Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 13:1-7.

Explanations and Comments

1. The Duty of Husbands to Love Their Wives. 5.25-32.—"Husbands," counsels Paul, "love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it." Paul sets a high standard for a man's love for his wife when he declares that it should correspond in the self-sacrificing love of Christ for the church, that it should be capable of suffering and dying for her as Christ died for the church.

"Would we readily find husbands, wholesome, domestic, dailybreadstones annoys and tempers us, but when we bring our bread-life, we must adore every day with obedience, kind manners and deeds of petty sacrifice."—(Emerson.)

Paul goes on to declare that the love of Christ's sacrificial death—the setting apart and consecration of the church by cleansing of guilt by baptism—in accordance with the Word, and that on the ground of the preached word of the Gospel," with a view to an attempt personally to set himself as a glorious church, holy, without spot or blemish. Even as Christ loved the church, so ought husbands to love their wives. He that loveth his wife, loveth himself.

"Although the husband's love for his wife may be compared to what is called his love for himself, nevertheless he is bound to regard her wife as his own, and to feel all that concerns her as if it concerned himself, the two lives are certainly different in their essence. There is no division in self love; it is the product of reason, not of feeling; and it is a man's nature, not in the sense of obligation but in the sense that it necessarily belongs to a rational creature. The bonds of connection between her are different, and is to be found, not in the rational part of man's nature, but in the affections. The love is spontaneous, and makes firm by reflection, and made firm by the sense of duty. No one can never become a morally rational regard for another's happiness, but a love for one's own."—T. R. Freeing Slaves in Burma

British Government Issues Order and Promises Compensation to Owners

The British Government has ordered the abolition of slavery in Burma.

Sir Harcourt Butler, Governor of Burma, at a reception of the Kachin chiefs of the district known as the Triangle announced:

"Henceforth slaves must not be sold, given as part of dowries or in settlement of debts, neither may families of slaves be broken up."

Immediate arrangements will be made and full compensation will be paid to the owners by the British Government.

It was estimated that 5,500 slaves will thus become free citizens.

Alberta Oil Production

Alberta's present oil production will return 5,000 barrels for 1926, when all returns are in, according to Government estimates. This compares with 3,000 barrels in 1925. The production of Royalite No. 4 well, in Turner Valley, exceeded 10,000 barrels for the year up to November 20th, the average production being 324 barrels of naphtha a day.

Canadian Farmer
Tells His Experience

"Lee" Booth, widely known Ontario farmer, and a sick man for 20 years, suffered daily, only half alive. Now strong, robust, vigorous, credits new found health to Tanlac

Though popularly known as "Lee," Mr. Booth's full name is Lorenzo George. His home is at 271 Perth St., Smithville. For the past three years he has enjoyed vigorous health but what he suffered before that he best told in his own words: "For twenty years my arms, shoulders, back and legs, ached with rheumatism," said Mr. Booth. "Often I had to quit work entirely and I resorted to liniments that kept me in bed for six months.

"My case got to be so chronic that the doctor said I'd have to take to my bed. I was then laid up for three weeks. I tried everything but the doctor's prescription failed to help me a bit. I was so nervous I could not sleep. I also suffered from nervous indigestion, but after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I did not suffer with indigestion and I could get a natural night's rest, which I could not do before. No woman can appreciate what a wonderful medicine the Favorite Prescription is until she gives it a trial."

very clearly, "are you going to enact your toll—or demand it?"

For she didn't look up at him, nor move. For up instant Brandon was uncertain as to whether she had mocked him, defied him, or merely teased him.

"That is an unpleasant sentiment," he said. "I, at least, of all your companions, have asked nothing of you. I shall, of course, ask much, but not too much. And, I promise I shall accept your gift, whatever it may be. You remember I told you that I was hungry ago."

"And have killed your time. Why?" "I have been waiting, more or less patiently, until you had found your self. You see I preferred not to take sinful advantage of you. Others have, I believe."

Now she smiled up at him, but wistfully. "I was more than had great patience, waiting!" she exclaimed. "It has been terribly hard for me to find —yet I haven't! And the worst of it is, I'm still hunting." He waited for her to acknowledge his comforting words—that he was not alone, that he thought others had, take advantage of her. But she ignored that. Before his eyes she seemed to grow more like him and then raised her hand, like a princess bestowing her domain, talk to the whole expanse of the Amazon seen.

"Perhaps I'll find something here, after all," she reported. "Isn't that a terrible ambition? I'm afraid it is. However, that you look upon your money as a means to excitement. You will be interested, then, in the gift I consider, and the memory of it will be less exhilarating. Why should some one else have it?"

"Why, indeed?" she agreed briefly.

They walked across to the Tiranon entrance of the hotel, where, as one of the most pretentious of all the temporary structures being erected on the grounds, it was given over to the use of the guests. Here, the walls of which had been especially made were being set up in the form of a colonnade, and all walk the like palms rooting in the name in a semi-circular outdoor temple. Here, when they reached their cops, they found that they had made odd for one among them, and those who were more thoughtful glanced from the golden idol to Brandon, and then walked with her. Some time their faces darkened, and they noticed to a friend after that had been raised on about pillars that like piles from the ground, but added, "Oh, well, it's Brandon's affair." Others, of still, but added, "Oh, well, it's Brandon's affair." Others, of still, but added, "Oh, well, it's Brandon's affair." Others, of still, but added, "Oh, well, it's Brandon's affair."

Brandon and the girl stood on a platform of landscape, and looked down on the hillside and ear-spot of the statue that spread out below them. Then Brandon turned to her, and, pointing to the golden idol, said: "Is that the gift you have chosen?"

"Yes," she replied. "I am sure it is very valuable. It looks like it, and I'm sure it is. I'm sure it is. I'm sure it is.

Prize Winners At Seed Fair And Poultry Show

The exhibits in poultry at the annual fair held last week were fully up to expectations and presented a magnificent array of outstanding birds in the several breeds, the bulk of the available space in the show building was required to accommodate the large number of entries. The grain display was small but what little was on exhibit stood high in grade. The pets of Chinchilla rabbits proved quite an attraction, giving evidence that for farming is on the increase in the district. As most of the judging was completed on the opening day the public had ample opportunity of taking full advantage of the show the second day and the attendance was large. Exhibitors of the judges were most favorable in referring to the very fine type and quality of all exhibits which speaks well for our local breeders who were among some of the heaviest ex-

As the Municipal Act now gives the councils a little latitude in setting the duties of the Animal Inspector, and no doubt these days may be different in the various districts, the council, having exchange of lists of delegates would be in keeping with progressive ideas. Here are some cow stable figures that will be interesting to your customers.
Our Research Department ran three tests during the month of October—one test with Jerseys, one with Holsteins.
Grain mixture used in these tests was composed of 3 Parts Cottonseed 3 Parts Ground Oats, 1 Part Wheat Bran, 50 Pounds (all Meal to each 100 Pounds of Chop. All animals had free access to good pasture
Test No 1 was with Jerseys. The cows that received Dr. Hess Improved Stock Tonic produced 12.2% more butter fat per cow than the cows that received the same feed but no tonic.
Test No 2 was with Holsteins. The cows that received Dr. Hess Improved Stock Tonic produced 14.1 more butter fat per cow than the cows that received the same feed but no tonic.
In these tests the cows that received Dr. Hess Improved Stock Tonic produced an average of 13.1% more butter fat per cow than the cows that received the same feed but no tonic.
Dr. Hess Improved Stock Tonic is "Three-in-One" Conditioner, Worm Expeller and Tonic combined. No guess-work as to quantity of tonic to use—just the stress of heavy feeding. Start feeding at once and get more profit from your cows. Dr. Hess Improved Stock Tonic is added to the Ration.

NOTHING FOR VERMILION.

Among the estimates passed at Ottawa this session appears the sum of $15,000 for a public building in the town of Wainwright for post office purposes. It is to be erected on the corner of Main Street and Third Ave. and to have a dimension of 52 feet 6 inches by 51 feet, on concrete foundation. An estimate of $15,000 was also passed for a public building at Camrose, the final estimated cost of which is to be $52,000. A close search failed to reveal any estimate for a public building in Vermilion.

A BUSINESS NOT A SENTIMENTAL UNDERTAKING.

The building of a large covered rink with recreation disc ice placed in the town of Vermilion should be a purely business and out-taking whatever plans are worked out in the floating of the scheme. There is no real that it should be otherwise and it is the only fair and just method that would work out equitably to all, for those who contributes liberally to the building would have no grievance or complaint against those who did not. Subscribers would be investors instead of donators, with their money drawing interest payable annually and the capital reduced from time to time as profits from the undertaking permitted. Under such a scheme, the town can repay itself the monies it invests in the rink. Put shortly and concisely, the patrons of the rink pay for the rink—if it takes five years or ten years is neither here nor there. A covered rink is needed just as urgently now as it was several years ago and there is no question as regards the revenue

DEATH OF DANIEL WETTIE HENDRON

Bad indeed was the news that reached Vermilion on Tuesday morning last, that Hector Robinson, a young man only 25 years of age, had passed away in the Vermilion hospital just forty hours before his mother, Mrs. E. Carson, and brother Buller who arrived in Vermilion on Sunday had heard of his illness, could reach him. Hector and well known in the district. He was employed by the C.N.R. on the railroad here and a few years ago he moved south.

The body was shipped from Calgary to Mr. Waring and the funeral was held from the United Church on Monday afternoon, where a large number of friends congregated. The Rev. M. E. Kerr took the service and preached a very fitting sermon, taking his subject from the life of Elisha. A beautiful array of flowers surrounded the casket including a large cushion from the C. N. R. employees; a wreath from Vermilion baseball club, and floral sprays from Mr. & Mrs. Arsenal, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brown, Mrs. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Sim; Ladies' Auxiliary C.N.R.C.P. and L.E.A. No. 298, Vermilion. Interment was made in the Vermilion cemetery. Mr. J. Waring conducting the funeral. It is during times as these that we realize the action of the town council in sending out the auto plough to clear the way to the cemetery so that we could be used, which on such a cold day added much to the comfort of the mourners.

NO PRESENT NEED FOR CANADIAN TROOPS IN CHINA

Ottawa.—Under present conditions the Government feels that no useful purpose could be served by the dispatch, of Canadian troops to China,' stated Premier Mackenzie King in the House of Commons in answer to a question.

Premier King's statement follows:

"The protection of life and property in any country, whether of nationals or of aliens, is primarily the duty of the government of that country. Of late civil war in China, now of several years' duration, has increased the difficulty of ensuring that protection, and the evacuation of certain interior areas by foreign residents has been considered an advisable precaution. At the same time, it must be recognized that the loss of life by foreigners in these years of disturbance has been extraordinarily small. So far as is known only one Canadian has been killed in the course of a political motive in that area, which occurred in June, 1926, was not fully established, and the murderer was shot immediately by Chinese soldiers.

"Canada is in full sympathy with the desire of the Chinese people to secure control of their own destiny, having due regard to the safety of the life and property of foreign residents. While there are extremist elements in the movement, it is clear that as regards the responsible leaders and the great majority of the Chinese people the present nationalist movement is directed not against the lives or private rights of foreign residents, but rather to secure the privileges or the measure of control over Chinese affairs exercised by foreign powers in regard to such matters territoriality, customs, concessions, and other matters.

"Canada has not in the past had any part in shaping or maintaining the policy of acquiring such rights or privileges in China, and has not at present any part in the recent negotiations for their readjustment.

The Canadian Government is, however, in full sympathy with the British foreign secretary's announced policy of trying as far as possible to meet the legitimate aspirations of the Chinese nation," and believes that this course is both just and wise and adapted to ensure protection of life and of religious and business interests.

"Under these circumstances it is not considered that it would serve any useful purpose to send troops or despatches Canadian forces to China. If the situation should change the government will take the earliest opportunity of consulting with parliament as to the appropriate course to pursue."

Byrd Enters Competition

Will Take Part in Trans-Atlantic Flight for $25,000 Prize

New York.—Commander Richard Evelyn Byrd, the conqueror of the North Pole, will compete this spring for the $25,000 prize offered by Raymond Ortelg for the first non-stop flight between New York and Paris, The New York Times says.

Jan Pokker monoplane of the Josephine Ford type, in which Byrd reached the top of the world, is now being built for the flier for use in the forthcoming flight. The new machine, slightly larger than the Josephine Ford, will be driven by three Wright whirlwind engines of 225 horse-power each.

Jan Pokker's bird will start took not yet been learned. The Times says, although it is believed that he will leave in the late May or early June.

His plane will have a flying radius of at least 4,000 miles, providing a fair factor of safety in the 2,500 mile trip from New York to Paris. One-third of the distance will be over land.

On his course flight Byrd may oppose Captain Rene Fonck, the French ace, Byrd and Lieut.-Commander Noel Davis, officer in charge of naval aci ities of the navy department are reported to be contemplating entering the race.

Commander Byrd will probably fly along the New England coast to Newfoundland and then along the great circle to the Southern tip of England and France.

May Visit Canada Later

Official Visit of King George Possible Says London Paper

London.—"It is to be hoped that Canadians will understand the real impossibility of King George's accepting the invitation to visit the Dominion in July," declares The Weekly Truth.

"A month's absence from England at that time of the year is so clearly out of the question that it is hoped Her His Majesty should have been put in the position of having to refuse the invitation.

"Canada is near enough for the King to make an official visit one of these days." Truth continues. "But if it comes to that, so is Dublin. May we not hope that the day will come for a royal visit to the Irish Free State would be as agreeable to all parties as is any other of the British commonwealth nations."

Britain Replies To U.S.

Considered Tantamount to Rejection of U.S. Terms for Entering World Court

Geneva.—Great Britain has informed the League of Nations that she is replying to the United States on that country's world court reservations in accordance with the terms of the instrument drawn up in Geneva at the world court conference last year.

As this instrument did not accept completely the fifth United States reservation concerning advisory opinions, it is considered here that the British reply is tantamount to rejection of the conditions governing the United States' possible entry into the world court

The month of January and the beginning of February is a period when large numbers arrive in the Dominion and an increase in the first weeks of the year is regarded as promising

REFERENDUM IN MANITOBA ON THE SALE OF BEER

Winnipeg.—Premier John Bracken gave the Legislature an outline of the Government's policy toward the proposed referendum in the province on the sale of beer.

The Government, he said, proposes to introduce a bill which before its passage may be worded to suit all parties in the Legislature. This bill will be submitted in the form of a referendum.

The premier was answering criticism directed against the Government during the course of the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne, in which opposition leaders had inferred that the Government was trying to avoid responsibility by submitting to the people a bill from some outside source Premier Bracken was emphatic in stating that a referendum on the beer question was justified.

Mr. Bracken outlined the Government's policy on immigration and colonization, he forecast the creation of a central agricultural development board, with sub-agencies throughout the province, to aid, direct and generally supervise settlement of vacant lands. He also foretold that a permanent mining report from the University of Manitoba would be expected to direct the Government's work in assisting development of minerals.

RELAY IS RANT FOR VERMILION SENIORS

Home Team Checks Up 7-1 Win in Little Three Hockey League

Standing in all departments as play the Vermilion aggregation covered themselves with glory in the eleventh games in a little Three hockey league fixture here Monday night when they returned victorious over the lanky speed merchants by a score of 7 to 1.

By their victory, the Vermilion puckchasers not only perched rightly on top of the league. A good crowd turned out to see the encounter which was fast and furnished plenty of excitement from gong to gong.

No fan had any reason to complain about not getting his money's worth for it was the best effort that Relay Rant's athletes have made on their own ice this season. The ice was hard and smooth, so both aggregations were able to show their best wares. Several times the invaders pressured on hard, it looked critical for the Vermilion players, but the red and gold clad Tribe kept the hot wall protected and in turn staged dashing rushes to the Relay end of the ice. The two teams have clashed four times this season, Vermilion winning three games and one being a draw. On Monday night the local boys with Jack Wood, Jr., in charge of the game, disorganizing all efforts of Relay at team play. The fighting agreshuns also displayed some combination, using short, snappy passes in two and three man rushes and, the result was they were in better shape than the losers were on the Verm ilion ice-pad. For the winners, George Hancock, Clarence Burt and Jack Wood in goal were outstanding, while for the losers Cross and W Powis played stellar hockey.

There is one more game to be played before the finals which will be home and home series total number of goals to count, between Lloydminster and Vermilion.

ALL MUNICIPAL HOSPITALS ARE ON SOUND BASIS

Seventeen Alberta Institutions Finished Year with Credit Balance

A financial surprise, with cash in the bank, is reported by every municipal hospital in Alberta. There are seventeen of these institutions in operation now and they are in nearly excellent condition from a business point of view that they all have more or less balances ranging from $75c to over $30,000. Several of these are in outstanding thirty surplus funds in provincial savings certificates.

The accumulation of reserve funds through the collection of the local hospital rates provided for under the act, accounts for all the money in the hospital treasuries, and in every case there is an increase over last year's figures. There have also been increases in the number of patients.

These new figures have the prospect for the coming year 20 Point and Vegreville will complete their grandstand. Gun work in the near future, and petitions are about to be circulated in the territory tributary to Evanshaw covering some 35 townships, in each of these areas a new building will be required.

GAMING — DALEY

An unusually pretty wedding of much interest to residents in Vermilion town and district took place last Saturday, Feb. 12th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Daley when their youngest daughter Doris became the bride of Mr. Thomas S. Cairns, son of Mr and Mrs. Andrew Cairns, Glasgow, Scotland. Rev. M. R. Kerr officiated.

The ceremony took place under a canopy of white festive streamers. Escorted on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride entered the living room to the strains of the wedding music from Lohengrin, played by Miss Elizabeth Cairns, of Magrath. Miss Ethel Daley accompanied her sister as bridesmaid, while the bridegroom was supported by his brother, Mr. Chris Cairns, Saskatoon. The bride looked radiant in a gown of salmon georgette and orchid lace, she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and lily of the valley. The bridesmaid's dress was peach georgette with orchid trimming. Mrs. Daley, mother of the bride, wore a dress of silver grey brocaded silk.

Following the signing of the register, the guests sat down to a most tasteful wedding breakfast, the table being centred with a beautifully ornamented two-storey bride's cake. The bride, who had been beautifully showered with the recipient of many handsome and costly presents, including a Lithuge silver set from the groom's mother, Mrs. Andrew Cairns, a complete set of silver from the bride's family and several handsome cheques. The bride's gift to the groom was a gold mounted fountain pen and pencil. The gift of the groom to the bride was a handsome leather suit case to the bridesmaid a sterling silver salt and pepper shakers and to the pageboy a silver barrel pin. Among the gifts was a lovely silver tea service, presented to the bridegroom by the Edmonton City Dairy, Ltd.

The happy young couple left on the noon train for a short honeymoon trip to Edmonton. They will make their home in Edmonton. The best wishes of a host of friends go with them in their new estate.

POOL NOTES

Prince Rupert as a Grain Port

It will be of interest to Alberta people to know that four million bushels of wheat have been shipped from Prince Rupert for the Wheat Pool from the 1926 crop.

Prince Rupert has practically been "made" as a grain port by the operations of the Pool. When the Pool took over the Government terminal elevator there never had been any grain shipped from that port. It was contended that the Pool would lose because of the difference in the ocean rates between Vancouver and Prince Rupert.

Now the ocean freight differential has been eliminated and wheat goes to Europe just as cheaply through Prince Rupert as through Vancouver.

The Wheat Pool has been successful in its operations at Prince Rupert despite abnormal interests of failure.

Keeping Them Guessing

What the Wheat Pool is doing or is not doing is the one absorbing factor on the Winnipeg Exchange.

In spite of a malicious "underground" campaign of disparagement, the Pool is a real power in the grain business of Canada and the world.

The Trade is unable to complete big deals without taking the Wheat Pool into consideration, and every move the Pool salesmen make is watched closely.

A rumor that the Pool had hurriedly shipped a million bushels from the lake head to the seaboard caused a flurry on the Winnipeg exchange and all sorts of reports were spread.

The Pool salesmen, however, know their business and generally keep the trade guessing

Gains Shown In Statement Of Sun Life

An Outstanding Report

The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada continues to eclipse its own transcendent records. At the annual meeting for 1927 which has just been held, President T. B. Macaulay was able to report that the total business paid for in 1926 amounted to $268,889,546, double that of 1924 — only two years ago. The assurance in force now exceed one and a quarter billions of dollars.

The Sun Life has become much more than our greatest Canadian company. It is one of the leading Life Insurance companies of the world. Its growth is equally arresting whether compared with its own record or with the totals of insurance on this continent. The increase of its business in 1926 is greater than the entire business carried by the Sun Life at the outbreak of the war. It has now more business in force than the total life assurance in force in all Canada, with all companies, Canadian and foreign, when war was declared. Latest reports indicate that the general increase in life insurance secured during 1926 in the United States and Canada is six per cent in excess of 1925. The Sun Life's increase for the year is 37½ per cent.

Fully keeping step with this great increase of business, the assets of the Company have increased during the past twelve months by $12,196,000, swelling the total to $343,251,000. The Company's assets have multiplied five times in the last twelve years.

The Company's successful investment policy is reflected in an analysis of its securities. Government valuators appraise a further increase in the excess value of the Company's securities over cost, of nearly $7,000,000. A profit of $1,190,000 has been realized by the reconstruction or sale of municipal debentures and other holdings which had risen to high premiums. The rate earned on the mean invested assets for the year rose on the phenomenal figure of 6.60 per cent, this being exclusive of by dividend increases, bonuses and other privileges granted on the Company's holdings.

From the total interest earned during the year, $20,457,977, the Company has made large and prudent approprations. After making these allocations, which add substantially to the unassailable security of the Company, a balance of $2,751,464 has been added to undivided profits, bringing the total surplus over all liabilities, contingency accounts and capital stock to $34,011,565.

Perhaps, however the features of the report of the Sun Life which will be the public are those relating particularly to benefits to policyholders. During the year there were annuities of $9,233,536 were paid or allotted to policyholders, this amount being eight times in excess of the annuities paid ten years ago. For six years past increases in profits to policyholders have been at such a rate as resulting in a doubling of the profits sums during that period. For the seventh successive time a further increase is announced. The great total of $26,876,153 has been paid out during the year in respect of death claims, matured endowments, etc, bringing the total so paid since organization to $257,816,176.

The high rate of interest earned enables the Company to distribute profits on the assumption of 5½ per cent per annum being earned on the Reserves. The same rate of interest is being allotted to beneficiaries on the proceeds of matured endowments and death claims left with the company. In this way again, policyholders are participating in the great prosperity of the Company.

Not the least gratifying portion of the report is the fine showing of bond issue written within the Dominion. Here again a new record is established for Canada in a massive aggregate of $102,000,000 paid and secured.

The Sun Life Company is as old as the Dominion of Canada. Its great claims to Canadian pride that that it is today one of the foremost of the small group of great Canadian financial institutions which are making Canada famous.

The glory is departed,
The old-time name is gone —
They have given them a title
From the shores of Caledon.
Where the sun is always shining
And the prairie flowers are bright,
They have planted them in a whole
South clan
Beneath the Northern Lights.
They have pulled the bold traditions
All thy glory and thy fame;
And still they were not satisfied—
They took away thy name.
Thy purple rose about them
To protect thy sacred right;
They tried to do by deceitness
What could not be done by might.
And then the grave committee
To whom they pleadings came Cried, "What shall all this stew prevail —
"There's nothing in a name!"
They had not seen thy wheat fields,
Thy plains so broad and fair;
They had not seen thy happy homes
And thus they did not care
Thy people stand for liberty,
And for the good of man;
They love their fellow beings
And do not wish to clan.
But when they set Clandonald,
We'll love thee 'mid the same,
And try to keep believing:
There's nothing in a name.

Half Damned When Born

Poor Chance for Some Children

WINNIPEG, Feb. 7.—"I have absolutely no hope for the rearing of a Christian gen ration at the hands of the flippant, cigarette smoking mother and the child of such a mother, I believe is half damned at its birth," declared Rev. W. H. C. Leach, B.A., principal speaker at a special service in Grace United church Sunday night in honour of the sons and daughters of the manse.

After stating that he understood that smoking among the women were now being provided in many homes and that the railway companies were arranging smoking rooms at the ends of their cars for women, the speaker said that women is undoubtedly had the right to smoke but men did not like to see them do it.

Women, he said, in going through the transition stage of their movement were becoming the imitators of men and imitating them in their evils as well as their virtues.

EXTRACTS FROM DIRECTORS' REPORT

The operations during the past year have resulted in substantial advances in all departments. . . .

The new policies paid for. . . . almost double the figures of two years ago.

The assurances in force, after deduction of reassurances, . . . show an increase of. . . . over twenty-three per cent.

Policies and group certificates now outstanding aggregate well in excess of half a million.

The figures relating to pensures and earning power are equally satisfactory.

The high quality and profitable character of our investments is again seen demonstrated. As a result of continued rea ls in the prevailing rates of interest, and of satisfactory industrial conditions, there has been a further rise in the market values of our long-term bonds and of our preferred and other stocks. The appraisal of our securities made by the Government Insurance Department shows that the excess of market values over cost has increased during the year by $6,894,266.26. In addition, the sum of $1,729,364.52 has been realized as net profit from the redemption or sale of municipal debentures and other securities which had risen to high premiums. The rate of interest earned on the mean invested assets has also risen to the remarkable figure of 6.60 per cent, as the result of substantial dividend increases, bonuses, and stock privileges received in connection with many of our holdings.

The quality of the investments locked in the assets may be judged from the fact that over 99.55 per cent of the bonds and no 99.31 per cent of the preferred stocks, not one dollar is in default or dividend is in arrear for even one day. On ordinary stocks the dividend rentals now being received are greatly in excess of the dividends payable on the same stocks at time of purchase

The total surplus earned during the year has risen to $20,457,977.28. From this the following appropriations have been made:

The sum of $2,000,000 has been deducted from the official valuation of our securities to provide for possible fluctuations in market values. This raises the amount set aside for this purpose to $5,000,000 In other words, the value at which our securities stand in the balance sheet is $5,000,000 less than the appraisal made by the Government authorities.

The account to provide for unforeseen contingencies has been increased by $1,000,000 bringing the total under this heading to $11,000,000.

The book value of our Head Office building has been written down by a further sum of $250,000 though it is certainly could not be replaced at even its original cost.

An additional amount of $401,000 has been set aside to provide for greater longevity of annuitants. The total held under this heading on exists of Government requirements, is now $1,340,000.

The reserves on the newly acquired business of the Cleveland Life, and on other reassured policies, have been raised to the same high standard as that used for the valuation of liabilities under our own contracts.

To our policyholders, profits have been paid or allotted during the year to the amount of $9,233,536.

After making these deductions and allocations an addition of $2,751,464.56 has been made to the undivided profits. The surplus over all liabilities, contingency accounts and capital stock, now stands at $34,011,565.25.

For six years in succession we have increased the profits to participating policyholders. During this period our profit scale has been doubled. While the assurances in force have multiplied two and a half times since 1920, the amount paid or allotted as profits to policyholders has multiplied five and a half times. We are gratified to announce, for the seventh consecutive time, a further increase in the scale of profits to be distributed to our policyholders in the ensuing year.

VERMILION WHEAT DOES WELL AT YOUNGSTOWN

New Variety Exceeds Marquis Yield; Is Drought Resister

Youngstown Plainsdealer: A new variety of drought resisting wheat, which is claiming the attention of farmers all over the province, is just now being given publicity by the daily press and a new discovery that bids fair to replace Marquis.

It was discovered by Frank Lecombe, of Minburn, and is registered under the name of Vermilion This is the same wheat that was used in a small plot on the government farm at Youngstown last summer under the name of Cold Spring. Which was the name given by Mr Larcombe to his wheat after his own farm at first. At that time the wheat was not registered as a distinct variety. This has since been done and now goes by the name of Vermilion.

Mr. Stobbs, manager of the farm, seeded it in a separate plot. While all the wheat from this plot was not separated from the other wheat throughout, part of it going into the regular run of the field, it is estimated that there was at least 15 bushels to the acre, two bushels more than Marquis, which went at the rate of 13 bushels and a few pounds to the acre. Mr. Stobbs found that the straw was some eight inches longer than Marquis, and heavier, it stood up better, too, than Marquis during a soft of hot, dry weather and did not show signs of wilting to the same extent as the older variety. A test for milling and baking qualities showed the new wheat to contain it per cent. protein, which is above the average.

DOMINIONS NOT ASKED FOR TROOPS

LONDON, Feb. 23. — Premier Stanley Baldwin, in the house of commons this afternoon, stated that the British government had not extended invitations to any of the governments of the Dominions to send troops to China, to co-operate with British troops in the protection of property in the concession settlements there.

Keep that date in mind—one of the best dances of the season, March 4th. See you there!

Locals Drop First Game In League Play-Off

There was great rejoicing in Lloydminster Tuesday night when the Tigers came down to defeat the Vermilion puck lads at the local arena in the opening game of a two-game series, total goals to count, to decide the championship of the Little Three hockey league, by 1 goals to 2. Tuesday night's game proved to be the hardest fought encounter between these two aggregations this winter. Attracted by the typical nature of the contest the initial combat was played before a good crowd.

Both teams skated their heads off, during home attacks furiously and back-checking from the moment a preliminary wave began to sweep down the ice. It was strenuous hockey but clean and only a few players had the opportunity of holding down seats in the penalty box during the entire game. Not that there weren't plenty of hard bumps but there was nothing dirty or underhand about them. The visitors' defence gave Ross, in goal, plenty of protection and when the Aggies did manage to break through the cool-headed custodian was equal to the occasion, making some brilliant saves.

The final period produced the best hockey of the evening. Both teams went at it hammer and tongs to break the 2-2 tie, but when time was called the exchanges had tallied twice while the locals failed to find the berth. In the first period Readbeck for Vermilion scored first from a pass from Burns, after ten minutes play. Speers, for the visitors evened the score three minutes later after 15 minutes play in the second stanza Harper notched for Lloydminster and Readbeck again tallied for Vermilion about five minutes later in the third. Vermilion had the edge on play for the first two periods but failed to score, while the Tigers showed a rally and Harper duplicated his to make the score 3-2. Thus endeth Inter Rendell' one minute [illegible] on a mix up in front of the locals' net and the tally stood 1 to 2 when the game expired.

Referee Gordon Standish did not have to hand out very many penalties and those that he did were very minor in cost spirit.

Geo. Readbeck and Manson Hurt were the boys who starred on the Vermilion while Harper and Rendell were outstanding players on the visitors. The final game will be played tonight at Lloydminster and present indications are that a large contingent of the will accompany the Aggies to the border town.

Made Book a Success

Confusion Over Names Brought Fame to British Author

How a book otherwise destined for failure, became a success owing to confusion in the public mind, is told by Mrs. E. L. Hill, public librarian, Edmonton, who has an autographed letter of R. D. Blackmore, author of "Lorna Doone." Inspecting of selling the book, the English publisher ship put the greater part of the edition to the Antipodes in the hope that it might find a market there. Then came a peculiar coincidence. The Marquis of Lorne married the Princess Louise. The names Lorne and Lorna Doone combined in the public mind, and the result was demand that the Marquis of Lorne was in some way connected with the book. Interest was awakened and the demand for "Lorna Doone" became so great that the shipment had to be brought back.

"CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS, STOMACH, HEADACHE, COLDS

Clean your liver and constipated bowels to-night and feel fine

Get a ten-cent box now from any drug store and enjoy your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with a Cascaret. Why merely relieve a passage way every few days with salts, cathartic pill or castor oil! This is important.

Cascarets immediately remove the sour, gassy, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver, and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

You don't have a bilious spell, headache or constipation, you feel, a Cascaret box will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

Work for Convicts

Would Employ Jail Labor in Picking Over Seed Grain

"I believe that if penal institutions throughout the country would adopt a system of employing jail labor during the winter months in picking over farmer's seed grain, that a great deal of waste due to the crops of Canada would result," Alonzo H. Dawson, governor of the county jail here complained today with regard to his experiment of employing jail prisoners to pick over beans instead of working on the customary rock pile.

"Farmers could arrange with jails to have their seed grain picked over at a nominal price and the money thus earned could be turned over to the prisoner's wife or family," said the governor.

Children suffering from worms soon show the symptoms, and any mother can detect the presence of these parasites by the wrinkling and fretting of the child. Until expelled and the cause cleared of them, the child cannot regain its health Miller's Worm Powders are prompt and efficient, not only for the eradication of worms, but also as a tonic up for children that are run down in consequence.

Allowed to Fly Naval Flag

Official Church of British Admiralty in St. Martin's, London

With the exception of abbeys and cathedrals, the best-known church in the English-speaking world is probably St. Martin-in-the-Fields, London, to which a new vicar has just been appointed. The parish of St. Martin in the Fields includes Buckingham Palace and St. James' Palace, and it is to restore the parish church of the King and Queen and Prince of Wales. There are in the church two Royal pews and also seats for the use of members of the Royal Household.

St. Martin's is recognized as the official church of the admiralty and is thus allowed to fly the naval flag, the White Ensign.

The church during the war earned for itself the title of the church of the "Ever Open Doors," for no one was kept upon at night to house stranded soldiers and others. Even today the crypt is kept open so that wayfarers may have shelter till morning.

Carrying the Burden

Those Who Have Heavy Load Cannot Always be Smiling

A woman in the Yukon Territory on one of her recent trips, raved over the first lady of the land to her husband. She said: "Mrs. Coolidge is smiling, so gracious, and looks so young and fresh. But her husband looks old and worn, and his smile is not as spontaneous as hers." The husband listened, smiled, and then said: "Well, it is a part of his job to do is be gracious, kind, and smile. But her husband has to be President and carry the load." So wonder he looks old and worn. There's a difference." Isn't that the case with a good many of us? Some of us wonder why the "old man" is carrying the burden.—Written by a woman.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

The New Era In Farming

(By C. W. Peterson)

There is scarcely a writer or public speaker who has not some time deplored the exodus from the farm to the city. Our newspapers are full of it, and it is popularly interpreted as a sign of agricultural decadence. That, however, is a superficial impression. I should feel more inclined to regard it as a movement following a natural law. There was a time when each individual farm produced little more than sufficient to maintain the family living on it. The great majority of people then lived on farms. In some backward countries they still do. Then came the era of labor-saving machinery, which brought about by the specialization of vast agricultural areas in the new countries where such devices could profitably be employed on account of the high rate of wages. The calculation now is, that a farmer in 1924 can produce five times as much as the farmer of 1824.

Canada has profited vastly by this change in agriculture. Her exports have increased by leaps and bounds in sympathy with the easy exploitation of her wonderful agricultural sources. Her greatest need now is more and yet more, farmers to help feed the enormous war loads and to make the industrial arms of the country work overtime. There lies the solution of the perennial unemployment problem.

A Tower of Strength

The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, whose annual meeting has just been held, continues to transmit its life risk at terms which, as time passes the billion and a quarter mark, will become paid for during the next year being double that of 1924—only two years ago. The Sun Life has now in force the huge total of $1,250,000,000 in Canada by all companies, local and those at the outside of the war. The increase in new life assurance in the United States and Canada last year was a full 6 per cent. over 1925, while that of the Sun Life was 27½ per cent.

Its assets were increased during the year by $7,000,000 over 1925, while the aggregate now over $245,250,000. The Company's record in 1926 for total business in force ten years ago. The rate of interest earned on its moneys invested during the year reached the remarkable figure of 6.63 per cent. Governmental taxes experienced the increase in the excess of the Company's securities over net values at over $7,000,000

From a total surplus of over $20,000,000 substantial appropriations have been made to contingency, depreciation, and other accounts. The sum of $1,371,066 has been added to the undivided profits. The total surplus over liabilities, contingency account and capital stock values to $33,000,000. The profits assets to policyholders has doubled in six years. For the seventh consecutive time the Company announced an increase in the scale of profits to policyholders

The Sun Life Company has been since taken on the proportions of a great national asset, and ranked in ranks with the first half dozen major financial institutions of the Dominion, and in the forefront of the great insurance companies of the world.

"How d'you like yer new boss, Mame?" asked one stenographer of another on the elevator.

"Oh, he ain't so bad, only he's kind of bigoted."

"I'm bad do you mean, bigoted?"

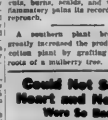
"He seems ter think that words can only be spelled his way."

Is Quality Sells It.—The fact that so many thousands of intelligent people continue to use Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is a splendid evidence of its healing efficiency. Ever since it was first introduced it has grown steadily in public favor, mainly owing to its unsatisfied usefulness in relieving and healing sickness. As a specific for cuts, burns, scalds, and various inflammatory pains its record is beyond reproach.

A southern plant breeder has greatly increased the production of a potato plant by grafting it to the roots of a mulberry tree.

Could Not Sleep Heart and Nerves Were So Bad

Mr. Geo. Moore, Windsor, Ont., writes:—"I suffered with my heart and nerves and could not sleep at night for days at a time. I was advised to keep at it my work somehow, until I would be better. Every night which is bad I could not get to my work. I was afraid to go most any place, every night I would stagger on my feet, and everything in front of me would turn black and fade away. While I was home sick a friend told me to buy



I got four boxes and by the time I had used them the pains and noises in my head ceased and I was able to get a good night's rest. Although that was six years ago I have never been troubled with that complaint again."

Price 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto Ont.

A Novel Advertisement

When the passengers on the 12-day Round the-World cruise of the Empress of Scotland reach Japan next spring, after visiting 20 countries and touching at 24 ports, one of the novel sights to meet their eyes will be the orderly marshalling of all of the gentleman in this illustration if there are any of the Masonic fraternity among the passengers they may well be deceived by the double triangle into thinking that he is a member of some oriental chapter of the Order, but they will be mistaken. He is a Japanese coolie whose business it is to meet arriving trains and conduct traveller to a hotel whose name is designated on his back in the double-decorated figure This serves the same purpose to him as the name of his establishment around the head of his cap serves the well-known porters of this country The difference in this case is that the latter have long since left the exotic and the unfamiliar which make up the pleasure and enjoyment of the world traveller.

Chinese Wonderful Discovery

Violinist Has Produced Varnish to Give Strad Tone to Ordinary

Quirogo Losada, the well-known violinist, asserts that he has discovered a varnish which, when applied to the ordinary violin, will produce the same marvelous tonal qualities of a Stradivarius.

"I believe I have brought back to life the magnificent tones of the great master," Losada said.

"After years of research I came to the conclusion that it was in the varnish of the Stradivarius instruments that the secret of the amazing smoothness of sound rested, and I have succeeded at last, where I hope soon to give free to the musicians of the world for the benefit of art."

Critics who have heard the instruments after watching him apply the varnish say the effect is almost an indescribable one. Losada owns the thirty-five genuine Stradivarinses in existence, Losada's theory and formula, it is asserted, are of great importance to music.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FEBRUARY 27

MAKING THE COMMUNITY CHRISTIAN (TEMPERANCE LESSON)

Golden Text: Have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather even reprove them.—Ephesians 5:11.

Lesson—Ephesians 5:12-25.

Devotional Readings—Ephesians 6 10-20.

Explanations and Comments

1. Christian Freedom. — vv. 12 13-16.—"Drunkenness," wine is excess (Galatians, "do not free from the Law of Christ"). "Walk circumspectly" (be careful) "not as fools" (without sense). "Redeeming the time" (making the most of it, and subject to none).

Liberty and License are not synonymous. Do not use your freedom as an excuse for wrong living. Christ is the supreme law in accordance with which the noble possibilities of human nature are developed.

2. Christian Worship.—vv. 17-20.—"Understanding" (spiritual insight). "Be not drunk with wine" (the opposite of the spirit filled life in which all the power should act under the impulse of the true motive—love).—G. Campbell Morgan

They remembering that the Galatians were prone to quarrel, Paul adds, "Speak to one another" (not to one another but toward one another like dogs or wild beasts—beware lest you destroy one another by biting and barking and hatred run only end in the destruction of one another's spiritual life.

Where two people quarrel both are at fault. "How do you keep yourself from being involved in the quarrels?" a member of a contentious family was asked. "By letting the angry person have all the quarrel to himself," was the reply.

"I'm sorry I said that, my dear," she said gently. "That is just as well, perhaps, because it will open my way. I want to talk to you about the kind of love that is spoken of in the plural." Joanna glanced at her sharply. This was a new Lady Weymouth.

"Or, it may be that it's love that isn't plural I will begin about," Lady Betty went on, after a moment's consultation of the smoke that curled lazily from her lips. "It's about Ted. Or you know, Teddy and you, dear Teddy's an awful ass. I know, and he's classed the best of a thousand arguments that you should have stopped at the fingers. But he's always said that no woman is ever approached by a man who can't be keen on to, and I'm sure he ought to know."

Again she waited to watch the nebulous trail of the smoke vanish that lifted from her cigarette. Joanna's "That's quite true" Betty agreed. "Positively quaint. And so wise! I shall not be cunning now until people are talking on look."

Jade and bamboo bobber was pulled asleep between her lips and the ta ble. The brown eyes were keenly bright. Hey lids were drawn close, until they shaped into two straight lines. "Now, dear child," you was no to stop be kaning."

Lady Betty was so startled that her cigarette slipped from her fingers to the floor. A moment later she had forgotten pregnancy and recovered It Lady Betty did not see the hand that held the cigarette trembled.

"We mustn't make it a skirmish, my dear," she said to the girl who looked her from the sofa. "You do not come as a wife with a hairain to propose to her husband's mistress. But that's beside the point. I've come to tea to ask her friend, the Golden Girl, if she won't be evening, a Expression and I'm sure she will. Then him down early, but let him down He loves you, dear, and he wants you. You are the only girl in the world for me, you are the principal part in the play of my life, and I'm sure you will be a perfect wife with perfect manners. You are the world's only noble qualities behind them and I believe therefore that you will be a perfect wife."

"Yes, it's different," Joanna agreed "Women are so free to be kind those days. Why, Weymouth, you're quite a worth every penny of the average wife."

Lady Betty smiled, and reached for a new cigarette "My dear, you are such a peach. I always knew you'd help me to the world's record if I ever needed it. Now, you're a perfect wife. Weymouth will be happy. Now, then, I must go. I've a dinner engagement, and you must be left to yourself. Paul here goes to-night."

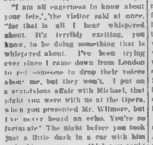
"Really you know, I've never taken Teddy on," Joanna remarked Lady Betty had risen and was moving away.

While they waited for the maid to wheel up her tray and arrange the service, Joanna proffered Lady Weymouth a cigarette. For her own she found, on a table, an exquisite new holder that Kaltworth had sent her the night before. She had silvers set with emeralds or rubies. This one was of bamboo in which some Chinese craftsman had fitted tiny bits of camphor jade. "How gorgeous," Lady Betty cried. "Trust Roddy Kaltworth to search the ends of the earth to ante the whims of his lady love."

She was instantly mindful of that slip of the pound—his lady loves And, being an English woman, she was never at a loss to turn her own slips into an advantage.

"A whisper doesn't count for much, though, does it?" Joanna asked the children. "Roddy never loved me, he rather like a cocktail without gin in it. When there's really anything to it, I'll take full credit for the love, my dear."

Joanna rang for the butler and ordered tea. "May we have it in the nursery, please?" Lady Weymouth asked. "Some place where Brandon, whom I saw just now with Yvonne and Mr. Wilmore over there on the lawn, or the others won't pop up to us. I've really something to say, you know."



"Oh, you mean Jeanne Lee. Betty, and then added, "But I might spoil your chance, dear. Yes, it's a good sort. And I like him immensely. You'll be a good wife to him. You're really interesting to me. I tell me why——" She stopped With a sudden impulse that was unusual to her, Joanna poured Lady Weymouth another cup of tea, and then seated herself on the floor at her feet. "Why, you're crying," she said in surprise. "Throw him over, quick! I'll be your friend."

"I don't know, I——" Lady

Farmers who desire to start farm flocks are advised to write to the Alberta Department of Agriculture for pamphlets.

Mrs. Hutchinson and baby, we understand, were the only ones home at the time and were taken out by Clarke Wilson who was the first to notice smoke coming from the house. Mr. Hutchinson and his father were at their pool room and the other two children in the family with a young girl were at the picture show at the time. Following the fire alarm, Chief Witherspoon who was the first of the brigade at the scene, removed every part of the house to determine whether anyone was in it. Final Sr. Hockey Clash To-Night

Agrarians Have Two Goal Lead To Overcome For Win

Two goals to the bad but convinced that it is far from an insurmountable handicap, the Agricultural Club stepped out on to the ice at Lloydminster this Thursday evening in their final match with the Tigers of the border town to decide the championship of the Little Three hockey league.

The glitter of the ice still will be rich out one of their star players—Murray McKinnon, who was injured about three weeks ago. But in spite of this Manager Harper is not greatly troubled as to the possibilities of his squad meeting the final combat.

While the boys of the Agrarians are somewhat slight they have every intention of proving that the stinging defeat they suffered in the initial contest was a mistake and that they were having an "off night." The game tonight should be a rip-snorter which ever way it goes.

Issued by the Publicity Commissioner, Government of Alberta, Edmonton, Monday, February 19 1927

Alberta's Fur Industry

The commercial fur industry in this province experienced one of the most prosperous seasons in its history, according to figures published by R. Rendall, chief fur inspector for the province who has now made his report to the federal government.

The total commercial catch for last year, from which the province derived a revenue of $1,870,000 was $3,842,000 the winter catch, $2,265,000 the winter catch. The estimated catch was valued at $1,577,000. The total and the winter catch at 297,537 making a total of $576,419. In addition to this, it is estimated that 1,000,000 lbs. of fish was taken in the domestic catch, estimated value $5 cent and the anglers catch was estimated at 2,000,000 lbs. valued at $67,000, so that the total fish catch of all kinds in the province reached a value of nearly $100,000. A total of 1,870 commercial licenses, 114 domestic licenses, 5,861 anglers licenses and 302 licenses to Indians and Half-breeds were issued, a grand total of 8,242, or over 1,000 more than the previous year.

Of the total commercial catch, a total of 2,412,000 lbs. was of whitefish alone. The fish taken commercially are exported for the most part in the rough and other one are marketed.

Increase Gasoline Tax

The provincial gasoline tax will be increased from two cents a gallon to three cents a gallon, it is announced by the Provincial Government. The additional revenue to be used for the provincial road building plans. There will be no change made in the license fees for cars.

Sheep Industry

Many farmers in Alberta are now realizing small flock of sheep on their farms. The fact that the day of the small farm flock has arrived is best realized by the fact that the Northern Alberta Sheep Breeders' Association now has more than 250 members, 91 the place of some 60 members five years ago. There is plenty of room for expansion as are already following on the heels of the small farm flock. Also, however, for Canada, as yet, is probably less than 5,000,000 pounds short of needs of goods. Farmers who desire to start farm flocks are advised to write to the Alberta Department of Agriculture for pamphlets.

Heavy Peace River Shipments

More than three million and three-quarter thousand bushels of grain, most of which is wheat, have been shipped this season from the Peace River country by the Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Columbia railway, according to figures issued by the railway company. The Peace River country is the last of the great wheat areas of the province to be opened up, and the winter catch of 297,537 more than the winter catch. The estimated crop was valued at $4,000,000. The total and the winter catch at 297,537 making a total of $576,419. In addition to this, it is estimated that 1,000,000 lbs. of fish was taken in the domestic catch, estimated value $5 cent and the anglers catch was estimated at 2,000,000 lbs. valued at $67,000, so that the total fish catch of all kinds in the province reached a value of nearly $100,000. LOANS LIKE BIG MONEY.

During the year 1926 about 3,500 farm loans of an average value of $800 each were exported by fur farmers in Prince Edward Island. They also sold about 20,000 fur skins at an average price of $10 each, so that the fur farming industry in the province has yielded a revenue of over $2,000,000 in the past year. The industry is now established on a basis to yield a permanent source of revenue.

ASPIRES TO WIDER TITLE.

Instead of Canada being spoken of as the "Granary of the Empire," she now aspires to a wider title, for in 1926 she led all countries in the export of wheat and flour, having exported 315,000,000 bushels of wheat. Argentina came a poor second with a little less than 65,000,000 bushels; Australia with 43,000,000; and the United States with 40,000,000; thus Canada has alone exceeded the exports of these countries by over 64,000,000 bushels. Canada's exports of flour amounted to 3,182,000 barrels; the United States 7,430,000 barrels; and Australia 3,750,000 barrels.

NEW C. N. R. TOWNSITES.

Persons talking for business purposes will be interested in the announcement by the Land and Townsite Department of the Canadian National Railways, that the following new townsites will be placed on the market in the spring: Heartbourg and Paddockwood, on the Paddockwood extension north of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan; Glenavy, Harptree, Livilona, Fairholm, Glenbush, Robinhood and Rabbit Lake on the Hartleford easterly branch north of North Battleford, Sask. Lawfall the following townsites on the Waterton-Lakes branch in Central Alberta were put on the market: Brazeau, Endless, and Sasso; also Hesketh, Ribco, Medalia and New Brigden, on the Loverna westerly branch in Central Alberta. Particulars regarding these townsites may be obtained from the C. N. R. Land and Townsite Department, Winnipeg.

IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENT IN RELIEF PROGRAM.

One of the most important developments in the extension of public health services in the history of the Province is forecasted in the creation of the Provincial Clinic. This is the establishment of a system of travelling clinics for the rural districts, by which scientific and school children and children of pre-school age. This system will be carried out under conditions arranged with the various school districts, and will provide needed facilities at a mini mum of cost. A travelling clinic has been in operation for some years in the pioneer districts of the province, with great success, and the cost of its operation has been found to be such that government feels it can provide such service on a wider scale at a cost that will be within the reach of all.

M.D. Vermilion Valley Ratepayers Meeting

The Annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Municipal District of Vermilion Valley No. 652 was held in Moore's Hall, Isley, on Monday, Feb. 21st, 1927, to discuss municipal and hospital affairs.

The meeting was called to order by the returning officer who asked for nominations for chairman. It was moved by A. Jarel and seconded by H. Elliott that the Reeve, Norman Meldrum, act as chairman of the meeting.

The first order of business was the reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting, resulting in a motion being passed for their adoption.

The report of the Vermilion Municipal Hospital was dealt with in every detail by the representative for Vermilion Valley, Norman McClellan. At the conclusion of the address a motion for the adoption was moved by David McPhee and F. E. Cameron.

The Secretary-Treasurer's report on the financial statement was likewise read and well received by the ratepayers present, resulting in the following motion being moved by W. G. Bennett and seconded by W. R. Bass that the report of the secretary on the financial statement for the year 1926 be adopted.

The report of the Isley Municipal Hospital was taken up by the representative for Vermilion Valley, G. W. Benson, who brought the question of the Isley Municipal Hospital from away back in the year 1919 to the present day hospital fees from the ratepayers. This was not approved of by the meeting, the opinion being that it might result in the hospital rates being considerably higher if this were done. However, Mr. Benson explained that this was only brought up to get the feeling of the ratepayers so that it might help the Board as to whether or not to place this before the ratepayers for a vote.

Question as to the method of distribution of labour to the ratepayers was asked by W. R. Bass. This was answered by Councillors McClellan and Jarel.

Question as to the disbursements marked General was asked by N. Mercier. This was answered by the secretary, who explained the particulars of same.

The meeting was taken over at three o'clock by Returning Officer P. Howe, who asked for nominations for councillors for Divisions 1, 2 and 5, which resulted in Norman Meldrum and Glenn W. Benson being nominated and that there would be an election on Monday, Feb. 28th, 1927 at Moore's Hall, Isley. Frank F. Cameron was returned by acclamation for Division 2. Arthur Lord was returned by acclamation to Division 5.

The Reeve, Norman Meldrum, addressed the meeting on the activities of the Council for the year 1926, which was well received by the ratepayers and gave an outline which was proposed to be done by the Council which did not leave any cut in the municipal taxes until the roads partly built and new constructed to those which were in need of them. The road insurance considered by giving the financial standing of the district which, in his opinion, was excellent.

Mr. Pinchbeck took the opportunity to speak a few moments as to the proposed method of taxing motor vehicles, with a view of getting the feeling of the farmers in municipalities the proposal being that a tax be likewise and that the revenue be had

Dear Sirs,—

It might be of interest to you to know that at 6.03 a.m. on Feb. 16th, I heard Radio Station 4QG, Brisbane, Australia, on the board phones of my 5-tube radio. The part of the program I heard was as follows:

Fox Trot: "Tonight my light is shining." — Orchestra.
Waltz: "Prisoner's Song" — Orchestra.
Fox Trot: "Rose March" — Orchestra.

Next selection picked up only part of an account of hailing.

Orchestra again playing but due to fading, could not understand name of selection.

Soprano solo singing.

Trio or quartet singing but owing to fading very badly I could only get parts of last two selections. I heard the call letters distinctly five times, so there was no mistake.

Might add, I have picked up on the loudspeaker the following stations which could be heard by anyone in the room

CFC — Mexico City, Mexico.
CYH — Havana (Cuba), Mexico.
WAMH — New Orleans, La.
WDAE — Tampa, Florida.
WCAU — Mansfield, Connecticut.
WGHH — Clearwater, Florida.

There were heard more than once or twice a week.

Yours truly,
E. ROBERTSON

NO CLASS DISTINCTIONS WHEN BRITONS IN DANGER, SAYS BIRKENHEAD

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Feb. 22. — Rt. Hon. the Earl of Birkenhead, secretary for India, speaking here last night recently returned. Rt. Hon. John Wheatley, Labor member of the house of commons and minister in the former Labor cabinet of Ramsay MacDonald.

"I read that Mr. Wheatley who is a party councillor and holds Bolshevik rank in the late Labor government, spoke disparagingly of our fellow rel ers in China, and asked how much of those belonged to the working class," Earl Birkenhead said. "I regard as the highest honor I have ever had in my life that the men who make Englishwomen to what class they belong. I hold it was on this whether he came into contact in the future of wealth or of the working class.

"It was our proud boast in the days before Bolshevism had once like him that all those were English who stood for England, and that no English life should be imperilled without the assistance of the whole nation being mustered to their assistance."

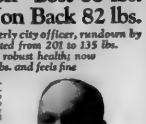
Health Broken—Lost 66 lbs. Now Well, Won Back 82 lbs.

Ottawa merchant, formerly city officer, rundown by kidney trouble. Wasted from 201 to 135 lbs. Tanlac restored robust health; now weighs 217 lbs. and feels fine



Phillips Fennia's grocery at 565 St. Patrick st., is well known in Ottawa. For many years he was a city official and a well-known baseball player. He was also well known for his athletic build. What he looked like a few months ago is shown by the way he was giving up baseball, owing to his health, from other members of the team. He fell down before 1st base and had to be helped to his feet.

"For two years my nerves were in a terrible condition," he said. "I had a backache and kidney trouble and was unable to sleep. In the night I would toss and turn and get up tired and worn out. My appetite was poor and I lost weight rapidly. I had to give up baseball, which was the greatest sport in the world to me. My condition became so bad that I was unable to work. I was getting up such a backbreaking condition, from other members of the team, that I was forced to leave my position and be helped home by my wife.

"I was told my nerves were taking me down, and that I must have a complete rest. I was in bed for nine months, and during that time I lost 66 pounds of weight. I had a bad cough and was in a run-down condition

D. Hunt, Scotsman, distinguished as war veteran and prominent live stock breeder from north of Manville, was a caller at the Standard office during the week. Mr. Hunt, when quite a lad, served in the South African war for a short period and when the Great War broke out it was only natural to find him serving his country again, when he won the D. C. M. and Croix de Guerre (Belgian) for conspicuous gallantry. Five brothers made the supreme sacrifice on the fields of Flanders. His farm operations have been largely directed to the breeding of pure bred horses and cattle and his Clydesdale horses and Ayrshire cattle have won many championship ribbons against the best in the country. Mr Hunt as well has grade Clydes and Percherons of high type and dual purpose Shorthorn cattle.

Masonic Banquet And Night Of Revelry

Vermilion Lodge A. F. & A. M. did itself proud in the supper and night of revelry furnished by it at the Community Hall on Monday evening of this week. The tables, which were most artistically decorated with cut flowers and candles presented a very pretty appearance when the one hundred and forty guests sat down to enjoy a most sumptuous dinner. The entertainment provided such a variety as to satisfy the most epicurean in tastes. The large number of ladies present added to the brilliancy of the occasion. A. E. Kaiser was in charge of the toast list, the first of which was to the King and the Craft and proposed by J. W. G. Morrison. The Vermilion Ladies' Male Quartette, by the chairman and responded to by R. H. Norton, master of the lodge. Our visitors was proposed by Mayor Fallow, and responded to by Geo T McGregor of Minburn. The Ladies toast was proposed by E. E. Marvels and replied to by Mrs. W. E. Stewart of Minburn. During the programme Miss Isobel McKee rendered a delightful piano selection and Mrs. Lorne McLean charmed the guests with a solo.

The tables being cleared, for the following couple of hours the hall was the scene of a miniature night in Monte Carlo, dancing with a dance for which the music was by Miss McKee at the piano and Percy McKeon with the violin. The committee in charge of the arrangements comprised A. E. Kaiser, chairman, A. V. Law, J. W. G. Morison, Jr., W. W. Bell and W. H. Scott, secretary.

The catering was by "Chef" George Duncan, and the various courses prepared by him left nothing to be desired. Mr. Duncan is to be congratulated on "putting over" such a huge task so very satisfying to everybody. Not in many years has there been such a successful and enjoyable event.

Elk Lodge To Put On Big Day For Kiddies

The Vermilion Lodge of the Order of Elks anticipates putting on a big day for the kiddies on the 24th of May and already plans are being formulated for the occasion. The programme so far as presently arranged will include a long list of track events on the east end athletic grounds, followed by a free show in the Columbia Theatre and at which each kiddy will be treated with an ice cream cone. After the performance is over they will be stared one of the most elaborate picnic-tea dinners seen in Vermilion. This will probably take place in the public park. The committee in charge is intended for children under the age of twelve and the members are out to give them the time of their lives.

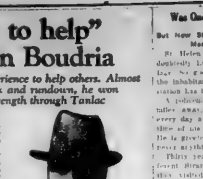
"I want to help" says Allen Boudria

Tells facts from own experience to help others. Almost wild with pain, weak and rundown, he won new health and strength through Tanlac



Allen Boudria

Allen Boudria, 1414 Pauline St., Port Arthur, Texas, who is well known in this city, recently made the following statement concerning his experience with Tanlac:

"For five years I was in misery. My whole system seemed out of gear, and my stomach troubled most. Even a drink of water would cause my stomach to bloat and sour almost immediately. I had no appetite, and keeping at work so that I could get enough to buy food for home was hard. I lost weight and was all run down and nervous. I suffered from insomnia and would get up in the morning feeling worse than when I went to bed. I was a constant sufferer from headaches and dizzy spells, and had a terrible pain in my back.

"My friend M. Lacroix told me about Tanlac and I purchased some of it. I had not taken more than a few doses before I began to feel better, and I have gained eight pounds since I started taking it. My appetite is always good now, and I can eat anything I want to. I slept and worked all night before I took Tanlac, but now I sleep like a baby and get up in the morning feeling like a new man. I have no more indigestion, my nerves have been built back to normal, and I am entirely free from pain and misery. I have taken only two bottles of Tanlac and feel like a new man. I cheerfully recommend Tanlac to everybody suffering as I was."

Is the Vote Worth Having?

The people of Canada are now enjoying the right to vote for the election of members to the House of Commons. Some people think that it is a great privilege, but others think that it is a nuisance. Some people are so busy that they do not care to spend the time necessary to vote, and some people are so lazy that they do not care to take the trouble to vote. Some people are so ignorant that they do not know how to vote, and some people are so careless that they do not care how they vote. Some people are so indifferent that they do not care whether they vote or not. Some people are so prejudiced that they will not vote for a man because he belongs to a party that they do not like, even though he may be the best man for the position. Some people are so selfish that they will not vote for a man because he belongs to a party that they do not like, even though he may be the best man for the position. Covered Rink and Gymnasium Assured

Plans Are Prepared for Modern $9,000.00 Structure

The finance committee composed of Jos. McKeno, H. W. Harper and A. M. West, recently appointed to canvass the town for subscriptions in connection with the rink proposition, completed their work Wednesday. As a result of their efforts there is now deposited to "Trust Account" for the Town of Vermilion in the Royal Bank of Canada the sum of $4,000.00 for skating rink purposes, being $700.00 in excess of the objective aimed at through public subscription. The calls for a similar amount being invested for the same purpose by the Town of Vermilion, making a grand total immediately available of $8,000.00.

The public subscriptions take the form of a loan to the town and bear interest at the rate of five per cent., the principal being a capital charge against the building until repaid, security being placed in the form of investment certificates. Putting the effort to raise funds before the public as a strictly business proposition undoubtedly accounts in a large measure for the unprecedented success which culminated the efforts of the finance committee in its canvass.

The plans for the rink call for a building with a total length of 204 feet and 96 feet wide. The ice surface will be 180 feet by 96 feet with straight four boards on each side and on the end between the ice and waiting room, (seats on the side promenade to be a later proposition). The dimensions of the ground floor are 16 feet by 96 feet across, which provides two hockey dressing rooms, two large waiting rooms, refreshment booth, and two ticket offices, located on either side of an eight foot central entrance; the gymnasium is located on the upper floor which extends over the front and entrance promenade, making this floor accommodation 45 feet by 21 feet. It will thus be seen that the structure will be ample, modern and up-to-date and self-contained in every particular. It is the intention to install a set of heating stoves. Great credit is due to Mr. Meh for the ceaseless and energetic canvass he rendered at a great sacrifice to himself, and he is deserving of the warm thanks of the citizens of Vermilion in bringing about the happy results.

It is understood that preparations are under way to begin construction work at the very earliest date this spring

HIGH SCH. WON DEBATE

Taking the affirmative of the resolution, "Resolved that Canada would have more to gain than to lose from Annexation with the United States of America," the representatives of the local High School won by one point the verdict of the debate of Agriculture. Miss Chrisp and Muriel Nease contended for the resolution and W. Rose and A. Platte opposed the motion. The debate was conducted under the rules governing interhigh school debates and was judged by Messrs. F. J. Richardson, G. W. Wright and Rev. R. A. Kerr. In rendering the decision of the judges Mr Kerr complimented the debaters on the high order of the contest, saying that in all his experience in judging for the inter-high school debates he had not seen anything superior to the exhibition given on Friday night. He paid high compliment to Mr. Platte of the negative and predicted for him a brilliant future in the forensic art. The decision in favor of the affirmative was one that was popular with the large audience which filled the Assembly Hall of the Coll ge.

Following the announcement of the decision Dr Dall was called to the platform and made an announcement to the effect that he was commissioned to announce that an anonymous donor was putting up for competition in debating between the colleges and the high school a silver cup, commencing next year. This was greeted with vociferous applause by the students, and should prove a very great incentive to participation in public speaking

Following the debate a short programme was rendered, after which refreshments and dancing were enjoyed until the midnight hour

VERMILION CASE BEFORE SUPREME COURT DISMISSED

Evidence in the damage action of Shields vs C.N.R. was concluded in the supreme court Tuesday forenoon and argument followed.

COSTIVE BOWELS, HEADACHE, COLDS TAKE "CASCARETS"

No Headache, Sour Stomach, Bad Cold or Constipation by morning

Get a 10-cent box now

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause vile stomachs to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to auto-intoxication—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, pallow skin, mental fogs, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and regulate you out by morning. They work while you sleep, a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling right for months. Millions use them, and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their complexions clear and bowels regulated, and better know a gentleman or lady friend by how he or she treats children than by their manners, good, bad or indifferent.

Britain is Becoming an Air Faring Nation

Price of Light Airplanes Has Been Materially Reduced

Lord Thomson, Air Minister in the Labor Government, recently declared that in order to exist Britain must become an air faring nation. Nothing has done so much to make her peace to the ideal of an air-faring nation as has the formation of the flying clubs. These clubs have been directly responsible for raising an interest in their various centres, and this interest has resulted in creating a market for the light aeroplane The Evening News, in announcing that the Hatfield Moth had been reduced in price from £795 to £750, stated that this was but a first note in price cutting of the air industry.

Now comes the news that the Air to Avian, a machine very similar in its main characteristics to the Moth, has been reduced to £675. Moreover, service stations for the repair, overhaul and periodic maintenance of Avians have been opened at Manchester and Southampton. Other such stations will be opened where necessary in different parts of the country. People are asking why it is that the aeroplane is coming so much around £700, when a fully-equipped saloon car can be bought for £195. The answer is that the one is a high-class article. The least important reason is that the price can be reduced when the output is in large quantities—the light aeroplane is not yet in that state. Second and most important is the fact that the standard of the £700 aeroplane is considerably higher than that of the £195 car.

Working Women Want Chance

Too Many "High-Brows" in British Parliament Opinion of Women Bluestes

Many women in the Socialist and Labor movement in Parliament have arrived at the conclusion that too many "high brows" are representing them in parliament. They point out that there are no genuine working women selected as Socialist parliamentary candidates but that women of higher social rank can obtain nominations quite easily. Consequently plans are under way to raise a fund of £1,000 a year so that working women will have a better chance of competing with their more fortunate sisters in the party for parliamentary honors.

Alberta Lady Very Enthusiastic About Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. M. Griffin Completely Relieved After Years of Suffering.

Lake Thelma, Alberta (Special.)—The following letter (verbatim) is from Mrs M. Griffin, a well-known and highly respected resident of this district. She writes:—"In the fall of 1918 I was taken ill with Influenza. When I got better, I found I had awful pains in my back; no bad at the time. I thought I had taken cold, could not walk fast without going out with pains. I had always heard about four Dodd's Kidney Pills and bought them. After I had used the second box I could run across the street to see my car, I would not be without them, they are worth $100 a box if they could not be got. I am over sixty years old and could run a foot race with any girl."

Rural Sanitation

(By C. W. Peterson)

The best "country doctors" that also out of ten farmers should call are the well driller and the plumber, according to A. W. Rockwell, one of the leading sanitary engineers of the U.S.A. In a recent statement on rural health he is reported as saying: "The country cemeteries are silent witnesses of the unsanitary, wasteful and wife killing water system employed by the average farm home, according to the U.S. Census figures, that show that nine out of ten farmers are still without running water in the home, though automobiles and telephones have found their way into almost all of some sections. Such diseases as typhoid and others that come from contaminated water are preventable, as well as disease originating with constipation, are practically all due to improper sanitary facilities in the home and the carrying in of what little water is used. Death among babies ran three and a half times as high in those all water must be carried into the home by hand as where the supply is piped in under pressure and connected with bath and proper new age disposal, according to health officials.

Unfortunately this state of affairs is equally as bad in rural Canada. Health is not worth as much as gold, life and yet how seldom we pay at tention to important safeguards, par ticularly in the matter of water used in puting them in force. Better rural sanitation is one of the great est needs of the day. The solution of rural population would solve many of the evil ills of the Canada

Canadian National Lecture Car

Good Results Achieved by C.N.R. in Spreading Helpful Information to Farming Communities

Encouraging results are being achieved by the lecture car which the Canadian National Railways, in conjunction with the Extension Service of the University of Saskatchewan, are operating in Saskatchewan, according to a report received by Dan. M. Johnson, western manager of the agriculture department of the railway company. The car, which started out on January 17, had been visited by 1733 people up to February 5, in spite of the fact that at several points exceptionally cold or stormy weather was encountered. Of this total attendance 567 were children of school age, an interesting fact, as the majority of them take part in the discussion which followed the various lectures.

Cereal varieties, tillage operations, fall cultivation, summer fallow, crop rotation, the importance of pure seed, the value of seed farming, demonstration of the farmstead were some of the subjects dealt with by the lecturers on agriculture and there were also talks on the relation of agriculture to agriculture with short addresses as to the type of live stock that will fit into a diversified plan of farming. In a number of instances it was found that farmers had come many miles to listen to the lectures at that when they were present the discussions were most active.

MAKING THE WORLD CHRISTIAN

Golden Text: Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations. Matthew 28.19.

Lesson: Matthew 28.16-20; Acts 16. 6-15.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 60.1-5.

Explanations and Comments

1. The Commission to Make the World Christian. Matthew 28.16-20.—The interview of the disciples with their Risen Lord took place in Galilee, from the mount where Jesus ascended. When they saw him, they worshipped him, though some doubted. We cannot think that the disciples who had difficulty in accepting the resurrection fact of the resurrection of Christ were the eleven, for they doubts had been subjected to Jerusalem, Jesus told them of his universal dominion—"All authority hath been given unto me in heaven and on earth"—and then gave them his commission to make his world wide power a reality: "Go ye therefore and make disciples of all the nations." They were given a seemingly impossible task but The Acts tells us that they carried it out. There we have the record of the apostolic disciples of evangelization, first in Jerusalem, next in a wider circle in Judea, then in a still wider circle in Samaria, and last to a field which embraced the known world from the Imperial city of Rome. Jerusalem's circuits its circles; they widen by as they go and some a few at least spread a gospel fire into still water." —Alexander Maclaren.

"Remember, fellow Christians, how wide was the horizon of Jesus. Our footing may be secure from nowhere to school, city, country, and with some, the nation. But the task of Jesus the outside rim of the earth and the last man in the last hut. When he was born, good tidings came unto whom—the first? Unto all people', 'among all nations', 'throughout the whole world.' 'to every creature', 'to the uttermost part of the earth,' 'by Christ's world to give us unto all the world' is his limitless command, his boundless expectation."—W. H. Griffith Thomas.

Turkey is a Rare Bird

Develops Cross Between a Turkey and a Rhode Island Hen

A new Canadian bird, the "turken," has made its appearance. It is a cross between a turkey and a Rhode Island hen, and was first brought to public attention by the Saskatchewan poultry-chew, George Spurgeon, who raised it, claims that it will affect a revolution in the poultry business. It combines the best features of hen and turkey. It has a hen body and a turkey head.

Radium to Treat Game

It has recently been discovered that game such as the ruby, ruphire and topaz can be greatly improved in color by treating them with radium. In some mysterious way the radium seems to burn out their impurities so that the value of many colored stones can be greatly increased at comparatively little cost.

It was not wistfully said, nor in reminiscent tone. She was standing apart from him, and spoke as if talking a thought. A frown came into his forehead.

"Those are not good memories to have," he said. "This sort of thing gives them a sting."

She looked at him in open wonderment. Of his own accord he was a mask, she concealed it skilfully.

"No money has a sting, John," she returned. "That is, if they are the kind of money that has been made while treasuring. The more we make things we came had, the more grateful we are for them. I've put a little bit of that house we used to plan into every one of those things. It's back there, John!"

"The house, if I remember, was to last a lifetime. This is to be the last piece of it, and I'm wondering what part of one could be built into the other."

"Love, John! Into the other you put what was your love—your idea of it into those things here I've put that love of yours, and—when I'm from the home you would have built, and put it into this. It was you, you know, who said, for now, that the other was for a lifetime, and that this will be desolate and crumbled in the morning if I don't—I'm nothing more of this."

He was silent. She left him for a moment it gave an opportunity to Anstice practically to complete the sorting of the blossoms which were to shed their perfumes for a night and then wither. When she went back to Lisa John said, with the blunt suddenness that often characterized it:

"There is something I must say to you, Jo. It's been trying to come out for days, and I know you've been expecting it. I've been rather a coward and—"

Rather a coward, John!

It was said, quietly, softly, but there was something deadly in the manner of it. He flushed, but went stubbornly on:

"Yes, rather. It's to be about Yvonne, you know—and now that it's again that quiet, soft interruption.

"Tell me, Joan—are you going to marry me?"

This time she was looking at him with a steady gaze. Those brown eyes that were darkened by the purple haze in the air, and whose customary brown seemed to have ceased to be, they searched John's face as he addressed her, she drove in her challenge:

Joanna crumpled up onto the lawn and lay, face buried in the grass, her shoulders shaking convulsively.

"Don't be a coward always, John, this time. I love you as a girl seldom knows how to love. The marvel of my own nature, and its wonder, and the threat it holds—I hidden it from where, has never appalled me nor marred the sense of my happiness. I've been content to love you as you are, and to do so without fear. Now you are proposing to me, and you have not answered my question. Joanna asserted.

"Yes, I am proposing to you, Jo, and I know you've been expecting it. I've been rather a coward and—"

"No, Jo. You see Yvonne has—"

She stopped him instantly. "That is splendid." It was quite as if she were complimenting him upon some new achievement within his profession. She reached over and patted his hand and then pressed it for a moment in fondness. "That is splendid," she repeated.

"Now you're at least a coward no longer. You see I've got a damn mind, I think, I like to know things. It helps one make plans."

"But, Jo—there's much more to say. It isn't just like that—, that I marry you."

"There really isn't," she declared. "You explained quite fully, without words, when you went away from London that matters were quite the same as ever. You've got me but I hadn't. I was just the same girl with the short shirts and a lot of knees and a good deal more brain. Not the kind of a wife for the great surgeon of a beautiful thing for future generations to marvel at. Why tell me all over again?"

He knew she was mocking him and he realized that he was helpless. A thousand things built up in his mind for clear scrutiny of him they punished. She touched to him again and patted his cheek. "You'll have a drink over it all, somedays," she said. "Meanwhile I shall stop drinkin' all day and nights to on. Once we get into the house you will find Yvonne in the reading room. I'm going to have one of Teddy Dorminster's horses saddled and ride over for tea with Roddy Kenilworth at his house."

She gave him her hand and smiled up at him. "You will not be seeing much of me now until the fete," she said. "It is no more and I have no mouth to do. But I shall want you to dance with me that night. Try then we shall have both forgot today."

She watched him until he disappeared beyond some shrubbery that cut off the view of the house. Then she turned toward the stables, but had not gone far when she stopped. She stood for a moment, looking about her. When she saw that none of the workmen nor attendants were near, she crumpled onto the lawn, and her face buried in the grass, her shoul ders shaking convulsively.

CHAPTER XXV

Joanna's Decision

A stable groom, familiar with his cap when Joanna had ridden her horse and was in the habit of her riding test, in a whisper to prepare to change in the stable dressing room, and then proceed deliberately down the Cap Marsh slope and sentinel the thirteenth bunket of vicinity bank.

"It'll be coming up fast, Mademoiselle, after a while," he said; "it's the Kenilworth's. Mr. Roddy and Mr. John rarely ever miss a meet. Mademoiselle is go too far."

The groom moved on, and Mr. Kenilworth," she informed him. "The Rahts there are never lost."

The groom moved on, content to take more insistent caution, but his mistress was abrupt with him. There were times when the presence of Miss Athi Annette were afraid of their Mademoiselle Joanna. The groom knew that she was a fine rider, and a venture a further protest. He reflected that, after all, she was a good horsewoman and that a horse usually is dependable.

Kenilworth immediately expressed alarm. "Why, Joanna, you ought not to give me but an hour! It will take me quite that long to get accustomed to the vision of you among my friends."

"Just an hour, Roddy," she insisted, nodding to the groom who approached with her mount. "I'll be back before expected," said Lady Maud Hearse, the only woman who has flown 12,000 miles on an air voyage, when she stepped to the befogged platform at Victoria aerodrome after an air trip to India and back with her husband, Sir Samuel Hearse, the air minister.

"I'm glad to have completed one of the last stages from Paris to London by air, and the two were obliged to take their trip by train."

The British air ministry and his able lieutenants in the air ministry were not responsible for the fact that Lady Maud Hearse was not a passenger in the air voyage, which, he enthusiastic reported was flattering in the extreme. Sir Samuel was obliged to remain in London because of the pressure of official business.

Lady Maud, who is described by saying

"Three days were distinctly no pleasant, unlike five days you and had spent on the ground at Karachi and Delhi. Of course, I was disappointed at not being able to go on, but I came so unexpectedly."

Revival of Old Idea

Sir John Macdonald Suggested Name "Kingdom of Canada" Before Confederation

Sir John A. Macdonald suggested the name Kingdom and pressed his claims during the drafting of the British North America Act in London early in 1867. The sixth draft of the bill contained the title "Kingdom of Canada," but three weeks later, "United Provinces" of the preceding draft, and Sir John made every effort to retain the kingdom idea.

Lord Carnarvon, colonial secretary to Lord Kimberley, "feared the United States would resent the establishment of the kingdom." Also in the same letter defended his proposal, and said that, had it been accepted, he was sure the United States would soon have been applying to be admitted to the colonial ranks.

Queen Victoria also "didn't care" about it, and would therefore there be found any good reason for a change.

Found Airplane Trip Easy

Few Days Unpleasant, Says Lady Hearse, After Long Journey

"Flying was delightful, after all is much easier and less tiring than I had expected," said Lady Maud Hearse, the only woman who has flown 12,000 miles on an air voyage, when she stepped to the befogged platform at Victoria aerodrome after an air trip to India and back with her husband, Sir Samuel Hearse, the air minister.

"I'm glad to have completed one of the last stages from Paris to London by air, and the two were obliged to take their trip by train."

IF ADVERTISING SHOULD CEASE

William Allen White, the famous editor, recently told the New York advertising Club that if advertising should cease "the slow decay and ultimate collapse of the entire world would follow."

Strong words, but White means what he says. Advertising is so closely linked with the things that we buy, as to become a very integral part of our commerce and culture, as well as a source of information and advice.

Advertising is the greatest help a good product could have. At the same time the faulty product fails by the same medium.

SCHOOL BOARD PROPOSE MEDICAL SURVEY OF SCHOOLS

At last week's meeting of the school board a committee was appointed to interview the profession in town with the view of having a medical and dental survey made of both the public and high schools of the town. The matter is to be submitted to the board by the chairman at the February meeting, but action was deferred until the March meeting on account of the pond ing elections if satisfactory arrangements can be made the clinic will be held as soon as possible. The board has changed the fire alarm system in the Alexandra school so that now an alarm can be sent in from any floor, whereas previously the bell could be rung only from the first floor. Two drills held in February showed the building emptied in 40 and 45 seconds. The matter of securing a fire escape will come up for consideration at the April meeting.

It is also proposed to prepare the ground during the summer months for a rink next winter. All that will be required will be the leveling of the area and banking up the sides so that it can be easily flooded

Band Concert Sunday Evening
Program of Unusual Excellence

The Columbia Theatre was packed to the doors on Sunday evening last, when an enthusiastic audience was treated to a musical programme of unusual excellence.

The numbers presented by the Vermilion Citizens' Band more than sustained the high standard previously set by this ambitious organization. They displayed good tonal balance, a fine sense of rhythm and a regard for the nuances which was highly creditable. Their rendering of Alford's "Musical Switch" was received with marked favor.

The appearance of Mr Earl Lyons of Vegreville, whose reputation as a violinist of exceptional ability had preceded him, was the signal for an ovation. It was a keen delight to listen to his playing on Sunday evening. Producing a rare singing tone from his instrument and executing the most difficult passages with astonishing ease, Mr. Lyons imbued his interpretations with a warmth of tone color that held the audience spellbound to the final cadence had died away.

An outstanding feature of the programme was the violin duet by Mr. Lyons and Mr. Frans Ugrits, which was most artistically rendered. In a second piece—Godard's "Berceuse"—these two artists "brought down the house," and were compelled to play the last movement again.

Mrs. Lorne McLean, who was in splendid voice, sang a delightful number by Edward German, and was installed to give a well chosen encore song which called her voice to pure ecstasy.

The pianoforte solo by Miss Nina Bagley was well received. This prepossessing pianiste revealed a good command of technique and intelligent interpretation She was deservedly encored

Mr. A. M. West fully sustained his high reputation in a song by Francis Darel—"Calling me home to you"—and, in a second number sung pianissimo almost throughout he showed admirable control and artistic taste.

An arrangement of Offenbach's "Barcarolle" for violins, 'cello and piano was rendered in a most pleasing manner by pupils of Mr. Frans Ugrits,—with Mr. F. J. Richardson at the piano and Mr. Ugrits taking the 'cello part. These young violinists have made marked progress since their last appearance, and much credit is due them and their teacher for their performance on Sunday In another piece, Schubert's "Moment Musical," the expressive and pleasing were remarkably good.

Mr F Stevens and Mr. A. M. West provided one of the most acceptable items on the programme in a vocal duet—"Under the Desert Stars" which was in excellent style.

Their intention was perfect, the two voices blending exceptionally well. A well-song or singer does not see to see as an encore, and was greatly appreciated by the audience.

Without doubt, Sunday evenings' concert was one of the finest ever heard in Vermilion, and the Standard extends congratulations to the musical director, Mr. W. B. Elford, whose ability and energetic efforts in the cause of good music have made these popular concerts possible

Vermilion Attached Trophy

Vegreville is Beaten by 6-1 Score in Curling Cup Final; Take Second S-4

The Vermilion agriculturists made good their boast of Tuesday that they would finish up the season by defeating the push manipulators of Vegreville, by beating them Thursday night on the same sheet and during the same hour that the Colonel W. C. Craig trophy by a score of 6-1. The homesters took the round by a score of 9 to 6. The first game, played at Vegreville Tuesday resulted in a draw 2 to 2.

It was a good contest all the way through, and hockey enthusiasts were provided with plenty of excitement before the final bell punctuated time. The home team put all they had in the game to win, and the result, if slightly lopsided, was highly pleasing to the Vermilion fans.

The Vegreville pushers tried hard to avert the impossible, no team ever worked with greater determination. They were fighting vat as viciously for the verdict when the gong sounded as when they went on the ice. The two figure just about represents the tide of battle. The Vermilion players did everything right, and turned in what was probably their best game on local ice this season. The Agrarian personality a sensitive stone, and the rest strength lies in playing together, and they had many fine combination

Indians Are Good Farmers

Indians of Prairie Provinces Produced One Million Bushels of Grain Last Year

The Indians of the three Prairie Provinces — Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta — last season produced in round figures one million bushels of grain, of which about half, or 510,000 bushels, was wheat, according to the Government report. There are about 25,000 Indians in the area in question, and the crop reserved for their use includes some of the most fertile [illegible] in Canada. In 1924 the Indians produced 1,000,000 bushels of grain, of which 500,000 bushels was wheat.

To Increase Egg Production

Hang Lay More Eggs With the Use of Light

The use of lights with the laying flock increases the winter and early spring production, which is the time to get top prices for eggs. MARCH WEATHER DANGEROUS TO BABY

On Account of the Very Sudden Changes in Temperature

Our Canadian March weather—one day bright, but stinging, the next blustery and cold—is extremely hard on little children. Many a baby has died early for the mother to keep the little nostrils clear when Baby's cold developed to orchestrated, badly ventilated bronchitis or croup, which, each of these make strong inroads on the little ones and to keep the baby well, Baby's Own Tablets are the ideal medicine. They break up colds, prevent croup, and bring Baby along a host of Baby's ills. Tablets should be given to the little ones on every occasional dose given the baby to keep his stomach and bowels working regularly.

Mr. Ballantyne explained that Port Royal, as a base, was [illegible] by land and should it be decided that Port Royal will be retained as a naval station the needs it was said, will necessarily be considerable reduced in relation to an important British naval station.

Head and Chest Colds Relieved In a New Way

A Salve which Relieves Stuffiness Vapors when Spread Over Throat and Chest.

Tube for inhaling a vapor or smelling salts to relieve the nose and vapors inhaled.

Relief, I say a vapor and, at the same time absorbed through the skin like a liniment, which Vicks call vapo-rubbing, is the secret of Vicks' quick relief.

Vicks is a modern direct treatment for all of those colds that is proving so popular in Canada and the States where over 17 million jars are now used yearly.

Especially for sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis, croup, head and chest colds, Vicks is a safe and sure help.

Just rub Vicks over throat and chest and inhale the medicated vapors. Usually loosens up a cold.

Reduced Strength of R.C.M.P.

Now Fewer in Number, But Work Has Greatly Increased

Commissioner Starnes of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, in his annual report to the Minister of Justice, draws attention to the reduced strength of the force, and a marked increase in the number of cases dealt with. The strength in 1926 was 576, and 24,000 cases were handled, while in 1925, the strength was 1,000 and 19,000 cases were disposed of.

Speaking of the Arctic work, the Commissioner points out that "Dr. Wyatt went to McKay's Drug Store and they recommended Nerviline, which proved to be wonderful."

Nerviline is a powerful penetrating liniment that gives satisfaction from a 25c bottle of Nerviline to a 5 gallon jug.

Farm of the Future

Nuts and Beans Only Crop Predicted by Dr. Kellogg

The farm of the future without animals, except possibly a small herd, and without fowls, except for "decorative purposes," was outlined by Dr. J. H. Kellogg, battle Creek, 75-year-old advocate of a vegetable diet.

For the products of farm animals and fowls he would substitute "a few walnut or hickory nut trees in the back yard and along the lanes and with field crops of soy beans and peanuts."

He admitted, however, that preparation must be granted for such a radical change as the elimination of the milk, meat and egg diet, and he followed such a diet for many years "with immense profit."

Fruits, also, with the exception of berries, he classed as a liability and hazard to the farmer, for they need no more than the shelter of the wood our farms produce and return in food products only a small part of what they consume.

Heart Palpitation Dizzy, Sinking Spells

Mrs. M. A. Gagnon, Dunnville, Alta., writes: "Some time ago I was very nervous, could not sleep at night, often had dizzy sinking spells, pain and palpitation of the heart, and was so run down I could not do my housework, but just knew everything and sat down.

I spent a lot of money using medicine from the doctor, but always seemed to do me any good.

At last a friend told me to me and after using a couple of bottles I felt like a new woman. I began to feel so much better, and after a few more bottles I was in perfect health, and always recommend them to all those I know who are suffering from heart trouble."

MILBURN'S

Noiseless Construction

Buildings May Soon be Erected Silently With Electric Heat

The steel frame of a five-story factory has just been completed in Sharon, Pa., without arousing the entire town from its morning slumber or testing its nerves. There were no maddening blows of pneumatic rivet guns delivered with the noise and rapidity of machine gun in action and no picturesque-ly dangerous tossing of red-hot pieces into a skilfully handled lariat barrel a hundred feet away. Six tiny experts wearing goggles noiselessly bolted the beams and girders together with the intense heat of two gasoline electric arcs.

It will be recalled that the arc welder was applied with brilliant success by American engineers in repairing the disabled battleship Pennsylvania during Admiral Sims' visit to Australia during the war.

At Sharon the same apparatus was used for the first time in erecting the frame of a large building.

The Sharon structure must be tested for strength, and the comparative costs of riveting and welding must be established, before we may herald the day when all structures will be assembled erected with electric heat. But it augurs well for the noiseless future that 100 tons of steel come-table the amount that would certainly have been required) were saved by arc welding and that Sharon's electric-welding factory has a staff free of unprecedented lightness and still more for its size.

SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE NOTES

Wednesday, March 23rd, the closing day of the 1926-27 term, will witness the first graduating class to pass from the institution since 1922.

In view of the large number of friends and relations who will be present at the Closing Exercises, it was thought wise to hold the annual exhibit of students' work on the same day. This latter event, which was so successful last year, will prove, we feel sure, of more than usual interest to those who visit the school to view the work in both the Domestic Science and Agricultural departments. The program for the afternoon has been arranged as follows:

1:00—2:00 p.m.: Viewing the exhibits as put on by the sewing, cooking, blacksmith, carpentry and agronomy departments.

2:00—6:30 p.m.: Fashion Show; and the exhibit of academic work prepared by the second year boys

6:30 p.m.: Banquet in second year students, the staff and visiting speakers.

8:00 p.m.: Closing Exercises and presentation of Diplomas.

The day will be a full one, and each event will have to be run strictly according to schedule. In order to avoid disappointment on the part of anyone wishing to see those exhibits, we would ask all to note carefully the times indicated above. A bus will be run between the town and school during the afternoon.

The evening program will include speeches by leading citizens, and members of the Department of Agriculture, as well as musical numbers by Mrs. L. McLean, Rev. Stevens and Mr. A. M. West. The Assembly hall will only accommodate so many, and we would ask that, on this occasion, parents do not bring children under 15 years of age.

Rev. F. J. Stevens Selected By Dominion Council for Work in England

The Rev. F. J. Stevens, incumbent of St. Saviour's parish, left yesterday on route to England, having been selected by the Social Service Council of the Church of England in Canada to visit the Old Land in the interests of their work. He will be absent for two months and in the interval this field will be supplied from Emmanuel College, Saskatoon. In England, Mr. Stevens will be under the British Missionary Empire Settlement League, who have charge of the sixty-day itinerary which will involve the delivering of two and three addresses a day, directed towards securing men for Church of England schools and colleges and promotion of youths' immigration.

In the above connection, only one man is sent from Canada by the Council, and that the choice fell upon Mr. Stevens from a very large list of applicants, is a marked tribute to him personally and his particular qualifications for such a work; furthermore, it is an honor to Vermilion that throughout the length and breadth of this great Dominion of Canada, a man should be chosen from this town for such an exacting mission.

Mr. Stevens carries with him the best wishes of all for a happy and safe journey and for the greatest success in his endeavors overseas.

The work will be undertaken as soon as arrangements for that purpose are completed and will take probably three weeks to complete. Welcome the Newcomer

The immigration season is just opening and, judging from all reports and present prospects, Canada is due to receive a larger influx of settlers than in any year since the pre-war boom. Many of the settlers will come from the United States, but a considerable number will be from the British Isles and from the Continent of Europe.

This increasing stream of people Canada warmly greets from a number of factors. In the first place, conditions in Europe are more favorable than they have been since the upheaval caused by the war and people who have long been a settlement are better able to do so. Canada, too, has some what relaxed the restrictions imposed on British settlers during the War and now offers to all comers what was never before possible, a free choice of land without the possibility of its ultimate loss or total confiscation. The establishment in Canada of a good system of land settlement, the possibility of securing land on easy terms and the development of new markets for Canadian products have also helped to make Canada more attractive to immigrants. The Canadian Pacific Railway has also been a factor in the situation. The Railway Company has been active in bringing to the attention of the people of Great Britain and Europe the opportunities which Canada offers to the settler. Through its agents in the British Isles and on the Continent, the Canadian Pacific Railway has been bringing to the attention of prospective settlers the opportunities which Canada offers. The Canadian Pacific Railway has also been active in the matter of assisting settlers to reach their destination in Canada and to get a start on the land. The Company has also been active in the matter of assisting settlers to reach their destination in Canada and to get a start on the land. The Company has also been active in the matter of assisting settlers to reach their destination in Canada and to get a start on the land.

The economic and financial situation throughout Canada has likewise exceptional improvement in most general great development underway and in some cases unprecedented activity. Industrial expansion, trade improvement and capital investment.

Generally speaking the business outlook in Canada is encouraging. The Federal, Provincial and Municipal governments have been conducting their affairs on a sound financial basis. Government expenditures have been reduced to a minimum consistent with efficiency. Taxation has been reduced to a minimum consistent with efficiency. SIGNS BANNED FROM HIGHWAYS

At last the government has taken action against the defacing of the public roads of Alberta with unsightly billboards, and a bill is now going through the legislature giving the government power to license and regulate all such signboards. This is an amendment to the Public Highways Act. The bill provides that advertising signs shall not be placed within a quarter of a mile from the highway and permits are first required

Clandonald Meeting

A well-attended meeting of the rural dents of Clandonald and its neighborhood was held during the afternoon of Wednesday, 9th inst. Mr. J. G. Strickland, the chairman, said in part that they were met together for the purpose of protesting against the re moval of the power, as it was felt that to change the name from that of "Wetaskiwin" to any other, was unbusinesslike, and meant a waste of time and had been the earliest settlers in the place, and who had helped to make it a pleasant place of residence.

When it was realized, after long years of waiting, that the country would be soon opened up, most of us welcomed the idea with much pleasure, but when it was learnt that although the new branch was not selling would be in the centre of the Wetaskiwin town ship) that there was a possibility of its being named "Clandonald", they had their misgivings, and communicated the Railway Company that the old name should be retained, and to our satisfaction a reply was received through the Company's engineers in July last, that our request would be complied to.

It was thought that the matter was then settled for good, and that surely the Railway company would respect their pledged word, but, it was learnt through the postmaster of Wetaskiwin, in November last, that a new station and siding would be called "Clandonald" as the name "Wetaskiwin" was not acceptable to the Railway company!

It was hard, then, to understand why a change had been made in view of the pledged word given by the officials of the company, in which it was stated that "as the siding in question will be located in the Wetaskiwin Colonization district" it was their desire to call it "Wetaskiwin". This it will be seen that the vice-president had been a right exception of what was the logical and rightful name for the siding and township.

In November last a letter was received from the Vice President's office, to the effect that, owing to further representations having been made we did not feel it necessary to change the name "Wetaskiwin" allotted to this point and use the name "Clandonald" and in another letter, received from H. E. Spencer, M.P., it is stated that "in a letter I received from the Postmaster-General in reply to an enquiry as to who had requested the change of name to be made, he replied that application for this change was made to the Department by the Rt. Airmen Ready for Task

France May Bring Ashes of Napoleon's Son to Paris

The French imagination has been fired by the proposal to bring the ashes of the little "King of Rome"—Napoleon's son—from Vienna to Paris, to rest beside the tomb of Napoleon under the great dome of the Invalides.

If a decision is reached in answer to the national demand aroused by the proposal of General Mariaux commandant of the Le Bourget, two of France's greatest airmen are ready to bring the remains to Paris.

Gilbert Hutchen's organization, the old time Brays, known as "Whites Tigers," half the time, and Sait Lecocte Lefebvre Dudonnet and Nail Lecocte Dorme of unquestionable air exploits, are ready.

Saskatchewan Man Used Dodd's Kidney Pills With Great Success

Mr. N. Zilan Was Relieved of His Trouble After Taking Short Course of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lavergne, Sask. (Special) Kidney trouble and what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me." writes N. N. Zilan, a resident of this place. I had terrible headaches and I could not sleep. I tried many kinds of Dodd's Kidney Pills I commenced to feel better. I cannot praise this kidney medicine enough and would not be without it in my home.

Persistent headaches and sleepless nights usually be attributed to kidney trouble and a shameful condition of the system such as irritability, the blues, dizziness, depression and many other symptoms are the outcome of this condition. It is therefore necessary that you take a few weeks treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills to restore vitality and generally put the system right.

Burglary Was Unusual

An unusual burglary took place in Haddock recently, when thieves broke into the surgery of H. Chopin, an Elford dentist. The rejected dentures were scattered all over the floor.

THE CHRISTIAN'S HOPE

Golden Text: In my father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you; for I go to prepare a place for you.—John 14:2.

Lesson: John 14:1-3; 2 Corinthians 5:1-8; 1 John 3:1, 2.

Devotional Reading: Revelation 21. 1-7.

Explanations and Comments

The Promise of Christ, John 14. 1-3. Let not your heart trouble believe in God, believe also in Me."

Jesus has Master himself who said it

To the sorrowful little band, facing an hour of darkness That they could not understand.

In my Father's house are many mansions," this Jesus comforted them, our world "mansion" meant originally merely a place of abode, and accordingly the margin of the Revised Version has the word "abiding place."

In speaking of his own death, Jesus said I go away." So also the apostle Paul said "The time of my departure is at hand." They were travellers, telling forth on a journey and a better country, the Christ, must have thought, not that we are going to die, but that we are going to set forth on a journey that ends at our Father's house.

"If it were not so, I would have told you" to the minds of all people there is a belief in a future life. This belief, Jesus's words tell us, is true, for otherwise he would have disturbed the minds of his followers

Mig't Have Been Worse

During a certain election campaign a candidate in a notoriously corrupt district was showered with over-ripe eggs, tomatoes and other missiles, which he received with good humor. Next day, however, he received a letter from the editor of the local paper, and evidently not in the best of humor. "Look here!" he cried. "What do you mean by printing such a shameful misstatement?" demanded the editor, without showing any signs of retraction. "What's the matter with it?" queried the perturbed politician. "Why, it's all lies and you know it!" "Well, then, what have you complaining about?" asked the editor with a smile. "How would you like it if we had told the truth about you?"

Something New in Russia

Have Just Discovered a New Range of Mountains

The Geological Society of Russia has announced that a new and mighty chain of mountains had been discovered in the Yakutsk expeditions headed by Professor Obrutchev, a geologist.

The mountains are located along the Indigirka River. The new range is described as more than 1,200 miles in length, 300 miles wide, with many of the peaks 11,000 feet high.

The range has been named for Nansen after Lenine, the late premier.

The Oil of the People.—Many oils have come and gone, but Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil continues to maintain its position and increase its sphere of usefulness each year. Its external qualities have brought it to the front, and kept it there, and it can truly be called the oil of the people. Thousands have benefited by it and would use no other preparation.

Soviets Have Sent Expedition to Siberia

Will Seek Meteorite Which Fell Twenty Years Ago

The Soviet Government have dispatched an expedition into Siberia, to conduct a search for a great, all most mythological meteorite, which is reported to have fallen almost 20 years ago.

Scientists, basing their estimates of the meteorite on the descriptions of natives, believe it must weigh at least 500,000 tons. By tradition, it fell in the Central Siberian forest June 30, 1907, when the native say, "a terrific convulsion and shattering and burning trees over an area of 200 miles.

Government seismographs in St berls support the long-old story to the extent that they recorded a violent shock on the day fixed by the natives.

Scientists believe that if the meteorite can be found it will yield rich alike nickel, iron, silver and platinum The inaccessibility of the region and the sparseness of the population, however, will make it exceedingly difficult to trace.

Canadian Farmer Tells His Experience

"Lez" Booth, widely known Ontario farmer, and a sick man for 20 years, suffered daily, only half alive. Now strong, robust, vigorous, credits new found health to Tanlac

"Though popularly known as "Lez," Mr. Booth's correct first name is George. His home is at 271 Perth St., Brockville. For the past three years he has enjoyed vigorous health, but what he endured before then is best told in his own words. "For many years my arms, shoulders, back and hips, ached with rheumatism, and Mr. Booth. "Often I had to quit work entirely and I remember one spell that kept me in bed for five months.

"My case got to be so chronic that the doctor ran the farm. I was practically helpless. Even my wrists and hands would swell up so that I couldn't write my name. I dreaded bedtime, for I got no rest, but lay there in agony, waiting for morning. Nervous spells would seize me and I would tremble all over like a leaf. I couldn't get any benefit from my food and had to force myself to eat. My weight was far below normal.

"Three years ago I decided to give Tanlac a good trial, for nothing else had helped me. I could scarcely believe such results were possible as those Tanlac soon showed The aching stopped, my appetite came back and I could eat anything. My nights became more restful, too, and I slept soundly. I gained 16 pounds while I still took it, and I now work hard outdoors from 10 hours a day. I never have an ache. It's the best I've ever had If folks want to know what it's done for me, tell them to write to Lez Booth, or to come and see me. I'll tell 'em."

If your health is broken from overwork or neglect, profit from Mr. Booth's experience Try Tanlac, namely a new body builder, made from roots, herbs and barks. Your druggist has it. Over 32 million bottles sold.

"Then you shall be disillusioned," she returned gaily. "It was entirely for you. Someday there's got to be a battle between us, between you and me, Roddy. Let's have it now."

He was on his feet in an instant and standing over her. She stopped with her eyes, and laid her head back down to her. She did not stir, nor put up a hand, it was just the indescribable something in her eyes.

"No, not yet now," she said, her lips shaping into the utmost of their provocativeness. "You mustn't be too liberal. But tonight, perhaps, or tomorrow night or when the moment arrives. But go now as you said. I want to know how I'm to deal with you first."

"Damn you! Are you playing with me?"

No, Roddy. I've never played with since my memory came. Somedays I want to play. Now you have had a battle, perhaps. What shall we do first." Let's go through the mill to some place. Will you up La Turbie"

He laughed. "I shan't ask you to be kind to the hour," he declared "I'll need some this alone to try and figure you out. What's happened? Something has, I am certain."

Brilliant Throngs Present At Closing Exercises Of School Of Agriculture

Largest Class In History Of College Given Diplomas - Clever Students Win High Honors

Masterly Address By Dean Howes First Principal Of School

The closing exercises of the Vermilion school of Agriculture, held in the large assembly hall of the school Wednesday evening, marked a brilliant throng of people, far outnumbering any such previous occasion. From all over the country served by this school, friends and parents of many of the students gathered and were greatly impressed with what they saw and heard. To many it was a revelation that in so comparatively a small institution as this one is supposed to be there should be accomplished so much work of a most practical nature in the line of the girl among the farm activities of agriculture. During the afternoon the visitors, and of the school here, numbers from a town, were shown under the guidance of members of the staff, over the school premises and buildings. In the afternoon building the students showed themselves experts in judging cattle and fitting them for the market. They demonstrated the good and bad points and displayed a thorough knowledge of this part of farm industry. The carpentry exhibit showed what the students had learned to do along this line. There were desks, stands, tables and other products all worked out with much skill and dexterity. The blacksmithing exhibit was also favorably commented upon. The products had learned how to fix machinery, make chains, hooks, bolts, and what not. The idea here is to make the farmer independent of outside help in so far as these two branches of work are concerned and thus reduce his capital charges

The lady visitors were perhaps more interested in the exhibitions of cooking, sewing, laundry and household science generally and which were in the hold in the assembly hall and rooms and kitchen of the main school building. Miss M. Bell was in charge of the laundry exhibit. It was probably that the girl student was trained into how attendance which is termed a drudgery is made easy and pleasant task. The [illegible] exhibit was under the direction of Miss E. Edwards. Here [illegible] shown innumerable "rare and [illegible]" as well as the "[illegible] meal," all going to show that this [illegible] portance is regarded as one [illegible] important of the school [illegible] parade" was in the [illegible] hall and here was a real spelling

The programme was opened with an Invocation by Rev. H. M. Kerr and interspersed with solos by Miss Lorne McLean and Mr. A. M. West. Mayor Fallen in a few well chosen words introduced the speaker of the evening, Dean Howes, who in his address outlined the work of the year, highly complimenting the students upon their success and hoping they would carry with them to their homes a message of good-will towards all. He felt that the results of the year had more than justified them. To the large number of visitors there that afternoon and the staff very highly felt proud at the record for the term. He was pleased to state that the enrolment this year was the highest during the history of the school, there being 120 registered. This was the first closing exercises since 1923. Something to Brag About

"Yes, my wife's children and mine are all healthy and strong," remarked a prominent citizen recently. "I am a member of the House of Commons, with regular sessions, and my wife's family physician lives in Ottawa, where we have our home. Whenever one of the children has a cold or cough we give them Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed, Turpentine and Honey. It relieves the cough at once and soothes the throat and lungs. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed, Turpentine and Honey is a family doctor in itself."

British vs. Foreign Born

The subject of immigration in relation to Canada is of as intense interest at the present moment as perhaps at any time in the history of the Dominion. In no other country in the world is the question of immigration of such vital importance to the future welfare and prosperity of the nation. Canada is the only country in the British Empire which is receiving any large number of immigrants, and the only country in the world which is receiving immigrants from the British Isles in any large numbers. "Odd Grog" was a bit-name of Admiral Jack Vernon, of the Black Kary, who lived from 1684 to 1757. It used to wear trousers made of grogram, a coarse table of wood and silk no longer manufactured. He removed the anger of his sailors by ordering that they should mix water with their daily ration of spirits. Hence the name "grog" came to be applied to rum and water served out to sailors.

VAST SUMS SPENT ON ADVERTISING

Nothing tends more to indicate the great prosperity of the United States than the vast sums spent annually for advertising. The remarkable development of American industry is due to a large measure to good advertising, and it is advertising that has helped to make the United States prosperous.

According to figures compiled by a number of leading experts, more than $750,000,000 is spent yearly in that country for newspaper advertising, about $225,000,000 for magazine and trade journal advertising, and, nearly $500,000,000 for direct mail advertising of all varieties.

These are vast sums, indeed, and the figures go to show the faith American business interests have in "printed salesmanship." Of course, these figures may vary to some extent from year to year, but the use of all kinds of advertising is increasing so rapidly that the figures are bound to grow even larger as time goes on.

In addition to the three principal classes of advertising mentioned, many other forms of advertising are being used, including window displays, imprinted wood novelties, billboards, and a great variety of paper containers.

Figures telling the grand total of money spent annually in the United States for all kinds of advertising are not available, but it is very interesting to note that most of this money is invested in printed matter.

BEGINNING THE VEGETABLE GARDEN

In beginning a vegetable garden one should insure it against its natural enemies, chief of which are cows, pigs, chickens and wind, by the erection, at the start, of a wire fence tight enough to keep out chickens and pigs, and high and strong enough to keep out stock. Nothing short of a hedge, however, can counteract the effects of Mlilli Caranas hedges planted in 1912 around the garden at the Dominion Experimental Station at Rosthern Sask., were of such size by 1916 that the garden enclosed by them had not been followed since and has borne a good crop of vegetables every year. A distance between the hedges running both and south of one hundred feet and between those running east and west of two hundred feet is quite effective against wind and drouth.

Hearty manuring every year keeps up the condition of the soil such in its water retaining capacity and fertility.

A list of vegetables that have done well can be found in the Experimental Farm annual reports Seeds may be obtained at any of the several reliable seed houses in the west.

A hot bed is necessary for starting the earliest of garden plants. Directions for making a hot bed will be given in a later issue of this paper.

Division 2 was given authority to buy one government grader at $50.00.

As early as possible, beans, corn, cucumbers pumpkins and squash do better when sown in the open into a May. These later seeds please do not stand transplanting well and if sown early in the open are likely to succumb to frost.

Wassail was the name of a favorite strong beverage of the Anglo-Saxons, who took possession of England, and laid the foundation of the British nation. The Anglo-Saxons made wassail from ale, roasted apples, toast, sugar and spices. This beverage occupied a large place at all the feasts of the Anglo-Saxons.

Vermilion Versatiles

Now just a wee glimpse into the doings of the Company on Monday night and see what is in store for us. Hervee Duckwood and his bevy of glorious girls have a real musical number for you, and you will carry away the melodies with you. Glad for days afterwards you will find yourself humming the airs. Gee, they are catchy! Yolandi Bros. bring some real magic arts into play, and for those who like the mystic, here's a treat—Conjuring as you have never beheld it before.

Eugene Bates has a couple of real snappy dances for you, and do not fail to see him on the Mah.

Cliff Dane in his Operatic pot pourri will please old and young alike, and in this he carries a surprise.

Hudson-Haldane & Co. in 'Memories' I maintain will be a real musical treat. They carry lots of us back to old ma days, dear old days. Songs specially arranged by Mr. Elford, and he has spared no efforts to make it a success and the company who support it are artists of no mean repute. Again we say, don't forget March 25th for real entertainment, Dominion night.

The Columbia Players present for your approval the one-act play "Who Was Sap the Bee," it's a quaint comedy, ing the possession of a necklace and involving a pair of theatre tickets. Two lovers and a burglar. Come and see if you can decide as to "who wins the bee."

Who does not like to see mlow people's "Domestic Dadderinga?" Well, come and see Pettigrew Wolligansway and his Mah Jongg Symphonists. Whatsoever, make you laugh, make you scream. Come one, come all, come in your thousands. Four Days Only.

Netty Retford and the Octavus Sisters have something unique for you this week. Each in their number specta tacular, but tuneful, and Mr. Lee has arranged special lighting effects. Beautiful they will charm you and you will be all for 'em. "Pretty Ballet."

Last, but by no means least comes the world famous Band, "The Orsinis" and here's where I must close the ad. well before I give anything away. They are good, you'll enjoy their number. Be sure and hear them.

This return visit of the Versatiles will easily eclipse the former stir. Special lighting, costuming and scenery for each number has been given careful attention.

Now, one more before I close: Play safe, reserve your seats early, the price is reasonable. No long waits to get anything, everything done, everything on time. So support them, you Vermilion folks, and you will be amply repaid. The funds are for your Public arch Fund, who have never yet asked for a donation.

Yours ups,
JOHNNY KILDARKIAN.

RURAL CREDITS BILL NOW GIVEN THIRD READING

Ottawa.—Third reading was given by the House of Commons to the bill to establish a federal system of rural credits. The bill is the same as that which passed the House last year but failed to become law.

The Bill provides for the constitution of a Canadian farm loan board which will loane farm loan bonds to make long term loans to farmers The Dominion Government is to provide initial capital for the board to an amount not exceeding five millions and subscribe five per cent. of the capital stock as loans are made. The Government of each province in which loans are made is required to subscribe to the capital stock of the board an amount equal to five per cent. of the loans. The borrower is required to subscribe five per cent. of his loan, payable at the time the loan is made. Bonds issued by the board are held by the Minister of Finance to the extent of 15 million dollars.

During discussion, Henri Bourassa (Independent, Labelle), moved an amendment, that, subject to the approval of any provincial board, loans may be made through "recognized colonization societies" as well as through co-operative societies or to farmers directly. The amendment said Mr. Bourassa, would place colonization societies on an equal footing with co-operative societies in the bill; and would include Societe Nationale de Colonisation, Montreal operating under a provincial charter

The amendment was seconded by Mr Robb and lost.

Asks Five Millions To Leave Shanghai

Defender of City Willing to Come to Terms With Nationalists

London. — With the Nationalist forces in China keeping up their intensive struggle to surround and isolate the important Shanking position from Shanghai, comes a report from Shanghai that General Chang Tsung-Chang, the Shantungese defender of that city, has offered for a large money consideration to evacuate the town he holds and then save the people from becoming a scene of actual hostilities.

Chang desires about $5,000,000 for retiring into the province of Kiangsu, says a despatch to the Westminster Gazette. If the amount is not forthcoming, it is asserted he intends, if necessary, to retreat upon Shanghai itself, thus bringing the prize city of the Orient into the struggle for mastery between the northerners and southerners. According to the correspondent Chinese merchants in Shanghai are said to be unable or unwilling to raise the huge sum demanded

Infantryman and Rifle Are Most Important

Nothing Has Been Invented to Replace Them in Warfare

Ottawa —Among all the instruments of warfare which have been invented during and since the last war there is nothing to take the place of the infantryman and his rifle, was the keynote of the report of the council presented at the annual meeting of the Canadian Legion of Ex-Service Men here. A feature of the council's report was the recommendation of the executive "that careful consideration be given the suggestion that the claims of the team representing Canada at Bisley be conformed from year to year and if shooting members to two off cers and 15 shooting members. The executive was influenced in view of the increased cost of ocean transportation

"Here We Are Again" Scores Big Success

The return visit of the well-known and popular Vermilion Vermilion in "Here We Are Again," attracted a capacity audience at the Columbia Theatre Monday evening of this week, and it is no flattery to say that the effort excelled any of their previous engagements As amateur performers it would be difficult to criticism them. The costumes, stage effects and scenery were original and contributed much toward the success of the performance. The production was under the direction of Mr. William B. Elford which in itself guaranteed it would be an enjoyable affair. In the hall on the occasion a well-balanced troupe of clever artists with him that left nothing to be desired on the part of the audience. The entire bill was run off without a "hitch" and the 000 people present were kept in a state of laugh ter from the first item on the program to the last.

The opening number presented the band as perhaps it was a few years ago when it endeavored to dispense music to the gullesom people of Vermillion—harmonizing in nothing. The take-off was good. Mr. A. M. West was heard in perhaps his best effort as Horace Dashwood and his Lun denish Fellow. Always good, but this number was even better. Assits with Mrs. McLean in the musical number "Memories." Mr. West scored a success, and too much tribute cannot be paid to Mr. West's splendid expression in his solo selection. In the one-act play "Who Wins the Bet" Mr. G Y McLean displayed fine theatrical ability and while Miss Allison Elford, who held the other leading role, carried a way laurels of great success as an amateur artist. They were ably assisted by Ken McLean Mrs. L. McLean, both in "Memories" and as Nesty Reef, and the lavatic soubrette, captivated the audience not only with her charm of manner but with her splendid range. In the latter Mrs. McLean was particularly good, the number being one of the best on programme

Comment on the comedy side of the fist is hardly necessary in view of the fact that the leading interpreters were Mr. Elford, G Y. McLean and Tom Taylor, all of whom have been seen in character sketches in previous productions of the Vermilion, only the ability displayed Handsome new plate glass windows and doors have been put in the front and new show cases added. A beautiful 12ft. bevel with 12ft plate mirror is installed in the store and also an 8ft plate mirror on the east side of the store proper Particularly noticeable are the new furnishings of the Ice Cream Parlor with its eight booths of mahogany woodwork, each containing a white porcelain top table, four chairs and two fixed wall mirrors. The walls and ceiling have been redecorated, all the woodwork being done in mahogany and the whole resulting in a most pleasing effect Cork linoleum covers the floor Both the store and parlor have been newly fitted throughout with attractive electric light fixtures Mr. Werner has purchased new areas ceiling for the soda fountain, comprising silverware and dish ware, and in the near future intends installing a modern electric refrigerator Altogether the premises present a bright and up-to-date appearance with every convenience and patrons are reminded that the Columbia Theatre may be found at all time to Werner's Confectionery.

These improvements were carried out at considerable expense, the total cost being about $1500 00. A similar sum was spent on the Vegreville premises of the firm The work here was done by Mr Wilson, late of Vancouver, and the decorating by Ted Rae, of Vermilion

Chinese Characters by Telegraph

Adopt New System That Makes Possible Transmission of News in Chinese Language

The Chinese government has adopted the Bella system of telegraphy. This makes possible the transmission of Chinese characters by telegraph for the first time, according to the Toronto Star, who has just received in Paris after a trip financed by Gen Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian warlord.

"Because an alphabet does not exist in Chinese, there being some 50,000 characters instead, heretofore it has been impossible to transmit a message written in Chinese without translation," says the Star. "This necessitating great labor and costly service." M Bella said

"Gen. Chang has set his technical services to work installing the telegraphic system by which the actual photograph of the message is transmitted, as in France, where the system was installed a year ago."

London Writer Says Custer's Destiny Being Fought Out in China

Trouble with extreme cleverness has declared that if the theory of world-revolution is abandoned, Communism cannot maintain itself even in Russia. The idea that the British Empire can be fatally injured by China is the very last hope for the theory of world-revolution already smashed in Russia, France, Germany, Italy, Japan and elsewhere, not to mention the United States. The destiny of Russia itself is being fought out in China.—J. L. Garvin in London Observer.

Good Health is First Essential

Tremendous Economic Loss to Canada Through Preventable Diseases

Canada pays heavily for her unnecessary disease. The annual bill which Canadians foot for preventable illness has now become a tremendous burden.

These facts were brought home to a representative group of prominent Canadians at the conference of the advisory board of the Canadian Federal Hygiene Council, held in the House of Commons.

Dr. Fieldings, the Governor General, who is a strong believer in health and health work, was one of the outstanding speakers. Hon. Dr. Kilp, Minister of Health, with whose department the conference was called, was another who had a prominent place in the proceedings.

Will Work Together Over Rising Problems

U.S. and Canada Have Many in Common and Can Reduce Expense by Co-operation

Vancouver Province: An agreement has been reached between the department of health and the Canada, the Dominion research council and the United States bureau of mines for close co-operation in the investigation of problems affecting the mineral industry of the two countries. This agreement should prove one of the very highest value. So far as the recovery of minerals is concerned, and their utilization, Canada and the United States have many problems which are identical, and others that are very similar. It would be a mere waste of effort and money on the part of the two governments to set up separate and independent establishments to investigate the same questions, when co-operation might easily bring about results at similar cost.

Even between countries so widely separated as Great Britain and the United States, co-operation in seeking solutions to mining problems has proven of value. For some years, the latest chapter was published, men in England, and there have been one or two British representatives in the United States, while the co-ordinate the work of the two countries. Dr. Dorsey Lyon, chief metallurgist of the United States bureau has stated that the United States has reaped very great benefit from the work done in the research laboratories of the British representatives, and has expressed the belief that British benefited also from the work done there by the American scientists.

Between Canada and the United States co-operation has been in official co-operation and exchange of remit in the past. Now the co-operation is to be made articles on a matter of policy. It is not thought an exchange of investigators will be necessary, but that the two countries are so close together that they can easily keep in touch with one as other.

Bishop Sherman Has He-Man Job in West

To familiarize himself with a district of 100,000 square miles, an area nearly double the size of England, is the work ahead of Rt. L. Ralph Sherman, Anglican Bishop-elect of Calgary, who will have among his parishioners the Prince of Wales through the fact that His Royal Highness operates a ranch at High River. Dr. Sherman came prior to his elevation was Dean of Quebec and before that was rector of a parish in Saint John, New Brunswick. He will thus become widely familiar with conditions both in the East and West of Canada. He succeeds in the new diocese by Canadian Pacific Railway and will be increasingly using this company in his wide travels throughout his huge diocese.

Attaining Supremacy In the Mediterranean

By End of Year British Fleet Will Equal Combined Strength of France and Italy

By the end of this year British naval strength in the Mediterranean will be great enough to match the combined navies of France and Italy. At the same time the British Mediterranean Atlantic will be as great as the entire French fleet, while Great Britain will control Gibraltar and thus be co-ordinate forces between the two waters on a one-week basis of time for the fastest ships to steam from the Atlantic base at Portsmouth to the Mediterranean base at Malta. These facts emerge from a review of the lines of First Sea Lord Beatty's memorandum to accompany naval estimates laid before Parliament.

They reveal that for the first time since the German navy began to be a menace to British sea supremacy Great Britain has reverted to her historic naval strategy of basing the greatest power in the Mediterranean.

The Malta fleet will include ten Royal Sovereign and Queen Elizabeth class ships, all mounting 15-inch guns. This fleet will not be fully constituted, however, until the new 48,000-ton battleships Nelson and Rodney are completed in the most powerful warships afloat, join the Atlantic fleet which they will complete the battleship four of the Iron Duke class and three battle cruisers.

The Atlantic squadron will be strengthened this year when five cruisers more than ten years old will be relieved by five "treaty cruisers" of the Kent class, each of 10,000 tons, mounting eight eight-inch guns, and of 31 knots speed. Two more could be reinforced by three modern cruisers stationed at the East Indies, and will be two more battleships of the Kent-type cruisers being built in Australia are ready next February.

Tourist Land Idea!

Possibly the greatest appeal of the Canadian National Parks lies in the fact that notwithstanding the many conveniences introduced for the comfort of tourists, supplied by hundreds of unique virgin areas, none of the beauty of the unknown has been lost. Everywhere, deer, bear, moose, elk and other wild birds and animals, creep down to the towns in the parks and border on the roads and trails. The beautiful lakes teem with fish, and the upland gardens are masses of wild flowers. Here, surely, is the tonic land ideal, where the mental and physical man may be refreshed and invigorated.

An Amazing Treatment

The Tsar's mashine in use at the Christian hospital at Pyeryang, Korea, has disclosed some of the amazing treatments once practiced by Korean doctors of the old school. One man recently examined had 42 copper needles imbedded in his abdomen. They had been thrust in, two or three at a time, over a period of four years, as a treatment for indigestion.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PETER BECOMES A DISCIPLE OF JESUS

Golden Text: Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men.—Mark 1:17.

Lesson: Mark 1:14-18, 29-31.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 55:1-5.

Explanations and Comments

I. Peter Becomes a Disciple of Jesus, verses 14-18.—After John the Baptist was imprisoned and his work as a herald was over (see Matthew 4: 3-5; Luke 3: 19 20), Jesus went from Judaea to Galilee and there began to herald the good news (the gospel) of God, and announced that the time had been fulfilled, the world was ready for a new order of things, and the Kingdom of God was at hand. More than a hundred times Jesus used the phrase "the Kingdom of God" or its equivalent; what did He mean by it? It is a phrase which in different passages seems to have different meanings, being now personal and now figurative, but its usual meaning is as we have it in the Lord's Prayer, "Thy name be hallowed, Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done, as in heaven so on earth." Jesus came preaching that this Kingdom was at hand. Most of His teaching was conversational, but he preached four great sermons, one of which concerned the coming of the Kingdom. In the first, he announced that it was His mission to initiate this Kingdom. In the second he described the citizenship of the Kingdom as which familiar with conditions both in the East and West of Canada. He will thus become widely familiar with conditions both in the East and West of Canada. He succeeds in the new diocese by Canadian Pacific Railway and will be increasingly using this company in his wide travels throughout his huge diocese by the American scientists.

Between Canada and the United States co-operation has been in official co-operation and exchange of remit in the past. Now the co-operation is to be made articles on a matter of policy. It is not thought an exchange of investigators will be necessary, but that the two countries are so close together that they can easily keep in touch with one as other.

Ancient Laws And Modern Theories

Organized labor in the United States is now frankly out with a new objective, namely, the five-day week. The Good Book tells that "Six days shalt thou labor," but an ingenious exponent of the Bible answers:

"Those who approve the five-day working week will probably say that the important command is "thou shalt labor and do all thy work," and that the six days' work is the measure of time required in periods when there were no labor-saving inventions or quick transportation. Undoubtedly a man can do more work in five days now than he could accomplish in six days when he travelled by ox-cart, rode a horse, or walked on footpaths, and when there were no labor-saving devices."

This is very plausible, but one wonders where it will all end. The food of the world obviously can not be produced from forty-hour weeks labor; transportation cannot be conducted on a forty-four-hour week basis, either; and most of the work can steel be produced for construction, home-building, and city-building on the five-day basis. The farm is a seven-day-week proposition and must always remain so. Here is the crux of the matter. In fact, that spectacular rural depopulation, as a lateral reaction to so attractive an urban scheme of life, developed in a period of wholesale starvation, leading to the high agricultural prices level. Standards of living cannot rest with one-half of the people working forty hours, and the other half working seventy-two hours per week without one class pacing the other single compensation. Contrary to popular suggestion, farmers and farmers' sons are not synonimous terms. Natural laws will fit hours and cooperation to meet them.

But Canada, being still in a comparatively undeveloped state, must for many years to come look for agricultural rural population and must, therefore, see to it that the countryside does not offer a relatively too unfavorable comparison between the rural and the urban working programs. If it is only of a temporary nature An overwhelming by agricultural country, such as Canada is, must with hope for increase the social burden of its agriculture in order to further improve the living conditions of its urban workers.

It will establish a system of information by means of which the plans for the development of unused agricultural lands. Several inspectors, acting under the Minister of Agriculture, will be appointed and will aid in placing new settlers in de sirable locations.

To the destruction of the city of London by fire in 1666 may be traced the present system of fire insurance. The first company was formed at that time.

A woman who had become reckless brought on by Brandon and boldly remarked him to take her onto the floor marry intend upon t ushed and his it curiously. They saw that whatever thoughts co-ordinated upon some had been at the wheel had left it to bend in the road, she studied Kenilworth's face with a new interest.

The pound for a subscription village of La Tuche—Joanna's home—the lights in the windows on a hill were pinpricks of red fire which, on up to over the cobble-stones. He observed a few small, widely separated houses, showing an occasional dimly discernible big domino as to at worth, was on his feet w.

"Where did you learn to drive?" he asked her suddenly, during one of the brief silences.

"I'd rather watch them!" he said, and Joanna laughed and leaned over the table in imitation to the unique to sit out the dances, and

Joanna stopped to the ground and stood close to the car Kenilworth, stood beside her while he was out of the overcoat, to collect his dashing white satin waist. It is a fiction as to how much Joanna objected to the dance must mark, so that all who go there may be assured of their anonymity.

If they suppose it.

Joanna produced from a pocket of her wrap her soft black mask, a strip of thin velvet that barely touched the lip of her nose, with two almond-shaped slits for her eyes. Thin silver cords, to be concealed and fastened in her hair, dangled from either top of the mask. She held up her face to Kenilworth in mute invitation for him to tie the taunting strip of velvet in its place before they should enter the house.

Her warm breath, escaping partly opened lips, fanned him gently. She rustled as at him, half dreamily as if the fair melodies of freedom that rang on from the dance floor had lulled her senses into a yielding tenderness.

Couples of the land of damp cold she allowed her wrap to fall back and bare the throat that seemed to bleed into the silver sheen of the smooth moonlight. Tain lights of another era—they recognized it as the one they had left down the road—swung into the road. The lustre of the lamps flared suddenly bright and, for an instant, enveloped them in their mist-like glow.

Kenilworth's fingers lingered at their task of fixing the silver cord. His fingers quivered when he drew the gold brown strands of hair still among them. Joanna moved closer to him, and rested her head lightly on his arm. When he let his fingers relax that the night breeze might blow her hair about them, he stared into her eyes and fancied that they had widened and that a circle of black lines from the shimmering iris in each of them.

Then he caught her in a fevered clasp. His cold and clumsy arm, he reached up and drew down his head until she could frame his face with her two hands. Then she let him rest his lips on hers.

When he let her go because he feared that some of the more nervous couples who had come out into the yard were stopping to glance at Joanna, Kenilworth noticed that she was pulling laugh that might be irritating as well as musical, and said to him while he fixed his mask:

"You see, Roddy, the mill's clear down. I'm in the open, and I'm fighting fair!"

When they had disappeared across the club house veranda and through the doors which had been opened to the ball room, Kenilworth observed that one of the two men who had sat silently in their seats in the other car, disregarded, had followed them remained at the wheel this one said:

"Hark around between the red car and the road. Don't get out of sight, and if there's a rush for the road at any time—"

He is gentle click and motor. Man of the one at the wheel grumbled, in the voice of Antonio. "In another hour I'll be ready to go home. I'm tired of this."

Twice the lamps outlined the car ahead with a suddenness that would have startled a driver of more nervous temperament, but Kenilworth was a born motorist, and Joanna resumed the conversation. Contrary to popular suggestion, farmers and farmers' sons are not synonimous terms. Natural laws will fit hours and cooperation to meet them.

BOY SCOUTS IN ACTION

An enthusiastic crowd, in which the elder as well as the younger generation was well represented, filled the Community Hall on Friday last, and witnessed the splendid display of group games and boxing put up by the Vermilion Boy Scouts.

The proceedings opened with a well illustrated lantern lecture on Scouting by Mr. William Solway of Edmonton, who was introduced to the audience by Mayor Falkner. Mr. Solway, who is the field Secretary of the Boy Scout movement for the Province of Alberta had a most interesting story to tell of the wonderful achievements of scouting, not only in the Old Country and Canada, but also in every part of the world. While at present only a small proportion of the boy population belong to this great movement, yet it is not too extravagant a hope that when the great Christian Scout ideals of Brotherhood and Service for others, leads to permeate the mass of the growing generation, war will become less and less likely between nations, where young men have been trained in this great movement. Mr. Solway concluded his lecture with a very warm and appeal to the people of Vermilion to keep Scout work going amongst the splendid group of boys whose keen keen and genuine interest are worthy of the very best support. Owing to the absence of Rev. F. J. Roberts and the departure this week of Captain Gibson, the boys find themselves deprived of a leader just at a time when they need guidance and leadership most.

Group Gaming Display

After a pianoforte duet by the brothers Maxwood and Gilbert Brimacombe, which was warmly applauded, the boys to the number of 24 marched into the hall. The boys looked very smart and were well turned out in white suits.

The group games display was a revelation of what can be accomplished without the aid of complicated gymnastic appliances. The boys entered with evident zest into the games and provided the audience with thrills and much amusement too. The antics of two blindfolded antagonists, aptly named Mutt and Jeff, who endeavored to lay each other out with unlikely swipes from clubs made of newspapers, caused roars of laughter. The games concluded with an exciting series of boat races between "Oxford" and "Cambridge" in which the dark blues proved easy winners

Stubborn Boxers

If the boys did well in the games their improved themselves in the boxing competition which followed. The weights ran from "mosquito" at 70 lbs. to "heavy" at 140 lbs. and the contestants, one and all, based in a very fine sporting spirit which was much appreciated by all present. The results were:

Mosquito weight, 70 lbs. — Geoff Brimacombe and Allan Wiebe fought a most evidently contested draw. These soldiers kept up a furious pace and showed evident traces of the fierceness of the combat

Fly weight 75 lbs. —Albert Duncan and Ken Welsh also could not be parted by the judges and a draw was the verdict This bout was a real hard-rate affair and though at the end of the first round Duncan had a marked on his lip, yet he pluckily insisted on continuing and gave a good account of himself in the final round. In consideration of his conspicuous display at the Scout exhibit, Mr. Solway announced that he would give young Duncan a special prize.

Bantam weight, 80 lbs —Fred Britnell and Bert John Simpson. This was about the best exhibition of rapid foot work and fast hitting during the evening and both boys showed clever and fine cuts both by a narrow margin

[illegible] weight, 85 lbs. — Orlando Wiebe beat Frank Craig. These two are old opponents and though Craig was the heavier and longer in reach, Wiebe's defence and scored points with well-directed blows.

Light weight, 95 lbs. —Jack Eagle, and Gilbert Brimacombe drew a well contested bout Ken Cowson proved an easy winner over Jack Pickard who is only a novice as yet.

Welter weight, 105 lbs. — Stanley Waldschmeier beat John Zapotichuk after two fast rounds Stan has a heavy punch but his opponent was not to be outdone [illegible] Middle weight, 115 lbs. — Jack Eagle and Albert Duncan fought a most athletic bout in which both showed to much advantage. TRAGIC SLAYING OF FOREIGNERS AT NANKING

London.—The British capital was shocked by news of the slaying of foreigners at Nanking, recalling the tragic days of the Boxer uprising.

Only the briefest accounts have been received, and no definite information had been received as to the number of the foreigners killed or wounded. Government spokesmen declare the guilty Chinese will be held responsible for the attack. Premier Baldwin said the British were constantly in contact with the central Cantonese Government at Hankow.

The rapidly developing events will largely be left in the hands of the British representatives on the spot and any action they deem necessary to protect life will be backed to the hilt.

Secretary of War Winston Churchill Evans told the House of Commons that another battalion of British troops was en route to Hong Kong from Hong Kong but that no further changes in the defence force there was planned at present. Additional British destroyers were rushed to Nanking from Shanghai.

Because of the great distance involved, officials say it would be useless to consider reinforcements from Great Britain to meet the crisis.

The Government is being congratulated in China as well as here for its foresight in sending a defence force to the Far East. Otherwise, it is said, there would have been no one placed at the mercy of the victorious Cantonese, particularly their guerilla sympathizers.

No statement concerning the Nanking slayings was made in the Commons by Premier Baldwin or Chamberlain, who simply presented the demands of the British consuls general and the naval commanders to control the irregulars.

Washington.—The Chinese situation forced the United States to act with greatest possibilities in the rear of British and United States naval guns at Nanking.

An unknown number of British and American lives have been taken by a mob of undisciplined Nationalist soldiers, guns of warships and rifles blasted the way to safety for the survivors.

Secretary of War Wilbur declared after conference with Secretary of State Hughes that General Wilson, the United States naval commander in China, had unlimited authority to employ his forces in any degree necessary to protect American lives.

"He has the full support of the Government," the naval secretary said.

Ontario Government Cannot Undertake to Maintain Three Says Premier

Toronto.—This will be probably the last year in which the government of Ontario will advance large grants to Queen's University, Kingston, and the Western University, London, declared by Premier Howard Ferguson, speaking in the Ontario legislature as minister of education.

The province does not expect the province could further undertake to maintain three universities, and that home must look for sources for increased assistance.

Paris Approves Idea Of Canadian Minister

But Diplomatically Appointment Is Not Considered Worth While

Paris.—The idea of a Canadian minister to France is receiving the favorable consideration of the French-Canadian trade interests, but as yet nothing is known here officially concerning the project.

It is pointed out that so far as trade between the two countries is concerned the appointment might be opportune, but that diplomatically it hardly seems worth while.

It is believed here that Ottawa is watching the effect of Hon. Vincent Massey's appointment as Canadian ambassador to Washington and also the cost thereof, and that at the present there is little likelihood of the new policy being extended to other countries.

Many Japs Entered Canada Last Year

Majority Were Women and Children Says Minister of Immigration

Ottawa.—Four hundred and forty-three Japanese and fifty-eight Chinese entered Canada during the year 1926, according to Hon. Neill, Independent, Comox Alberni, Forke stated, of the Chinese 22 had already passed out of Canada and that no Chinese immigrants were known to have become admitted.

With regard to entrance of Japanese, Mr Forke stated that they were chiefly children, 119 males, 214 females, and 108 children under 12. There were 148 farmers and farm laborers in the number and 124 grocers or unskilled labor.

To Represent Consumers

Counsel to Look After Interests of Consumers Before Tariff Advisory Board

Ottawa.—A meeting of members of the House of Commons took the first step to provide that counsel representing consumers be permanently before the tariff advisory board when applications for increased customs tariff are heard.

During the past year counsel nominally representing Co-op Speers (Liberal, Maple Creek), appeared on behalf of the consumers, the expenses being defrayed by Mr. Speers, as stated by certain other members However, the meeting was for the purpose of having a committee of members of the House look after it in the future. An executive was appointed but no statement was issued until the question could be more thoroughly canvassed, when another meeting will be called. There was a fairly large attendance of members but only from the West but from Ontario.

Geo. W. Field, prominent farmer of the district, who spent the past year at Clifford, Ontario, his old home, returned Vermilion on Saturday and went out to the farm Monday. He reports the weather fine in the East with the snow all gone, though the land is wet. Last harvest down there was one of the wettest ever experienced, much of the crop suffering from rust, though the stand of straw was good. Corn was imported for feed at pretty stiff prices. In regard to prices for farm products Mr. Field remarks the western farmer is doing nearly as well as those in the east, hogs, for instance, were fetching but $ to a hundred more, then paid here and cost of fattening was really higher. On his way back George spent a couple of days at Saskatoon which had a most wintry appearance, both old and new snow being heaped up to some depth, all through Saskatchewan there was ret deuce of much snow.

BOY SCOUTS' SERVICE

Last Sunday afternoon a special service for the local troop of Vermilion Boy Scouts was held in the United Church attended by a large number of parents and local boys. Rev. M.M. Kerr had in the prayers and Mrs. M. G. Richmond presided at the organ The address was given by Capt. F. H. Gibson, who spoke on the Unseen Leader, basing his remarks on Joshua 1 and 6. He struck and at a good course. In the course of a very fine address which was followed with close attention by all boys present, Capt. Gibson instanced many examples of Christian heroes who, by their true and indomitable courage had inspired others to nobler living. Livingstone, Lord Shaftesbury and Eric Liddell were all followers of the Unseen Leader, and as they had been inspired by Christ, the great Captain, so the speaker counselled the boys to likewise catch the inspiration of Christ's leadership and dedicate their lives in the days of their youth to His service. An interesting and impressive part of the service was the renewal of the scout pledge to be true to God, King and Country

DEATH OF MRS. WILLIAM DWYER

We regret to record the death of Hilda Margaret, wife of Wm. Dwyer, who passed away on Thursday morning last, March 31st at her home in Pikkerilla. The late Mrs. Dwyer had been in the district for a number of years and was well known and much respected by a large circle of friends. Born in England, she came to this country with her parents some 40 odd years ago and was later married to Mr. Wm. Dwyer of Cumming, south of Vermilion. Besides her husband she leaves behind three young children, two boys, Billie and Jackie, and an infant girl

The funeral was held from the Anglican church on Sunday afternoon the Rev. A. R. Nash of Mannville conducting the services. A large number of friends were gathered together to show their sympathy and respect and the beautiful casket was surrounded by a large display of lovely flowers—silent tokens to the memory of a loved one gone before. A special service was held at the home before going to the church, attended only by the family and a few attendants

General sympathy is extended to the bereaved family by the whole community in the sad and irreparable loss they have sustained and to Mr. Dwyer the deceased's babies who was visiting a daughter in the States and arrived too late to see his daughter alive, Mrs. Dwyer had always been a very active worker in the church, and while she was an earnest and devoted member and her early death is keenly felt by her comrades.

The pallbearers were J. A. M. Craig, Major Watson, H. Scott, J. Williamson, T. L. Wilkins and R. H. Bingham

Floral offerings were received from the following: Daddy and the Boys, Dada, Mamma and Family, Mr. and Mrs. John A. M. Craig, Rose and Vic, Mr. W. J. Mackie and Family, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. H. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lowther, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fidler and Mrs. Knoll, Mr. and Mrs. D. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Wener and Mrs. J. Duncan, St. Saviour's W. Will Attempt Flight Over Mount Everest

Airman Holding French Height Record Will Use Special

Jean Callizo, the French airman who holds the French height record of 11,811 feet, made in France in August, has sailed for India with a special aeroplane to attempt to "top" Mount Everest.

M. Callizo has obtained the permission of the British Indian authorities to fly over Nepal, in British territory and the acceptance of one of the British air missions has been arranged. He will leave for India not with him by sea and fly from Bombay to Simla, from where he will begin the attempt to fly to the highest point in the world. To avoid the biggest mountain, which towers 29,002 feet over the Indian plain.

M. Callizo will travel with him a photographer and will make a special effort to obtain photographs of the unexplored region. The expedition, which will serve as a guide for any future attempt like the Bruce expedition, will be away about one month.

Foreign Settlers

(By C. W. Peterson)

The great plant wizard, Luther Burbank, known in every civilization the world over, shortly before he died, wrote the following inspiring and beautiful words bearing on the "melting pot" issue in the United States:

"There is no more interesting example of the power resident in nature's process in plant life and in human life than is to be found in our own America. In this great garden there has cross pollinized races and tribes and the people of every nation. The result has been a wholesale production of hybrid seedlings presenting every conceivable phase of variation. Some of these crosses have turned out badly, and society has selected the worst of them and discarded them, others that are none the worse are still growing like weeds; but from the whole bed have sprung such new and virile and useful individual plants as Henry Ford, Theodore Roosevelt, Jacob Riis, Joseph Pulitzer and hundreds more. In fact, there are very few Americans whose recent ancestors have not brought to their shores some blood of a species other than English. We are crosses within the last few generations from every nation under the sun, and our varieties have produced wide differences in capacity and ability, and a very large amount of original and original thinkers."

His words are not only inspiring, but positively true. The contributions of men born men and women to wards the civilization, culture and material advancement of Canada and the United States, has been of no mean character. Those who pressed over a horizon in the fullness of time to the shores of this continent of our English speaking races should seriously ponder upon this new light on an old subject.

There has always been a distinct tendency for Canada to look to Britain for immigration. Political sentiment, not possession of all the glowing appeals to "blood" principle and magnify the pressure of the foreigner in our midst in a way that is unfair. This attitude has naturally intensified by the wave of emotionalism created by the Great War. The people of Britain and Canada know the foreigner chiefly by his well advertised, petty crime record and base their opinions of the whole race as a citizen upon the unleashing spectacle, daily before the eyes of readers of our leading dailies, of the congested slum population drawn largely from the submerged classes of Europe. The European city is not what the "foreigner" stands for in their estimation, and a disgusting picture has been painted in such realistic colors as to make it incredible to our great cities who tolerate it.

There is well-intentioned, if ill informed, critics, know nothing whatever about the splendid record of performance of the real peasant settlements on the prairies. They have not come in contact with the dogged perseverance, hard labor and low living standard of living of these excellent people during years of stress. They have not seen the well tilled acres, fields and neat village settlements planned on our prairies, wrought out of land that was unasked labor. They do not hear about the second generation, speaking faultless English, entering upon educational leadership and securing the most coveted prizes. Above all, they do not know that these people are splendid citizens, loyal to the farm through thick and thin and have their roots so firmly in the soil, that town life has no attractions for them. Western people, who live in close proximity to peasant colonies have nothing but praise for the honesty, integrity and sensible frugality of these settlers. They do not reveal plan any social menace in their presence

Could Not Sleep Heart and Nerves Were So Bad

Mr. Can. Mack, Winkler, Ont., writes:—"I suffered badly with my nerves and could not sleep at night for there was no rest. I struggled to keep at my work somehow, until I began to have dizzy spells which got so bad I could not get to my work. I was afraid to go out on the street for very often I would stagger on my feet. I tried everything in the line of a medicine hoping to get relief, but could not turn back and fade away. While I was home such a friend told me to take

PETER'S LESSON IN TRUST

Golden Text. Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid.—Matthew 14:27.

Lesson: Matthew 14:22-33.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 91:1-10.

Explanations and Comments

I. Peter Saves the Disciples (vv. 22-27). "After the feeding of the Five Thousand the Disciples were pushed with the desire of the multitude to make Jesus King, and were left to leave Him. This was not satisfied them. He made them enter the boat and remain in the midst of the Sea of Galilee while he remained behind to disperse the crowd. When the crowd had departed, Jesus went up the mountain to pray. John tells us that Jesus, perceiving that they were about to come and take Him by force to make Him king, withdrew Himself into the mountain alone (John 6:15).

Jesus was not always going about doing good. He could pray. The man can. There comes a time when the duty is worthless and fruitless, so Jesus was often away getting power, getting virtue and the Father who enabled Him and inspired Him to do good. Sometimes by an hour's multitudes away, sometimes the next away, from the multitudes. He went to course, in order to return. But he left them. The point is that it is a plan that in the mountain the drained powers might be renewed and replenished for the refreshing plain again."—Alexander McLaren.

"I watch the Master take His way
Far up the mount, at break of day,
And many quietude to pray;
And as I gaze in awe Him bless
I hear, with all my host of care,
His voice: 'Be still and trust in prayer.'"

—John H. Clements.

And while even was come, He was alone.

"When God speaks he likes no other voice to break the stillness but His own. It was the place that he always been given to solitude in all true religious life. It can be overdone, but it can be grossly underdone. And there is no lesson more worth learning on in days like ours than this: when God wants to speak to a man He wants that man to be alone."—Henry Drummond.

The Increasing U.S. Population

Population Increases About 13,000,000 in Seven Year Period

The July 1 next is the date estimate of the census bureau that the population of the United States will be 130,000,000. This will represent an increase over the 1920 census period of a little short of 13,000,000. Next fall I will be just 10 years over the current decade, and if the same ratio of increase be assumed for the next quarter century the census of 1950 should register a population of 156,000,000 with an increase since 1920 of 17,500,000. I will be almost by 2,500,000 than the gain in population between 1910 and 1920 in face of a growing birthrate and the sharp curtailment of immigration. As an offset to these two factors in the decline in mortality statistics.

There was an Inverness band of rosiers, and the rustle of those who for their various reasons, must assemble in the earlier hours of the morning at La Torbie during the visit of Beaudon, who had flown from his title, washed Joanna and Kenilworth. He saw that both of them turned immediately toward the ferry when Joanna had left her room. She had slipped out the door and went to the big car in which Valerie awaited.

"As I expected," he said to Monsieur, "she will not remain. He ready to pull out when they approach their car. Right out of the road and the road as are the wheels before I abandoned."

"I have to wait," Kenilworth replied firmly, "as I will be straight their secret, but suppose and desperate behind. I'll go you down if I have to carry you."

"But it's utter folly," the proud girl. At that moment another group of guests and a bus—a single bus—appeared on the road. Four buses were to travel through. Valerie, she exclaimed in the car now when you have given I'll We'll have to wait here."

He stubbornly negotiated another corner. When the car was to reunite dandum proved to have been recovered gasoline by siphoning it from the tanks of the other cars.

"There I'll enough clothes in the whole world in the part of it you and I inhabit to make room for you," sort of decent understanding of how a priests woman might be caught and Kenilworth said as he helped her. "If you can stand a mysterious escape made in the night with Prince Michael, but not when he is in the act of assisting you to his and welfare, you have to wear a mask to do it. Take my dear—with a sudden tenderness—I wouldn't matter you rabbit, and of women."

As Kenilworth said this he felt happy, radiantly happy, for the first time in a long time. Joanna was his. Nothing else mattered. He was ready to fight the world for her. He was ready to do battle with Prince Michael, to protect her from the consequences of her own folly. He was ready to do anything for her. He was ready to do anything for her. He was ready to do anything for her

Vermilion, Alta., April 7, 1927.

A copy of the census bulletin dealing with the population of Alberta has been received at this office. It is a very commendable production. It is well arranged and illustrated, but better figures are to be found appearing from time to time in a week of this kind. The interest in it will be increased by Lieutenant-Governor Egbert's greetings are received by the Minister of Agriculture. The editorial page is both inspiring and instructive. A report of co-operative satisfactorily performed by the agricultural societies, the work of the regular provincial institutes, short courses, "short" course classrooms and local short courses of both kind and with girls' clubs, all are interesting features of the publication. The letter from the Minister of Agriculture is also worthy of note. Those interested in the progress of agriculture will find much of the information contained from this publication. Very Best.

THE FARM TRACTOR

(Experimental Farms Note)

From information received by the Dominion Experimental Farm Ottawa, on the tractor owners in the Prairie Provinces it has been found that a tractor at these men consider their tractor a profitable investment. It will only be poor result claim that their tractors are profitable on both work and the matter of value of the tractor is not if makes the owner to keep both field and harvest operations up to date. Other advantages are reduction in hired help and number of horses required to operate these farms.

Tractors have successfully operated under varying conditions, however, best operation seems inadvisable where fields are too hilly, too stony or too small. Such conditions usually go with small farms, high initial cost and high cost of fuel were given as the chief reasons for tractor failure. A small number of registered are recommended by these owners on which to purchase a tractor may be used as 100 acres for every plow [illegible].

The cost of tractor operation is made up of two items, namely, repairs and direct operating costs. The latter item, the cost including fuel, oil, wages of the operator (tractor), depreciation, interest and repairs. Interest charges are probably the cheapest of work the tractor does annually. As all crops [illegible] in the Prairie Provinces [illegible] are 66 days per year, on an average, the daily overhead charges are very relatively lower, resulting in a low daily operating cost of $9.41 for two plough tractors; $12.80 for three plough tractors; and $13.95 per 10-hour day for four-plough tractors. These daily costs include the operator's wages at $2.50 per day. The time in the last three is due to the fact that a large proportion of the four-plough tractors were used on 5 ploughs but were so about the same relative horse-power as the three plough class. The tractor greatly increases the amount of available power on the farm, which accounts for the gains that it enables the work to be kept up to date. A tractor will increase the acreage of a very profitable investment but as there are many jobs that can be done more economically with horses its place is to supplement the work of horses. While many tractor owners who have only 20 to 40 days tractor work per year claim their machines are profitable, it should not be overlooked that there is a distinct advantage to be gained in the matter of harvesting daily results by having as many odd-and days work as possible.

Co-operative Wool Growers Meet At Lethbridge

Lethbridge, Alta., April 1. — Substantial progress, despite weakening markets, was reported by officials of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, Limited, at their Ninth Annual Meeting held here this afternoon. This is the first time the annual meeting has been held other than at the Head Office, Toronto, and as explained by Colonel Robert McEwen, London, Ont., who has been president of the Wool Growers since it was organized in 1918 — this year's move was for the purpose of getting better acquainted with the most important wool producing section of Canada, Southern Alberta. The value of co-operation was particularly well illustrated during the past year, pointed out Colonel McEwen, as many of the big private buyers who purchased large stocks of wool on a falling market are in a precarious situation at the present time.

Now markets have been opened up to Canadian wool during 1926, according to the President's report, which said that following the sending of samples to Boston, Montreal, and Continental Europe, considerable interest developed. Turning to the other end of the business—the production of high class lamb—this interest already known always breeder urged more careful selection of sires so that a higher class product could be produced. Moreover, he flatly believed that growers, packers, retailers, and local proprietors should co-operate in a way that only the very best Canadian spring lamb was provided when asked for, the farmer can complete alone would soon more than equal the supply.

Wool values are down approximately 20 per cent. as compared with a year ago, and 36 per cent. below those high prices of 1919," stated General Manager G. E. O'Brien. He pointed out that the dealers as well as the growers had suffered severely by declining values, which were due to a falling off in consumption following changes in the style of women's clothing, and other reasons. Values had been falling almost steadily since the last shearing, which made it impossible to sell rapidly, as dealers were afraid to load up at any one time. This explains why the wool could be had in carry-over of a little more than a million pounds at the present time, and also why all the wool round can be sold at the higher prices which ruled in the spring and early summer. He pointed out that the United States Canadian market was absorbing about the usual quantity of domestic wool, the Canadian wool was successful in developing much new business abroad, particularly with England and Europe.

The 1926 Canadian clip was placed by the General Manager at 11,492,50 pounds, an increase of about 10 per cent over the previous season. In this he estimated that 3,000,000 pounds were used on the farm — principally in Quebec and certain new Canadian houses of the West — and of the balance the Co-operative had handled 55 per cent. Wool was received from every province.

Wool growers need have no fears regarding the future, according to Mr. O'Brien, who quoted from several prominent wool authorities in the United States. These men maintain that the cycle of low prices has been completed and that, while production was increasing all surplus stocks were being rapidly cleared up. Indications point to a very material improvement in consumption.

Increased consignments of wool from every province, except those in the maritime, were reported by Assistant Manager W. H. J. Tindale, with Alberta at the head of the list with 1,866,000 pounds, or more than half the total quantity handled by the Company. Ontario grew approximately 780,000 pounds compared with 780,000 in 1925, and Quebec 167,000 pounds a total of 93,000 in 1925. Tindale stated that full settlement for the balance of the 1926 clip could be expected by the end of April. He also reported an improvement in the sales of stock men's supplies and woolen goods

LIKE THEIR TEA

CANADA NOW FOURTH GREATEST TEA DRINKING COUNTRY

Each Canadian drinks over four pounds of tea per year, or practically five times as much as our American cousins on the south of us. Great Britain (including Northern Ireland) leads the world in point of consumption with 9.76 pounds per head, United States 3.94 pounds per capita. Next comes Australia with 9.40 and Canada with 36 million. No reliable statistics are available for China or Russia. Both these countries consume a large amount of tea, but their per capita figure is very small.

A great deal more tea would be used in this continent if the public were educated to demand fresh tea. Old tea is flat and unpalatable.

Tea is a very delicate vegetable growth, which deteriorates unless kept in air-tight bottle or canister as soon loses its flavour if exposed to the air. This is exactly what occurs in the case of tea.

Public Health in Alberta

An encouraging feature of the report of the Public Health Department of Alberta for 1926, is the great improvement in the diphtheria situation. In Lethbridge alone, it is stated, the annual number of cases has been cut down from 80 to 8. The improvement has come about as a result of the use of the toxoid. In foreign districts, 3,155 persons have been given this treatment. A total of 10,350 people were given vaccine during the year.

The Nursing Branch had 120 schools under inspection during the year. In which 2,901 first inspections and 1,198 re-inspections were made. Home visits totalled 225, and 13 child welfare clinics were held in rural districts. In the larger cities of Edmonton, Calgary and Medicine Hat, 200 clinics were held, with a total attendance of about 1,500. The district nurses in the Peace River districts made more than 1,800 calls during the year, with 547 medical cases, 11 surgical cases, and 23 obstetrical cases to attend to

The travelling clinic which visited outlying districts examined 1,744 school cases, with 212 operations performed for tonsils and adenoids, and 221 for defective vision. The scope of these clinics will be extended this year.

Four new municipal hospital districts were created during the year, and all districts are in good shape financially. There are 75 approved hospitals in the province altogether, including 12 hospitals, and 75 private hospitals

The vital statistics report shows 12,893 births registered for 1926, which reports still to come in; 1,473 marriages,—an increase of 215; 161 divorces—an increase of 23; and 5,132 deaths, an increase of 721.

In the mental hospital at Ponoka there are 1,866 patients, an increase of 68. There were 313 admissions during the year and 177 discharged, of which 78 were classed as recovered. 15 were improved, and 21 not insane. The recovery rate is 29.76 for males and 28 per cent for females. The rural schools were able to keep going 164 days in 1926 compared with 159 days in 1925. The new grants provided for rural schools under certain conditions brought in 16,000 more schools.

There is a growing demand for secondary education, especially in rural districts, but only 6 per cent. of those in grade 8 took high school entrance exams compared with only 16 per cent in 1925. A total of 2,428 pupils stood at the age of 15, which is a decrease over former years. A total of 1,441 are in grade 9. There are 3,011 school districts in operation in the province.

JACK MINER, CANADIAN NATURALIST, RETURNS TO HOME AT KIRKSVILLE, ONT.

After being on a six weeks' lecture tour in Eastern Ontario, Jack Miner, Canadian naturalist, has returned to his home at Kirksville, Ontario, having spoken forty days in succession, as many as five times a day, to over two hundred thousand people. He said, on returning home, his lecture tour had been a success in every way and, having addressed such large numbers of children, he hoped it would result in many bird homes being built. "For," he said, "if I can get a child to build a bird house, that child at once becomes a conservationist, because he will not only protect the bird while building in the box, but also will not allow anyone else to touch the bird, or its other nests, knowing that he is being educated in the right direction."

WHAT DOES "SORROWS OF SATAN" MEAN?

"Sorrows of Satan" was written 20 years ago and is still a best selling novel. It has been translated into perpetually every language on the globe. Marie Corelli, author of the book, died recently. It is said that the horror quite recovered from the fact that the critics disapproved of "Sorrows of Satan" upon its first appearance. The story has in that her disappointment was all the keener due to the fact that she had written her through, and all the difficulties they have overcome to make the district what it is at the present time.

With the memory of the theatre holocaust, in which some scores of little children were the victims still fresh in their minds, the citizens of Montreal are causing thorough inquiries into the origin of typhoid fever which, at the time of writing, has attacked over 1,100 people and resulted in over forty deaths.

It is taking no proper precautions and the provision of necessary safeguards against the spread of disease that the authorities of Montreal find themselves in the position they are in now, and as one member, one knows typhoid epidemic could easily have been prevented.

It is the same old story over and over again of locking the stable door after the horse has been stolen. It is sometimes ludicrous to question the methods of the ancients, but they had a healthy respect for sanitation. Within the ancient walls of Jerusalem, for instance, within the city, there was no water supply, and people were compelled to go outside the walls for water. Hence they ensured that the water supply was pure before they made any attempt to provide a water supply within the city.

Following out the same principle of precaution was made into the sewage system of Rome. It is difficult to ascertain who the first were in a condition approaching to

OBITUARY

We regret to record the death of John Burns, who passed away Thursday last in Edmonton. Mr Burns was born in South Shields, England and early came to Canada with his wife a little over three years ago. For a time they stayed in Toronto and moved to Vermilion the middle of last year. Three months ago the deceased was taken sick and underwent treatment at the Vermilion hospital where he was operated on for cancer from which he never rallied. The body was brought back here for burial, services being conducted by the Rev. M. E. Kerr at J. Waring's funeral home, where a number of friends gathered to show their sympathy with the sorrowing widow. Cars were kindly loaned for use to the cemetery. Mrs. Burns, who has no relations in this country, has secured a position in town and will probably remain for some time. General sympathy is extended to the widow in her sad bereavement.

As a token of appreciation for his untiring service in aid of the band since its re-organization two years ago the members of the Vermilion Citizens Band presented their conductor, Lt. Wm. H. Elford, with a baton and case. Mr Elford, although taken by a complete attack in the manifestation of the good-will of the members, nevertheless was able to express his thanks and appreciation to the members for their kindness. He also mentioned that the success attained was due to the co-operation, assistance and harmony accorded, in fact it was impossible to have a successful musical organization without it, especially the harmony.

PUBLIC SCHOOL CURRICULUM TO BE CHECKED UP

Alberta Government Names Committee to Conduct Investigation

The public school curriculum now in vogue in Alberta is to be taken under careful consideration again by the committee appointed by the government, which will meet on Wednesday of next week for a two-day session. It is five years since the committee met, its sittings of 1921 and 1922 having taken form in a revision of the study courses that has since been on trial in actual school practice. The results are now to be checked up with a view to ascertaining what further changes, if any, may be desirable.

A variety of organizations interested in the educational question are represented on the committee, which is made up as follows: G. A. Clayton, representing the Teachers' Alliance; H. Higbee and C. E. Legrand, Alberta Educational Association. Dr. A. M. Scott, superintendent of schools; F. E. Roper, Alberta Federation of Labor; J. T. J. Collison, National Council of Education; John W. Russell Inspector of Schools; Mrs. H. H. Gunn, U. F. W. A.; E. L. Reid, U. F. A.; D. H. Parr, school trustee; Mrs. W. J. Short, rural trustee; Mr. M. M. Fowler, principal Institutes; John Parsons and J. F. Wodell, the press.

Substantial improvements in the curriculum in the way of simplification and reduction, with a view to an increase of the instructional work in the years now in force, is understood that further changes may be better are likely to be made in the next week's meeting.

CANADA'S DIAMOND JUBILEE

July 1st will be the 60th anniversary of the Confederation of Canada. All is to mark the occasion the dominion government has taken steps providing for proper celebrations in which is expected every portion of Canada will participate. In both the daily and weekly press town reports should be active steps are being inaugurated to observe Confederation day in a befitting manner. Whether such a course is practicable has not been decided upon as yet but the search of the question. When the fronts of autumn withered all above ground they had no power over the birds that hidden in the earth what lay there during the winter awaiting the resurrection morn of spring. When the trees shed their leaves, and show only bare branches to the wind we know that they will but again. We are not surprised at the return of the robin. When the caterpillar spins for itself a cocoon and passes into apparent death, we do not fear. We know that in the spring the chrysalis will burst its tomb and come forth a beautiful butterfly. What wonderful secrets the leaves and seed could tell if only they could speak, as it is they sing a song of spring time. In all this we do not question. We have and believe. Why, then, should we question immortality for man? Is he the greatest and noblest of them all? Is the only one that has no home? Is all his hopes and aspirations soon nothing? But why go on with this? Is it not a waste of words to argue about what is settled. The solution which has been already settled. The old question "If a man die shall he live again" has been answered again and again in the only book or authority we have for life and immortality have been brought to light through the gospel. It was once a question; now it is for us a blessed FACT. Let us accept it and rejoice, because He rose we shall rise also. He said "I am the resurrection and the life." There is a resurrection and a glorious future life for man. But what does Easter really mean to us? Christ is risen, but is He really risen in our hearts, the hope of glory? If not, then Easter is to only a name; but if true then Easter is the pledge and promise of eternal glory, all that is comprehended in the words "ETERNAL LIFE."

AN EASTER THOUGHT

"If Easter! The Easter when all the world's thoughts turn to the resurrection. Strange that in these late days there are found those who seem to question its possibility. Yet when we look around we see the emblems of resurrection everywhere. When the trees shed their leaves, and show only bare branches to the wind we know that they will but again. We are not surprised at the return of the robin. Mission Work At Low Ebb In China

Prospects Poor for Resuming Endeavor in Near Future

SHANGHAI, April 9 — Christian missionary activity in China has been reduced to the vanishing point. It was stated yesterday. The prospects for resuming endeavour in the near future are declared to be dark at least a year as provincial organization is concerned.

These statements were issued yesterday afternoon by a group of members of a dozen officials of various missionary boards, including Rev. Dr. James Endicott, secretary of the board of foreign missions of the United Church of Canada, who conferred with some score representatives for the purpose of establishing the north American attitude as to the exact status of work in China.

Moonshine Pedlar Goes To Gaol

J. P. Warnke of Minnedosa was fined $100 and costs or three months in jail when he appeared before Police Magistrate Hall in Minnedosa on a charge of selling liquor. He was unable to pay the fine and was committed to the jail there. Warnke was arrested by Provincial Constable Hall, who found a quantity of liquor in his possession. Warnke was also charged with having liquor in his possession for the purpose of sale, but was acquitted on this charge.

Roasting The Goose That Lays The Golden Egg

To kill the goose that lays the golden egg has passed into a proverb for foolishness, and yet we, patriotic and intelligent Canadians, are doing that very thing in allowing our forests to be burned to death. We are doing even worse than the people of the proverb, for they at least had one dish of roast goose, however costly, but our "roast" forests provide not a single meal for any human being. Presumably the man of the proverb did not injure the remainder of his flock, but we in burning our forests injure the Agricultural goose, that lays the golden egg of all our magnificent stock of Canada geese.

"Evil is wrought by want of thought As well as want of heart."

Our second general natural resource is not only in danger; it is actually burning up before our eyes. Our forests, which have always supplied our bankers and loading men in every walk of life are calling aloud to a people to be stopped.

"What can we do about it?" you ask. Everything! We can stop forest fires here, and by a little protection and attention, we can have a continual goose put forth new feathers and lay more and larger golden eggs next year than ever before, and keep on doing it as long as grass grows and water runs.

"And how shall we do this?"

Just the same way as we stopped prairie fires in settled districts by the force of public opinion. When every man, woman, and child in Canada, nobody those who live in and near the forested areas but those on farms and in villages and towns and cities far away from the forests—yes, if every thirty per cent of the people of Canada decide in their own minds that forest fires must cease, fires will be cut in two this year and will virtually stop next year. Small accidental fires there will be from time to time and so there are in a city, but the old and costly fallacy of forest fires as a

New C. N. R. Branch Lines Proposed This Year For Alberta Would Open Up New Territory

The Minister of Railways in this session asking Parliament, on behalf of the Canadian National Railways, for authority to construct eight hundred miles of new lines within the province of Alberta. The first of these lines is a cut off between Stettler and Clover Bar, just east of Edmonton. This cut off, eleven miles in length, will make possible shorter and faster routing of freight between Edmonton and Camrose and points beyond. At present trains between Edmonton and Camrose run over the circuitous route through the City of Edmonton, dropping down into the Valley of the North Saskatchewan River and crossing the river on the low level high, to the settlers and the creation of new business. This cut-off will also open up a new development area in the area between Stettler and Clover Bar.

The second of the cut-off lines will be from Wainwright to Alliance, a distance of 40 miles. This line will open up a new development area in the area between Wainwright and Alliance. Another line proposed is from Alliance to Hemaruke, a distance of 40 miles. Along this line, it is proposed, there is much good, land, some lightly developed, but for the most part virgin, partially open land beyond Bonnyville, east and south and as far as the Cold Lake district. The area across settled until now has developed. Lack of railway communication is, however, keeping the settlers from going on account of the long haul and low farm products. The whole district, north and east of Bonnyville, is ripe for immediate agricultural development with the exception of a relatively small per centage of the readily cutting. The proposed extension to Acadia Valley will open up a new district for settlement. Other lines proposed are from Hanna to Munson, a distance of 30 miles, and from Medicine Hat to Eyr, a distance of 40 miles.

Railway Research Can Remain Victoria Cross

Has Also Power to Restore Forfeited Decoration and Pension Which Goes With It

Private Gadsby told the Prince of Wales the other day that he was the first V.C. of the Grand War, and since he won the great distinction more Victoria Crosses have been awarded than in all the 51 years before.

From February, 1856, when Queen Victoria instituted the world's most honored decoration, until July, 1914, 522 crosses were granted, while during the war there were 578 V.C. awards, making a total of 1,101.

The intrinsic value of the cross is not, cost. The present token is fashioned in the Crimean War, has not altered; the cost of production is less than 5s. The incomparable moral value of it also remains unaltered; but whereas originally it carried with it a small pension of no more than £10 a year, this may now in exceptional cases be increased to £75.

A V.C. man, like any Service possessor, may draw his pension overseas, whether in the Dominions or otherwise, always provided that he has first obtained permission to reside abroad.

No one but the ruling sovereign has power to take a V.C. away from a recipient. The sovereign may, however, revive this power if a V.C. man is convicted of treason, cowardice, felony, "or any infamous crime," or if he be arrested of any such offence and doth not offer a reason, able excuse for himself to be delivered for the same."

The sovereign alone also has the power to restore both a forfeited Victoria Cross and the pension that goes along with it.

Not every V.C. has been won in the face of the enemy. Private T. Orffen, of the Rifle Brigade, serving in Canada in 1866, although not under fire, fighting an Orfen, noted that a large van full of explosives had become ignited on the railway at Pamille. He promptly opened the door found the centre of the vehicle ablaze, closed the flames, and thus prevented a great explosion.

The late Lord Roberts and his son, Lieut. Roberts, R.H.A., (who was killed in action), earned their crosses for the one family. But the famous Gough family can boast three, earned by General Sir C. J. Gough, his brother General Sir H. H. Gough, and the latter's son, Colonel J. E. Gough.

Could Go the Limit

It was a fully recent reason who wrote a note to the teacher excusing the punishment of her boy. The note read thus: "Please excuse Jimmy. I will write me boil whippin' Jimmy. I have to use two pencil box to beat him up since I sent you the last note. I will have to use the whole box on him with a club. Pound it to a pulp. Please excuse Jimmy. I will not send him to school tomorrow. Yours truly, Mrs. ——."

Teacher replied: "Please excuse Jimmy from punishment. I will whip him myself. Mrs. ——."

Mary: "Pardon me, I'm sure."
Bright: "What's the matter?"
Mary: "Why, you stepped on my foot."
Bright: "I did so. I beg your pardon."
Mary: "Oh, that's all right. I thought you were trying to make love to me."
Bright: "Well, I'm sorry I didn't succeed."

Dairies In Denmark Mostly Co-Operative

Very Small Number Are Operated by Individual Owners

Only 250 of Denmark's 1,000 registered dairies are owned by individual owners, all the rest being co-operative dairies, according to the Danish paper, Tidsskr. Statens Statistik. Of the dairy produce butter forms export and more than one-third of the butter exported is made on farms. Large exports of cheese are also made.

Improvement in Hog Breeding

Government Gives Encouragement to the Hog Breeding Industry

The good work which the Dominion Live Stock Branch is doing in aid of the hog breeding industry is meeting with considerable success. The demand for hog grading demonstrations is continuous and the three hog pound of outstanding merit carcass of the suitability of the bacon hog for both domestic and export trade. The two gold and silver cups have been awarded to be valuable educational features.

So popular has this work become in the Province of Quebec that a number of representative co-operation agricultural and packer companies have passed a signed statement to the Live Stock Branch enthusiastically commending the field work of the government and suggesting that even more intensive efforts be made in districts which have already shown gains. They state that there has been a marked improvement in the type and quality of hogs offered per mile and that this improvement is both in terms of dollars and cents has been at least $1.00 per hundred weight on the average quality of all stock sold.

Viscount Grey Analyses The British Character and Tells How The Empire Has Been Built Up

"If you look at the map you will see how exceedingly small the British Isles are, just an islander, and been developed by them in the world's history quite out of proportion to the size of the country, and an empire has been built up of an extent and character which is unprecedented and unparalled," said Viscount Grey in a recent public address.

"It is due, I think, to three things to the island, to the climate, and to the race. The fact that we are an island has enabled the race to develop its own character and qualities in a way it could not have done had it been part of the Continent.

"It has meant that the door to go out into the world has been specially easy to open, but there has been no entrance for other people from outside to interfere. The climate is such that it is never so cold or inhospitable as to make labor impossible or unremunerative.

"Then the race comes from a very stout stock. Danes, Saxons and Normans were in their time pioneers in Europe. They were the adventurous spirits, the most energetic, the most enterprising and the most courageous. They collected here because it was the adventure of the time to emigrate and being a race found themselves where they could develop unimpeded.

"It is natural that people who are pioneers should have a real passion for individual liberty and that spreads, and in modern times as one of the great characteristics of the race it has itself could never have enabled the British race to do what it has done. It would have resulted in chaos if there was something in the race which made us need to be towed out of trouble by the force of discipline. It is the individual character of popularity among, concerns whose businesses depend on control into the subsidy or

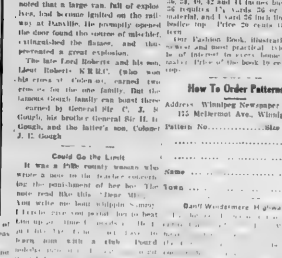
Wireless Telephone Popular

Savoy Hotel in London Averages Six Calls Daily to New York

John M. Harrison, an American who has been living in London for the past year, is probably a regular visitor to the single wireless telephone booth which has been installed in the Savoy Hotel in London. Mr. Harrison has been using the instrument for the past year, and has made a record number of calls to New York. Mr. Harrison averages six calls a week to the London office, details of which are kept by the Savoy Hotel.

The African Chaperone



Remarkable Skating Feat

This stunt was put on at the Banff Spring Hotel Rink during the annual Winter Carnival three and evolved much comment. It is hard to tell whether the spectators enjoyed the spectacle more or the performer. It is not certain that he did, but certainly the former had not to worry about the safety way to look at. The Banff Carnival is now a fixture for most Western Canadians and the inauguration of a winter season of sports and fun over there can be no doubt but that it will be a success.

Geological Survey Shows Favourable Conditions in Alberta, Saskatchewan

Evidence Shows That Structure of Rocks is Favorable to Accumulation of Oil or Natural Gas.

A report of the geological survey to be issued shortly will be of special interest to men searching for oil in Alberta and Saskatchewan. The report gives the results of field work in the Cypress Hills by Dr. W. E. Dyer. By careful levelling of certain distinctive formations, the report says an unusual structural feature has been determined. Evidence has been established which shows that the structure of the rocks underlying the Cypress Hills is favorable to the accumulation of oil or natural gas.

Dr Dyer states that the structures "are common-sense in area and type of dip with the Kevin Sunburst Dome of Northern Montana. They should prove to be oil and gas bearing, and the underground conditions are right There include the presence of porous horizons with gentle dips which are capable of generating petroleum. The Milk River sandstone which held an oil pool at Medicine Hat might quite possibly be oil bearing in this more pronounced structure

"Other favorable horizons would be sandstone beds in the Colorado, the Blairmore-Kootenay sands, the Jurassic (Fernie) and the Mississippian (Madison) limestone, all of which can be reached at suitable depths. Oil and gas may be met with in the Dawn well in the Mary Island field, in the Blairmore-Kootenay and in the Jurassic.

"In the Rosh well at Medicine Hat, oil showings were found in the Ells and also in one of the Palaeozoic, and several strong flows of water indicating porous horizons were struck in the Colorado, Blairmore-Kootenay and in the Jurassic. Gas was met with in the Dawn well in the Mary Island field, in the Blairmore-Kootenay and in the Jurassic."

FREE LICENSES FOR THE BLIND

A concession which will meet with the approval of all right thinking people is the one which has just been made by the Radio Department at Ottawa respecting radio sets owned by blind listeners. Free licenses for the operation of radio receivers by blind members of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Taking a person from the blind list, but has always been regarded as the height of meanness and the collection of an annual dollar from blind listeners seems the next thing to it. Let us hope that similar exemptions will soon be made on behalf of other people who are blind also. If we cannot give these people the benefits of radio without demand that their dollars or threaten them with visits of the mounted police, there is something wrong with our ideas of humanity True, they are a wonderful value for their money, but just touch at the line the wealthy and poor alike pay for the benefits of entertainment value—and the company can hurts.—Grain Growers' Guide.

Emigration to Canada Proves Disappointing

Col. Dennis Makes Frank Statement at Luncheon in London

LONDON, April 7.—I frankly say that up to date we [illegible] extremely disappointed with British emigration to Canada," declared Colonel J. F. Dennis, of Montreal, head of the department of colonization and development of the Canadian Pacific railway, speaking at a luncheon here yesterday.

"There is a dominion and provincial organization in Canada capable of handling fifty millioners, we have only nine millions. We have to look to Great Britain and continental Europe for the people to fill the gap between what we are obtaining from British immigrants and

Aged Man Is Found Dead

70 Searchers Assisted Policemen

Robert Richard Bradshaw aged 70, living with his son, Chris Bradshaw, on a farm in the Vermilion district, wandered away from home on Wednesday, April 6, in the early morning.

Following a man hunt by neighbors over a wide tract of country the assistance of the A.P.P. was asked and on Thursday, April 7, the dead body of the old man was found, face down in the bottom of a coulee

Coroner Dr Knott of Vermilion, who had treated the deceased for a paralytic stroke a year ago, certified that death was due to natural causes

A. F. P. Constable Mason of Wainwright, who took charge of the search following the failure of a neighborhood posse to find the missing man, organized a force of some seventy mounted and foot searchers, spreading the limit in such a way that it would be next to impossible for one or other of the posses not to find him

The long time had scarcely seen deemed to move, when there was a movement of searchers toward the coulee where the body was found The dead man was lying face down, with his feet bare, and his cap lying on some nearby bushes.

His son told the police that since the stroke the old man had required watching at times, as he was given to wandering away, and it was in such a manner that he met his death.

Company Says Name of Clandonald Must Stand

Big Public Meeting Attended By Over 200 Settlers-Promises And Claims Of No Avail

The Vice-President of the C. P. R. sent a representative to Wolfedale to meet the residents of Wolfedale and neighborhood at a second public meeting (on March 30th) which, owing to there being no building in the town large enough to accommodate the gathering, was held in the open air

Although, so far as is known, there are only about ten families of these new settlers within the Wolfedale township, many of the people, particularly those who were in favor of the name "Clandonald" must have travelled a considerable distance, and they were, many of them, evidently in a most aggressive humour judging by the war like spirit exhibited during the meeting. It would have been wiser, perhaps, from many points of view, had the people been less demonstrative and had they shown more consideration, still possible to every particular to succeed fully look after the interests of our patrons.

Robert Richard Bradshaw aged 70, living with his son, Chris Bradshaw, on a farm in the Vermilion district, wandered away from home on Wednesday, April 6, in the early morning.

Following a man hunt by neighbors over a wide tract of country the assistance of the A.P.P. was asked and on Thursday, April 7, the dead body of the old man was found, face down in the bottom of a coulee

Coroner Dr Knott of Vermilion, who had treated the deceased for a paralytic stroke a year ago, certified that death was due to natural causes

A. F. P. Constable Mason of Wainwright, who took charge of the search following the failure of a neighborhood posse to find the missing man, organized a force of some seventy mounted and foot searchers, spreading the limit in such a way that it would be next to impossible for one or other of the posses not to find him

The long time had scarcely seen deemed to move, when there was a movement of searchers toward the coulee where the body was found The dead man was lying face down, with his feet bare, and his cap lying on some nearby bushes.

His son told the police that since the stroke the old man had required watching at times, as he was given to wandering away, and it was in such a manner that he met his death.

PLAN BEAUTIFICATION OF SCHOOL GROUNDS

Extensive Program Outlined by School Board — Additional Grounds Required

At a recent meeting of the School Board it was decided to initiate a program looking to the beautification of the school grounds. The work outlined will probably take three or four years as only small amounts will be spent each year. For 1927 it is proposed to plant shrubs and flowers in the flower garden in front of the school. The grounds will also be leveled for the most part as well as plowed and got ready for the planting of trees next year. It is likely the tennis court will be moved to a more suitable location, the intention being to have most of the area west of the building devoted to flower gardens; to be look ed after by the children. The board has in view the securing of additional grounds as the present area is proving altogether too small. There will be an open air skating rink provided for next year at very small cost. Means of securing exercise for the pupils during the winter months are restricted so the board, it is learned have in view this risk.

The board will also very likely provide playground apparatus for both the west end and south side schools, although this will depend largely upon what grades are placed in the former school next term

ISLAY LOSES TERRITORY

ISLAY, April 19—James Carey was successful in his application before the Board of Utility Commissioners at Edmonton last week in having the area of land south of the railway track separated from the village of Islay. The application was opposed by the village council. J. W. G. Morrison of Vermilion appeared before the Board for Mr Carey.

Douglas, the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanbery, who recently met with a very painful accident, is reported as progressing nicely. The little chap had his left arm caught between the wringer rollers of an electric washer, and badly crushed and torn, his father says. He was also burned and it is doubtful if it can be saved.

HONOR FATHERS OF CONFEDERATION

Resolution Moved by Premier King and Seconded by Guthrie

OTTAWA, April 14—The approaching sixtieth anniversary of confederation was marked in the house of commons today by the passage of a resolution regarding the celebration of the achievements of the fathers of confederation. Premier King moved the resolution, which was seconded by Hon. Hugh Guthrie and endorsed by the leader of the Progressive party. It read as follows:

"Resolved, that as Canada is approaching the sixtieth anniversary of her foundation as a dominion, the parliament of Canada places on record a deep appreciation of the achievements of the fathers of confederation, and with united voice express its faith and confidence in the future of the country and its determination as a member of the British commonwealth of nations, owing allegiance to his majesty the king.

It is the present aim of parliament that the diamond jubilee celebration, for which plans are now being rapidly matured, shall commemorate appropriately and enthusiastically the accomplishments of confederation and the subsequent progress of the dominion. We trust that this commemoration will lead indeed inspiration to the patriotic fervor of our people and afford a clearer vision of our aspirations and ideals in the road that lies before us. We may be developed a subject Canadian spirit and in all things Canadian a profound national sentiment."

Where Canada Leads the World

Canada exports more wheat than any other country in the world. It produces more of the best wheat, and the most, under the least favorable conditions. Wonder the last few years it has passed into Canada's possession a newspaper which has been the greatest exponent I have ever known of the doctrine of thorough cultivation and scientific farming. That newspaper is The Nor'-West Farmer. That fully answers the question why Canada is leading a progress, as to-day she stands, the leading farming country of the world.

The natural basis of Canada's prosperity is agriculture. But no natural advantages, in that we should become beautiful as a people, but as a commercial asset, and in preservation of greater fertility. It has been the Nor'-West Farmer which has done more than any other publication to bring about this result. It has been the Nor'-West Farmer which has done more than any other publication to teach the farmers of Canada, and particularly of the Canadian West, how to get the most out of their land, how to keep it rich, how to increase its productiveness, how to make it more valuable. It has been the Nor'-West Farmer which has done more than any other publication to create that wonderful agricultural spirit, that unconquerable optimism, that unbounded faith in the future of agriculture, which is the distinguishing characteristic of the Canadian West, and which is the foundation of its present prosperity and greatness.

The Nor'-West Farmer has always been a clean, honest, fearless paper. It has never pandered to the prejudices of its readers. It has never been afraid to tell the truth, even when the truth was unpalatable. It has never been afraid to denounce fraud and humbug, even when the fraud and humbug were popular. It has never been afraid to tell its readers that they were wrong, even when they were sure they were right. It has always been fair and honest and square in its dealings with its readers and with its advertisers. It has always been willing to admit its mistakes, and to correct them. It has always been willing to publish both sides of a question, and to allow its readers to form their own opinions. It has always been willing to publish the truth, no matter who was hurt by it. It has always been willing to expose fraud, no matter who was benefited by it. It has always been willing to denounce wrong, no matter who was responsible for it. It has always been willing to praise right, no matter who was opposed to it. It has always been willing to help every man who was trying to help himself. It has always been willing to help every man who was trying to help his neighbor. It has always been willing to help every man who was trying to help the community in which he lived. It has always been willing to help every man who was trying to help the province in which he lived. It has always been willing to help every man who was trying to help the country in which he lived. It has always been willing to help every man who was trying to help the world in which he lived.

The Nor'-West Farmer has been a power for good in the Canadian West. It has been a power for good in Canada. It has been a power for good in the world. It has been a power for good because it has been honest, fearless, fair, square, clean, and because it has been willing to help every man who was trying to help himself, his neighbor, his community, his province, his country, and the world in which he lived.

The Nor'-West Farmer has been a power for good

VERMILION BOARD OF TRADE AND PUBLICITY.

The Standard advocates an agitation for devoting a little space to the activities of the board of trade in any issue town up the line, being partially impressed with the report of the regular meeting of that body appearing in the Observer the town paper. A board of trade to be effective must function and to do so effectively has to devote some to go along with the usual business of that body which is largely of a routine nature, and can reasonably lacking in arousing enthusiasm to any high pitch interest gets quickly worn out and the organization takes in name only—hence the necessity of the interjection of a big deal or "peg" if a board is to justify its existence. True it is that at varying intervals the life of a board is recharged by a sudden interest or outburst on the endeavor, but the effect is rarely permanent. Many towns have similar experiences in this respect, but specific efforts having no lasting result, subscription as a rule ensues.

A scheme that worked so well last year that it is to be repeated on a larger scale this year by the Vermilion board, is the district tea at tree for the children in the outlying districts for the coming Fair. Circulars are to be printed and paid for by the same method as last year. What the arrangement is with the exhibition board is not stated—but its evidently power enough to decide. Then again from an educational standpoint, these young people are the future exhibitors and supporters of the fair and the policy being carried on by the Vermilion board of trade with the co-operation of the exhibition management, is bound to result in an attitude which will mean much to the success and development of the annual fair.

Another matter of a most practical nature which came up and is worthy consideration, was the proposal to spend money on a road-dragging competition, thus keeping the roads leading into the town in the best of shape and making it easier for the farmers to get to town. A prize would be offered the grader and road worker who made the biggest improvement in the section of the road on which he was working. It was believed different municipalities would compete.

OBITUARY

Mindemora and district is today mourning the loss of one of its most popular young men in the person of Gordon Wilde, who passed away on Easter Sunday morning of acute appendicitis, at the age of 22 years and 7 months. The deceased spent his boyhood days in Mindemora where he attended public school and Sunday school, belonging to the Boy Scout movement. He later attended Alberta College Edmonton, studying telegraphy and recently obtained his garage work, being manager of the local garage at the time of his death. Gordon was also a member of the lacrosse team. Honor bright, genial and warm hearted, he endeared himself to all and his early death has left a void in the community which only time can refill.

The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon from the home of his parents to the Union Church, and interment was made in Mindemora cemetery. The church was crowded with a large number of friends and sympathizers who gathered from all around the district, and the kindly community spirit was a telling tribute to the high esteem in which both the young man and his family are held by the people. The church was beautifully decorated with plants and flowers, many lovely floral offerings giving their silent all odd message of love and kindly feelings.

The Rev. A. H. Nash of Mannville took the service and his address — so fitted to the occasion — will long be remembered by all present.

The flowers included a very beautiful wreath from the Family, and lovely designs from the Boys and Girls of Mindemora, the Mindemora Hockey Club, the Royal Orange Lodge, the Women's Institute, Mr and Mrs. Joynes and daughter, Bert, Norman, Harold and Harry; Mr and Mrs Harris and Margaret; Miss R. McGee; Iris McGregor.

The pall bearers were very ably carried out by J. Waring of Vermilion, whose kindly consideration for the bereaved family helped very much to lessen their burden of deep sorrow. The Standard unites with the many friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved ones.

MAY APPOINT A BRITISH ENVOY TO DOMINION

Ottawa.—Great Britain may appoint a representative to Canada to act in almost the same capacity to the minister who has been appointed from the United States, Premier W. L. Mackenzie King stated in the House of Commons. The Prime Minister said that a British representative would probably be "a high commissioner to Canada."

Premier King's announcement came during his explanation of an item in the estimates of $1,500 for a secretary to the prime minister. The premier stated that he wished this item voted for an executive secretary. Some misunderstanding had arisen over the term secretary. He would like to point out he said, that the prime minister was the only minister who had not a deputy minister. His only assistance was from the private secretaries. The work of the prime minister's office, Premier King added, had very increased so that it was imperative in the public interest that it be organized on lines more like those similar to other departments.

Premier King referred to the appointment of a minister from the United States.

"I understand that in all probability Great Britain intends to appoint a representative to Canada in a similar capacity," Premier King said, "some who will be in the position of a high commissioner to the Dominion and who will expect, perhaps, more in the way of opportunity of conformation with the prime minister than with any other minister of the Crown."

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Conservative leader, declared that in view of the explanation given by the premier he had no serious objection to the item being approved. When the vote first came up, he said, he felt there had been a general impression that it was for a "glorified secretary."

To Purchase Legation Building

$500,000 Voted for Canadian Legation at Washington

Ottawa.—For the purchase of a building for the Canadian legation at Washington $500,000 was voted by the House of Commons after brief opposition from Hugh Guthrie, leader of the Conservative opposition, who said he believed the amount should be $250,000. Let on division the motion was lost by 54 to 50.

The executive leader proposed that $250,000 would be sufficient to secure adequate rented quarters for the legation as good as the newly appointed minister from the United States to Canada would secure in Ottawa.

The prime minister, in supporting the appropriation, said that it would be more economical to purchase than to rent and, moreover, if Canada was to maintain her prestige among the nations of the world represented at Washington a proper, permanent building should be secured.

Work Should Be Divided

Vancouver. Japan May Send More Ships

Tokio.—Japan's hope for a steady increase in China's wants, is expected to be augmented soon by four more cargo steamers. Chinese business in Japan is limited but maintenance of its present attitude, although announcing that Japan has cause for alarm has not as yet.

Bank Messenger Robbed

With Police Close By Bandits Escape With $13,000 in Cash

Niagara Falls, N.Y.—Two armed bandits held up and robbed Francis McMahon, messenger for the Canadian National Bank, in the main post office and escaped with about $13,000 in cash.

McMahon had just stepped from an armored bank car under police guard and entered the building when the men covered him with guns at the door of Postmaster Frederick G. Newell's office, took the bag of money he carried and sped-ed away in an automobile bearing an Ontario license.

When he jumped out of the armored car McMahon ran into the post office. Detectives James McInfyre, one of the three policemen guarding the armored car, left the machine and followed the bank messenger into the building. McMahon collided with him at the door as he was running out to give the alarm.

McIntyre ran across to the door through which the bandits fled and fired two shots as the machine sped away from the curb. Neither hit the bandit car, it is believed.

U.S. Air Mail

May Permit Canadian Stamps to Be Used in Future

Washington, D.C.—Prepayment in Canadian stamps of the special fee of 10 cents for the United States air mail service will be arranged for Canadians, if there is any demand for the service

It was stated informally the extension of the U.S. air mail to Canadian mail matter. Postmaster General New stated here that he saw no reason why Canada could not be also accommodated whereby Canadian stamps could be used for the extra 10 cents postage on matter to be transported by air. At present, while ordinary postage of five cents can be prepaid in Canadian stamps, it is necessary to buy United States stamps to prepay the extra fee. It is understood that Canadian authorities have not asked for such an arrangement. No force could be established here as to the number of letters being sent by people in Canada to the air mail route which now operates from coast to coast in the United States and is said to save from one to two days on ordinary postal routes.

South African Flag Question

Basis of Solution Believed to Have Been Found

Capetown, South Africa. — The Nationalist Government yesterday welcomed the report of the conference between the Government fusionist committee and representatives of South African independent flag committees, as the basis of a solution of the flag question.

The opposition press, however, generally views the reports unfavorably, and strongly recommends the withdrawal of the flag bill this session.

The conference adjourned until May 19, with independent representatives hoping to secure approval of the new design presented by the Government—a flag with the cross of St. George on a green background divided into quarters.

Prince of Wales and Spanish Prince Are Sending Exhibits

Ottawa.—Heirs to the thrones of Great Britain and Spain will vie with each other at the world's poultry congress being held here from July 27 to August 4 of this year, H.H.H. the Prince of Wales recently announced his intention of exhibiting some fine birds from his farm in Cornwall, England, and word has been received that H.H.H. the Prince of the Asturias, heir to the Spanish throne, intended exhibiting some fowls from his own poultry farm. The birds from the Spanish Crown Prince's farm will be the feature of the Spanish national exhibit.

Ernest Ekmalzer, congress secretary, received word from Prof. Salvador Castello, in charge of the royal poultry school at Arenys de Mar, Spain, that the Spanish national educational exhibit was being forwarded on May 15 and that the Spanish bird exhibit would be sent via Cherbourg on July 14. An exhibition is being held in Madrid on June 29 at which will be chosen the birds to represent Spain, in addition to those from the royal farm.

The Spanish government, which has taken three spaces at the congress exhibition, will spend the sum of sixty feet in a depth of thirty feet, states that it is prepared to keep the exhibit in place for Central Canada exhibition. Twenty official delegates are coming from Spain.

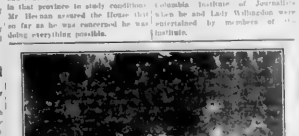
ALBERTA COAL QUESTION IS UP FOR DISCUSSION

Ottawa.—Confidence was expressed by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of Interior, during a debate in the House of Commons that the Board of Railway Commissioners found the cost of transporting Alberta coal to Ontario was less than from $7 a ton, this rate could be put into effect immediately, by this Council, with power waiting for another session of Parliament.

The Minister agreed that to enable Alberta coal to successfully compete with American anthracite in the markets of Ontario, a $7 ton rate was necessary, and intimated that if the board found the cost to be nearer than that, the Government would be prepared to grant a subsidy in order to make the transportation of a bill ton come a year of Alberta lignite. Confederation it will be remembered. The government would take the same view in this matter as it had in regard to the Crow's Nest Pass rates.

The question of an embargo on coal mined by the Alberta was brought up by M. S. Garland, U.F.A. Bow River.

Hon. Henry Heenan, Minister of Labor said he had received several telegrams with respect to the strike in Alberta. Immediately upon receipt of these communications, he had sent a man to the mining fields in that province to study conditions there and Labor Unionism. He had not as far as he was concerned he was doing everything possible.



Why Lambs Leave Home

Fifty-three mountain sheep with their lambs were recently driven into corrals at Banff, Alta., and were shipped by express cars to Kamloops, B.C., where they will be released on the ranges of the Douglas Lake Cattle Company, Limited, one of the largest cattle companies in the province. The sheep were driven from the mountains by Provincial Game Guardian Jack Brewster, who has been in charge of the mountain sheep and game preserves in the Rocky Mountains Park for the past 20 years. Mr. Brewster has been in charge of the mountain sheep and game preserves in the Rocky Mountains Park for the past 20 years. Mr. Brewster has been in charge of the mountain sheep and game preserves in the Rocky Mountains Park for the past 20 years.

The reason for the removal of the sheep from the mountains is that they are becoming too numerous for the feed available. Their natural enemies, the cougar and the lynx, are few in number, and the sheep have increased rapidly. Last year 150 were shipped to Banff and this year 53 were shipped. Next year it is expected that 200 will be shipped. The sheep are shipped in crates, and the journey takes about two days. The sheep are fed on hay and grain during the journey. The sheep are released on the ranges of the Douglas Lake Cattle Company, Limited, one of the largest cattle companies in the province. WAGE INCREASE IS SOUGHT BY C.N.R. EMPLOYES

Montreal. The board of conciliation, recently appointed to consider wage increases for more than 20,000 employees of the Canadian National Railways, met here yesterday afternoon. The board is composed of Mr. J. Bowman, K.C., chairman, Winnipeg; Howard P. Ross, K.C., Montreal, representing the men, and Peter White, K.C., Toronto, acting for the railway.

Of the 20,000 men, 18,000 are employed in various shops of the system and the remainder in the operating service. The shop workers' wages and conditions were settled by a conference between officers of the railway and representatives of the shop workers' organizations last winter. The present application is for a 10 per cent increase, and a uniform wage schedule on four different classes of work. The present schedule ranges from 40 cents to 70 cents per hour. The increase would mean a flat increase of 4 cents per hour for the lowest paid men and 7 cents per hour for those working on hourly pay basis.

The remaining 2,000 employees are porter, cooking and observation car service men. The first class occupied a 12 per cent increase, and a uniform wage schedule on four different classes of work. The present schedule ranges from 40 cents to 70 cents per hour. The increase would mean a flat increase of 4 cents per hour for the lowest paid men and 7 cents per hour for those working on hourly pay basis.

U.S. Prison Made Goods Finding Their Way into Canada

Toronto.—R. P. Clarke, chairman of the Commercial Protective Association gave further evidence before the royal customs commission, and he did not see why the importation of prison-made goods into Canada could not be stopped. He was interested in the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, which was doing splendid work. Canada was also interested in the question of prison-made goods, and there was a large number of Canadian workers' shippers and stationers employed on these articles. Mr. Clarke suggested that the Canadian Government should take steps to have the matter investigated.

Wheat Pools Pacific Terminals

Under the terms of a lease recently agreed upon between the Pool and the Vancouver Harbor board, No. 2 Terminal Elevator at Vancouver, owned by the Canadian government, will pass to the control of the Alberta Wheat Pool, August 1, 1927, for one year, at a yearly rental of $100,000. This terminal has a capacity of 1,500,000 bushels and cost in excess of $2,000,000.

No 1 terminal was leased to a private grain man at an annual rental of $115,000 a year. It has a capacity of 2,500,00 bushels.

Under the terms of the lease on No. 2 terminal elevator provides the Pool with a total terminal capacity on the Pacific coast of 3,750,000 bushels. The Prince Rupert terminal has a capacity of 1,250,000 bushels.

With 127 line elevators in Alberta and two big terminals at the Coast, the Alberta Wheat Pool will be in a better position to more advantageously handle its members grain.

C. M. Hall, General Manager of Alberta Pool Elevators Ltd., and W. J. Jackman and Low Hutchinson, directors of the Pool, are in Winnipeg this week negotiating with private elevator companies who offered for sale country elevators at certain points in Alberta, in order that the Pool might be able to serve its members with Pool elevators. The Alberta Wheat Pool has an authorized reserve fund totalling $1,217,945.6 and a subscribed reserve fund of $122,301.68. The total amount collected in reserves is $1,340,247.11.

The elevator interests is being eagerly sought in building or acquiring elevators at various points, the elevators are selected on the basis on deliveries at Pool wheat, covering a period of three years, and the acreage signed up in the district served by the shipping point. Naturally those places with a large acreage will get Pool elevators before localities with a small acreage.

On the books of the organization every member is credited with his proportion of the reserve. On the elevator reserve interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum is credited each member. Every member gets a statement yearly showing the amount to his credit in how reserve funds.

The question of how or when this money will be paid back is left entirely in the hands of the board of directors. The board has not yet decided how or when this will be done, but the probability is that it will be done in a revolving fund way.

All members will be treated alike. A member will not get his share in the reserve and money or when he is making a new contract. Neither will a member get his share any sooner by signing a new contract.

Northwestern Canada

New Map Reveals Many Features Of Interest

Canada is well known from east to west in a strip of varying width along the International Boundary but general knowledge is scanty and ideas are vague concerning the vast stretches lying northward from settlement. In these northern districts lie the raw materials for future development, the water powers of great rivers, potential forest resources, probably one of the greatest mineral reserves in the world and much land which may be put to productive use for stock and agriculture. Through surveys and exploration the country is being more accurately mapped and pioneer settlities have already penetrated into the north.

In a new map just issued by the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior, the great district compris the northern portions of Alberta and British Columbia, Yukon Territory and Mackenzie District are shown with the most complete information available. The topography is corrected to the latest surveys and all data relating to settlements, trading posts, missions and other activities is included.

A new feature added to assist travellers in the country is that of showing the magnetic declination or variation. The compass needle is directed atron (N) to the north but varying amounts from place to place and great confusion would arise if proper allowances were not made for this declination. Isogenic lines or lines of equal magnetic declination have been placed upon the map and these convey this information in a simple manner for any desired point.

The map reveals the vastness of the country, its varied character and the activities which are already under way. It may surprise many people to know that trading posts are now established at many points along the Arctic Coast and that a modern steam boat service is operated through the Mackenzie system making the far north accessible to the tourist, the sportsman and the business man.

The map is on a scale of 50 miles to the inch and is 24 inches by 34 inches in size. It may be obtained for the nominal charge of 25 cents, or ten 50 cents in folder form, on application to the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

We Must Save Our Forests

It is significant that many Canadian bank presidents and financial leaders in their annual reports on the business of the year 1926 laid stress on two things: (1) the importance of our forest industries to our domestic and export trade and, (2) the need for prompt and vigorous action to ensure that this great resource be not destroyed by forest fires.

Time was, in the memory of those still living, when the inhabitants of some Canadian cities were delighted when a pall of wood smoke swept over the district in early spring, for they said "That smoke is from slash fires. Shore must have been much heavier last winter; our river and harbour will soon be full of logs and business will be brisk." If they thought about consequences at all they considered that the 'slash' fires would clear the land for farmers, and that it logs were dfd fall there would be barrels and waste loads of wheat to take the place.

But the succeeding generation has learnt that much of this land, though capable of producing trees was unfitted to grow wheat and other farm crops, and that these repeated fires destroyed not only the young growth like hope of the forest, but in some cases, even the very soil itself. And people are getting over the idea that it is a fine thing to destroy that much of our land will not grow any thing but trees, when those trees can be put to the best use in the form of the finest structural timbers in the world, and by the pulp and paper industry manufactured into the most valuable commodities for which the nations are competing with ever increasing eagerness. The same thing is true about Canada's fishing industries in that, if Canadians will cultivate their love for the sea and preserve our fisheries with as much zeal as they do their forests, they will be able to draw enormous revenues from the forest again.

The financial leaders stress the point that our forests are a source of greater national income to-day than ever before. And on the principle that a dollar is a dollar whether it comes from the forests, the fisheries or the mines, the importance of conserving our forests is fundamental.

Canada has established her forest lands under a system of lease to lumbermen, and practically every province in the Dominion east of the Rockies has a system of forest reserves. Canada has established her forest lands under a system of lease to lumbermen, and practically every province in the Dominion east of the Rockies has a system of forest reserves. The Crown rent is by the acre, and the rate from those forests the Dominion and provincial governments derive a revenue totalling over $12,000,000 per year. That, in many people's opinion, is a pretty small return for nations that envious upon Canada's good fortune and good administration. Salmon Travel Long Distances

Marked by Silver Tags Measurements Have Been Traced

The Department of Marine and Fisheries has marked a considerable number of Atlantic salmon, by attaching silver tags to their dorsal fins, for the purpose of tracing the movements of these fish. A salmon that was marked in the Miramichi at Burns point, Port Maitland, Yarmouth county, Nova Scotia, on 11th June was killed in the Moise river, Quebec, in the early part of the next month, if the fish took the most direct route in travelling in the vicinity of 900 miles, but if it followed the larger indentations of the shoreline it travelled over 1,200 miles.

PETER AT THE TRANSFIGURATION

Golden Text: There came a voice out of the cloud, This is my beloved Son; hear ye Him—Mark 9:7.

Lesson. Mark 9:2-10; 2 Peter 1:16-18.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 61:1-6.

Explanations and Comments

1. Peter Witnesses the Transfiguration of Jesus. Mark 9:2-4 six days after the events in the neighborhood of Caesarea Philippi, Jesus took with him his three favored disciples, Peter, James and John (the three who were with him in the death-chamber of the daughter of Jairus, at the grave of Lazarus, and in the Garden of Gethsemane), and ascended a high mountain where he was transfigured before them. He led the disciples here perplexed and anxious during that week. Did that mysterious announcement of the Master's coming suffering and death come in there as an impossible for Him what they had declared the Christ (Matt. 16:16) was yet suffering in their faith? On the Mount the answer came, and then they knew that, however the mystery was to be explained, their Master was the very Son of God. The Transfiguration was His revelation of glory and power during His earthly life.

Jesus was transfigured. The fashion of his countenance was altered, says Luke (Luke 9:29); His face did shine as the sun, says Matthew (Matt. 17:2). It was not a splendor that fell on Him from without, and lighted up Him; the glory came from within. Even the Divine Majesty shone glory he had been communing with God on the Mount, and after heavy spent in prayer (Luke 9:29), Jesus would be united in spirit and a new light would shine from Him. His whole appearance would be changed—John 41. Paton, in his autobiography, speaks of the wonderful awe with which he and his brother looked upon the transfigured face of their father's face as he appeared after a time of seclusion when he had been talking with God.

2. Moses and Elijah Appear. It is a great lesson in prayer and I more that more are more in the life story into the Bible. It is difficult to tell how accomplished without a strenuous effort to shake ourselves off of the clinging material things, but it is worth far more than it costs. Jesus was wonderful as to a larger life. It was not a change, any more than there was one God, and I believe that the deepest life habit would show that it would introduce us to a larger life. It would not change our personality but it might change our spirit.—Charles Brown.

Where Mixed Farming Pays

Jersey Cattle and Sugar Beets Make a Good Combination

Sugar beets and Jersey cattle is the combination that Dr. Tolmie, provincial mixed farmer of Magrath, Alberta, banks upon as a better investment than the wheat crop. He has never irrigated farm he has a half a dozen purebred Jersey cows, three of which are milking and furnish 20 lbs. of milk and cream into the pail every day. This is the net price on it in Lethbridge, the nearest creamery.

A half section of land in the Magrath district has been sold at $90 an acre, which is still another record for that area for years. The report from Magrath says that most of the land in the district is being followed by plenty in the spring.

American Settlers Coming

Families From Dakota and Minnesota to Take up Land in Manitoba

Hundreds of settlers from North and South Dakota and from Minnesota will be located on land in Manitoba this year, according to John R. Ryan, of the Department of Colonization and Development, Canadian Pacific Railway, in St. Paul. Mr. Ryan said that already this year some 2,000 emigrants had been received in the St. Paul office, compared with only 300 last year. "Moreover, interest is being shown by American farmers in Canada this year than since 1912 and 1913," said Mr Ryan

A Big Pay Roll

Dominion Government Paid $74,092,000 to Employees Last Year

The Dominion Government paid $74,092,000 to its employees in salaries during the fiscal year 1925-26, according to the Dominion Year Book—$42,545,145, an increase of $1,700,000 over the previous year. Pensions amounted to $1,000,000. The number of employees were paid $10,483,355 salaries during the year, an increase of 1,000 over the previous year. The grand total of employees increased from 35,000 in April, 1925, to 39,154 in March, 1926.

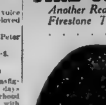
Take Over U.S. Interests

For the sum of eight million dollars cash the Dominion Securities Corporation has acquired control of the Canadian plants and timber limits of Provincial Paper Mills Limited, which was formerly controlled by United States interests. One of the five plants involved in the deal is located at Port Arthur at the head of Lake Superior.

Scientifically Designed

BALLOON TIRE TREAD

Another Reason why Firestone Tires are Better



WHEN Firestone engineers were developing the Balloon Tire they found it necessary to design a tread altogether different from that which is required by High Pressure Tires.

The projections of the cross-and-square tread are small and the rider edge narrow to permit the tread to clip to the road, giving the greatest non-skid efficiency. The wide, pliable tread has the non-scouring qualities that give thousands of extra miles of service.

This flexible tread must be placed on a flexible carcass. To provide this Gum-Dipping Strain Firestone dips the cords of the carcass in a rubber solution. By this process, every fiber of every cord is saturated and insulated with rubber, minimizing friction and wear.

If you want economy, comfort and safety of Gum-Dipped Tires see the Firestone Dealer.

Interested in New Sport

Canon Doyle Had Idea of Balloon Jumping Some Years Ago

The new sport of balloon jumping has aroused the interest of Canon Doyle, who conceived the idea some years ago of making small balloons or hydrogen bags to enable one to descend to pedestrian. Sir Arthur says, "I feel that too much should not be attempted. If the man is heavy and the man's weight and the lighter power is only a few pounds, and huge bags are made, it will mean a lot of control at the mercy of many accidents. What is needed is to turn the fifteen-stone man into a feather weight, so that he can come on his way swiftly and without fatigue. Better thirty-foot bags with small load in each and a few springs, where one may be the agony of pulls of wind or uneven obstacles.

Queenie Creek Stampede Association Passes Out Of Existence

The Gathering Place of Crack Riders Will Now be Known Only in History — Thoughtful and Generous Distribution Made of Surplus Funds — Local Athletic Association Gets $500.00 for Shower Baths

The Queenie Creek Stampede association has ceased to function and after any necessary that may be outstanding against it are paid, it will pass out of existence. This was the decision reached by the members at a meeting held last week. The funds of the association will be divided as follows: $100.00 to the Woods Orphanage at Olds, $100.00 to the Canadian Branch of the Red Cross, Edmonton, $50.00 to the Salvation Army at Edmonton, and the balance of the proceeds, probably about $500.00, to the Vermilion Athletic association for the purpose of installing shower baths in the gymnasium which will be built in connection with the new skating rink now in course of construction.

The association was formed some ten years ago, very largely through the efforts of Mr. Anthony Dixon who with the exception of a year or two, was its indefatigable president since its inception. It was upon his bunch of range horses that the association called for those wild bucking broncbos that defied many of the best riders of the West. The famous "Gold Dust Twins" will be particularly remembered as the unconquerable broncbos that stuck to him with bull like tenacity. Other bucking propensities, the twins simply rolled over any daredevil rider that attempted to ruffle himself with glory. It would not be done—the trim little animals took care of that. Commencing on a small scale and attended only by a few people, the stampede assumed such large proportions even in its infancy that it was a comparatively [illegible] estimate placed the value of the cars that covered the hillside overlooking the corrals and grounds at [illegible] It attracted spectators from all parts of the West and the contests were in variably replete with all the thrilling episodes the onlooker might wish. A few years ago the grounds were purchased for park purposes and this "outward mark of civilization" caused the association to cease operations. It was impossible to secure another location that would be large or convenient enough, so it was decided to close down. The magnificent stake ball and other buildings will be disposed of before the end of this year and now with the distribution of the funds on hand the curtain will fall upon one of the pioneers of the West, an association that evolved those rare and backing contests that used to be such thrilling events in the early days of Western Canada, but which until the last few almost entirely forgotten. The association will long be remembered as the gathering place of some of the crack riders in the West and where one would see some of the best bucking contests and hardest riding Alberta has witnessed in many a long year.

The association are certainly to be commended upon the distribution they have made of their surplus funds. All the objects are most worthy, and undoubtedly in some of the [illegible] fields [illegible] to be benefited. The [illegible] will be [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

On To The North!

The development of Canada is entering, in fact has already entered a new phase and one which holds promise of adding enormously to the population, wealth, and economic strength of the Dominion. In all the provinces, with the exception of the Maritimes, the attention of farmers must be directed to the northern hinterland.

The history of Canada shows that during the first half century of Confederation growth developed most east and west lines, beginning with the population in the west, the construction of the Hudson's Bay Co. lands in the west and the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway; then came the construction of the Canadian Northern and finally the projection of the National Transcontinental, Grand Trunk Pacific across the continent. Practically all trade moved east and west, and in time we may prophesy a long roundabout journey was frequently necessary in order to travel from one place to another only a comparatively short distance apart on a north and south line.

As a result of this trade development and transportation development, Canada became as a country of settlement and trade was developed on a narrow strip of territory. Settlement in the Canadian Pacific belt extending or from one province to another was confined to limited districts while in area are small compared to similar districts in the United States. Settlement in a broad belt is necessary because of the great distances between towns, and because of the great diversity of interests, a lack of knowledge of the needs and problems of the different sections. Maritimers, Ontario and Quebec, the Prairie West, the Pacific slope—a resultant sectional rather than a national viewpoint always exists. Only by the development of the northland and mapping of some point of contact can that condition be overcome.

It is a fortunate fact that Canada's development is now on the threshold of its second great development, a development northward, which will give the foundation what it has hitherto lacked, depth as well as length. From all quarters prosperity is returning, and there is every confident prediction that the next two or three decades will witness a complete trans-formation in this respect, and hardly a week passes that some new development in the northern hinterland is not reported.

Development areas financed by Canadian, British and United States capital and involving an investment of close upon one billion dollars, are under way in Quebec which will result in the establishment of great Indian trial plants, the increase of farms of thousands of men, the creation of new cities and towns, and an enormous expansion in the trade of the Dominion. These are practically all to the north of present settled areas.

In Ontario, the Provincial Government has decided to push construction of their railway through to James Bay, while considerable both old and new mining areas of Northern Ontario are undergoing activity in prospecting and development is in progress.

Manitoba has awakened to the possibilities of its vast northern territory and, as in Ontario and Quebec, the eyes and energies of the people are being turned on mineral and other power development there with all that this must mean in industrial expansion. The leaders men of Winnipeg realize they can no longer depend for future growth upon being simply a wholesale and distributing centre for the West.

The age-old demand of the Prairie West for an outlet on Hudson Bay is at last being met by aggressive action and the last section to be built will, before many months, be completed. It is interesting to observe that in this region are being employed to expedite this work Airplanes have for weeks been carrying men and supplies from the end of steel to Churchill, other airplanes will guard the Hudson Bay terminus, and aeroplanes will survey work in northern Saskatchewan, as well as in northern Ontario. Important branch lines of railway are to be built in northern Saskatchewan to connect existing railways with the road to the Bay, while the Saskatchewan Government has appointed a commission to make expert inquiry into the whole subject of power development within the Province.

Alberta has symbolized railways, well into the north of that Province, and it is now known there exists a wealth of oil, mineral and other resources in those northern districts to as well as vast tracts of fertile lands suitable for agriculture. Investigation is now under way to determine the route for a railway from northern Alberta through British Columbia to the Pacific coast.

Canada has long been a young man's country, a land for the hardy and resourceful enterprising and homeseeker. It is a land where effort is rewarded for the work of the energetic pioneer. The possibilities which greeted the western pioneer of the early eighties are not a whit of the past, and the frontiers areas existing to-day for the hardy settler in equal measure for the youth of today, and in the development more citizens will find ample outlet for their ambitions and energy, coupled with that ever-present resourcefulness from the opening up of a new land. For Canada as a whole a large field for investment and constructive outlet grow apace.

Husbands Desert Wives

Pitiable Suffering Caused in Many Cases by Those Deserters

The Montreal Star says: editorially: "Pitiable suffering is caused by the tragedy of husbands deserting their wives and children. There has been a marked increase of this crime, evidence for some years past. Statistics compiled from court records, in one own city, demonstrate the sad fact that fully 75 per cent. of the children placed in institutions or all kinds, and who are practically supported on charity, are "home-wrecks" who have been deserted by their fathers. And, think of it, in the majority of these desertion cases the mother was left ill. Here we have brutal cruelty on the part of husband and father.

A VERY RELIABLE HOME TREATMENT

How Weak, Run-Down People Can Obtain Relief

Among the many reliable home treatments offered for the maintenance or restoration of health and strength, there is none can compare with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Most ailments are due to poor, watery blood, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have a specific action on the blood, making it rich, red and pure. Through this richer blood the nerves are fed, the whole system nourished, and the functions of the body regulated. Instead of pain and suffering, weak, languid and nervous people find in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the strength through the use of this medicine. This was the experience of Mrs. John Bleau, of Williamsburg, Ont., who says:—"I am one of those unfortunate people who contained health through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I am pleased to Churchill for several weeks past. At the present time she drills are being put down for Churchill harbor by the time the ministers' party arrives the necessary data for the engineering report will be available.

French Woman Honored

Four Who Risked Lives to Save British Soldiers Receive Medals

Four heroic French women who concealed British soldiers from the Germans for months and even years at the risk of their own lives, have received London's tribute of praise and gratitude at the Mansion House.

Before a big assembly of British and French Staff Officers and subscribers to the fund raised in their behalf, the Lord Mayor presented to Mmes. Julie Baudouin, Delmont-Gobert, Angele Lenet and Lucie Cardon amenity certificates and illuminated addresses setting forth Great Britain's acknowledgment of their devotion.

It was a ceremony which vividly recalled the World War, and it took a poignant climax when an English father suddenly kneeled to thank the mothers of Mme. Cardon who for seven months had concealed his son behind the German lines.

After all that time the son, Corporal Hull of the Eleventh Hussars, was betrayed. The Germans shot Mme. Cardon's parents, condemning death, a sentence which later was commuted to twenty years' of hard labor

Her husband escaped only to lead an existence of great suffering, until the Armistice set him free, a fitting tim of his courage in helping to harbor the young soldier.

Mme. Cardon's daughter, when the Marseilles reached out in honour of the Londres of France, followed by the British national anthem, was christened in the eyes of all four women and few in the audience remained unaffected.

An interesting exhibit in the hall of the Mansion House was the six months' watch handed to Corporal Hull-Quartermaster-Sergeant Hull by Trooper Patrick Fowler of the Eleventh Hussars for more than three years.

To Visit Hudson Bay

Hon. C. A. Dunning Will Make Tour Over Northern Route in July

Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways; Major Graham Bell, Deputy Minister, and Frederick Palmer, British consulting engineer, will visit Port Nelson and Fort Churchill on Hudson Bay in July of this summer.

The minister's party, including several others, will leave the present end of steel on the Hudson' Bay Hall way and proceed by canoe to Port Nelson. From there it is possible that the party may fly north to Churchill in one of the seven passenger Fokker II which left Port Nelson for that district since early in the year.

Two Fokkers have been moving men and supplies to Churchill for several weeks past. At the present time drills are being put down for Churchill harbor by the time the ministers' party arrives the necessary data for the engineering report will be available.

A Sensitive Camera

Can Photograph Objects at a Distance of 200 Miles

Distant objects invisible to the human eye now can be photographed by a camera perfected by the Army Air Service.

The secret lies in the special film, which is sensitive to light rays that do not register on the eye. It is pointed out that in time of war, a plane equipped with this camera could take perfect pictures of enemy positions while the plane itself would be far out of range and sight of anti-aircraft batteries.

An enemy fleet could be photographed 200 miles off shore. The device may be used against the rising frost, for the position and name of each ship could be caught in a single picture taking in 100 square miles. It also has been suggested for forest patrol fliers for the exact location of fires.

Sold First Matches Hundred Years Ago

Invention of English Chemist Brought Him Modest Income

The centenary of the match has just been observed in England. Many newspapers printed laudatory self-trials on the match and its inventor, John Walker, a chemist of Stockton on Tees.

It is recorded in Walker's sales book that he sold a box of friction matches to John Hixon 100 years ago. Although he made and sold the matches, but were really wicks, had been sold before Walker's match was said to have been the first real one in two years Walker sold only 240 boxes of matches but after that the demand grew enough to furnish him a modest income.

Walker's box contained fifty matches and sold for a shilling. With it went a piece of sand paper.

Britain's Air Defence

Dangerous for Her to Fall Too Far Behind Other Nations

Public interest in aviation in this country is at a deplorably low ebb it simply does not begin to compare with the interest which is felt in France and in Germany, and in the latter country especially civil aviation has been developed to an extent which leaves us far behind in part this may be accounted for by the smallness of these islands and the greater obstacles to commercial success, but it is undoubtedly dangerous for Great Britain to be left far behind. Every instructed public opinion is required if we are to maintain the number of air squadrons which it is held necessary for purposes of national defence than was the Navy in the days of the great warfleets.—London Daily Telegraph

QUOTA LAWS ARE TO BE ENFORCED BY UNITED STATES

Washington. — Notice will shortly be given by the United States immigration authorities that after June 1 next residents of Canada born outside the Dominion who cross the border daily to work in the United States must conform to the immigration laws of this country. This means that those who obtained employment on the United States side of the border since the quota immigration laws went into effect must register under the quota of the year in which they first began working in the United States. Canadian-born residents who work on this side, but if who rather reaffirm the old law than set may now do so as heretofore.

The Canadian legation has obtain ed assurances that everything will be done to accommodate non-naturalized members already engaged in the United States, and that reasonable time will be granted to allow them, to take out permits under the quota laws. It is understood that British born were living in border towns before 1920, will be entitled to file applications for admission under the quota, which was adopted and therefore will not be required to apply for permits. Plans may be made for the sale and quotas for those who have been working in the United States for years.

"We are going to make it as easy as we can for everybody," said Commissioner Hull.

Apparently the regulations are designed to prevent new settlers coming from Canada to the United States, working in the United States, rather than to affect those who have been living in Canadian border towns for some time.

Well Known Horseman Killed

Captain Lidington, Victim of Horseplane Wreck, Was Bringing Shipment of Horses West

Ottawa.—Captain J. Lidington, who was killed in the train wreck at Horsepayne, was an internationally known horseman. His father, Major Lidington, and himself were conducting a shipment of thoroughbreds from England and had been in Ottawa for several days where some of the horses were disposed of. Major Lidington took ill while here and is the only fatality.

The son, on Easter Monday, proceeded, assisted by helpers Darnell Hall, H. Endersly, and Patrick Hancerick, all believed to have come from Thame, England, to load the horses into the baggage car. He remained with the horses until the end of the journey. The horses were all believed to have been killed in the wreck.

Fifty horses are believed to have all won races in the old country and was a valuable collection. Major Lidington was the breeder and the stallion in whole.

Mr. Pitblado dealt at some length with the matter of railway rates. He declared equalization of rates was an impossibility today. Any attempt to adjust the present system of rates to apply on the principle of an equal rate for equal mileage in every part of the country would mean changes and disaster to the commerce of the country.

It was the same necessary, he declared, to set about an adjustment which would enable the natural resources of the country to find a market, consider products, fish, etc., to ease from the point of production to the usual profitable market—and so facilitate the development of that market, both domestic and foreign. He said that the Canadian Pacific Railway in Montreal could serve his local market, of say 150 miles radius, in the same road, and transportation on the train for Winnipeg could serve his.

Equalization of rates, said Mr Pitblado, was no new idea. An attempt had been made in 1872 to put equalization legislation through the Canadian Parliament but without success and a similar attempt in the United States resulted in creating the Interstate Commerce Commission.

FORMER LABOR PRIME MINISTER AT WASHINGTON

Washington.—A peculiar trait is that when any familiar sounds was now right him. J. Ramsay MacDonald, former Labor Prime Minister of Great Britain, described himself to the Canadian Press correspondent here, when he arrives for a hehe to-day to Sir Esme Howard, the British Ambassador.

Mr Macdonald stated that his visit had no political significance. He said he was unable to reach Canada on his trip as pressure of business compelled him to sail for home very soon.

Asked if British Labor had reformulated its foreign policy since it was in 1919 in Canada, Mr. Macdonald said he had never been seriously alarmed that the policies of the Labor Party in Ireland would be unfairly used against British in there.

In the opinion of the former Prime Minister, the Baldwin Government had "fumbled," and the trend of political opinion was in favor of a return to a Labor Government in Great Britain on his main issue of the unemployment problem in Canada and Southwark.

New Fashions from Japan

Three young ladies who are travelling on the world around in the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland, were on board by the British customs officers they can wear the latest name could to Japan that the west and purchased one of the new garments, during the visit to the Orient. It is a very beautiful suit of shawl whose fabric can be worn in a number of different ways. The suit is very attractive, figured in floral designs and from the general appearance of them, it would not be surprising if these young ladies should be the advance guard of a new fashion originating from Japan Anyway, we make a present of the idea to the garment to our readers.

IS NOT POSSIBLE NOW TO EQUALIZE FREIGHT RATES

Ottawa. — After sittings extending over two years and occupying 106 days, the general freight rates inquiry by the Board of Railway Commissioners is drawing to a close. The inquiry is expected to be completed this week.

Isaac Pitblado, K.C., the last counsel to be heard for the province or other opposing rates increases, concluded his address and W. N. Tilley, K.C., Toronto, at once opened the case for the railways. He remarked on the changes which had occurred since the first important argument on freight rates was before the board, in 1911. Important changes had occurred in transportation conditions in those days there was only one trans-continental railway speaking of Canada. So, too, the people of this country was far more scattered and comprehensive than any previous investigation had been and the character of the board, when ordered, would be of the greatest importance to all concerned — to the railway, the producers and the nation as a whole.

Mr. Pitblado dealt at some length with the matter of railway rates. He declared equalization of rates was an impossibility today. Any attempt to adjust the present system of rates to apply on the principle of an equal rate for equal mileage in every part of the country would mean changes and disaster to the commerce of the country.

It was the same necessary, he declared, to set about an adjustment which would enable the natural resources of the country to find a market, consider products, fish, etc., to ease from the point of production to the usual profitable market—and so facilitate the development of that market, both domestic and foreign. He said that the Canadian Pacific Railway in Montreal could serve his local market, of say 150 miles radius, in the same road, and transportation on the train for Winnipeg could serve his.

Equalization of rates, said Mr Pitblado, was no new idea. An attempt had been made in 1872 to put equalization legislation through the Canadian Parliament but without success and a similar attempt in the United States resulted in creating the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In the opinion of the former Prime Minister, the Baldwin Government had "fumbled," and the trend of political opinion was in favor of a return to a Labor Government in Great Britain on his main issue of the unemployment problem in Canada and Southwark.

Mr Macdonald predicted a period of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics suffering from famine has been term credits to build means the ships for the Soviet, providing his announcement made to be in trade delegation of the Union. The plan was stated, was now under consideration.

During the four months of the current fiscal year, beginning with May, 1924, exports trade of Canada totalled $175,314,000, an increase of $15,000,000 over the same period last year, while imports totalled $176,000,000 Trading was carried on principally with eastern countries. The further reciprocity with Australia developed the population of Australia was now 11,145,000 and statistics showed a general improvement in the trade and industries since the 1921 period of depression.

Prevention Is Better Than Cure; Many Fires Caused by Carelessness

Carelessness is an asset, carelessness a liability. This is Fire Prevention week, but that does not mean that this is the only week in the year when everyone should be careful of fires. Truly effective fire prevention is not a one-man one-day job, it's a continuous community affair.

Regret never rebuilt a home nor restored a life lost by carelessness.

Probably there is not a fire area, but untidy and ill-kept communities are the most susceptible to fire attack. This is the time of the year when everyone thinks about cleaning up and burning the accumulated rubbish of the winter. Be careful of your bonfires.

Start to burn them in the daytime so that by the time you retire, your rubbish pile is merely ashes that a little water will douse and make them safe for the night, in case of a strong wind.

A careless flirt of a burning match or cigarette, disorderly piling of rubbish—any of these causes may result not only in property damage, but even in loss of life.

Above all, insure your property and

WOLF CUB NOTES

Three new Cubs were enrolled this week, Jack Readbeck and George Longley joining the Brown Cubs, and Leon Gould taking Joe McKelvey's place (he is leaving town) in the Tawny Cub six. On Friday last the Cubs turned in packs or three for a treasure, hidden by the Old Wolf in Mr. Thew's lumber yard. The first three successfully followed out the written instructions, returning in ten minutes with the treasure. To make sure, in a chocolate bar. The second three took 15 minutes, but the next, mistaking the right hand for the left, wandered out in the opposite direction. As they had seen the other Cubs return with candy, they jumped to the conclusion that the treasure must be in Longley's car, and Mr Gamboa had quite a time convincing them that it was not there. The Old Wolf sent them out again on their return, with the next pack, and this time they managed to track it.

On Tuesday half the Pack were given 10 minutes to lay a trail for the Old Wolf and hide themselves. The other half of the Pack took the time in picking up the trail, finding the hidden ones and tracking them to their hiding spot, which was in Mr. Gould's barn. Pretty good, Old Wolf says.

The Pack is divided into sixes and the leader of each six is called a Sixer. The Old Wolf has presented a silver watch on the Cubs, as this covered office will only be given to those who must observe it, regardless of age or size. Our motto is "Do your Best," so let's live up to it. Cubs'

Don't forget your Good Turn, but don't be like the cub who could not think of a good turn to do. So he went to a bin where there was a banana skin lying safely out of the way and he put it on the side-walk, so that if another cub came along he could have the chance of doing a good turn by removing it!

So all you can to make your six the smartest in the park Remember points can be gained by rendering a fine, remembering to bring your neck scarlet (take it to school if it is too late to go home afterwards), coming with clean hands and face, etc.

Our next meeting on Friday will again be out of doors, if the weather is kind to us. Don't forget your caps, sandwiches, cookies, etc. Meet at the Belfry on way to the hospital if the weather is bad to meet at Grace Church as usual

Presbyterial Convention at Vermilion

Substantial Progress is Made by W. M. S. During Past Year

The annual meeting of the Vermilion Presbyterial, embracing all the Women's Missionary Societies of the United Church between Lloydminster and Lamont, convened last Friday at Grace Church in the Vermilion United church. Seventeen delegates from outside points attended the convention. Mrs. (Dr.) Archer, the Presbyterial President, presided and the opening devotional exercises were conducted by the Lamont and Vermilion auxiliaries with Mrs (Dr.) M. A. B. Young as leader. Mrs C. W. Rose led in prayer and Mrs. M. S. Kerr read the Scripture lesson. After the minutes had been read by Mrs. A. B. Schrag of Vermilion, the reports of the various auxiliaries were submitted, all of which showed that substantial progress had been made during the past year. A large increase in membership and offerings was indicated and a fine spirit of enthusiasm was manifest in the various branches. The banner auxiliary is the Lamont W.M.S. which raised $626 for missionary work last year. The Lamont auxiliary is also contributing to the support of Miss Kendall, a former Lamont worker in Korea

The Mission Band report was submitted by Mrs J. E. Earle, Vegreville. Mrs J. D. Stephens gave an account of the Vermilion Mission Band; this report was especially encouraging, showing fine progress in both junior and senior departments. Mrs W. P. Williams, Lamont, submitted the Young People's work report. This is a new development of W. M. S. work and deals with the work done by young women between the missionary bands and the senior organization. The Auxiliary Department report was submitted by Mrs. Litzenberger, and it showed that although the allocation for the Presbyterial was $1250, this had been exceeded and that a total sum of $1307 had been raised; of this amount $1200 had been sent to Toronto for missions. This is a splendid showing and the report greatly encouraged the members, indicating as it does, substantial gains along the line. Mrs. C. W. Rose, as chairman of finance committee, intimated that next year's budget would consist only of 75 per cent of the allocation as the year will end in future on December 31st for all organizations of church work.

After the various reports had been submitted and discussed, Mrs. A. E. Scott, the Provincial President, gave a splendid address on the executive work of the W. M. S. Her mastery of details and her lucid presentation of all the phases of women's missionary work commanded the admiration of all the delegates. She stressed the fact that the financial objective was secondary to the great objective of the W.M.S. was to inculcate a spirit of service and prayer and consecration. To this object the members must devote themselves to private prayer. The financial needs of the church would not be neglected if first things were put first.

Officers committee appointed to bring in names to be submitted for election at the afternoon session (Director of Records) Ottawa, giving Regimental No., Rank, Name and C.E.F. Unit and present post office address, when the medal or decoration will be forwarded.

The committee appointed to bring in names to be submitted for elect the spirit of enthusiasm was ing year was as follows: Mrs. Thos Lund, Lloydminster; Mrs. R. Calvert, Vermilion; Mrs. J. Vegreville; Mrs V. A. Menzies, Lamont and Mrs. Neil McKinnon, Hillcrest.

During the afternoon session Miss M. Lang, Mrs. B. Whitbread, Miss D. Oakland and Mrs R. C. Hackbart, favored the delegates with much appreciated musical numbers. Mrs. H. N. Stephens presided at the organ.

At 6:30 p.m. the delegates were entertained in a splendid banquet, covers were laid for 65. The tables were beautifully decorated with daffodils and jonquils and laden with Vermilion's choicest viands. After the repast Mrs. Archer voiced the appreciation of the visiting delegates for Vermilion's noted hospitality and she promised that we would be over the W. M. S. when next year Lamont ladies would be entertained. Mrs. Lund in a few brief and humorous words Mrs Scott as the retiring president. Under the duties of a Provincial President were no doubt onerous but such a gathering and such a spirit as was manifest in this Presbyterial was abundant compensation for all the night trains and broken days she had to endure

The evening session convened at 8 p. m. The devotional exercises were in the charge of the Lloydminster auxiliary. The local auxiliary had prepared a delightful programme. Under the direction of Mrs J. D. Stephens in the absence of Mrs Clarke, the Junior Mission Band gave a charming reading and action song. Mrs Stephens' Band also under the direction of Mrs Stephens gave a short missionary pageant. The children in the pageant personified quite a most entertaining and educational feature. Representatives of mission bands and weeks representing the mission fields of Canada. Work in the different countries showed delightful musical number were rendered by Miss Myrtle MacDonald Mrs H. N. Stephens, Mrs Scott and Mr A. M West

The principal address of the evening was given by Mrs Scott. Aside her mastery of the acts and figures of the W. M. S. she demonstrated clearly that the W. M. S. supported 100 women workers in the foreign field and 225 in Canada. Last year the Vermilion auxiliary had raised $1117.00. They had not only raised this amount but had forwarded it to Toronto. The new policy of the W. M. S. is to keep the money in hand in every society at the end of the year. This avoids the evil of borrowing money while Mrs. A. M. Rose, Lamont, in a most interesting manner she described how the women of the United Church had accomplished the wilderness, clothing the naked and keeping any missionary in arrears or debt. It is hoped to increase the foreign as well as domestic economy.

The following officers were elected: Hon. President for the remainder of the year, Mrs. Peterson; Mrs. A. E. Scott, Lloydminster; Mrs. Rose, Lamont; Mrs. A. B. Schrag, Vermilion; Mrs. Litzenberger, Vegreville; Mrs. Whitbread, Mrs. Oakland, Mrs. Hackbart, Mrs. Lang, Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Lund, Mrs. Calvert, Mrs. Menzies, Mrs. McKinnon, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Archer, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Clarke

World Mean Serious Struggle

Vast Allen Interests in China Likely to Prevent Nation Going

Chang Tso-lin has declared him self ready to welcome any form of popular republican government in China, but is opposed to interference by the Soviets.

In China money can do anything. It is therefore conceivable that the Soviet government came to spend more money, though the power of Chang Tso-lin may be overcome.

If China goes Bolshevist she will probably follow the example of the prototype, and repudiate all her obligations. However, in view of the vast alien interests in China, and the rights vested by treaties in certain foreign powers, it is unlikely that China will be able to become Bolshevist without a serious struggle.

There could be no talk of a conquest of China such as sometimes she often suffered, though she always subsequently absorbed the tribe that conquered her. But the Chinese warlords are accustomed to compromise in face of superior military force that the outside powers would be tempted to occupy by invasion, and the temper and perception of erstwhile trade empires, adequate guarantees that the obligations of China would be maintained. No genuine military civil rabies would afford such an opportunity but it would not hasten in the unlikely way that America, Britain and other powers must desire the economic and social development of China.

PETER'S DENIAL AND REPENTANCE

Golden Text. Let him that thinketh he standeth, take heed lest he fall.—1 Cor. 10:12.

Lessons: Mark 14:53; 54, 66-71; Luke 22:61, 62.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 51:1-9.

Explanations and Comments

I. In the Palace of the High Priest, Mark 14:53, 54. The time is after the betrayal and arrest in the Garden of Gethsemane. Two painful events are being enacted in the palace of the high priest. Above in the Assembly Hall, stands Jesus before the Sanhedrin, the chief priests and elders and scribes, the Judges of the World is being judged by men who have so turned best on deliverance, the true God.

Below in the courtyard are Peter and Satan and Jesus star off, and the issue will be seen within, into the Assembly Hall, and the high priest. Mark tells us the proceedings is redundant, and suggests the idea of secret conference, which was to the Sanhedrin's advantage in the matter of securing a speedy conviction and sentence of the prisoner.

II. Peter's Denial, vs. 66-71. Peter was now outside in the courtyard, and while Jesus was being tried within, he was being tried without. Three times he was accused of being a disciple of Jesus, and three times he denied it. The first accusation was made by a maid, the second by another person, and the third by a group of persons. Peter's denial was emphatic, and at the third time he began to curse and swear. Immediately the cock crew, and Peter remembered the word of Jesus, and went out and wept bitterly.

White Star Liner "Alberic" 19,000 Tons, Largest Ever to Sail From Montreal

Another page in steamship history will be written this season when the Alberic, of the White Star Line Canadian Service, takes about double the number of passengers she has ever carried before. On April 21st, this will be the largest steamer ever to sail up the River St Lawrence, as far as Montreal.

Previous to this season the Doric and Regina, sailed regularly in the White Star Line Canadian Service, held the record for being the largest steamers to enter the port of Montreal. They are 12,000 tons each, the Alberic is 19,000 tons and, therefore 2,500 tons larger than Doric and Regina.

The Alberic is an R.M.S.P. steamship of the well known type known as "Big" ship, one of the world famous "37" class ships, and has been added to the fleet with a reputation equal to her size and, in addition to being a larger passenger liner in size than the St. Lawrence to Montreal, will be one of the most luxurious ships to make Montreal her terminal.

The Alberic will be used on the direct service to Liverpool eastbound from Montreal, sailing route she will call at Quebec, and she will leave Liverpool on her first westbound voyage under the new name on April 22 and will reach Quebec and Montreal on her first eastbound voyage on April 29.

Built in 1923, the Alberic is 587 feet long, 72 feet wide and 37.6 feet deep and she has accommodation for 1st class in the observation deck; "B" in the boat deck and "C" in the lower deck, the smoking room, the lounge, the reading room and a few staterooms.

"C" is known as the promenade deck. This is partially glass enclosed and offers the incentive to view the scenery, and in turn develops the appetite.

Below "C" are the bedrooms, also comprising a bedroom, with separate beds, sitting room and bath for those who on "B" deck are a few more suites, and staterooms topped off with the dining room, the haven of refuge after big expedition have been arranged on deck in the luxury and style.

They are three other decks, "E," "F" and "G" which are used for cargo purposes where no passengers will be carried at a restful sleep after the activities of the day on the upper decks.

The equipment of the Alberic on the whole, has been designed to include wireless telegraphy and submarine signalling apparatus, Lyrecord and Marconiphone installations, combined semaphores and other signalling appliances, while among other features there are no fewer than three means of passage, two lighter shafts, a ladies hairdressing room and a library.

The Alberic will make eight trips to Montreal this season, sailing from Montreal on June 2, July 7, July 21, August 27, September 24, October 22, and November 19, and on all these voyages she will carry cabin, tourist and third class passengers. She will leave Liverpool on the last Saturday in each month also will call on to-day at Glasgow.

Claims Television Has Spanned Ocean

New York-London Demonstration Promised by British Inventor

John L. Baird, young British inventor, claims to have established television between London and New York. He proposes to give a wireless telephone-television demonstration between London and a New York store shortly. A special receiving set has been built for the purpose.

Mr. Baird said that for several weeks he carried on his experiments between London and Coulsdon and a station twenty-five miles outside New York. A new station is being installed in America by means of which Mr. Baird says it will be possible to demonstrate the practicability of his invention. If these tests are successful, Television, Limited, the company of which he is technical director, will place television receiving set on the market at a cost of $100.

Widespread interest was aroused in London by the successful television experiments between New York and Washington. Although many experiments in television have been made in British, engineers of the General Post Office are not cooperating with the scientists on both sides of the Atlantic who are trying to help this new development with in search of the public. A post office official, when asked for a comment, replied, "There is much to be done before the post office aims at a push the service of "television."

Canadian Air Force

Four Modern Fighting Planes to Replace Obsolete Aircraft

Replacement of a few obsolete war type aircraft by a flight of four modern fighting planes in Canadian officers of the Canadian air force in the handling of modern planes is provided for in the estimates laid recently by Parliament, according to the Department of National Defence. The air service estimates passed by the House totalled $2,892,293. Of this $1,649,651 was for militia training and operations and $1,242,642 for civil aviation.

Besides providing for the two planes, the former estimates will enable the training on a small scale of a number of officers and staff.

The estimates covering civil aviation consist mainly of forest aerial survey operations for other government departments.

The program includes this year air patrols for the detection and suppression of over 2,000,000 acres of forested lands in Eastern and Northern Manitoba and Northern Saskatchewan, and for fire detection patrols of over 3,500,000 acres in the forest reserves in the Southern Rocky Mountains in Western Alberta.

The air survey program includes work in every province in the Dominion. The growing importance of this feature of the service has been recognized and the development of the resources of the north country are largely dependent on speed maps being made available of remote districts now becoming of great importance through their mineral or forest wealth.

Unable to Follow Custom

For the first time in history, the King of Spain failed this year to roll the time-honored procession of granting deed Friday pardons to a number of criminals condemned to death. The reason for this was that in all the prisons throughout Spain there was not a single man condemned to death at the time. The custom of pardoning started in medieval times, the King liberating so many as a dozen convicts under sentence of death.

Graeted Stir At Geneva

Uruguay created somewhat of a sensation at a recent session of the preparatory disarmament commission by introducing an additional treaty clause whereby the signatories would agree to limit the armaments of their land forces, including rifles, machine guns, howitzers, mortars, tanks and armoured cars. No such limitation appears on the draft treaty as at present constituted

Wool Growers Meet

At the 30th annual convention of the Canadian Wool Growers' Association steady progress was reported in 1926, the pool having handled 3,301,000 pounds of wool as against 2,557,834 the year before. It was reported that 10,000 growers in all the provinces had contributed to the Association's sales in 1926. Colonel Robert McIlvrai, the Veteran Ontario breeder, was re-elected president.

Operations of the Alberta Wheat Pool to Rupert Terminal

The Alberta Wheat Pool has loaded twenty-two ships with wheat from the 1926 crop at Prince Rupert and expects to bring the total up to twenty-four before the crop movement is ended this spring.

The Alberta Wheat Pool terminal at Rupert has already handled 8,186,000 bushels and the total will reach 9,786,000 bushels within a few weeks. This is a larger total than was anticipated last fall.

The Prince Rupert house was built and is owned by the Canadian Government, has a capacity of 1,250,000 bushels and is probably the fastest hand flag terminal on the coast. It is under lease to the Alberta Pool for a term of two years. Joseph Bennett is superintendent of this elevator.

Through the Pool's extensive operation, the Crows freight differential has disappeared and grain is shipped to Europe from Prince Rupert at the same rate as from Vancouver.

Of the twenty-four ships already loaded or consolidated, six carried grain to the Orient and eighteen to Europe.

Previous to the Pool's leasing the Rupert terminal, no wheat had been shipped from that port.

Kitscoty Woman Takes Own Life

KITSCOTY, Alta., April 25.—Mrs May Birkett, while evidently in a state of temporary insanity, committed suicide Friday afternoon by taking carbolic acid. She was very highly reported by all who knew her and was in the best of spirits when Mr. Birkett left for the field to work. Coroner G. L. Cooke of Lloydminster and Constable Farthing, A.P.P., were called and decided no inquest was necessary. The body was interred at Kitscoty on Sunday

Sudden Death of Kitscoty Pioneer

C. W. Phillips Was Engaged at Work Until Within Hour Of Death

KITSCOTY, Alta., April 25.—Kitscoty lost one of its oldest and most respected citizens in C. W. Phillips, who died suddenly Friday afternoon at the age of 57 years. He had been under medical attention some time, and was carefully looking after his business within an hour of his death.

He returned to his home and complained of being unwell and took an apoplectic stroke. Medical aid was summoned but he passed away without regaining consciousness. He was one of the pioneers of the district, coming from Cleveland, Ohio, twenty years ago. He has resided here continuously being engaged in business and farming, also taking a very active part in the village affairs, being mayor for a number of years. He was also a very active member of the Oddfellows lodge. The whole district was greatly shocked at his sudden death. He leaves his wife, one Ray of Lloydminster, and one daughter, Mrs. E. M. Mead, of Crossfield. The funeral was held on Sunday.

New Bodies New Colors New Refinements

AT NEW LOW PRICES

The art and skill of Fisher craftsmen are strikingly exemplified in the long, low lines of the New and Finer Pontiac Six bodies, in their smart belted effects and in their luxurious comfort!

Rich Duco finish, in the latest and most appealing colors, adds to the striking beauty of the New and Finer Pontiac Six. New refinements such as sweeping, full-crown fenders, new, higher radiator, tilting beam headlights, all combine in this car in a class far above that into which its phenomenally low price brings it.

And, back of all these evident improvements and advances stand the established Pontiac qualities of power, speed, stamina and economy—the qualities which won for Pontiac Six the most outstanding success ever accorded any new car during its first year.

Only by seeing the New and Finer Pontiac Six, by driving it and by learning its new, lower prices, can you realize how great a thing has General Motors done in the field of the low-priced six.

Oat Varieties at Beaver Lodge

(Experimental Farms Note)

Thirty one varieties and strains of oats were grown in red rows at the Beaverlodge Sub-station in 1926. Twelve were considered worthy of the drill plots.

Three of the twelve have been tested commercially since 1916. The others gave average yield for Victory in 87 bushels 25 pounds, for Liguwe 84 bushels 26 pounds, and for Daubeney (representing the very early oats, 62 bushels 8 pounds.

During the last nine years Victory has required an average of 124.1 days to mature, Liguwe 121.1, and Daubeney 108.8 days. Daubeney is thus 15.3 days earlier than Victory, but by short, thin straw, its limited yield and unattractive, long, slim kernel disqualify it heavily. It is not recommended for any important section of the Peace River district. Grubber in Alberta per O. A. C. No 3

The three requisites an earlier one than Banner, the new Ottawa variety, Liguwe, is strongly recommended. On an average of seven years trial it has given 5 bushels within three days of Banner.

If a new 5 bushel crop, has a heavier kernel and suitable Daubeney by quite a wide margin. In 1926 it was one of the four that stood entirely clear of harvest, the other three being Daubeney and the two hulless oats, Liguwe and Laurel.

The hulless oats Laurel is the new variety, but its straw is too short and weak. Liguwe, Liguwe possesses almost all qualities, excelling Victory in earliness, and in nine years' experience has justified its claims to be another native by producing the best oats obtainable as much best as Victory. Earliness and hull-lessness are the two special virtues of Liguwe, but in short, it has been kept perfectly true to type and is the most valuable variety to plant in the hull-bearing type.

As a farmers standard feed oat, nothing has been found better than Banner. The 1926 crop has pushed it to the top of the eight year average column with 84 bushels 12 pounds per acre, closely followed by Victory with 83 bushels 14 pounds. Liguwe 79 bushels 21 pounds. Abundance 76 bushels 10 pounds. Daubeney 57 bushels 21 pounds. and Liberty 50 bushels 20 pounds, contrast to 72 bushels 11 pounds of ordinary oats carrying 2 per cent heat.

Victory practically ties with Banner in yield and is a much superior oat in other out, more attractive also in the kernel. It averages 2-6 days later in a seven-year comparison. It may be if anything, a little more inclined to shatter.

In 1926, Banner was the only one of eight hull-less oats to stand up well. Its advantage on this account was plain to both the raisers. Another point in its favor is that it is seasonable. It may be awarded by a seeding that would be favorable to Abundance. Two and a half or three bushels of seed seed is plenty.

For general use we make no mistake on either Banner or Victory

Tragedy Prevented by Salvation Army Lassie

The tragedy of a gun is just a little of the meddling with which is the cause of most injuries and deaths.

Not so very long ago the newspapers told the story of a sad tragedy in which a young boy had accidentally killed his sister with a gun on a Manitoba homestead. The distorted fact of the matter was that the mind was sorely tempted to commit suicide and thus end his sorrow. He secured a gun and looked at it. Then put his finger and all will be over." the tempter seemed to whisper in his ear. He remembered that the gun was not loaded and all will be over." the tempter seemed to whisper in his ear. He remembered that the gun was not loaded it all and that "something happened" him. With great difficulty he put the gun down and put the two guns away.

Following this occurrence the father made a trip to Winnipeg, his mind full-crazed with its terrible burden. Was it just luck or Providence that led him to get in contact with a Salvation Army officer at this moment of humiliation Army? A chance word, a sympathetic enquiry and a few words of admonition combined with tact, brought the man to unload his mind at an Army institution where he was given help and taken in hand by the officer in charge.

Salvation Army Officers have a touch of sorrowing whose sphere lies especially where the condition in mental or spiritual rather than physical. The man, under wise and sympathetic treatment, recovered his balance of mind, was helped to a new outlook on life, and a new tragedy was averted.

Quite a number of birthday celebrations have been held recently among the little tots, naturally of a highly enjoyable nature. Among those we a birthday party given by Mr and Mrs. Arling Snape in honor of their daughter Marjory Madeline her 10th year; Mr. and Mrs E. M. Curry honored the 11th birthday of their daughter Phyllis with a similar event and Mr and Mrs Tom Taylor gave a celebration of a like order for Dan, Jr who reached the age of 7 years. Numbers of young friends were present at the several gatherings and had the time of their lives, joy and noise reigning supreme

Strawberry Fertilization

Effect of Nitrogenous Fertilizer Applied at Different Times During Life of Plantation

Final results of experiments conducted by the horticultural division of the Dominion Experimental Farm in strawberry fertilization are given in the report for 1922 on the Horticultural, which can now be had free on application to the Publications Branch, Ottawa. The results consist of the effect of nitrogenous fertilizer applications made at different times during the life of the plantation. The plots experimented with consisted of three fifteen foot rows and received eight pounds of nitrate of soda per plot, which three years were equally divided between the three rows. The fertilizer was applied on May 15th and August 1st, being shown in the spring. Three weeks after the first application was made the plants began to show the effects of the nitrogen, which produced a healthy green color and a vigorous growth. The plants which received the fertilizer in the spring made a much greater growth than those which received it in the fall. The plants which received the fertilizer in the spring produced a much greater number of runners than those which received it in the fall. The Age of Perpetual Youth

Hard to Determine At What Age a Man Really Grows Old

When Chief Justice William Mulock was bamboozled the other day as an evidence of the high esteem in which he is held, he stated that although he was celebrating his eighty-third birthday he meant to keep in harness and go on with his work as long as he had the soundness in body and mind his faculties were at their best.

Sir William Mulock, one of many prominent men in Canada who, after passing the age of eighty, are said to be keeping in their occupations.

No man can say the limitations of life could be tried, in the law, in politics, finance and trade, but there is a question to be asked in regard to the point of view of past generations as to the age at which men ought to give up the race for bigger and more important prizes. We of the farm have a contribution to make to this subject, which will be a surprise to many. We have in mind all those cases we know that bring the people of the countryside together for the purpose of helping one another. The farm bees or frolics, as they are called in some districts, the flying apart but naturally develops this disposition. We must have a common work to bring us together actually and when we wants bettering forming as an organization.

Usually called the people on the farms have come together during the past few years as a result of the pool movement, and the common ground of organization and marketing that has brought about the remarkable degree of efficiency which we have developed in the Canadian West.

Judging Character Of Broadcasters

Cannot Depend on Voices As They Are Often Deceptive

I saw an article in a contemporary the other day in which it discussed the question as to whether listeners-in to the broadcasting could judge of the physique or character of a man by his voice. Our subject expressed doubt whether this was possible, considering that Gladstone had a high pitched voice, and though Jowett had what was called a shrunken pipe, he was yet one of the most dominating influences of his day.

My recollection is that Bismarck certainly a strong character had a very poor voice. Richard Lake Whiting, the greatest orator of nineteenth century Ireland (except Daniel O'Connell), and also could move the House of Commons more than any man of his time was endowed by Gladstone to take care of the hearing of an iron on a tin can. Disraeli is supposed to have had a very poor voice, but his contemporaries always used to say that he spoke like a man with a pain in his throat.

The Only Restriction

People Who Attach Religion Must do So Decently

If civilization means anything it means consideration for other people and a certain amount of self-control. The theory of the modern cultural seems to be that under the influence of free speech we have the right to attack any one's religion a will, although God as the Apostle says, A Canadian pays had plans for a church, and we are very glad to support the court.

The point has not touch free speech personally or directly. The appeals can still present the case in the old fables of Pastor Lafleur—there is a Calvary or Windsor Dr. Lafleur, a new pulpit sample is necessary. Pastor Lafleur, better than any other in Canada, has the ability to make himself heard for a public purpose or give a complete history free of charge.

Census Test For Seed

From 98 to 99 Per Cent. Germination is Necessary For Grain Seed

Farmers at the present time are very anxious to ascertain whether their seed grain was at all affected by the bad weather of last fall. In view of this the following test, recommended by the Seed Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, may be of interest.

Select at random from the sample to be tested 200 seeds, which should be counted. Place the seeds in a shallow pan or dish between two layers of heavy blotting paper, which has been soaked in water and then squeezed out. Care should be taken to prevent the seeds being crowded. Keep the blotting paper moist at all times, but no free water should be allowed to stand in the dish. Keep the dish at the room temperature or 60 or 70 degrees.

After seven days, make the first count to see the number which have been germinated. Count the seeds a second time, make a final count. For red clover, which include wheat, oats, barley and the grasses should show not less than 90 per cent. germination, and for timothy from 75 per cent. to 85 per cent. germination is satisfactory. For peas 70 per cent. germination is satisfactory.

A point to notice in connection with seed grain is that a sample that is large number of the seeds will swell and will not germinate. This is due to the hardness of the seed. The Dominion Seed Testing Laboratories include those swollen seeds in the germination test, but they are kept separate from the rest, so that the germination test may be sending a sample to the Laboratories. The Seed Testing Laboratories either at Calgary or Winnipeg. For example, a one pound sample is necessary. For the test, a sample of about 100 seeds is taken from the bulk sample. The point to make, of course, is that the bad shedding of the early days in the fall and to post their every move, but the crowd, as shady person, who doesn't want the public to know about his business, simply perfects to keep the authorities puzzled and finds it easy to become swallowed up in the London.

England Keeps Tab On Aliens

Ordinary Tourist is Not Affected by Police Regulations

New York papers recently gave prominence to a story that Europe was in the throes of its first big international spy scare since the World War. Scotland Yard, it is declared, had redoubled its watch for spies at channel points and even American residents, who generally are considered harmless, must have identity cards and report their movements to the police. It was a good yarn, as Sunday newspaper features go, despite the fact that the police precautions referred to have been in vogue seven years. The situation, as explained by Mr Milton Bronner, a London correspondent who took the train ride to set his home office right, is one which grew out of the Great War when it was essential for the safety of the United Kingdom that every foreigner should be tagged. The precaution is at least a hangover, like many other nuisances bequeathed by the great conflict. The ordinary tourist, who visits England for a few weeks is not affected at all and will not be. The police rule is that aliens must apply to the police for an identification card if they are making an extended stay in Great Britain. Each subject of a foreign country appears before his naval supply the nearest police headquarters with three copies of his photograph. One of these is passed in the identity book given him and the others are retained in the files of the police. There is no annoyance, no third degree stuff, nothing but queries, efficiency and business like method. Investigation before Mr. Bronner, "the system is kept up so that if, for any reason, the police want to get at a foreigner, they know where to find you. But, like so many nets spread by the authorities, the meshes are so wide that the big fish want to catch slip through." The point he makes, of course, is that the law abiding citizen has only the law and is past their every move, but the crowd, as shady person, who doesn't want the public to know about his business, simply perfects to keep the authorities puzzled and finds it easy to become swallowed up in the London.

Community Spirit

People On the Farm Banding Together For Their Own Good

Uniting the past two or three years there has come to our native province a considerable number of community enterprises, most of them of a very commendable character. It would appear that here in Saskatchewan, community work co-operative work has got a firmer hold and has developed markedly during the past three or four years.

We have in mind three or four particular incidents. One is a district that has built up an agricultural fair of a high character. It would, if it had not been able to secure, because of its location, any government assistance. This community has been building, running upwards of $2,000 and constituted itself in such a way that they will be used for exhibition purposes in the summer and as a community hall and rinking rink in the winter.

We have in mind some or two rural districts that have set out to improve the cemeteries in them and provided for their decent upkeep hereafter. Still a third district has been doing much the same thing, and with a little and through making a social, while the time of better days. The same work was going on in a number of other districts. It was a lighter ideal for the people in the districts in all activities.

We have in mind all those cases we know that bring the people of the countryside together for the purpose of helping one another. The farm bees or frolics, as they are called in some districts, the flying apart but naturally develops this disposition. We must have a common work to bring us together actually and when we wants bettering forming as an organization.

Usually called the people on the farms have come together during the past few years as a result of the pool movement, and the common ground of organization and marketing that has brought about the remarkable degree of efficiency which we have developed in the Canadian West.

The Men Who Know McLaughlin-Buick Best

It is from the man behind the wheel of the McLaughlin-Buick that the most sincere expressions of appreciation come. It is upon the experience and the judgment of the man who knows McLaughlin-Buick that this car has become the standard by which all other cars are measured—the literal basis of comparison of automobile values.

Year after year, by dint of constant improvement as detail, yet upon the unchanging principles of McLaughlin-Buick construction and quality, McLaughlin Buick maintains and increases its undisputed leadership among quality cars and adds to the numbers of those who respect McLaughlin-Buick because they have knowledge and experience of McLaughlin-Buick comfort, beauty, performance and endurance.

Upon the verdict of the McLaughlin-Buick owner, McLaughlin Buick confidently rests its case.

Mail carriers on the various district routes have had weekend trips to make the worst of any experienced all through the past winter season. One carrier reported making half a mile in two and a half hours and another covered a distance of a mile in three hours—heavy roads and mud holes were the main causes of trouble. It is a tribute to these men that despite the hardships encountered the regular rural mail service was not interrupted. Truly an enviable record.

His Honor Judge Morrison has handed down his decision in the case of Hannah vs Kislak. This was an application heard at the sittings of the district court held here two weeks ago to set aside a bill of sale made by the defendant in favor of his mother. It appears that the plaintiff had registered a judgment against the defendant a day or so before the bill of sale was made. The judge held that the sale was made for valid consideration and is therefore good as against the execution creditor. Mr. Turner of Vegreville argued in support of the application, while A. W. Ebbett K.C. appeared for the defendant.

There will be a public meeting in the C. N. R. Community Hall on Monday evening, May 9th at 8 o'clock, to make all arrangements and appoint committees to look after all details for the Celebration of Canada's Diamond Jubilee, July 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

It is especially desired that the officials of every organization in Vermilion and district be present at this meeting so that the matter may be thoroughly discussed from every angle.

It is the intention to hold a combined religious service on Sunday evening, July 3rd in some suitable place. We would therefore especially request the ministers of all denominations to attend this meeting.

The annual club meeting was held Friday evening in the Rec hall and it has been years since so many enthusiasts has been shown. The meeting that rushed on were full of pep and enthusiasm. The reports that were read by the secretary showed the past season was a most successful one, both financially and in the matter of play.

During the closing weeks of last season the team had a speedy aggregation This season there are many very best off, so they have all the old players and new ones. It is not expected that the season home games will take place on the local diamond. Practices are now on and the team is looking forward to a successful season. Manager Ross Bell will be in charge of baseball matters this year, while he is using a good head in the selection of his players. "Well, for the love of Pete, have you torn your shirt again? Well, I'm not going to mend, it's worn out any way! I guess I'll go to the English Church Banner Bo Saturday at Grace Church. Maybe I can get to be a chief at the second-hand stall. I hear they are having all kinds of things for sale—very cheap. There's a trumpet there for one thing—but what do I and mend. If you've been all here church services are always having sales and bees. But there—nowadays to think of it, we go to the movies nearly every week, so I suppose we shouldn't begrudge 50c to the church once in a while. Goodness knows I seldom put in more than 1½ dollar when I go to church and I suppose everyone has to help support it, so I may as well do my bit."

WOLF CUB NOTES

The Pack turned out in full for the hike to the golf links last Friday night. This might not appear much of a hike, but was far enough for Baden-Powell Cub logs.

After practising the Howl and the Leap Frog Test, the Brown and Tawny Owls played football, while the Green prepared the "teas." The Cubmaster thought there was enough food to feed a regiment; however, everything disappeared in a remarkably short time. The Browns cleared up, burning all paper bags, boxes, etc and left everything tidy. By that time it had turned decidedly chilly and rain began to fall, so the Pack fell into line and marched home again, feeling very particular to keep quiet, passing Sambo. Although somewhat damp outwardly, everyone very cheerfully agreed that they'd had a good time and would do it again at a later date.

Nearly all the Cubs have turned in their $1.50 for cap and neckerchief; there are still, however, a few who have not done this.

CUBMASTER.

SCOUT'S HONEST DEAD RECKONING

Mounted on the top of Mount Vulcrise the old fort which was the last to capitulate to the German siege of Paris in 1870, the searchlight's rays will reach northward, touching points from England some after they round the French coast and leading them eastward until the Libya aerial highway is reached when they will begin pointing the way to Marseilles.

The Mount Valerian light has ten reflectors, each about six feet in diameter, using arc lighted by a hundred brake power plant. The searchlight will be owned only when fog-bound but it is prepared to handle the regular aeroplane service from London to Marseilles.

Ray Smith joined up on Friday and is now a Brown Cub.

Cubmaster Jones is at present on the waiting list as the Park is full. As soon as another few join up we can form a new Six.

The New and Finer
PONTIAC SIX
Youthful, Pakish, Colorful

EVER since the Pontiac Six first took to the road, folks have been wondering, "When will General Motors build a sport roadster on the Pontiac Six chassis?" Now comes the all Pontiac Six sport coupe, open in summer and enclosure to be offered at a challenging, low-swung two to four passenger type!"

Now . . . here it is! As fine as a thoroughbred, as happy as a lark, as smart as a debutante just back from Paris.

Laurence Blue is the powder-puff name Laurence Blue Dress brightened by swaying in Fannie Hill. And just as far from the commonplace is everything else about this coupe. Colorful, distinctive, sophisticated, refined, gracefully comfortable, yet of double strength and economy—and a roadster, having once dash with a spirited disappearing rumble seat!

You never saw a roadster to match this coupe—or a coupe to match this roadster—in style, in performance, in anything else. And if there's room in your heart or purse for more than one car, you'll find room for this exquisite combination of beauty and economy.

Bullet Smashes Through 'Phone Exchange Window

Came From Unknown Source and Caused Considerable Excitement

A "mystery bullet," which crashed through one of the front windows of the Government Telephone Exchange building yesterday forenoon, narrowly missing two members of the staff, is now in the hands of the police and a diligent investigation is being instituted to solve the source from which the rifle was discharged and if possible locate the party who fired the deadly missive across one of the busiest thoroughfares of the town, causing much excitement.

The telephone exchange building is located on the north side of Main Street and faces south; directly opposite on the other side of the street between Stephens Limited and Law's Garage, is a considerable vacant space extending back of the lane to First Street. It is considered that it was from this direction that the bullet must have winged its flight, though except to say, in respect of the discharge seems to have been heard by anyone. Our veteran police magistrate, P. J. Pilkie, had the most exciting experience in connection with the episode. He had left the office of the town clerk and passed in front thereof in front of the Telephone Exchange, when he heard the whine and 'zing of a bullet and a rifle report sensation in his left leg, but thinking no more of it, he proceeded on his way. It was but until later that this information was obtained when he was accosted by one of the operators in the local exchange Mr Pilkie dash (for which he can be forgiven) a few minutes before when passing down the sidewalk. After considerable search the bullet was found lodged by W. J. Pilkie in a corner of the office and proved to be a .22 high power and was badly battered.

Mr Pilkie undoubtedly heard the report of the missive as it ricochetted from the roadway and in its upward course pierced the leg of his pants, tapping the fold sufficiently for him to be aware of a contact, though he did not hear the smash of the glass as the bullet passed through. Mr. Roosevelt and A. Pilkie are of the opinion that shots were in the immediate vicinity of the flying glass and it is a miracle that the wanton action of the individual who fired the shot did not result more seriously than it did.

Four hundred copies of "The Radio" the official organ of the Vermilion School of Agriculture, were turned out at this office the first of the week. The school staff, secretary and president of the Alumni sponsored the May issue. The number contains much interesting matter and is mailed to all students, ex-students and former members of the teaching staff of this institution.

DIAMOND JUBILEE OF CONFEDERATION.

His Worship Mayor Fallow has called a public meeting of citizens for Monday next to take up the matter of celebrating, in common with the rest of the Dominion of Canada, the diamond jubilee of confederation. Every class of the community should be interested and the committee — which will be appointed at this meeting will be designated a Diamond Jubilee committee, including in its composition the municipal council, educational authorities, church representatives, societies, and other organizations. The function of the committee will be to arrange programme for Dominion Day, Saturday (the day following) and Monday and to make necessary entries to deal with matters such as finances, decorations, participation of societies, sports, parade, publications, music, etc. A general order for the three days' celebration will be drawn up by the committee.

On the Sunday, the National Committee has suggested that joint community Thanksgiving Services be held in the several and it is hoped to provide orders of service with suitable hymns, for the guidance of the churches and for Sunday School services.

Work on educational character is planned to be carried out through the Provincial Governments of which this paper will deal fully later. In the meantime it is urged that everyone patriot turn out to Monday night's meeting.

VES, HE'S THE MAN

He may wear last year's straw hat, his finger nails may need manicuring; his vest may bang a little loose, and his pants bag at the knees; his face may show the signs of a second day's growth and the tie dinner bowed he may have spent little time on, but he's a man, and doughnuts; but don't you call him the "old man." He's your father.

For years and years he has been rustling around to get things together. Never sure has he failed to be the right judge for the family. He thinks you the greatest boy on earth, he sure, even though you pioneer your self back, wear smart clothes, smoke cigarettes, and fail to bring home a rest. He is the man who sees the love and life partnership of his best, best woman on earth—your mother

He is "some" man and not the "old man." If you win as good a wife as he did you will have to go some.

Again Brandon smiled weakly, and indicated the bandages. "She is to blame for that. But I do not think she will give an alarm. That will await the men you left in the barn. The police will not be concerned much, when you have returned to them the plunder you collected. When you have sent them that, you will be as I said—paid double."

The telephone exchange building is located on the north side of Main Street and faces south; directly opposite on the other side of the street between Stephens Limited and Law's Garage, is a considerable vacant space extending back of the lane to First Street. It is considered that it was from this direction that the bullet must have winged its flight, though except to say, in respect of the discharge seems to have been heard by anyone. Our veteran police magistrate, P. J. Pilkie, had the most exciting experience in connection with the episode. He had left the office of the town clerk and passed in front thereof in front of the Telephone Exchange, when he heard the whine and 'zing of a bullet and a rifle report sensation in his left leg, but thinking no more of it, he proceeded on his way. Mr Pilkie undoubtedly heard the report of the missive as it ricochetted from the roadway and in its upward course pierced the leg of his pants, tapping the fold sufficiently for him to be aware of a contact, though he did not hear the smash of the glass as the bullet passed through. Mr. Roosevelt and A. Pilkie are of the opinion that shots were in the immediate vicinity of the flying glass and it is a miracle that the wanton action of the individual who fired the shot did not result more seriously than it did.

"Not to be concerned be the little drama in the mist, to night," he said, between his teeth. "Your patrons who were robbed will receive their cheques, I have reason to believe. They will be home the worse for their experience. They may not know of it, of course, but they played their parts tonight in a great adventure."

Meanwhile, Joanna, her wrap untastened, her white hands tensely gripped to the wheel of the gray car, fought her way along the narrow road. When she topped the ascent, just above the village of La Turbie, little pin points of light shone up. Far down out over the sea, the Riviera, house at the base of Cap Martin, glowed like a far away eye of the night. The mist was lifting, and with the threat of dawn. Beyond La Turbie the country, although clearer, was likewise. The keeps along the sea boulevard were discernible.

The thought of Kenilworth, still, rapid, with the other men in the hidden lure of the bandits, bothered her for a moment. An impulse came to turn around and, with the road partially clear, now, feel her way back to the hut she was certain she would recover her self. But she realized, pick up someone at La Turbie to help her awaken the country side. But that would only delay her, however, could dark behind her wheel, not that it'd fit speed.

The reports of Villa Angelo were capped by the rising campaign of the disturbing mist. A softer light, near the entrance gate, gleamed dimly. As she guided the car along the winding road to the house among the vagus, gray shapes of the arbors and pergolas and pavilions which, in another few hours, were to be a blazing, fantastic background for her brilliant and lavish fete—the fete of hidden girl, and, also, for "Swan Song" For Brandon had said "I am the one" and he had said, too, "Whatever you have is to be taken from you. There shall be no more mercy."

When she drew up in front of a side entrance to the villa she saw that the house itself was also dark. She had expected to find lights and summon a servant with her horn, and decided to leave the car in the roadway and go in quietly. She resolved for the absence of her room which thronged the great hall.

At the pinkness villa doors she was troubled by the thought that she had not spoken to her part in many any more of her servants as was awaited her return, but, then had to be summoned by the bell. She tried the door, however, and found that it was unfastened. She closed it softly behind her and felt her way across the reception room to the draped arch that opened into a set down used drawing room. Across this room would be the grand hall from which a stairway led to the upper floors. When she was drawn up to the heavy, double drapes which hung in the arched door Hat opened into the bigger room she stopped, undecided. Between the curtains a line of light shone. She heard murmur of voices. convinced that it would be servants awaiting her return she pulled the curtains aside and step ped into the room. Then she stood bewildered.

The voices emitted by the curtained room of them she recognized as Lucien, the other John's And the far end of the room she saw them, before the gentle glow in the fireplace, the cold, inhuman face of the room Vicente, fierceous and fire-like, her almost body wrapped in the same distracting lace—and Brandon had tangled her in his arms. John!

For one brief instant the flight before her unbolted, and a sunned a statuesque shape. Then the sound of her in the fireplace burst into a flame of hell, and died again into something that stared as a grotesque mockery. Joanna's wrap fell from her shoulders. Her little hands dug into her breast, but gave the cause her body no pain. The little figure in black stood, then, utterly lost to every thought but of what she saw and heard

"I have never known love until now! All else has just been a crime. It is you who have shown me the glories of love! Please my wonderful dear, will you take me in—and conquer me."

John's voice, that was: John Paulson and pleading and humiliation. All those memories of adoration, submission hope and prayer and yearning that Joanna had never heard in it.

Now, Vicente—low, silvery endearments, infinitely sweet, and his silky soothing

"Are you content will you be content to serve me from me like that is the only kind that I may give you? The love that has blossomed and withered so many times. Miss one never be a pure love, my friend And I may never promise its constancy. It is the curse that you may wear only while you can defend, and keep M. That is what is said of me, and my love, my dear, and I must not say to you that what is said is untrue. If we love, you and I, and if I give to you the portion I may spare you, you must be content. It can never be a holy love —there must always be something wanton in it. It must be the kind we take and put aside. Will that then, satisfy you

He crept closer to her. She put her hands about his face, warm, over-warm hands. Her rich, soft, round lips—lips that were a slam of all love-madness since the world began went down to his. Then it was John's voice again:

"There can be no other love so wonderful as you can give. In any way that I may have it, if it be pure or deified, I want it."

A second, a moment of them. A frenzy of them, surged to Joanna's lips—and halted there. It was Vicente who rose, slowly, almost gracefully, Joanna saw, as it is were some strange, fantastic symbol tall and form at the rim of a distant horizon, a smile, a faintly lined, queer, and fleeting smile, as Vicente held Him And John's arm and on his feet, some-dazed and mare-like. Again that low, soft, silvery cadence of Vicente's voice.

"What a pour, dampish thing you are, my friend" He pouch, my dear which is another love, pouch in the heart and the soul and the wonder of her! Pouch but do it on your own time, not on mine. Please. Miss Joanna I've taken the trouble to give you. Tell her that you've learned that, that you have to be taken from you. There shall be no more mercy."

Then he drew up in front of a side entrance to the villa she saw that the house itself was also dark. She had expected to find lights and summon a servant with her horn, and decided to leave the car in the roadway and go in quietly. She resolved for the absence of her room which thronged the great hall.

World's Laziest Creature

Fresh Water Tortoise in London Zoo Takes Life Easy

The modern term to "be on a log" has finally reached the Monarch of Indolence in the London Zoological Gardens, which is known there as the world's laziest creature. Pendulous is walking the cable height of every other living creature, including the fresh water tortoise, or turtle, which reduced the science of lethargy to a minimum of ease and comfort. For months it has in one corner of its tank, with scarcely a change of position, and only to gulp down a fish's cake which its fellow inmates carried to it. Even the animals keepers are alarmed by the amount of attention he attracts.

Suddenly it was discovered that he was getting the equanimity of all his mates but apparently it is necessary down again to another long rest.

Untold Wealth in Dead Sea

Is Fabulously Rich in Mineral Salts Says Chemists

The Dead Sea, so salty that fish and seaweed cannot live in it, has prospects of coming to agreeable life as a chemical production centre.

Scientists who investigated for the Hebrew University have reported on a project for the Government for the Mount, which it says is indisputably the richest salt sea in the world. Its waters contain 25 per cent of salts, against 3½ per cent in the ordinary ocean.

The chief ingredients are chloride of magnesium, of which the Dead Sea contains 22 per cent, while chloride of sodium, or common salt, makes up only 8 per cent. Potash and bromide are present in smaller quantities.

The Dead Sea is 1,292 feet below the level of the Mediterranean, and is 47 miles long and 10 miles wide. Its deepest point is 1,300 feet. Its surface is 1,000 feet below the Mediterranean.

The scientists say that there is enough bromide in the Dead Sea to supply the world's requirements for many years to come. Bromide is used in the manufacture of photographic plates, and in medicine.

Potash is used in the manufacture of fertilizers, and the Dead Sea contains enough potash to last the world for many years.

Eternal Vigilance The Price Of Community Health

"We have among us just that amount of communicable disease that we want to have," declared Dr. J. L. Biggar, Chief Commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society, in speaking to the Samaritan Club at the Continental Institute in Toronto recently. "When people are ready to eliminate communicable and, therefore, preventable diseases such as diphtheria scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough and even tuberculosis itself, these will disappear with smallpox and typhoid into the limbo of medical memories.

Dr. Biggar's remarks were made about time before the present disastrous epidemic of typhoid fever had attacked the city of Montreal, but it was expressing the views of the medical profession in both authoritative and in the minds of fairly well-read when he classed smallpox and typhoid fever as diseases which to-day ought to be merely medical curiosities. The Editor of Toronto Saturday Night evidently agrees with this point of view for "In the April 2nd issue of that popular journal, the following views on community health are expressed on the front page:

Outside the Montreal typhoid epidemic are disgraceful in the twentieth century, when the preventability of that once common disease has been established beyond peradventure. But such instances of personal indifference and criminality should not obscure the high standing of Canada, taken as a whole, in the field of preventive medicine. In no field have Canadians shown greater initiative or made more notable contributions to the progress of civilization than in medical research and preventative medicine. Most readers are aware (except or other wise of the achievements of world famous leaders such as Osler, Mygatt, Banting, McCrae, Barker, and others who have placed Canada high, in international scientific circles. Some perhaps are not aware of the fact that Dr Hastings, Medical Health Officer of the City of Toronto is famous throughout Europe and America as the conqueror of typhoid a victory which involves efforts and failures based on a system unusually wide and efficient in its results in cases.

"But generally speaking it is doubtful whether many of us are fully cognizant of the remarkable [illegible] done on behalf of public health which have been in progress in many parts of Canada.

"A recognition of this was evidenced however in the speech of the Governor General Lord Willingdon, when he [illegible] at the opening of the Red Cross Preventorium established in connection with the Toronto Hotel Association. He said in part 'I am tremendously impressed with the fact that during my term in India, the Governor and Lady Willingdon had no joint more hearts and keep the public up to the mark for such work as you in Canada so splendidly achieve. Without any desire to curry favor with my fellow Canadians, I say sincerely that never before have I seen a people so anxious to do social service by work and by money."

Enlist Paint Brushes for War on Dirt

Don't neglect painting up. Paint-up gave habit in hand with clean-up. When you have dusted and mopped and swept the corners and the open spaces, put the paint brush to work. It will be easy to keep things clean then.

A painted surface does not accumulate dirt like an unpainted one does. Besides, dirt is more obvious on a painted surface and less apt to be ignored. Paintness is the best incentive to cleanliness, which you know, is "next to godliness."

Make the paint brush the partner of the scrubbing brush. They make a whole team. Enlist both of them for clean-up and paint-up.

Testing Machines Unsatisfactory

EXTRACT FROM HANSARD, HOUSE OF COMMONS, APRIL 13

Discussion Regarding Testing of Wheat for Moisture

MR SPENCER: (Battle River) I should like to draw attention to the very unsatisfactory state of the moisture testing machines that are being used by the elevators to-day. These testing machines when first brought out were supposed to be a very valuable asset to the grain growers. To-day we are realizing that they are not satisfactory. You cannot get guaran teed results from them. For instance, you can take three or four samples from the same bin, have them tested by different machines and get different results in each case. I have sent three tests, one to Winnipeg, one to Edmonton, and one to the local elevator, and got three separate results. 12.0, 11.60 and 13¼ per cent moisture from wheat from the same bin. I draw attention to this because it is the farmer who has to pay for these unreliable testing machines.

MR. SPENCER: I support the last speaker for Bow River in his criticism of the moisture testing machines, particularly in respect to their use by local elevator men. Those machines are so unreliable that samples taken from the same bin will often give different results. The minister will appreciate the seriousness of this. A difference of eight cents per bushel between dry and tough grain represents amounts to between $300 and $400 to each farmer who has to bear the heavy loss. This is the reason for the discontent that prevails in regard to these machines

MR. MALCOLM: (Minister of Trade and Commerce) The question of testing grain for moisture is an important one. I have had some experience in the matter and it is difficult for the non-technical man to figure the exact humidity in grain, even when the tables are made out mathematically. There is great deal of difficulty in this point for raisers, but the trouble is to get a clever enough man to work out the humidity. There are, however small machines which are easier of operation than the present type. I can speak with some assurance on this subject, of which I have personal knowledge, and I will discuss it with the grain commissioners and give them to the benefit of the experience I have had

"I can most heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all weak people," says Mrs. Malcolm Bagnall, Wellington Station, P.E.I. "Before I began their use I was very weak and nervous. I was always working hard, with no thought of my health, until suddenly my strength left me, I began to feel tired and depressed, and did not sleep well at night, feeling just as tired in the morning as when I went to bed at night. I began to feel discouraged as I knew I should think of the work necessary for me to do. I got some medicine from the doctor but it did not benefit me. It did not appear to meet my case as I showed no improvement while taking it. Then a neighbor advised me to try Dr Williams' Pink Pills and I got a supply of this medicine. I very soon found they were helping me, and I continued their use until I was well again, and I have been ever since well ever since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do one thing—and do it well. They build up, purify and enrich the blood, and so the blood supplies the whole body, now life is given to the entire system. Better sleep, steady nerves, improved appetite, increased vigor, all these can be yours by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Begin today. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail, 50 cents a box from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Motor Drivers in Britain

One on Twenty of Inhabitants is a Motorist

How many people are there in Great Britain who actually drive motor cars or vehicles?

The figures issued by the ministry of transport showing that 2,190,946 licences were issued last year in respect of cars, commercial vehicles and the motor cycles do not, says the Daily Mail, give an indication of the number of people who actually drive, nor of the number of vehicles licensed, as many properties of the licences were for quarterly period.

But there is another return which gives $2,949,570 as the amount received for driving licenses. In this case is included a very small amount received in respect of unpaid car licenses. Driving licenses cost $1.25, so that there were more than 2,200,000 actual drivers of motor vehicles in 1926. In some cases a private car is driven by several members of the family.

Taking the population of Great Britain as about 45 millions, one person in every 20 is therefore a motorist. They have a long way to catch up with the United States, however, where approximately one person in every six owns a motor car.

Will Benefit Mariners

New Device Will Help to Minimize Dangers of the Deep

Had mariners known of such a thing as a "water report" back in the early days of 1912, the Titanic might now be plying her majestic way across the seas and 1,500 lives have been saved.

Dr. A. G. Huntsman, of the biological board of Canada, speaking before the oceanography section of the American Geophysical union, said the "water report" is based on tests of temperature and salinity. In the case of the Titanic, he said, it would have warned of the proximity of icebergs. It will benefit fishermen, too, in locating schools of fish and will aid meteorologists in making weather forecasts.

Future of Vancouver Port

Hector Dobson, noted statistician, in addressing the Canadian Club at Toronto said that in 25 years' time Vancouver would be the greatest port on the American Pacific coast, and that it was only a matter of time when the trade across the Pacific ocean would equal, if not exceed, that of the Atlantic.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MAY 15

PETER AT PENTECOST

Golden Text: "Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of your sins: and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit." Acts 2:38.

Lesson: Acts 2

Devotional Reading: Philippians 2:5-11.

Explanations and Comments

1. The Coming of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost, verses 1-4. Before Herod left His disciples Jesus gave to them a great commission. They were to go into all the world and tell the story of God, that he lived and taught and died and rose again to bring salvation to all humanity suffering death on the cross for the salvation of the world, and that he had risen from the dead and ascended into heaven. "Jesus Christ and the power of His resurrection" was a truth which the world would ever proclaim, although never given them from on high until these men accomplish their great task.

On the Day of Pentecost that power came. This was a sound as of wind and an appearance as of fire. Symbols of the Holy Spirit. The disciples found themselves praising God in words that sounded strange to them. The important fact was that they then realized that the Spirit of God had come into their hearts, that He was to abide with them as their Strengthener and Helper, to inspire and guide them in the work of making the Christ known to the ends of the earth.

"The Holy Spirit is just God making man understand Him, God putting the Infallible to men, God speaking to each king of man in his own tongue." John Keble.

Contend Aerials On Schools Are Dangerous

Paris Authorities Instruct Directors to Have Them Removed

On the grounds that wireless aerials might during a sudden storm crash down to the ground and injure passersby, the directors of Paris public schools have just been instructed to take down the aerials erected over their buildings.

The Paris municipal authorities justified their decision by arguing that the wireless nets installed in buildings used as public schools are not used by the directors for the purpose of teaching their pupils, but solely for their own personal amusement.

One Paris newspaper remarks that chimney stacks might be considered just as dangerous as wireless aerials and therefore ought to be abolished forthwith.

New Carillon Of Bells At Ottawa Said To Be Largest Of Its Kind In The World

The carillon of 53 bells built at the bell foundry in Croydon for the Canadian Houses of Parliament at Ottawa, is the largest of its kind in the world, it is practically a sister carillon to the fine bells installed by the same firm, Gillett and Johnston, in the Park Avenue Baptist church, New York, but whereas the new York Bourdon bell weighs 9½ tons, the Ottawa Bourdon weighs ten tons. The 53 bells extend through four and a half chromatic octaves from the Bourdon, low fa, to the 14-pound top treble, high "A."

Every bell is in tune with itself that is, it has been tuned separately on the five tone harmonic principle. The whole carillon has also been carefully tuned in the scale of equal temperament, so that the performer can modernize from one key to any other without offending the ear. Arthur Bach invented the "scale of equal temperament" over 200 years ago, it was impossible in those days to play music in different keys, and only the bad few years this refinement was unknown to the bell world.

The carillon also has been tuned absolutely to international pitch, which is to be expected from all commercial instruments and modern concert practice in both bells and phones.

The total weight of the bells is ten tons and the weight of the steel framework and fitting is about 75 tons

The inscription on the Bourdon bell is in Latin on one side, and in French on the other, and runs: the top of the bell a continuous design of naval trophies and floral motif. At the special request of the Canadian Government, the wording of this inscription has not been disclosed

The world's record was achieved in the time taken to construct the carillon. From the time the first set of details were posted till 53 bells with the necessary machinery have been finished it is 12 months.

The 10-ton Bourdon bell will be the heaviest set individual bell in Canada and the third heaviest in the American continent.

An elaborate "practice clavier" is being supplied with tuned bars, manressonators and I atine a keyboard exactly similar to that of the real thing but with the advantage that the carillonneur can learn fresh pieces without annoying the neighbors. These "practice clavier" is to enable pupils to learn the mechanism of playing such a carillon without the necessity of particularly in pedal work before playing on the tower instrument is permitted.

The clock mechanism is divided into three separate units, the "going train" which drives the clock, the 15 ft., 9 in diameter clock faces, while the "striking train" and "quarter train" are set apart to operate under the bells. The old-fashioned clock weights are dispensed with and by their place pneumatic engines motors lift and rewind the mechanism each hammers. The carillon will be shipped to Canada shortly, and will be inaugurated on Dominion Day, July 1st. The Bourdon Tower is inscribed, for how long no one knows, to the memory of carillon music

Government Will Be Popular

Government ownership of railways is popular in Canada, according to Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways. Highway Construction

Millions Spent on Provincial Highways in Canada in 1926

During 1926 a total of $15,545,000 was spent on construction of provincial highways in Canada, according to computations made by A. W. Campbell, Dominion highway commissioner. Of this total $29,550,000 was spent on construction and the balance, $15,575,000 on maintenance of highways already constructed. The total mileage of roads in use in 1926 for the aggregate expenditure was 16,821.

Older statistics log with a total out lay of $21,170,000, total mileage involved being 15,581. The other provinces expenditure was divided as follows: Nova Scotia, $1,300,000, mileage 12,600; Saskatchewan, $2,925,000, total mileage, 2,000, British Columbia, $12,575,000, mileage 5,000; Alberta, $2,140,000, mileage, 1,357; New Brunswick, $1,140,000, mileage 1,725.

Manitoba spent $1,300,000, of which $950,000 was on construction, values in 1926 of orchard and fruit lands, including buildings, etc. In the fruit-growing districts are only reported to be as follows: Nova Scotia, $129; Ontario, $124; British Columbia, $320.

Ploughing Peas Under As a Green Manure

Results in a Lessened Yield of Wheat for Following Season

The ploughing under of peas as a green manure has resulted in a lessened yield of wheat the following season as compared with the land which has been summer-fallowed, according to experiments conducted at the Brandon, Manitoba, Experimental Farm. Although the ploughing under of the peas had increased the nitrogen content of the soil, this is more than counter-balanced by the loss of soil moisture. Also the seed bed for the green peas are ploughed under the greater is the amount of water thus lessened for the following crop.

The peas were ploughed under at the end of June or early July when they were in full bloom. The seed bed was prepared in the usual manner and the land was cropped to wheat the following season. The yield was considerably less than that of land which had been summer-fallowed.

Many Uses of Wood

Demand for Wood Now Greater Than Any Time in World's History

In spite of the increasing use of substitutes for wood the people of the world are using more wood than ever before, said Dr. Ralph Hosmer, of the Yale forestry school, speaking at the annual meeting of the Society of American Foresters in Washington.

"Wood is the only raw material which is increasing in demand," he said. "Coal, iron, petroleum, and other minerals are being used in smaller quantities per unit of manufactured product. Each year sees a smaller amount of wood used in the mines and factories of the world. Yet the total consumption of wood is increasing. In the United States alone the consumption of wood has increased from 25 billion board feet in 1909 to 35 billion in 1925."

Experiment Was Interesting

Movement of English Channel Water Stirred by Drift of Bricks

Interesting results of an experiment in ocean currents have been announced by Professor Sir Maurice Hankey, of the Admiralty Hydrographical Department. It is necessary to know the movements of the water in the English Channel in order to navigate safely.

In July, 1924, 500 bottles were set adrift in the channel, and recently there were found on the coasts of Holland and Belgium 30 bottles which had been set adrift in the English Channel. Similarly, 1,000 bottles were set adrift in the North Sea

Vermilion, Alta., May 12, 1927.

The retirement of Mr. J. W. G. Morrison from the secretaryship of the Vermilion Board of Trade after a period of fifteen years of continuous service, should not pass unnoticed. We believe this constitutes a record for such office holder in the Province if not in the entire West. As a rule boards of trade do not exist that long and what Mr. Morrison has accomplished for the town and district during these years of faithful and untiring service would be impossible to enumerate in words. It is not exaggerating to state that practically all the publicity the town and district has received during the period of his office, has been due to his work in being directly responsible for the preparation and editing of our publicity literature issued.

In a great many instances boards of trade are quite fulsome in the praises of their prospective districts, so in Vermilion the information given has served perhaps more in the other direction—in every case however, it was a careful presentation of the merits of Vermilion as a mixed farming country and the Board of Trade through this medium of advertising has undoubtedly received some influence in bringing the farmers to this point of view.

The annual statements prepared by the retiring secretary have been replete with useful and valuable information, that of 1926 being outstanding and showing a decided upward trend. Mr. Morrison has given citizens generous service without monetary reward, in fact for a period of years where our board of trade was badly threatened, time of depression, he paid all expenses to keep the institution alive. The Standard feels that the town and district owe a debt of gratitude, and trust in the late secretary for his untiring interest in their behalf.

The communication which we publish this week from "Chilco" is both timely and to the point and requires no comment from the editor. It needs considerable courage to go into print on matters such as are dealt with in this communication and we feel that the motives prompting its writer are such that will appeal with favor to the majority of the citizens of Vermilion, and that good may be the result.

Canadian National Sixth Annual Tour To the Pacific Coast

In pursuance of a time-honored practice of affording its patrons every facility and convenience leading toward more vacation enjoyment, the Canadian National in operating its sixth annual tour confidently believe this will again prove of the greatest aid and convenience to a host of tourists, as well as to professional men and business men and women, vacationists.

The tour will commence at Winnipeg, from which point a special train of modern sleeping car equipment, dining car and radio observation car, will leave daily. The party will be personally conducted by an efficient and experienced representative of the Canadian National.

The mode of travel has many advantages. In the first place, it is planned with a view to holding to the itinerary the most interesting points, which, with the other arrangements that have been made, obviates the danger of the passenger worrying about connections, shopping car movements, meals, and entertainment en route. This is all done in advance by experts, leaving the passenger free to enjoy to the utmost the many and attractive attendant to such tours.

After stopping at various points of interest the train will arrive at Prince Rupert on July 9th. At this latter point the party will embark on a palatial steamship for the Alaskan trip through the famous "Inside Passage" to Vancouver. While the tour includes a number of places of interest, those who desire to make a trip to Victoria may have their tickets read "Victoria" as their destination without any additional cost had a most successful year financially and elsewhere. The total receipts amounted to over $1500 and nearly $550.00 distributed in prizes at its annual field day, on June 24th.

The local agent of the Canadian National Railways will be pleased to give you full particulars of this tour. 5-4

The financial condition of the town shows a steady improvement, practically all the difficulties it encountered a few years ago having been overcome.

The Vermilion Flour Mills, during the year milled over 42,000 bushels of wheat, yielding over 2,000 barrels of flour, besides nearly 500 tons of feed The total value of the products produced was over $60,000.00.

A special reference is made in the report to the winning by the district exhibit from Vermilion at the Edmonton fair of the John Christie Challenge Shield, considered one of the best prize for the best district exhibit in the province.

The report refers to the activities of the board in connection with the proposed creation of a new judicial district, the Alberta Border known, the north Saskatchewan river bridge and several other matters to which the executive gave time and attention.

CHAPTER XXXV

The Fete

Puppets and masks galore — perhaps the conventional evening dress that uniforms eager and blase masculine, and the mannequins of their harems were in the majority, but the splendeur that broke the sheen and the sugar! Phoenix and the thunderer, were there with the thrill of youth that crosses every threshold with merry speculation—in evening dress they were the same every reach of the Riviera to the gates of Villa Amelie

Beyond the gates the garden-as rearcaves, miniature lakes and fairylike structures in delicately pink stucco, were bathed in a dull silver flood of artificial moonlight, the lakes lily goodness flecked lazily, through which the gold of fish and the luminated fountains that spouted faint perfumes.

Hidden among these is a tower of orange trees an orchestra played its lamentations and its caricatures of summer night passion, its plaintive, feathery tapped, black and fantastic, made bolsters around benches and in the blue; great strands of the lamp had been carpeted with crush bisquoms—purple lilacs, rhododendrons, hyacinths and chrysanthemums, and then, from the branches of a pepper or fig or pine tree, some fascinated bird or exotic couple plucked from earlier to rock to and fro, cried down upon the scene with gem-bright in quisitive eyes.

During the day the gates had been closed to all visitors. Only the workmen, statuary, florists and the decorators, once crammed men who herded troops of dancers and more wonderfully, had been the only ones allowed to enter the grounds. There had been frantic efforts in many quarters to trace through the hurried no firmly guarded by watchmen, but none had been successful. Dr. Hendrickson, over this last week in which he guarded the offers of the servants, had been shut off so it was that even the habitues of Villa Amelie, those who had watched the preparations from day to day, were utterly stunned at the splendor, the lavishness, the consummate artistry of the spectacle into which they strolled.

Beyond the gates the hundreds of the guests whose call during the day had been futile, stood amazed at the splendor with his sister, Betty Wynn, his mouth, at his side, he turned about, on the higher terrace, to look over the chapter lawns. Betty exclaimed:

"Trudy, an appropriate whim for a Golden Girl!"

John took her exclamation literally, his arms. She did not resist but plain to him finally.

"Darling, brilliant, patronagnat!" Lord Teddy murmured. "I'm afraid the sort of thing we might expect from Betty!" It's not barbaric, there is nothing flaunting, it is a splash of countless money and magnificence but a mellow splash. Somehow I see a note of wistfulness in it all."

Betty Weymouth was always a moment. Then she said:

"Do you know, Teddy, I think you're right. There's something in this scene tonight, this fete, that makes me think of Gatsby's last party. I know, but I believe there's sadness in it, some place."

"Yes. Like a beautiful woman. There's joy always; but for someone, sadness, too!"

Betty looked at her brother quickly, and understandingly. The sad to be normal would be for him to find a girl whom, rightly, he could give expression tonight was beyond his honest want of her. "Peter!" Betty said, "this is no time to be nonsensitive. There is Roddy Kenilworth, looking none the worse for his terrifying adventure but rumored to have experienced last night with Joanna. Perhaps he'll tell us what happened, secondly seems to know the straight of it!"

Kenilworth, who frankly admitted that he was provoked by Joanna's refusal to hear from him during the day, resisted the inquisition by Lord Teddy and Betty wholesomely. "Whatever you've heard isn't true," he said. "And what's true isn't in the evening. Just a comic opera build up, with something fishy about it. The Monaco police notified me today that all valuables taken by the Bolsevika had been mysteriously delivered to them in a package with the letter enclosed that they be returned to their owners."

"But Joanna?" Betty Weymouth asked. "You should never have left us her up La Turbi- Rodd). There are many hints about"

Kenilworth knowed the problem if he ten o'clock already," he added, "and neither she nor Joanna appeared. Not them have an

World's Most Modern Warship

Last One Allowed Gros; Britain Under Washington Treaty

The $7,000 ton battleship Nelson, battleship Great Britain can launch under the terms of the Washington naval treaty, was launched recently from the Jyne shipyards by the Admiralty. It is the largest warship ever built in the world and the first British capital ship to be laid down since the signing of the treaty. The launching was performed by Lady Nelson, wife of the present Admiral Nelson, and descendant of the famous admiral.

The Nelson will be armed with nine 16-inch guns, while twelve 6-inch guns are also carried. The ship also will be armed with six anti-aircraft guns. The ship's weighing more than a million pounds will be propelled by a special thick screw

The ship is protected from aircraft by armored steel, bombproof decks, and under water it is designed to resist the explosion of more than four pounds of TNT. Her complement and engagists for discharging them are clarified in huge barrels. The battleship is 710 feet long, 106 feet wide and carries a crew of 1,200 officers and men. It cost $7,000,000 (£25,000,000) to build, and will cost $500,000 (£2,102,000) for annual upkeep.

Scientifically Packed "SALADA" TEA

As free from dust as tea can be.

COMMUNICATION

(This paper does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents)

Editor Vermilion Standard.

Dear Sir

At the Theatre Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at last week the picture "Tea for one and more" was simply amusing, very funny indeed — per there was something in the story that was not funny at all—but tragic—and might well serve as a lesson to scandal mongers in Vermilion or wherever the picture is shown.

It was the story of a man whose home and business life had been almost ruined by the gossip of two mischievous women. Whether by malicious intent or as a means of creating excitement, or making themselves the center of their social group was not explained, but for whatever reason the result was disastrous to the innocent victim.

There has been an epidemic of scandal created in Vermilion for some time now. It began mildly—as it usually does—but has become a danger of a virulent type. No one is apparently exempt, no matter how exemplary their lives may have been, or still are. The latest victims are the young people. This is particularly serious as they are less able to protect themselves from the pestilence that attacks elders.

It may be true that a very few of our boys and girls have step-stepped bounds in decency and propriety—though I hope not—for, too, that is an unfortunate affair have occurred in our town, but is that any reason why the entire gain of a community should be opened and the town flood with stories that are harmful to persons of refinement and decency, and which if repeated before young people, as they undoubtedly have been—could have no other than a degrading, demoralizing effect on their minds—and thus familiarizing them with evil, make it easier for them to slip into the very things from which we would save them.

Some of these stories are inconceivably filthy! Two of these I have personally investigated and found to be absolutely false! In one case—the worst of the two—the originator were fined $25. What their purpose was in deliberately planning to ruin a young life can only be conjectured. I wish to remind them here, also others of their ilk, that such people are dangerous and liable to land them into serious trouble.

Several parents have told me that they are afraid to permit their grown boys to go down town after dark—because they are afraid of them doing wrong! Oh, no! But for fear that the "Annie Twaddles" spying them might attribute sinister reasons for their being out without a bodyguard.

It is an old saying that the wholesome attributed to the young people were of course and removes the like of which the young minds cannot run riot.

It is certainly of this to true, what are the churches and other Christian bodies doing about it? We have no — en churches represented here, and at least five other Christian organiza- — a goodly array for a town of this size. What part have they taken or are they taking now in the upbuilding and developing of the youth of our town? Have they, as organized bodies or as individual members of each, lived up to their responsibilities toward the young: If they have, how could it be possible for such conditions, as possibly exist, if they have not, and are not living up to these responsibilities, then the seven churches, the lodges and other organizations might just as well close their doors and some other means of inculcating Christian principles devised.

In the years that I have lived here, only one really great boy has been made to own provide wholesome amusement or pastime for the children, and that is the rink, swimming pool and baths now in course of construction. May the effect be a great success.

In conclusion let me remind our people of the incalculable, irreparable harm that may be done a young soul by the unbridled habit of gossiping, and that in my opinion, persons guilty of concocting and circulating deliberate, immoral stories are worse than murderers, for a murderer merely kills the body but a slanderer destroys what is infinitely more precious—the character—the Soul!

Let there be free criticism, less scandal, less talking down. Let the Christian people unite in the common cause for moral living and upbuilding. Don't close your doors and hesitate among the so-called Christians!

Thanking you, Mr Editor, for the valuable space allotted me, I remain,

Yours truly,
CITIZEN

Clandonald Spring Work Well Under Way

Hebridean Settlers Have Made Considerable Progress This Year

With seeding operations just getting under way, farmers in the Clandonald colony of Hebridean, north of Vermilion, show evidence of considerable progress, states Major J Miller, head of the C.P.R. land department at Edmonton, who has just returned from a visit to the colony.

Between 70 and 80 acres of land is broken on all Clandonald farms—a record considered particularly good for one year's operation. There is every indication of a successful year [illegible]

Major Miller while at Clandonald met W. De Wilde, of the C. P. R. colonization and development department. Netherlands, Holland, and Dr. Willibald Wiesenhuit, scientist from the free state of Danzig, who, in the interest of the colonization, looked over the Hebridean colony.

Beer was five cents a glass and the limit was five. Eggs were three dozen for a quarter and milk five cents a quart. The butcher gave liver for the cat and treated the kids to bologna. The bread girl was satisfied with $2.00 a week and did the washing. Women did not powder, paint, smoke, play poker or do the Charleston. The men wore boots and whiskers, chewed tobacco, spat on the sidewalk, worked eleven hours a day and never went on strike. A horse-drawn lamp and a stereopticon in the parlor were luxuries. No one had ever operated on for appendicitis, folks lived to a good old age just the same and well [illegible]

Mother Day Celebration at the United Church

Mother's Day celebration at the United Church last Sunday will be long remembered by the mothers of many Vermilion children. It was a record day for attendance, 260 being present, and it was a record day in the number of prizes and awards distributed. Ninety-two scholars received one hundred and fifteen awards. Those awards have been gained for Scripture memory work done since last Christmas and probably consist into a record for any Sunday School on the Dominion of Canada. Indeed, so remarkable is the work being done in this Sunday School that it has attracted the attention of the authorities in Toronto and the Rev. M. S. Kerr has been requested by Dr. Duncan, the chief editor of the Sunday School publications, to write an article on memory work for the Teacher Monthly. This article of 500 words will appear in the June number and will be read throughout Canada. One and all — superintendent, and teachers, attribute the veritable reputation of this school to the indomitable energy and enthusiasm of Mr. Geo Law, who has given so much of his time and his inventive brain to this work. The total number of 9,046 verses have been memorized and since 1923 the total record is 21,503 when it is remembered that there are 31,173 verses in the whole Bible something of the significance of the work accomplished will be seen. The record number of verses received belongs to Caroline Green whose total is 480, after high records by Ruth Cash and Mabel Gould with 382 each, and Helen Baker with 233. Seven Catechism awards were distributed, in this division the special prize winners were Venetia Fallow and Muriel Mouse, who besides receiving the beautiful certificates and diplomas granted by the Church, were recipients of special awards, the former receiving a beautiful Tyndale New Testament and the latter Arthur Mouse "Personal Record of Christ's Miracles," this volume being the minister's special prize for the memorization of the whole of the Shorter Catechism. The list of awards for completing the whole of the memory course included the following: Caroline Green, Helen Baker, Jean Baker, Jennie Law, Lois Whitby, Mabel Gould, Madalon McLeod and Ruth Cash. These scholars were the recipients of beautiful Teachers' Bibles bound in fine leather and donated by the minister behind

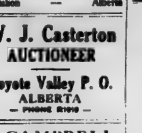
The most beautiful incident in the programme occurred when little Jean Baker, the youngest child in the Sunday School, presented a Mother's Day bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Walker, the oldest mother in the congregation. Mrs Walker, who was 81 on Monday last, rose from her pince in the church and with a step as firm as a young girl came forward and received from the hands of the rosy-cheeked tot the bouquet of flowers, a token of love and affection, then turning to the congregation with a face wreath ed in the very benediction of Heaven itself, in a few words she expressed her thanks and appreciation

Among the valuable items on the program no were a quartette "O Happy House" rendered by Miss Irene Mcfarquhar, Mrs. Geo Law, Mrs. Gerald Stephens and Clarence Welsh. A scripture memory recitation of 11th Psalm was given by Marian Cash, Betty Law Eleanor Welsh, Helen Hart and Lea Cameron. The primary class under the direction of Miss Craig, sang "Jesus loves me," with captivating earnest while an impressive recitation on "The boy in the mother thinks I am" and "The task list of a Mother" were aptly rendered by Kenneth Hunt and Lois Whitby. A selection of Mother songs from the Catechism was given by Venetia Fallow with perfect enunciation, and this was followed by a most impressive recitation by Jean Bell and Dorothy Williams. The offering for the day announced as supporting the twenty dollars, part of which will be given to the Religious Education Council for their work among country Schools in the Province.



Wheat Pool News Notes

The oldest member of the Alberta Wheat Pool, as far as can be ascertained, is W. K. Wilkins, of Landis. He is eighty one years old and is starting out to seed more than one hundred acres this spring.

The second series of Wheat Pool contracts have been issued. The first man to sign one of these new contracts was J. E. Gustus, who farms 1540 acres in the Calmary district. Mr Gustus also signed the first contract ever issued by the Alberta Pool and is thus the first man in Canada to sign a Wheat Pool Contract.

W. J. Jurkman, Wheat Pool director for the Edmonton district, will address a series of meetings along the Canadian National Railway in British Columbia. Many wheat farmers there are now anxious to join the Pool. The new contract provides for their admission.

In reply to a complaint from the Scottish Baking Society that the Canadian Wheat Pools are unduly holding up the price of wheat in the face of a world's surplus, Pool officials contend the rest to the grower should have some consideration. Also that wheat varied 50½c a bushel on the Winnipeg option market in the first two months of 1926 without the wholesale price of bread in Winnipeg being affected whatsoever.

Chevrolet Breaks Production Record

A constantly increasing demand for the Chevrolet car, combined with its late introduction, has enabled the Chevrolet Motor Company to break all production records for two months in succession in Canada and the United States.

Output in March reached a total of 167,000 automobiles, an average daily production of 6,314 cars. A new daily record for production was also established on March 31, when 8,075 Chevrolets were run off the assembly lines at all factories. Records show that Chevrolet production in Canada during March of this year 96 per cent ahead of March 1926, and considerably larger than any previous month. The United States output topped all previous months, a gain of 57,743 cars or 55½ per cent was registered over March 1926, and an increase of 44,661 cars, or 160.1 per cent over March 1925.

Retail deliveries for the first quarter have been keeping pace with production, according to statistics now available. In the Province of Ontario, for instance, registrations of new Chevrolet automobiles for the months of January, February and March show an increase of 106 per cent over the same period of 1926. Chevrolet registrations of new cars for March in the province of Ontario, where records were available, exceeded those of any other car.

Meanwhile figures coming in from points throughout the United States show the same demand for Chevrolet on the other side of the border. The magnitude of the increase in sales is indicated in reports from thirty-two of the most important trading areas in the United States which show an average increase of 97 per cent in those centres for the first two months of 1927 as compared with 1926

The introduction this month of two popular new models a sport roadster and a beautiful black and red imperial landau is expected to further strengthen the preference for Chevrolet which is apparent from Fort Vermilion to New Orleans

Land has been in fine condition for the seeder since last saturday. Reports received from all points of the district by the Standard are most encouraging and indicate big headway in the seeding of prepaired land. The wheat acreage, unless stubbing in is resorted to, will be much decreased this year owing to the small amount of fall plowing that was done. With the excessive moisture in the ground, given warm weather, the crop will come along quickly and more than compensate for the season being late. Upland and bottom hay has a most promising outlook.

There was a beautiful Mother's Day service in the United Church at Islay last Sunday morning. The church was very nicely decorated, making it like a fairy dell, but the really noticeable part was the very excellent way in which all took the part assigned to them. Even the very young children showed careful training and did their work almost flaultlessly, speaking with clear enunciation easily heard all over the church. The building was crowded to the door with a delighted audience. Great credit is due to those who had the training of the children and direction of the service

Cutknife-Whitford Lake Line To Have Additional 66 Miles Constructed

Tenders Called By Canadian Pacific Railway Close This Friday

Both the Edmonton daily papers contained advertisements from the Canadian Pacific Railway company calling for grading tenders on the branch lines of that company in Saskatchewan and Alberta, the said tenders close on May 20th and cover all work in connection with grading on a stated list of branch lines of railway, among these is an extension of approximately 66 miles on the Cutknife-Whitford Lake branch (Alberta)

Last fall the C. P. R. completed this line to the village of Clandonald in the Wetaskaw district, twenty miles northeast of Vermilion, near the west side of township 53, range 5. The additional construction of sixty-six miles proposed this season will carry the line into range 16 to a point north of Vegreville and there is little doubt but that the railway will be in operation in time to handle all grain and stock shipments from the large area of country through which it passes, this fall. The extension is likely to call into being at least four and possibly five new business and shipping centres and afford the rollers of pot ders which they have been praying for on and off for the past twenty years. A great increase in production will be the natural outcome of the advent of the railway

The diversion of a very large percentage of the marketing from the large area of territory in the loop lying north of the Canadian National line and south of the Saskatchewan River from the towns on the C. N. R to the new trade and shipping centres will call for active measures to be inaugurated by business interests to hold and attract trade to the old towns, and the adoption of a policy having for its end the occupation and cultivation of all unsettled arable lands lying within their areas

Western Canada Points the Way

One of the most notable gatherings of the year, and one in which all the people at Western Canada were particularly and directly interested was the international co-operative wheat pool conference held at Kansas City, and at which representatives were present from the United States, Australia, Germany, Russia, as well as from the three great wheat producing provinces of Canada.

Western Canada was easily the outstanding and dominant factor at the conference And rightly so because in three short years the farmers of the Prairie Provinces have organized and developed the greatest grain handling co-operative in the known world. This success has been phenomenal eclipsing anything of a like character ever attempted in connection with any commodity. They can speak from actual experience in definite achievement.

It is not surprising therefore, that at the Kansas City conference the reports presented on behalf of the Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba Pools, and their common central selling agency, were received with great enthusiasm, and that the views, expressed and suggestions advanced by the Canadians commanded respect and gave strength to the deliberations of the conference.

Many of our own people have not the grasp of the full meanings of the operations of the wheat pool, nor realize the how much has been accomplished in the last few months and years. There were some days ago there was no Canadian Pool Today to quote A. J. McPhail, president of the Saskatchewan pool and of the Central Selling pool, there is a considerable balance in the bank. In 1923-25 the Canadian pool handled 187,000,000 bushels of wheat belonging to its farmer members and 27,000,000 bushels of coarse grains. The pool has representatives in all whom important countries and offices to carry European grain. It operates and controls approximately 650 country elevators in the three provinces with a combined storage capacity of approximately 22,000,000 bushels. At the head of the lakes the pool has terminal elevators with a storage capacity around 16,000,000 bushels and also a 2,000,000 transfer house at Buffalo. The pool is also operating terminal elevators at Prince Rupert and Vancouver, while plans are under way for large extensions to the country elevator systems in all the provinces. Since the pool began to operate it has paid its farmer members around half a billion dollars

These are surely remarkable achievements, but they do not tell the whole story. The pool has practically revolutionized the financing methods of our Western farms instead of the farmer getting all his money in one bulk sum every Fall, at which time every creditor made immediate demand upon him, with the result that he was practically forced to sell his wheat at the then prevailing price, and by all following the same course glutting the market, he now receives a first payment and several successive payments spread over the year. The result is not only orderly marketing of the wheat but orderly financing on the part of the farmer. He is to an ever increasing extent conducting his business on cash rather than a credit basis. The system has been of wonderful assistance to the weaker, less business like farmers.

Equally important has been the effect the pool has had in restoring confidence to the farmer and to business, interests generally throughout the west It has put into the farmers a feeling of independence and security hitherto lacking. It has emphasized the value of co-operation, and the strength that is to be found in organized co-operative effort as contrasted with each man acting by himself, and his own personal interests up with each other. The object of the Kansas City conference was to try and devise ways and means whereby the great wheat producing countries of the world could co-operate instead of competing against each other. The most cordial reception was accorded the idea, and efforts will be made to devise a workable plan.

Reopen Milk Plant

One of the largest manufacturers of milk products has recently reopened their condensary plant at South Sumas, B.C. The whole milk supply will be obtained from the Fraser Valley, which will amount to between 600,000 lbs. per day. About 25 hands, men and women will be employed in the plant, and the pay roll will the amount to about $2,500 per month

New Depot for Edmonton

The Canadian National Railways will build a new depot at Edmonton, Alberta, this year. The estimated cost is $1,000,000 Tenders for the construction of the building have been received and the contract will be awarded as soon as they have been considered

Orders for Farm Implements

During the past few weeks large orders for farm implements and binder twine have been placed with Canadian manufacturers by representatives of the Russian Soviet Government. These orders are double those given all last year, and several trains will be required to transport the goods now on order to the two boards.

World's Shortest Railroad

The shortest railroad in the world now belongs to the city of Union, Oregon, having been bought for delinquent taxes at a sheriff's sale. The line is ten miles long and the rolling stock includes one locomotive, one passenger and three freight cars. It sold for $2,100

For Improved Highways

Huge Sums Spent Last Year for The Purpose

During the year a total of $15,563,000 was spent on construction and maintenance of all provincial highways in Canada, according to a computation made by A. W. Campbell, Dominion Highway Commissioner of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Of this amount $8,000,000 was spent on construction and $15,347,000 on maintenance of highways already constructed. The total mileage of roads involved in this aggregate expenditure was 66,324

THIS GREAT TONIC RENEWS STRENGTH

Simply Because It Enriches and Builds Up the Blood

In no trouble is delay or neglect more dangerous than in anaemia, which means poverty of the blood. It is very common in young girls and in women who are overworked or who have had within doors. It makes its appearance in the form of general debility. It is often well described by its prevalent symptoms. For Friendly Relations

Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador to U.S., Addresses San Francisco Audience

A plea for continuation of friendly relations between the United States and England, which have existed for more than 100 years, was made by Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the U.S., at a banquet tendered him by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

Referring to the question of the British debt to the United States, Sir Esme said:

"We have not run away from the debt and do not intend to do so but if some later date you come to us and say you think it would be advisable in the general interest to reconsider the question—well, I won't say that we shall refuse."

There is the attack that has been made in certain quarters against the British Government over the question of reliefs," he continued. "It was agreed at the Washington conference that unless submarines of all kinds were abolished Great Britain must reserve her full freedom of action as to cruiser construction. You have recently passed an international submarines and no one in England had thought of becoming you of relief. The letter on 1921 the 5:5:3 ratio clause of the Washington Treaty."

Sir Esme declared Great Britain had unjustly been accused of a ulterior desire to hold the "pose Chinese in perpetual bondage, thus driving a wedge between England and old country."

"Never was she in the past," he declared, "so far as I can see, has been to obtain the right of trading freely with China."

Poking or Poke

Former Spelling is Closer to Chinese Pronunciation, Latter

A new war has been declared here—but this time it is only an orthographic one. The question is whether French spelling "Pekin" when referring to the Chinese capital in Amoy dialect should be changed.

Those interested in the matter point out to foreign correspondents that the Amoy dialect more represents the regular pronunciation either in China or abroad, save in France. For instance, the word "north," the two syllables meaning "north" and "capital" respectively, while the spelling is "poke," although no satisfactory—closer to the Chinese version than is any form in which it is omitted. There is also the other foreign varieties, but the French is the only one which occurs to be in complete with the favored "Peking" form.

Marketing of Manitoba Cattle

Last year 493,139 head of cattle and 302,279 hogs were marketed through the Winnipeg Public Stock Yards and realized $25,417,908. Though the number of animals marketed was less than the 1925 record, the monetary return was $1,000,000 greater, owing to the better prices that prevailed. Ontario feeders took 45,300 and 41,000 went to United States feed lots and 17,345 went to Manitoba farms. Sheep and lambs to the number of 53,326 were marketed, compared with 36,000 in 1924

Made Checks Reliable

Correct Time Not Recorded Until Discovery of Baisana Wheel

Before the invention and manufacture of watches and clocks, our forefathers employed several devices for recording the hour of the day.

The sundial is the earliest instrument of its kind, and sandglasses were used from an early date.

Alfred the Great used graduated candles, the burning of which marked the passage of time.

The art of clock and watch making is believed to have originated in Germany.

The early watches were made in curious shapes, such as pears, shells, acorns and crosses, and were worn in the heads of canes, some in bracelets and other pieces of jewellery. Those instruments had to be wound at least twice daily, and differed from the correct time by about an hour a day

It was not until the discovery of the balance-wheel in 1675, by which the striking and winding could even be and regularly, that they could be relied upon to record the correct time

Romeldale Sheep —a New Breed

By A. T. Spencer, Spencer Ranch Co. Creamery, Butter Co. California

Practically all breeds of livestock were developed from a single family by having an ideal firmly fixed in mind and breeding, importing and purchasing by careful selection and mating of breeding to the strongest points and not of the weaker

This breeding was in response to the requirements of a combination of characteristics not found in any one established breed of sheep, also as the Hammer and the Rambouillet, between these extremes of the fine and coarse, the plan had been to unite animals selected from the crossing of these two breeds with the object of a mutual selective and mating to establish a type combining the most desirable features from the two original breeds of sheep.

The object was to produce a sheep suitable to conditions of the open range of suitable and heavy fleeces, of high medium quality, and as results for size in mutton carcass, the Hammer breed had more of these qualities than any other sheep, I selected it for the basis of the foundation stock of Australian and New Zealand Romney Marsh. The Romney Marsh was developed from the development of the famous export lamb of New Zealand, I picked out a particular type of Romney and mated them with a particular type and fleece of Rambouillet ewes, the first cross being made in 1907. The two kinds of wool, carefully over the entire animal. It was discovered that there was a very good possibility of establishing a high three-eighth blood type staple fleece. Yearlings from these first crosses were carefully selected wires in full fleece and ram worked on in type and grade of wool, carried, and the breeding being given in fleeces that would show a staple wool to Myers and a Fleece combining the best qualities of both breeds.

The original foundation flock of Romeldale sheep was established in 1913. After three years of this kind of breeding and obtaining a flock of eight hundred head, I found that they were not sufficiently on a basis of body conformation These selections carry long fine staples and good conformation were mated with sires of similar breeding, selected for fleece and conformation and from the best ewes of this breed of Romeldale sheep. Ewe lambs from these matings were mated with sires of similar breeding, selected for fleece and conformation and from the best ewes type This process of breeding has been continued with increasing regularity and the Romeldale sheep have the assembly generation, and each generation has proven more uniform in type and quality in both fine fleeces and body conformation. They are now pretty well established in the Romeldale breed of sheep, and are only slightly colored on head and ear and this fault has proven to be of slight growth. This is proved by the recent shipments. We now have twelve hundred head of these ewes and the original foundation flock of eight hundred head is still intact. Twelve pounds of wool each year in the fleecings, with a shrinkage averaging forty-six per cent.

New Style Roads in France

Are Plates As Durable But Become Very Hot in Sun

Heavy iron plates, as thick as those used in battleships, are being laid down in France to form a road, it is claimed by the inventor that they will solve the problem of keeping mud in good condition.

The plates are riveted to a concrete foundation, and the inventor, the General Staff of the French Army, believes the plates would form a valuable source of iron in case a new war developed.

Heavy iron roads could be slippery in wet weather, but the inventor says he has overcome this difficulty by a special process.

The iron road are said to be as easy on motor cars as pavement, but they have the disadvantage of getting uncomfortably hot under the sun.

Carry Out Secret Ritual

Nootka Indians Believe It Essential to All Their Acts

Before the Nootka Indian, who lives on the coast of Vancouver Island, goes out to catch a mess of fish, he anoints himself with ointments and oils, fasts for a time and carries out a complicated round ritual which he believes will bring success to his venture.

The principal people, Dr. E. Sapir, of the University of Chicago, told the central section of the American Anthropological Association, provide almost every common act by an inverted ritual.

"This belief in the occult or supernatural manner of controlling events forms an anthropological question which the scientific worlds know little about," he said.

Motor Cars in Canada

Total Number of Motor Vehicles in Canada Exceeds One Million Mark

Recently compiled statistics for 1925 show that Canada is second only to the United States among the countries of the world in ownership of motor cars. The Dominion, however, is in fourth place in the ownership of motor vehicles, as Great Britain and France have a total of one commercial vehicle registrations greater than Canada. The number of motor vehicles in the United States is given as 22,016,557, Great Britain, 984,248, France, 861,000, and Canada 1,000,000. British Columbia, the bottom of a long list of countries, has only 76 motor vehicles within its boundaries. It is expected that the total number of motor vehicles in Canada will reach the million mark this year.

Canada Growing Fast

At Canada's present rate of progress, her population may be second soon at the end of the century. Rob Roy in "Everyman" says the author of the department of immigration adds to an address at Ottawa Mr. Stead declared that he saw no reason why Canada's population should not be doubled in the next twenty years. Canada is a young country, he said, but it has grown more rapidly than the United States. Canada's population has been increasing at the rate of 3.1 per cent per annum, while that of the United States has been increasing at the rate of 1.5 per cent per annum. Canada's population has been doubling every twenty-three years, while that of the United States has been doubling every forty-six years. Canada's population is now 9,000,000. If it continues to grow at the present rate it will be 18,000,000 in twenty years, 36,000,000 in forty years, and 72,000,000 in sixty years. Waging War On Mosquitoes

Airplanes to be Used in Testing New Chemical Preparation

The trenches now notes that air planes will be used this year to test out the efficacy of a new insecticide. The latest bulletin on the campaign south of the border has suggested that the Federal public health officials are interested in a recent report from Paris of a chemical compound "offering advantages over anything previously used in the fight against mosquitoes." The announcement is made upon the authority of M. Bienhaut of the Pasteur Institute at Paris, whose high scientific standing has led the Washington bureau of entomology to plan tests of the new preparation. He explains that the new compound is "inexpensive to warm-blooded animals and fishes, and produces no injurious effect upon aquatic plants. It is," the description continues, "in the form of a powder which is readily driven by the wind. Settling upon the surface of the water, it brings about the immediate death of the larvae of the malarial mosquitoes, which are the top feeders, and buried in the mud at the bottom of the water sinks slowly in suspension where it is eaten by the larvae of other mosquitoes. The bulletin recommends a mixture by weight of one part of the powder with fifty pounds of very dry mud. The cost of this method of treatment is said to amount to about eight cents an acre at the present rate. The new compound, it is added "may prove to be a weapon in the hands of the sanitarian for the permanent solution of mosquito control over very large salt marsh areas."

Multiple duties of the staff are forced on the favored bachelors at once, Trotter appears to have more engagements than any of the others, and is forced to do the dances and other social functions.

Scientist Working on Old Cave

Expect to Throw New Light on Legend of "Seven Sleepers"

New light on the famous legend of the "Seven Sleepers" is expected shortly as a result of excavations now in progress under the direction of a group of Austrian scientists at Ephesus, 35 miles from Smyrna. They are at work on a cave for centuries the accredited resting place of the Seven Sleepers.

According to legend the seven young men of Ephesus upon being persecuted for refusing to worship an idol, ran away about 250 A.D. and hid in a cave. The emperor ordered the cave sealed up. In 479 A.D a workman digging the foundation of a house broke into the cave and found seven men asleep. They woke up when he called to them, and handed him money to buy bread and wine. The ruler was of a varied mixed more than 200 years previously The seven were pronounced to be the same who had been exiled in in 250 A.D.

The affair was officially proclaimed a miracle and there was great rejoicing

Soon after the sleepers awakened they again sank into a coma and died, the legend runs Their remains were buried together in a stone coffin and later were removed to a crypt of the abbey church of St Victor at Marseilles, France, where they still lie

May Be An Annoyance

Like Other Conveniences Television Will Sometimes Cause Discomfort

Television is the climax to the "isle" age, a marvelous device that fires the imagination even more than wireless telephony. That it will one day become a practical part of the average householder's growing list of everyday boons and conveniences goes without saying, for each invention of its kind, scoffed at at first, has eventually been developed so as to be within reach of all

But it will add new terrors to a necessity. There are some, probably, who would deny that the telephone is a necessity. It is true that human beings could exist without the telephone. So they could without newspapers, the delivery and despatch of mails and other conveniences which for now enjoy so long to be the same who for had been called in in 250 A.D

TO THE FARMERS OF VERMILION DISTRICT:

It has been in the past our policy to take into consideration the interests and prosperity of livestock when any important matter affecting the marketing of livestock was being discussed or decided upon. I therefore feel that it is only fair to those we have served in the past to state here the main reasons in the order of importance why my position was not assigned to the directors of the Alsask-ups Marketing Association.

The main reason was the recent decision of the central organization to set up their own selling agency, after consulting the district we had to carry part of a livestock marketing scheme developed to include Saskatchewan and Manitoba and looking toward the gradual absorption of the marketing facilities already well established by United Grain Growers. The reasons advanced by the central directors in recommending this action are not valid and plainly indicate a theoretical rather than practical idea of marketing livestock. The action in effect will mean a heavy expense on each animal sold up to the Pool, since an entirely new organization will require to be established in addition to the foregoing the decision represented without sufficient reason an agreement entered into between the United Livestock Growers and the Alberta Pool. A great deal of stress was laid on what was described as Alberta's peculiarly favorable situation with regard to Western markets and the high western values were pointed to as compared with Eastern during the past winter. Yet in less than a month after these declarations were made we find a situation where we are up to get considerably more for our hogs by shipping East.

We disagree also with the decision to put all hogs on the market rather than to sell them F.O.B. or in transit. It central is to be exercised it will have to be selected before hogs are placed on central stockyards. The idea behind this decision is that pet hogs will command higher prices than the mass volume. This is true only at times, since the packers are in a better position to work efficiently together than producers.

The failure of the Pool to interest its members in spite of fair-sized loans in both this and other districts has had a very serious effect on the morale of the whole organization. In more than one association contracts are now in all practical purposes lapsed.

My fourth reason and a very important one from the standpoint of the membership, was the increased cost of marketing. It is to be expected that in any co-operative movement, the cost of administration will be higher than in a private organization, but there should be, and we believe the membership have a right to expect, either savings effected in other directions or indirect benefits to offset these. It is largely because of this cost the farmers of the Alsasks district more per hundred-weight to market their stock through the pool than it cost me previously on the veterinary basis—with no returns from any other direction—that as resigned.

There are possibly many who are willing to co-operate and lose, but the success of co-operative marketing must be measured by the amount saved by those who support it in the final analysis.

In conclusion, I wish to say that it is with the full knowledge that my decision to resign will be widely construed and that some will regard the step as a retrograde one on my part. All I know I want to point out that some years now I asked the farmers of the Vermilion district to form a contract association and co-ordinate it locally until it became efficient, when it could join with other similar associations to form a central marketing organization. Today, after trying out the plan as directed by the Alberta Livestock Growers, it has been fully convinced that over of the soundness of a local organization retaining full autonomy and practical control, rather than being loaded with most of the responsibilities while giving little or no right to control, to a central organization over which the actual producer has practically no control or say. I cannot subscribe to decisions made by the last convention, when in some cases one man represented five locals and over ruled delegates committed them to a line of action and policy without their know or consent, is an outstanding case in point.

(This paper does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.)

Editor, Vermilion standard.
Dear Sir,

I would like a little space in your paper to make a few observations in regard to the communication appearing in your last issue and signed "Citizen." Citizen states "Every member of a virulent type of gossip — children and grown-ups alike — is a protector of the young people from a practice of gossip, and places the criticisms at the latest epidemic of virulent form of gossip."

I am the originator of reporting a fact which I have unfortunately reported in gossip, but I do not believe articles were said to boys or children with intention to that of fact was told to the attorney generals office in connection with the investigation. Signed statements of two witnesses, which is the basis of the department's copies of which may be seen by the membership here at any particular time.

Now, I may ask the brave champions defender of "innocent youth" as to what they were trying to gain an innocent soul? Why such vague accusations?

By exposing these immoral transactions in Ruby Archies, I sponsored no immoral incident. Exposure was purely moral. I have no social grudge to settle with any boy in the particular locality.

Further there are no boys "made" themselves a public laughing stock by stating "It may be true there have been some boys in the neighborhood who use bays, and then a few or our boys who did girls have accomplished the height of decency and propriety" and that a most virulent type of gossip was put in print!

As to starting any scandal about that was supposed to be, I had nothing to do whatsoever. I am prepared, dear editor, to back the facts as stated above.

Yours truly,
STANLEY H. CLINIE.

SCHOOL CLOSES UP; 45 DEAD

BATH, Me., May 18.—Investigation by state police here today into the cause of two explosions which wrecked the consolidated school here this morning with an estimated loss of life of 50 or more, revealed that the roster of the building was complete and contained more than 500 pupils at 9 o'clock.

The explosion at 8:45 this afternoon the bodies of 33 children had been recovered from the demolished building. State police estimated probably 47 more were yet to be located.

Principal Huse Commins, revealed, the state police said, that Andrew Kehoe, Citizen of Bath, whose wife was killed in the explosion, had set fire to the building by firing a high powered rifle into a can of the explosive in the rear end of his automobile. W. G. Conklin, Bath deputy sheriff, was quoted as saying that Kehoe recently had appeared mentally unbalanced, due to a mortgage foreclosing that which would have taken his farm from him.

WOLF CUB NOTES.

THE Wolf Cub of the jungle is the "cub," whose address is Baloo, his bear, a bowl and a spoon, his den a cave, a pig or a goose. Any three animals are an all clothed in the unclothed kind of fur, are go they of the same shape or color. You can tell a wolf cub from those by his shape and color of his fur and all natives are exactly the each other. So with the Wolf Cubs — they are like any other boys in having each a head, and two arms and two legs, but you can tell a Wolf Cub at once, because he is clothed in a different way from an ordinary boy—he wears the Cub uniform, which is a jersey and shorts, stockings and a green cap with yellow piping and woodcraft of the colour of his Pack.

The Vermilion Wolf Cubs now have their caps and neckerchiefs; later on we hope to get the rest of the uniform. Rooster, Cubs, for instance, means that you are now one of a big brotherhood. It goes all over the world. There are hundreds of Wolf Cubs everywhere in the British Empire, all doing the same work and all wearing the same jersey, shorts and caps.

People think a lot of a boy who is dressed in this uniform, because they know he is not an ordinary boy, but that he can be clean and smart and active, and that he can be trusted to do his best to obey orders or to do good turns for other people.

This is what is expected of you because you wear this uniform.

A true Wolf Cub must know by heart the Cub Law and Promise, and carry them out at all times.

At our last meeting there were only four Cubs who had not learned the Promise.

Francis Hill was enrolled as a recruit in the Black Wolf Cubs on Friday last.

Apparently one of the hardest of the First Class Tests is the skipping test, judging from the wild efforts and weird contortions of the various Cubs struggling to learn. The slipping must be performed on the toes, with knees bent, 30 times, while throwing the rope backwards. The C. M. selected a Cub Sub or any Cub who passed this test in 14 days.

Sixers Geoffrey and Douglas Brimacombe and Second Claude Brimmer managed to skip almost the 30 in a week, so by Friday should pass this test. The skipping was probably somewhat violent but no doubt with practice we shall achieve more grace.

SOVIET BUILDING IS RAIDED BY SCOTLAND YARD

London.—One of the most spectacular raids in London's historic Scandal district took place, when 45 men from Scotland Yard swooped down upon the Soviet House in Moorgate and took charge not only of the Arcos offices, but the quarters occupied by the Russian trade delegation, whose officials are supposed to be immune from arrest.

The Scotland Yard men were reinforced by 50 uniformed policemen, who surrounded the five-storey building, and no one was permitted to enter or depart without permission. Acting under the instructions of the Home Office, they took complete charge of the entire building.

Last February the British Government issued a note to Soviet Russia protesting against Bolshevist propaganda directed at Great Britain in China, Persia and elsewhere, and particularly in Great Britain. The note warned against "the continued deliberately unfriendly relations" between the two Governments.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary, made House of Commons on April 7 that there was no prospect then of Great Britain breaking off diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia. In a previous statement Sir Austen warned that there were limits to the Government's patience with regard to anti-British propaganda.

Since then there have been outward developments in the situation.

Irish Free State Cannot Claim Bonds

Is Not Successor to Irish Republic Says U.S. Judge

New York.—Supreme court justice Peters dismissing the suit brought by the Irish Free State to obtain the bonds of the successor of the "Irish Republic" and entitled to the $2,500,000 bonds, the unexpended balance of more than the $20,000,000 subscribed for in the United States for the republican cause.

Justice Peters also refused the claim of Eamon De Valera and his colleagues, O'Mara, to the bonds and ruled that the proceeds from the sale of the bonds here should revert to original subscribers.

Justice Peters, in his decision, refused to allow the claim of the Free State that it was a successor to the self-styled Irish Republic. On the ground that, as a de facto government the republic had never existed and therefore could have no successor.

Now the graves of the fathers are distant from central points, the scouts will delegate tasks to members of the order to perform the task. Simple wreaths of Maple Leaves will form the decoration.

Ready to Test Beam Service

Messages Between Canada and Australia Possible Within Six Weeks In Report

Melbourne, Australia.—It is officially stated that the Marconi beam service between Australia and Canada is now practically ready for testing purposes. The aerial transmitting station is almost completed and the assembling of the transmitting apparatus well advanced.

Hopes are entertained that the service will be in operation within six weeks or possibly a month.

Montreal officials of the Marconi company confessed the above report, declaring that the situation in Canada was practically the same as in Australia.

Mr. Thompson, the chief engineer, said that the messages from Australia would be received by the apparatus at Yamachiche, near Three Rivers, and that Canadian messages to the Commonwealth would be dispatched from Drummondville, Que.

He expected the beam system would be functioning properly within six weeks.

Must Surrender Aims To U.S. Government

General Disarmament in Nicaragua Essential if United States Supervise Election

Managua, Nicaragua.—Plans are under way to drop from aeroplanes and otherwise distribute thousands of copies of a proclamation drawn up by Rear Admiral Latimer, commanding the United States naval forces in Nicaraguan waters, saying he has been directed by the United States government to accept the custody of the arms and ammunition of those within to give them up, including the government forces, and to disarm forcibly those who do not peacably deliver up their arms.

"The United States government," the proclamation declares, "having accepted the request of the Nicaraguan government to supervise the elections in 1928, believes general disarmament necessary for the proper and successful conduct of such elections."

Can Deport Immigrants Who Refuse Positions

Department Has Power to Deal With Such Cases

Ottawa.—A week of good weather would clear up any congestion of immigrants in the western cities, it was stated at the immigration department today. The seeding being so late this year has meant that the usual demand for farm labor has been retarded.

The department stated that if, as reported, men who had entered the country as farm workers are refusing to take positions, deportation was the quickest and most effective method of dealing with such cases. The department has the power to send immigrants back to their countries of origin if they refuse to take work when it is offered.

Want Labor-saving Devices

Geneva.—Women delegates to the international economic conference contributed their bit today to the plans for the world's economic restoration. They introduced a resolution for the creation in all countries of committees consisting of housewives and manufacturers to establish practical types of household utensils which would economize labor both in the home and in the industrial production of such articles.

Strange Phenomenon In Owen Sound Harbor

Water Moved Out and Returned Much Above Normal Level

Owen Sound, Ont.—Waters in Owen Sound harbor and the Sydenham river were suddenly stirred up greatly recently, and no reason has been found for the phenomenon. Within a few minutes the waters in the harbor moved and so that the level was two feet lower than usual.

When the water returned, the level was much higher than under normal conditions. At one time the waters in the harbor got so low that some boats were resting on the mud at the bottom.

No Change in Policy

Britain Will Keep Mission to the Holy See

London.—Maintenance of an official British representative at the Vatican city can be regarded as a permanent policy of the British Government, Sir Austen Chamberlain, the Foreign Secretary, announced in the House of Commons.

"The Government does not intend withdrawing the mission to the Holy See," said Sir Austen, "it was found convenient to establish this delegation and we have experienced no difficulty, and to withdraw it now would be an almost offensive action."

British relations with the Holy See were established in 1914.

NO RETALIATION ON ACCOUNT OF BORDER RULING

Quebec, P.Q.—"There will be no effort at retaliation on the part of Canada because the United States have chosen to restrict the movement of certain citizens who are employed in the United States, and we are hoping that the whole matter will be amicably settled at the conference," declared Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration in connection with news appearing in the United States press to the effect that the United States government had decided to investigate the number of Americans employed in this country as a means of retaliation against the United States measure.

Hon. Mr. Forke sailed from Quebec on board the Empress of France, for a three-months' tour of Europe. He was accompanied by Mrs. Forke and just prior to the liners' sailing, quite an interesting event took place when a disclaimer had been made that any of the cabin occupied by Hon. and Mrs. Forke, and therein deposited huge bouquets of American Beauties and other flowers. There were a dozens or so bouquets among which was one from the local staff of the Immigration Department.

The Minister of Immigration stated that he was going over to Europe to look over the immigration conditions and matters there, and also to see whether there were any changes that to be made to the Imperial Act in connection with aliens. He was also accompanied by Mrs. Forke and others as he hoped to make changes which he deemed necessary.

In a possible increase in the 1928 family scheme whereby the number of families which will come out to this country under the plan will be increased to 5,000, was voiced by the minister.

"If conditions call for it," he said, "I can see no reason why the Imperial Government should not increase the 1,500 and increase it to 5,000 to meet our needs. The new hospital to be built this year, we will place there 100 beds. The provincial secretary has promised consideration.

GOOD PROGRESS BEING MADE ON H. B. RAILROAD

Mile 239, Hudson's Bay Railway.—Following completion of a trip of inspection to the end of steel on the Hudson's Bay Railway, Hon. Charles A. Dunning, federal Minister of Railways and Canals, declared he was gratified by the amount of work completed and agreeably surprised at the manner in which the rehabilitation of the line has advanced.

Weather and other conditions, coupled with some difficult embankment problems, had tended to interfere with the progress of the work, but Mr. Dunning felt that these had been ably met and that, allowing for the early spring, those in charge of the building program now have their schedule well in hand.

The trip to Kettle Rapids, on the Nelson River, was made by train and from there to the Limestone River, Mile 239, the end of steel, by speeder car. The party left that place by boat to Deadon Mile 127, was inspected Wednesday. Mr. Dunning and party returned to Mile 239 this morning, and Mr. Dunner in charge of construction accompanied the minister on his inspection tour.

Forecast Heavy Grain Shipments to Europe

Large Volume of Tonnage Has Already Been Chartered

Port William, Ont.—Record grain shipments have left head of the lakes ports since the official opening of navigation April 12, according to a report issued by F. A. Creell, statistician to the grain commission.

Shipments to April 29 totalled more than 40,000,000 bushels and heavy export shipments from southern ports to Europe during May and during the early part of June are forecast in the report.

Mr. Creell says:

"From reports received from different sources, the exact movement from Atlantic seaboard ports to Europe will be very heavy during May and of heavy proportions during June. A very large volume of tonnage has been chartered already and will be close to 40,000,000 bushels of all grains. These heavy purchases will undoubtedly be occasioned by a more or less severe shortage of grain in Europe, statistics of the world's crops show a slight reduction in the United States and Canada, but a very large increase in the acreage sown in Europe, especially in Great Britain and the three best European countries. The reduction in the United States and Canada is due largely to the reduction in the acreage sown to wheat, but the increase in Europe is due largely to the increase in the acreage sown to wheat, but the increase in Europe is due largely to the increase in the acreage sown to wheat, but the increase in Europe is due largely to the increase

NURSES THE BACK BONE OF PUBLIC HEALTH, SAYS DR. MOUTLEY

The well trained nurse is the back bone of public health" said Dr F W Routley Director of the Extension Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society recently when addressing the Winnipeg Canadian Club in London. He is the link between the scientific possessors of public health measures and the public that has to use them. In the field of the public health nursing courses which are now established in all Canadian Universities through the efforts of the Canadian Red Cross, of the institution of the rolling Tuberculosis clinics, of the nation-wide instruction in Home Nursing of these through which in the past four years, over 12,000 women have received this valuable training and I am pressed the opinion that in a few years' time this study would be added to the ordinary school curriculum of girls. In speaking of the outpost hospitals—many of which are now being operated by the Red Cross throughout the frontier portions of the Dominion, Dr Routley paid tribute to the magnificent services of the nurses in these institutions and referred to the need for health education of school children through the Junior Red Cross or other agency because the production of a health conscience in every child in Canada would go a long way toward wiping out the worst of our preventable diseases."

Dr. Routley, a few days later, when called into conference with the Medical Survey Committee of the Women's Institutes of Ontario at the Parliament Buildings in Toronto, said that in his opinion an adequate nursing service was the best solution of the health and welfare problems which were presented not only in New Ontario but in many old-er parts of the country and he told how the Outpost Hospitals of Canada in the last three and a half years had reached 4,000 women in all who had called for over 5,000 patients.

His suggestion regarding the most effective means of providing the necessary care of the health of the people in outside rural sections was that wherever possible there should be a small health centre such as the Outpost Hospitals with a nurse in charge—at least one helper. It might be open in any available building and total only contain two beds, as did many of the frontier outposts already established, but it could do a great work, for besides her work of training in the hospital, the nurse in charge could give expert pre-natal, natal and post-natal advice to mothers. Also extend to parents the information so many of them so badly need regarding food and diet and could help in other ways to ward off preventable illnesses.

The nursing service should never be confined to hospitals," said Dr Routley in conclusion "it ought to permeate the whole community and if it be at all possible each small emergency hospitals or health centres ought to visit in every settlement so that the necessary health education might be within reach of all our people."

ANNUAL AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS, 1927.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has made the customary arrangements for the collection and publication of the annual agricultural statistics for the year 1927. These statistics will be based upon returns to be collected next June from individual farmers upon cardboard schedules issued to them through the teachers and children of the rural schools. The schedule is a very simple one, calling only for the areas sown to field crops and the numbers of farm animals on the farm in mid-June. Upon the resulting estimates of total areas sown are based the estimates of production and the final estimates of yield, which are of supreme importance in connection with the grain crop. Secondly, a forecast of the probable yield of various cereals, especially of wheat of which Canada is the world's leading exporter.

The present plans for the collection of these statistics have been followed since 1908, and the data for the 19 states based thereon have come to be confidently relied upon by all interested in the production and distribution of Canadian grain.

In connection with the celebration this year of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, accurate statistics are indispensable for a proper appreciation of the national progress, and in order to ensure that the statistics of the Jubilee year may be as accurate as possible, it is earnestly hoped that farmers throughout the Dominion will not fail to render the small service required by filling up and returning the cards as directed.

If any farmer should not receive the cardboard schedule by the middle of June he should advise the name of their to the school teacher of the nearest rural school, or to his provincial Department of Agriculture; or to the Dominion Statistician at Ottawa. The aim is to obtain a completed schedule from every farmer, as the more nearly complete the returns, the more true worthy will be the resulting estimates.

Typhoid And Water Supply

By C. E. A. Winslow
Professor of Public Health, Yale School of Medicine.

In the old days of rural New England, typhoid was generally known as "Fall Fever." In most communities this disease still shows a maximum between August and October, because prevalence of flies, exposure to unsanitary conditions on vacation and increased consumption of uncooked foods and drinks all tend to favor its spread by direct contact at this season. Where public water supplies are not properly protected, however, we find a more widespread and devastating prevalence of "winter typhoid"; for it is the heavy rains and melting snows of November and December and March and April which are apt to wash infectious material into a reservoir.

This is what happened at Plymouth, Pa., in April 1885 when the discharge from a single patient served for the need for 1,100 cases of typhoid in 1 total population of only 6,000 persons. It is what happened only last winter at Akron, N. Y. where failure properly to protect a purification plant caused over 200 cases of typhoid in a village of only 2,000 inhabitants, thus out of every ten persons in a whole community sick at a given time from a preventable disease.

For of course water-borne typhoid is absolutely preventable and therefore absolutely inexcusable. The water supplies can be rendered safe by one of three different treatments, —by storage plus sedimentation, by slow sand filtration and by so-called rapid mechanical filtration Either storage or chlorination alone would be used in theory for treatment, since disease germs die out rapidly in water and can be destroyed by chlorine but in practice, however, it is dangerous to rely on storage alone since local rainfall currents may carry pollution rather quickly across even a large reservoir while chlorine alone is not adapted for treating a water of variable composition such as that of a running stream. The combination of storage and chlorination, or slow sand filtration method for the treatment of many waters. For others which are more highly polluted slow filtration through sand beds followed again supplemented by chlorination) will serve; and for turbid waters from regions having a very soft rapid mechanical filtration (with the use of alum as a coagulant and often again followed by chlorination) is the best procedure.

By one or the other of these methods every community can secure itself of an absolutely safe public supply and at a very moderate cost. The typical village using a naturally covered supply the essential safe-guard of chlorination can be secured at a price of less than ten cents per person per year.

For those who are unfortunately enough to live in communities where the water supply is not thus protected safety can be assured by boiling the water before use for drinking. Similarly, in all communities milk should be boiled or pasteurized (either commercially or in the home) for there is no safe "raw" milk any more than there is any safe untreated water supply. Finally, for those who live or travel in regions where sanitation is still primitive there is the possibility of preventive inoculation by the use of anti-typhoid vaccine, a process which repeated every two years will in the vast majority of instances protect against infection with this disease

Of the 77 large cities in the United States, 30 had typhoid rates below 2 per 100,000 in 1925 while only 2 cities had rates over 20. Fifteen years ago, out of a similar group of 51 cities, not one had a rate below 2 and 17 had rates over 20. This marvellous result has been attained by the measures outlined above,—by the purification of water supplies, the pasteurization of milk supplies and the use of typhoid vaccine. Yet there are still 4,000 deaths from this disease in the United States each year and this 4,000 death-toll too many

Convention Hall Completed By General Motors

The convention hall recently completed by General Motors of Canada, Limited, for the use of its Oshawa employees, is the scene of many delightful activities, ranging from purely social affairs to serious educational and artistic endeavors.

At a cost of about $18,000, the structure, formerly used for a lunch room, was altered and refinished so that it now serves equally well as a theatre, motion picture house, dance floor or lecture hall. The exterior is attractively finished in brown stain with white trim.

No charge is made for the use of the building. Its purpose is to provide an accessible focal point and the inspiration of group spirit for all activities which knit together more closely the factory personnel.

Several organizations gather regularly each week in the convention hall One night is set aside for practice by the factory symphony orchestra of 30 pieces Another is reserved for the General Motors mixed choir of 75 voices. A weekly dance is given by the ladies' auxiliary of the General Motors football team

One of the most serious groups using the hall includes 100 factory men who are taking courses with various correspondence schools. They meet each Monday to discuss their mutual problems and topics of general interest Many of these men are also taking public speaking courses conducted at Oshawa once a week by Prof. W. J. Hoskin of the University of Toronto Incidentally, 36 of the 48 students in these courses are factory employees, the remainder belonging to the office staff

More beautiful and durable than any Shingle Stain

PROTECTO
A superior preservative paint, for shingles, fences, barns, all rough wooden surfaces & composition roofings

That roof of your home needs safeguarding against the constant attacks of wind and weather. The garage it too, is important. And the siding, siding, and farm fences. They need PROTECTO to ward off the elements and shield them against rot, decay, deterioration. PROTECTO is easy to apply and will add real charm and beauty to your home.

PROTECTO is the newest triumph of paint manufacturing. It is a preservative paint that has the unique property of absorbing moisture from the interior of all unfinished outside wooden surfaces.

PROTECTO protects the surface as shingle stain never could. Made of Creosote and Pure Linseed Oil, it seals up the pores of the wood with a waterproof film that sheds water like a duck's back. It makes shingles warp, split and curl proof. And it beautifies them with brighter and more lasting hues than the finest shingle stain ever made.

And so PROTECTO because of that fulfills every need. And you'll like it, too, for it will save you money. It has double the covering capacity of shingle stain and the protective value of old style creosote stain.

The Pool began business at the end of March, 1924, during the year it had handled 3,13,851 dozen of eggs, and 819,000 pounds of poultry.

At the close of the year the pool had paid up share capital amounting to $12,251 and a reserve of $7,200. The membership is approximately 10,000.

The Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, Ltd., Regina, is handling over its entire egg and poultry business to the Saskatchewan Co-operative Poultry Producers, Ltd., the registered name of the Egg and Poultry Pool. All the facilities of the creameries' association for assembling and handling eggs and poultry, including the equipment for feeding the pool, and devotes it for the use have been taken over by the Saskatchewan Egg and Poultry Pool.

Arrangements have been made for the 52 local creameries to act as assembling and shipping agents for the Pool.

The Saskatchewan Egg and Poultry Pool was organized last year and its success has been largely due to the President, Mrs. Bertha Holmes, a farmer's wife of Asquith, Sask. and her executives.

This sum, it is stated, represents the total amount approved for payment out of claims aggregating fifty million dollars in an interim report prepared by James Pitch, K.C., Montreal, N.B., royal commissioner in connection with the Canadian claims for war indemnity against Germany.

Approximately 1,37 awards have been made in the different remaining cases are to be prepared upon by the commissioner. It is expected that the final report will be available in the course of June.

Votes for Women

Arguments That Women Are Mentally Inferior to Men is Answered

Miss Wilfrid Lasche says: "I tell no one I am ashamed to vote for all women in Canada," said Prof. Carrie Derick, addressing a college meeting in Montreal.

The argument the woman were mentally inferior to men Prof. Derick asserted, from her own actual knowledge. Women Score Success in Business

Saskatchewan Egg and Poultry Pool Reports Big Returns

When lowly women rose into the egg and poultry business on a co-operative basis they made good. Before the co-operative movement in the Province of Saskatchewan got under way the Grain Growers' Grain Company had been handling eggs and poultry as an adjunct to its principal business, the grain trade, and it was in this way that the Saskatchewan Co-operative Poultry Producers, Ltd., Regina, was organized.

PETER HEALS THE LAME MAN

Golden Text: "In some other is there salvation: for neither is there any other name under heaven, that is given among men, wherein we must be saved."—Acts 4.12.

Lesson: Acts 3.1 to 4.31.

Devotional Reading: Isaias 35.1-6.

Explanations and Comments

1. Peter Heals a Lame Man. Acts 3.1-10.—Nine in the morning and three in the afternoon were the hours for sacrifice and prayer. It was the hour, or time in the afternoon, when Peter and John, the two apostles so often mentioned together in the Gospel narrative, went to the temple to pray. They observed the hours of prayer in the temple, for the only difference between the followers of Christ and other Jews was that they believed Jesus to be the Messiah. The realization that Christianity was meant to replace Judaism came to them very gradually.

There was always a place in the lives of the apostles for communion with God. Prayer had its definite time and place in their programme in the Master had His hours of prayer. Have we?

At the Beautiful Gate, which was called Beautiful they saw a man sitting and begging alms of all who passed. He laid been lame from birth, and was daily carried to the gate.

Man Find Paying Low Wages a Poor Economy

Not long ago a business man studied the transportation of goods from Prince Albert to the district of Gold. Conlee carried all this merchandise, mostly furs after nine at a steady, space-devouring rate, and worth is for only a few cents a day probably the lowest wages received by any laborers on earth. Across the other side of the world bare freight trains carry coal from the mines down to the river. There are many miles of costly track. There are highly expensive locomotives and cars to be built and maintained; there are crews of well paid trainmen to operate them. There has been a tremendous investment of capital as opposed to almost no investment at all on the Yukon route. Yet they get 1cm per ton of transporting goods in the American coal fields is just about one-tenth of the cost of the highly labour transportation. Railroad men and rich traffics have for a considerable time held that low rates tend to have vast armies of poorly paid hard working "wage slaves" to do the work.

Mr. Geo. Mock, Windsor, Ont., writes:—"I suffered with my heart and nerves and could not sleep at night for noises in my head. I managed to keep up at work a while, but I began to have dizzy spells which got so bad I could not go to work. "Worth its weight in gold" Says Ottawa Matron

Mme. Beatrice Charlebois could not hold pen to write. Nerves completely shattered, health ruined. Now alert, vigorous and strong, she gives praise to Tanlac

The two-year ordeal which she passed through before Tanlac came to her permanent relief, was recently described by Mrs. Beatrice Charlebois of 21 Rose St., Ottawa.

"What I suffered in that time could not be told," she said. "It was so weak I could hardly walk. My appetite was poor and my stomach gave no end of trouble. Gas and pains would bring on fainting spells.

"My nerves were so completely shattered that I jumped in fright every time the doorbell rang. My hand trembled so that it could not hold the pen to write my name. Night after night I lay awake and the two hours seemed to me like four. Tanlac saved me from my home."

"I tried all kinds of remedies in those two years, but can honestly say Tanlac gave me my first real relief. It built me up so that I've gained 11 lbs., my sleep here and have nerves as calm and steady as ever. Tanlac is worth its weight in gold."

Elks Entertain Children On Victoria Day

Band Heads Parade of 500 Juniors

Grand Patriotic Demonstration

Victoria Day, Tuesday, May 24th will never be forgotten by the children of Vermilion and numbers from the surrounding neighborhood, when they were the guests of the "Big Brother Elks" whose official title is the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Vermilion Lodge No. 181. The Elks lived up to their name and "did themselves proud" and are today the heroes of some five or six hundred children to whom they gave the day of their young lives. It was a grand celebration and one could not fail to note the strong sentiment of patriotism which marked the occasion.

In honor of the memory of Queen Victoria, bunting waved from every flag staff of the town and the street decorations were in keeping with the event. Previous to the appointed hour for the line-up for the march to the athletic grounds, hundreds and hundreds of kiddies had assembled at the west side school in response to the invitation extended to them by the Big Brother Elks through the columns of The Standard. Finally the members of the Order in their scarlet regalia were given a rousing reception as they marched to the assembling point. Under the direction of uniformed police at the Elks special force and its officers and members, the children were formed into about behind the Vermilion Citizens' Band, under the direction of W. H. Pilford, which had kindly given its services for the Afternoon and evening. Each child was then given a small Union Jack (the large supply of 500 failing short of meeting the demand) and with the standard bearers at the head, the long parade, headed by the Band, moved off to a lively March tune by the band. The parade was witnessed by several hundred people who followed the procession to the grounds it was truly an inspiring sight. This was the first occasion on which real band has played on the march and they acquitted themselves admirably.

On arrival at the scene of the afternoon's festivities, the children marched into a formation which made the letters "B.P.O.E." and in this order the following programme was carried out:

1 Saluting the Flag
2 The singing of "O, Canada
2 a Taking of pictures)
3 Address: The Flag he Rev. M. Kerr
4 Singing of "The Maple Leaf Forever"
5 "God Save the King"

This concluded the formal part of the proceedings, ice cream and lemonade came next in order, and the how the youngsters managed to make away with the cones and cake and peanuts, still remains one of the mysteries of childhood. A long list races, baseball games, and more races followed. The editor was told that not less than five or more hot dogs were secured per capita and there was lemonade galore. It must be concluded that the majority of the Big Brother Elks" are family men or they would never have so successfully provided for the enormous demand

At 8:30 the big parade again moved with their destination the moving picture. The special programme put on by Mr Pitt to entertain the theatre was filled to capacity, the children cheering from 8 to 9 o'clock when the show ended in the park stand, the children were massed along First st. south which was shut off to traffic at either end of the park Hundreds on cars with their evening sane lined the entire town.

The fireworks display, which was to conclude a wonderful day, was preceded by the sending up of balloons, pins and elephants, causing no end of fun and excitement. These were followed by sparts flares, rockets, Roman candles, starker sparkles and bombs. It was a splendid display.

The Elks are to be congratulated on the success of their first day and credit is due the committee and officers, especially Grand Exalted Ruler L. W. Robinson and his staff with special mention of D. Law, the secretary and energetic chairman of the Entertainment committee. The rooms over will be placed to a big use by the B.P.O.E. expect to make this an annual event and have already decided to order up the same small Union Jack so that every one of the children will have a memento of the occasion.

A dance under the auspices of the Elks was held at night in the C. N. R. Community Hall, which was largely attended. Excellent music was provided by the Elks.

The Spirit of the Jubilee

It is now clearly manifest that the celebration of Canada's Diamond Jubilee will be carried to completion in a manner worthy of the occasion. Everywhere, it is evident, a genuine enthusiasm is being aroused, and the spirit of patriotism is manifesting itself practically and widely in the interests of the approaching celebration. The Dominion Government has appointed a committee of representative citizens to frame a fitting programme for the Jubilee celebration. It is expected that the committee will make a report to the Government within a few weeks, and that the programme will be completed and published immediately which falls to event-memorable the inauguration of the Jubilee.

The Government has also appointed a publicity committee to make known to the world the plans which are being formulated for the celebration of the Jubilee. This committee has already begun its work, and has issued a circular letter to the Canadian press, asking for co-operation in the work of publicity. The committee has also issued a request that the Canadian flag be flown from all public buildings, and from every school-house in the Dominion, on the 24th of May next. This request will undoubtedly be complied with, and the Canadian flag will be seen floating from every flagstaff in the country on the day mentioned. Vermilion, Alta., May 26, 1927.

Attention of our readers is called to a notice appearing somewhere in this paper of a Red Cross meeting. The great good this organization is doing for humanity in its many ramifying programmes cannot be over-estimated. Florence Nightingale, from whose works during the Crimean War the Red Cross sprung, little dreamed, as from a war time cot and breast assistance, when its demands and resources were introduced and put into motion, it would develop into a vast army whose service in the relief of suffering, from whatever source or kind, is functioning three hundred and sixty five days every year over the whole of the habitable surface of the earth. The following are excerpts taken from the remarks made by speakers at the Provincial convention held last February at Edmonton. Mayor Bury, after his official welcome, said of the delegates to his fair city "I emphasized the ideals of Red Cross. It is extending to all national fields the same measure of help and sympathy that it has given in the past to international disasters. Red Cross is a movement that is not limited by the boundaries of nations, but is world wide in its scope and its ideals. It is a movement that has for its object the relief of suffering humanity, irrespective of race, creed or colour. It is a movement that has for its object the prevention of disease and the promotion of health. It is a movement that has for its object the training of the youth of the country in the principles of health, of service, of self-sacrifice, of kindness and of humanity

Alberta Motorists Will Press For Advanced Highway Policy

Provincial Organization Urges Three-Year Program in Province and $50,000,000 Federal Grant for Dominion

With Canada reaping a harvest of more than $100,000,000 yearly from the tourist traffic at the present time, and the summer running manyfold from the United States; scarcely commenced to this country, Alberta should energetically prepare to move this trem-endous traffic at the International border with a system of all weather main highways which would open the East West and the whole land of mountain scenery on a scale sufficient to obtain maximum revenue in the capital and new settlers within the next few years.

This was the unanimous opinion of members of the Alberta Motor Association representing many points of the province at the first annual meeting held in Edmonton May 17th to 19th of the Association with a first hand knowledge of conditions report on the provincial roads, and a note of appreciation of the Government's efforts to construct a gravelled road from Edmonton to the boundary, were among resolutions endorsed at the annual meeting.

Charles H Grant, K.C. of Edmonton was re-elected president of the A.M.A. with A. B. Mackay, Calgary, and Frank Dingman, Edmonton, as first and second vice-presidents. A strong executive committee was named representing the north and south to carry on activities for the next year. W. S Dobeman, Calgary, is secretary with John Hunt secretary of the northern division.

The Necessity For Paint

The good appearance of the home usually proves to be the strongest point in persuading anyone to paint his house. The matter of preserving the surface does not enter into consideration as it should. The common desire to have one's home at its best cannot be condemned, but paint means much more than this. Paint is not a luxury for any trade; it is a necessity and an economic one.

Wood is porous. While growing trees never are dried with sap. When the tree is cut into lumber the sap dries out, leaving the pores open. The protective coatings or bark are also removed. If the wood is allowed to remain in this unprotected state rungs and moisture soon begin to rot and destroy it. Paint penetrates the pores and forms, when dry, a tough, elastic coating, which is "anchored" to the surface by countless little "hooks" that extend into pores of the wood, and this coating or film protects the wood by protecting it from the things which would otherwise quickly and surely destroy it.

The psychological value, the invisible effect of fresh, brightly painted property, is another factor we can not afford to disregard, and this alone should be sufficient cause to stress painting in times of temporary financial depression.

The time that should be paid for the paint is another consideration, and an important one. The best day to paint is the cheapest. The cost should be reckoned on the basis of the square foot and the expense as an each per paint service year. In this way the true value and the cheapness of good paint will be recognized.

The fact that paint and varnish products are, first of all, preservatives should not be forgotten. We paint the exteriors of our houses because we desire that they shall endure. And in the course of endurance we find that we have beautified our homes

(This paper does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.)

Editor of The Standard
Vermilion Alta

Dear Sir

In the issue of your paper of May the 19th, there appears an article by Mr J Gordon Wilson which is headed "To the farmers of Vermilion District"

The object seems to be to create a demoralizing effect among the farmers towards the Alexandra Co-operative Live-stock Marketing Association, which has a membership of over 700 members in the district, and the Alberta Co-operative Livestock Producers, which represent some 12,000 producers of this province.

It is not the policy of either of the above Associations to enter into a controversy through the press. But we wish the producers to know that the annual meeting of the local association will be held in Vermilion in June, and the remarks of resolutions which Mr. Wilson speaks of, or any other demoralizing statements that may be made, can be taken up and the facts regarding them presented.

War History Of The Fourteenth Battalion

Scattered all over the Dominion of Canada are men who served overseas in the 14th Battalion Royal Montreal Regiment, C.E.F. The demands of civil occupations, time, and distances have somewhat weakened the links of comradeship that were forged in the mud and blood of Flanders, but an opportunity is now presented for recalling the memories of those glorious, tragic days and renewing old friendships There is now available a history of the gallant 14th, such as few regiments can boast of. A day-by-day itinerary, showing every town where the battalion billeted overnight, as well as every battle and every trench tour, is included in this historic review together with complete lists of the honors and awards made to the regiment or commissions granted in the C.E.F. or the Imperial Army as well as the roll of those who gave their lives for the Empire in the great struggle.

The history has been in course of preparation for the past eighteen months. It has been written by Lt. Fetherstonaugh of Montreal in collaboration with the Regimental History Committee, under the chairmanship of Lieut-Col C. B Price, D.S.O D.C.M., 425 Metcalfe avenue, Westmount, P.Q. In addition to the story of the battalion's work from 1914 to 1927, the history also contains a foreword by General Turner, twenty-one pages of illustrations and five maps The whole makes a volume that will be prized by all interested in the Royal Montreals and the hundreds who passed through its ranks during the war, and since. The committee are desirous of getting in touch with all members of the 14th Battalion, and orders for the history are now being received by Colonel Price. The price of the volume is $2.50 post-paid

Surpassing Last Year's Success

NOT even its electrifying success during 1926—not even its tremendous sales, which more than doubled the best previous first-year record of any new make of car—Not even these sensational achievements can compare with the present-day triumphs of the New and Finer Pontiac Six!

The reasons for this spectacular advance in popularity are obvious. Always a surpassing value, the New and Finer Pontiac Six now serves above its field like a beacon in the night. Vivid new beauty enhances the fine craftsmanship of its new lower bodies by Fisher. Chassis refinements add to the brilliant performance of its famous six-cylinder motor. Fresh and original combinations of enduring Duco lend a marked note of style to its silent body types.

Yet even with all these improvements the New and Finer Pontiac Six sells for now low prices! Never has such surpassing value been offered in a low-priced quality six. Never has any car of its price handled such wildfire buying enthusiasm! And never has any car in the class so clearly deserved such success!

Confederation and After

Sixty Years of Progress

The Renaissance of the Buffalo in the West

One of the least creditable incidents in the early history of the west, after the coming of the white man, was the near-extinction of the buffalo; one of the more creditable was the effective steps taken at the last moment to save the buffalo from utter extinction and bring him back, not to anything approaching his numbers number, but to a population that ensured the survival of this interesting and valuable animal.

At one time the buffalo ranged over the greater part of North America, and we know from the narratives of many of the early travellers and fur-traders that a hundred years or more ago they travelled in such incredible numbers over the plains of what is now Western Canada that the country was literally black with them so far as the eye could reach. Nevertheless at the time of Confederation the very name of buffalo was fast in North America as well as in the Western States, although it is estimated that there were still about 75,000,000. How they were exterminated is not a tale to remember.

One of the most dramatic links between the present and the past so far as the buffalo is concerned, is the seven famous buffalo which are still living in Victoria and approaching his nineteenth year. Many know the way when the buffalo might still be seen occasionally in their native state, and was so impressed with the tragedy of their extinction that he took pains to be published, through the Royal Society of Canada, an appeal that aroused the interest of thoughtful men. Some years later steps were taken to save this vanishing race of native American mammal, with what success so may be seen today in the west.

It so happened that, almost accidentally, a few buffalo had been saved when the rest of the race disappeared. One man named Michael Pablo finally built up a herd of six hundred in Montana. The Canadian government bought from him seven carefully transported to what is known as Buffalo National Park, in Alberta, about 100 miles south of Saskatoon and Edmonton. In this area of one hundred thousand acres the buffalo have thrived and multiplied to such an extent that large area became insufficient to support their numbers.

Through the summer of 1925 the experiment was tried of transporting sixteen hundred of these buffalo to Wainwright country to the westward of Great Slave Lake, where there were already known to be about two thousand buffalo in a natural state. The experiment worked so well that last year another lot of one hundred buffalo were sent north from the Park; and this year the same procedure will be gone up again this December. In addition about two thousand animals have been slaughtered from time to time in the Park to supply the public market, to keep down the numbers of the herd. Nevertheless there will be about six thousand buffalo in the park.

In other words, the handful of buffalo that Pablo started with, or the ten hundred that were first brought to the park, have increased to fourteen thousand. That is rather more than a satisfactory and a more creditable sight than the countless piles of buffalo bones that once marked the prairies of Western Canada

Customs Union in Europe

Movement Started for an Identical Tariff System in European Countries

A move toward an European customs union was decided by many delegates from a resolution which was given preliminary approval by the economic conference in Geneva. Under this resolution the League of Nations would be empowered to arrange measures best calculated to secure either an identical tariff system among European countries or a common basis for the drawing up of long term commercial treaties.

Subcommissions previously had urged extensive tariff protection followed by the doctrine that nations should remove or at least diminish tariff barriers, which were greatly hampering trade by beginning with those barriers imposed to counteract the effects of the great war.

The granting of unconditional "most favored nation" treatment was declared to be essential to a free and healthy development of commerce.

Grain Carrying Fleet

Big Shipment of Grain From Head of the Lakes Establishes a Record

The other day a fleet carrying a little over 3,000,000 bushels of wheat sailed from Port William-Port Arthur. "Unfortunately," says the Winnipeg Grain Trade Review, "this is the largest shipment of wheat in any one fleet from any port in the world. There was enough in that one shipment to feed the great city of London for over one month. There was more than all the ocean ports of North America on both coasts have shipped in any whole week during the past month, more than Australia ever shipped in a week, and more than Argentina has shipped in any week this season. All this wheat was not loaded within 24 hours, the great bulk of it being delayed while vessels came, but the facilities at Port William-Port Arthur are such that a big proportion of this amount was loaded in one day and very much more than can be loaded in any other port in any other country.

Mount Mashray

Mount Mashray, 9,000 feet high, is situated in the west of Grant Pass on the Alberta-British Columbia boundary. According to the topographic board of Canada, it commemorates the late Most Rev. Robert Machray, Anglican Archbishop of Rupert's Land and Primate of Canada. Archbishop Machray frequently spent his period of recreation in this district.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MAY 23

PETER UNDISMAYED BY PERSECUTION

Golden Text: "We must obey God rather than men."—Acts 5.29.

Lesson: Acts 5.17-42.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 27.1-6.

Explanations and Comments

1. Peter and John Again Imprisoned: Are Freed, verses 17-25.—"We cannot but speak the things which we saw and heard," had been the bold declaration of Peter when he and John were brought before the Sanhedrin (our last lesson). Upon their release they continued their preaching, and the people flocked to hear them. The jealousy and enmity of high priests and Sadducees were aroused, and they had the apostles again imprisoned.

"From hitherto press ure me Lord; From jealous thoughts protect my day;

Again the stroke of envy's sword Help me to hold my way.

And grant my soul sufficient grace, To gladden at another's prize, And look upon his eager face With sympathetic eyes"

—Henry Robinson Palmer

Early the next morning the Sanhedrin learned that their prisoners had escaped, although the prison was found securely locked and the guards at the doors. They learned also that the prisoners were preaching in the temple. Great was their consternation. They could be dealing with dark defiant men who had an unknown ally to help them out of prison!

Diamond Jubilee Celebration

Some Suggestions for Guidance of Committees

The mayor or reeve should call a meeting to form a jubilee committee. The municipal council, educational authorities, representatives of churches, societies and other organizations should be included. The function will be to arrange programmes for the celebration, and to appoint sub-committees to deal with such matters as finances, decorations, sports, public parade, public buildings and streets should be decorated with flags and bunting, and citizens generally should decorate their homes.

A good way to get people together let's have a procession. Commence at the head and have the children join in the parade in which all societies and organizations should have a part in the parades, floats portraying the history of our country should be included. If floats cannot be provided for, decorated people might arrange historical tableaux, with suitable music. Veterans should also be requested to join the parades. Newcomers in all districts should be especially invited to take part; where there are old settlers, they should be especially asked to join in the celebrations. The day should be down in respacious places where the people should march past and salute.

There might be a picnic or other demonstration, with sports for the children. In the evening there could be a concert with fireworks and a community bonfire or other illumination.

When the Prince of Wales takes up residence at Marlborough House he will occupy a small house within a house. He always objected to the size of Marlborough House, and alterations have been so carried out that his private suite consists of comparatively small cosy rooms around which are the big state and reception rooms for visitors and state functions.

Prohibition In U.S.

Ramsay MacDonald Believes it is a Great and Praiseworthy Effort

Ramsay MacDonald, former British Prime Minister, after completing a month's visit to the United States, believes prohibition is a "great praiseworthy effort to keep people sober and make them well; the enemies of visitors who find it a subject for countrymen."

"The gamy of our smart people have been over here and sneered at the law, but when I go back I am going to take the other side," he said

"Two things have touched me very much; first, the very cordial greeting I received from the press of all colors and parties in the United States, and second, the great personal care I had during the three weeks of my illness.

"I am tremendously impressed with the work of America, and Great Britain to understand each other. I do not want alliances, I don't want agreements, I don't want entanglements of any kind, but I do want understanding.

"It is essential that the best type of Britisher and the best type of American should come together. There is so much smart flashiness, jazz dancing and high society ignorance from both sides and being taken by both sides as representative, that men and women of good will ought to work hard to reveal the more permanent good qualities of each other.

Breaking Western Rye Grass Sod

The highest yield of wheat obtained for the first and second years after breaking western rye grass sod at the Scott, Saskatchewan, Experimental Station, was obtained by breaking early in June and treating as summer-fallow. Breaking in the spring and seeding wheat gave a considerably smaller yield per acre in both the first and second years. When it is desirable to take a crop of hay the year the land is broken, very fair results may be obtained by breaking in July and harrowing in September

The letters died away. The second watch arose and danced before the girl against the wall. Shadows thrown from her lantern bathed the white form in scarlet, and new letters glowed in the sky.—"DESTROY."

The guests of Joanna stirred in their seats and settled again into tense, breathless silence. The third watch danced and held aloft her light. The figure in the market place took on a hue of green. New letters formed: "ENVY."

Yvonne, who had stared fascinated at the lighting of the letters, felt deeply was conscious of a breath on her bare shoulder. She looked around and found it was that of Fifi Brandon. Around his forehead a bandage shone white. He stood beside the vacant chair into which he had intended to drop quietly. Yvonne watched his lips and saw them frame the words, "Mademoiselle, I have remembered as Joanna's pilot to Explosive, long ago, in the somber library of the house on the Seine when she told the banker of the three things that had haunted her in her exploits of the world—the fear, the hood of today—"Mr. understanding, Mistrust and Envy."

Brandon was so tightly wrapped in the spell of his memory and this amazing reminder staged by Joanna with her troop of actors and actresses engaged for the occasion in Paris, that Yvonne reached back and touched his to bring him to a realization of his surroundings. Fifi started his hand across his eyes and dropped into the vacant chair.

"I am sure I am," he remarked to witness the refutation she expected never to. I fancy it will be most interesting."

Yvonne studied him a moment and then turned back to the scene on the stage.

The three witches danced away in to the background. Out of the crush and tragic of the make-believe city three shapes were coming down into the open space. Satan's shape, with small, black cloven feet, with skulls, ghastly grins on its the small snare it seemed as if there was an army of the population of the city they sprang from.

Brandon started as violently that Yvonne and Kenilworth shot a glance at him. When they looked back upon the stage they saw why. Unquestionably he was among those grotesque figures. His face was painted with a horrible grin and his head was bandaged!

He turned then, as if a common realization had swept over the men and women, the puppets and manageries, the pierrots and Columbine in the audience, there was a silent sound of pent up breath expelled from the lungs. Almost every one of those who had come to the revel of the Golden Girl recognized, in the figure of the "devil," which was figures on the stage—himself or herself!

In a way Weymouth saw that Joanna had caricatured her. Prince Michael saw himself, as surely as Brandon saw himself, in the grotesque figure of the bandage. John, who stood at the back of the pavilion saw a meager figure of himself, with a bandage on his head and a bandage on his hand.

"She said it was for Mr. Prentiss," he said over and over. "She knew it was to say that we would be more secret." Martha had seen it. Keep quiet, Mr. Prentiss, be a good soldier, young man," she cried ... some body was taking her own ... fashioned inside!"

Extending, the distract, and the envy of those white faced people who stifled her

The music quickened. The girl in a panic, sought to flee. The witches pressed low in and drew her step by step, while the pierrot managers circled and waved monotonously, back to the water trough pool. The Columbine burst into a discordant cry—shook. The dancer, helpless, discouraged, backed against the pillar and flung out her arms in mute appeal. The witches raised their lanterns in hideous glee. The green, yellow and scarlet rays pierced the films covering of the young body and bathed it in a mellow glow. And by some weird trickery of a hidden electrician the rays from the lantern of Misunderstanding, Distrust and Envy made a shadow against the city, a shadow black as night—the shadow of a cross.

In the big, solemn library in the house of Andrew Eagleton, on the Avenue, where Joanna once had spent the long hours of an afternoon with the blueprint she had filched from John's rooms spread between her and the banker, a remarkable company was gathered.

SICK ABED EIGHT MONTHS

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Could Do All Her Work and Gained in Weight

Melfort, Saskatchewan. — "I had a lot of trouble, headaches and severe pains in my back and sides. I was sick generally that I could not get up and I was in bed most of the time for eight months. An aunt came to visit and I told her me so I was unable to attend to my baby and could not do my work. She told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking two bottles I could get up and dress myself. I also took Dr. Pinkham's Blood Medicine. When I first took the medicine I only weighed seventy-eight pounds. Now I weigh twice as much. If I get out of sorts or weary and can't sleep I always take another bottle of the Vegetable Compound. I find it wonderfully good for female troubles, and have recommended it to my neighbors. I will be only too glad to answer any letters I receive asking about it."—Mrs. WILLIAM RITCHIE, Box 656, Melfort, Saskatchewan.

Vermilion Branch Red Cross

Had Active Year

TAG DAY SET FOR JUNE 17

The annual meeting of the Vermilion Branch of the Canadian Red Cross was held Monday evening with a fair attendance of members present. Mrs. H. P. Lane gave an outline of the work accomplished last year including the pending of one crippled child to the University hospital for treatment. The report showed considerable clothing to have been distributed among needy settlers which appeared to have been greatly appreciated. About $2500 were realized for the purposes of the Branch during the year, some $1700 still remaining in the treasury for this year's work. The branch has never taken the collection of $2000.00 set for Red Cross work for 1927, which funds are required at headquarters. It was decided to hold a tag day on the 17th of June. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Long for her invaluable services during the year.

The officers elected for 1927 were as follows:

President — J. W. G. Morrison
1st Vice — Mrs. H. S. Stephens
2nd Vice — Mrs. W. G. Cash
Secy-Treas — Mrs. H. P. Long
Executive Committee — Mrs. J. A. Kynoch, Mrs. F. L. Walsh, Mrs. J. Dawson Stephens, Mrs. R. Cairns, and Mrs. H. Calvert.

The following were elected a committee to arrange for the tag day: Mrs. Long, Mrs. Cairns, Mrs. Calvert, Mrs. Whitby and Mrs. Kynoch.

An immediate appeal will be made for funds shortly.

Seven baseball teams compete in the big tournament here June 3rd.

DEAN CARLISLE in Christ Church cathedral, Montreal: "I want to plead as I have never pleaded before, with all the earnestness I can command for a revival of the old-fashioned home and its life affection, comradeship, hospitality and a love that runs home to keep the children by the fireside instead of parading the streets breathing the foul and vicious atmosphere and so making our homes like England's are. We can all give it we will to the world a sample of old-fashioned English home life."

The Other Fellow's Viewpoint

In this year of Canada's Diamond Jubilee, when the thoughts of its people are being turned backward over years past and they contemplate the truly marvellous change that has taken place, one great lesson, and the outstanding achievement of the century, stands out imminent. A review of the years clearly demonstrates that Canada's material growth and development have been made possible because, to an ever increasing extent as the years have passed, the people of the Dominion having cultivated a spirit of good-will toward each other.

Confederation had many obstacles to remove, many difficulties to overcome, political, governmental, financial, but the one problem that had to be solved, and solved quickly and completely, was the necessity to achieve a union of the two races, French and English speaking, to create a feeling of respect and toleration for each other on the part of Roman Catholic and Protestant. That is here extent this has been accomplished, and to it Canada today owes its strength and prosperity.

The citizenship of Canada can render no more fitting or valuable service to their country than to encourage a greater degree of toleration in its every day progress, than to foster and develop the spirit of tolerance and good will. Only by so doing can peace be maintained at home—eliminated from our midst—and an equally effective sway exercised in the maintenance of international development of such relations alone can be found the essentials of a true national spirit.

Briefly, the problem of existence of a country, or it happens to be, in Canada today, is an absence of those suspicions, bitter feelings, and lack of appreciation of the opinions, of others, which appear to be potential in other lands. This is not to say there is an entire absence of these possibilities in Canada. They do persist in some measure but they are today, nobler motives of mankind are uppermost.

For instance, if the Russian people desire a communistic form of government that is their own business and Canada and Britain have no desire to interfere but Russia should display the same attitude towards other countries and not try to subvert the loyalty of British subjects to their respective governments. The disclosures that Russia is using the diplomatic immunity accorded her representatives by other countries in an endeavor to destroy those institutions, portends potential peril, revealing to every sense of decency and fairplay.

While deploring some of the methods adopted to promote national feeling in China, one cannot but sympathize with the aspirations of the Chinese people. Foreign rights must be respected in China as in other countries, but there should be no interference in China's right to itself determine its political life and forms of government. One can perhaps better appreciate and sympathize with the Chinese viewpoint if we could visualize Buddhist priest, establishing missions throughout Western Canada and opening Shinto shrines in touch and collision with the people of the Buddhist faith—or Would the Christian churches of Canada acquiesce in this?

Or imagine, whole sections of Vancouver, Victoria, and other cities set aside as Chinese or Japanese concessions, wherein their laws prevailed and their trade was supreme. Would Canadians accept such a state of affairs? Rather, do we not even object to individual Chinese and Japanese competing on even terms with our own people?

Reference is made to these rather strong views, not to pass judgment in regard to them, but to point the moral of the article, viz., that what is needed in the world today is more and less bitterness, more tolerance and less prejudice, more respect for and less suspicion of each other; more co-operation and less striking at cross purposes.

And what the whole world needs, in fact Canada needs, in this Jubilee year, confidence itself to achieve to the fullest degree for our own people and Dominion. Respect for each other's opinions and convictions, recognition of the other fellow's point of view, and a willingness to meet others half way in the solution of community and national problems, a realization that we all are Canadians with a common interest in the Dominion and its welfare and a common duty and responsibility to it to discharge.

Estevan Coal Fields

New System of Carbonization May be Used

P. A. Outhus, of the Largi Company, Franklin and Main, Rochester, inventor of the Largi system of carbonizing soft coal, and Dr. Frank Mineral, of New York, president of the Solid Largi Corporation, who recently visited the Estevan coal fields with the view of possibly installing Largi carbonizers there, have been interviewing Premier Gardiner. Hon. T. Davis and Commissioner J. A. Motley, of the Bureau of Labor and Industries. According to "The Leader," these men declared their belief that the Largi process could be used very well in the treatment of the lignites, depending on a production cost of about $5 per ton.

Flown With Maiden Trustee

Spectators Marvel at Machine Used in Test Near Lincoln, Nebraska

A "maiden" tractor, controlling by an electric device, plowed a field in Nebraska successfully before a crowd of farmers, professors of agriculture and Kilmuna last week.

Unguided by a human hand, except when the first furrow was plowed to make a guide rope, the machine, equipped with an automatic guide invented by F. L. Elliott, of Grand Island, Neb., pulled a 20-acre field on the College of Agriculture farm of the University of Nebraska, near Lincoln.

The tractor runs in an irregular circle, rounding the corners. Except for replenishing the gasoline and oil, it needs no attention. The electric control stops the machine should it leave the furrow, and when the work is completed.

The invention first was tried in 1921, Elliott said. Tiring of riding a plow, he attached his device to his tractor, filled the machine with gasoline and turned it loose.

WEAK, LISTLESS GIRLS

Need Such a Tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to Restore Health

When a girl in her teens becomes pale and languid, especially if at the same time she shows inclination to be easily excited, irregular and inclined to her work or studies, she needs Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic which directly and specifically corrects the troubles from which she is suffering. A chemical analysis of the blood of such a girl would show it to be deficient in the red elements (or, Williams' Pink Pills can supply that deficiency. These pills are needed—the physical signs are plain enough—when there is a loss of the cheeks and lips, dark circles under the eyes, smaller pulse and breath less after slight exertion. Poor appetite, headaches, and sometimes fainting spells follow; often the patient is troubled with a cough that is like consumption. In all run-down conditions there is no other tonic will build you up so quickly and so surely as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The statement of Miss Clarence Lonsdale, Dalhousie, N.B., will bring hope to other young girls. She says: "Like thousands my heart I would persuade every person who is in the same condition to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial." Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Borden's EAGLE BRAND

Spends Ninety-Eighth Birthday in Prison

"Lifer" Who Refuses Pardon Has Good Health Years

"Old Charlie" Lindwall, the oldest prisoner in Joliet Penitentiary and probably the oldest in the country observed his ninety-eighth birthday just as he had observed every milestone since 1900 and he probably will observe every anniversary until he receives the pardon of death.

Lindwall celebrated in the penitentiary for life in 1900 for murder, which he always denied committing, but refused pardon in 1915, years ago, maintaining he was too old to face the world. At the time he was sentenced the Court ridiculed his plea his age alone had saved him from the gallows. Since then "Old Charlie" and most of the jurors have died, but "Old Charlie," half blind, feeble and bowed with his years, has clung tenaciously to life.

He potters around the prison yard with no guard molesting him and has no personal interests in dreaming. At chapel services and for the weekly movie "Old Charlie" has a favored seat in the front row.

Machines Take Laborer's Place

Combines Do Work of Harvest Hands in U.S. Grain Belt.

Combines — squat, wheeled machines that creep slowly across the limitless area of waving wheat—will this summer do the work of 25,000 harvest hands, hitherto imported each year from the east and south.

Therefore this season over 75 trains are to be run to carry money to pay for next year's reaping by machine. Also grain is being cleaning binders or pitching grain from the header into the waiting wagons, and there will be thousands of men will converge in Kansas, in June, to spread over the country like locusts to live off the harvest.

The large combine, drawn by a tractor, cuts a 16-foot swath, threshes and sacks the grain and spreads the straw in its wake, all in one operation. One man drives and tends the tractor, another runs the combine, and a third man hauls the sacked grain to the side road in a truck. By this system the farmer can harvest 50 to 75 acres a day against 20 acres a day by the old system. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil should be in every medicine chest ready for the unexpected that may always be anticipated.

Pineapples may be raised by the hundred thousand without attracting special attention, bananas are worth a few cents a bunch, and oranges are as cheap on the west coast of Africa as in California.

Our Canadian Climate

Nothing to Complain About When Compared With Other Countries

Snow and sleet and late scoding in the West, with cool showers in the East have set the pessimists to croaking about "Canada's late spring." But in the meantime these bleatings were appearing in the press:

"Mississippi Floods; Thousands Homeless."

"Cyclone Hits Sidney; Heavy Damage."

"Relief at Adeh."

"Chile Volcanoes Active."

"Mediterranean Storm."

"Illinois Cyclone."

"Earthquake in the Philippines."

"Tornado Sweeps Kansas."

So, after all, Canada is not so bad. Our winters may be rigorous, and our springs sometimes dubious, but taken all in all, and compared with other countries, our climates is as blessed as perhaps any in the world.

Progress of Sixty Years

Will be Strikingly Featured in Diamond Jubilee Celebrations

It has been well observed that there could be few greater illustrations of the progress of sixty years in the realm of science than that afforded by one of the chief features in the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee. It is announced that the music of the great carillon of bells to be installed at Ottawa will be broadcast by radio to all parts of the world, and that the words of King George to his people at the opening of the National Anthem will be heard in Canada only three one hundredths of a second after they are uttered by him in London, England. It is certainly a marvelous triumph of scientific invention.

Work of Colonization Associations

Expect to Locate 2,000 Families in West This Spring

April was the record month of the Canada Colonization Association when 110 families were settled upon 29,352 acres of land in the Prairie Provinces. This followed the previous best in March when 75 families were placed upon 18,150 acres. Altogether in the first four months of 1927 some 250 homeless families have been placed on 60,000 acres of land, pre-lously idle, almost equally in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. By June 1st it is expected that there will be 500 families on the 100,000 acres of land Western Canada wide, one of the Association. As families average 5.7 in number there is every reason to believe that by the end of the year there will be 1,500 men and women and children in these Canadian homes.

The large combine, drawn by a tractor, cuts a 16-foot swath, threshes and sacks the grain and spreads the straw in its wake, all in one operation. One man drives and tends the tractor, another runs the combine, and a third man hauls the sacked grain to the side road in a truck. By this system the farmer can harvest 50 to 75 acres a day against 20 acres a day by the old system. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil should be in every medicine chest ready for the unexpected that may always be anticipated.

Heart Palpitation Dizzy, Sinking Spells

Mrs. M. J. Gagnon, Deauville, Alta., writes: "Three years ago I was very nervous, could not sleep at night, often had dizzy, sinking spells and palpitation of the heart, and was so run down I could not do my housework. Just four years everything and all down.

I spent a lot of money using medicine from the doctor, but it did not do me any good.

At last a friend told me to use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got some and after using a few boxes I was not the same person. I began to feel as much better, and after a few more boxes I was in perfect health. I always recommend these to all those I know who are suffering from heart trouble."

REQUIRE A YEAR LONGER TO REACH PORT CHURCHILL

OTTAWA.—Completion of the Hudson's Day Railway by May of next year if the terminal is to be Port Nelson but should it be decided that Port Churchill, was favored by Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of railways. Here is how the work is progressing both as regards putting the shipping line in shape for operation and also the new construction. The headway being made is considered very satisfactory.

As between Churchill and Nelson, the minister expressed no preference, stating the decision will be based upon the best report advice obtainable. Mr. Dunning will accompany the British engineer, Frederick Parker, to both places at the end of July, and a number of high officials will also go along. Meanwhile, preliminary data is being collected while the investigation into conditions on the straits is under way.

"There is no rivalry between the two potential terminals," Mr. Dunning said. "Each has its merits and its location to satisfy. At Nelson a caretaker and a few others are about the only white residents, while at Churchill there is only a Royal Canadian Mounted Police post. A large development is now being done there when the road is finished."

Should the line go to Churchill, the road will run 100 miles further than to Nelson but doubtless at a point 45 mile from the.

Meanwhile, a fair trade to the north country is reported by prospectors, farmers, hunters, trappers and all parts of the country are represented in the district. It has been necessary to put on a regular weekly service in place of the boat which has accommodated on the construction trains.

It also is announced by the Minister of Railways that the formalities have just been concluded for absorbing the Hudson Bay Railway into the Canadian National Railways for corporate as well as operating purposes. The Government and officials have agreed to the settlement, whereby their old securities were exchanged for the new stock authorized by Parliament at last session. This adjustment removes a long standing grievance.

London — In a little over four months the number of unemployed workers in the Clyde district has dropped by one-third. Would Send Boys to Canada

Isle of Man Has Scheme for Community Settlement in Dominion

Montreal.—Canada is the country to which the Isle of Man is looking for the settlement of her youth, said J. B. Crookall, J.P., mayor of Douglas and member of the House of Keys, who reached Montreal on the White Star liner Doric. Every year the Isle of Man has about 400 boys leaving school at the age of 14. A proposal is afoot to raise the leaving age to 15, following which the Island authorities would give them a course of training for one year to fit them for emigration. Mayor Crookall hoped the Manxmen in Canada would interest themselves in this project.

The mayor outlined a scheme he had for community settlement of Manxmen in Canada. He proposed to send out 100 families if the Dominion Government would set aside a tract of land sufficient to provide for them, making the terms as easy as possible. Almost 40 per cent. of these families would be agricultural.

British Labor Leader Says Emigrants' Opportunities in Canada Best in World

London —Canada contains greater opportunities for the settlement of men in the world provided the right kind of immigration is regulated so as not to displace the existing workers, in the opinion of C. T. Cramp, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, who has returned home from a tour of the Dominion.

Mr. Cramp was struck by the "remarkable" prejudice manifested by all against the admission of American, Indian, and the similar sentimental attitude of the colonial magistrates, who asks railway men to come in order to stimulate business."

WOULD DEVELOP CANADIAN TRADE WITH BRITAIN

London.—"I am here to visit Canadian trade commissioners in Britain and on the continent and to acquaint myself more fully with the possibilities the markets here offer for Canadian products," Hon. James Malcolm Canadian minister of trade and commerce, told newspapermen in an interview. He added that he was most particularly desirous of increasing Inter-Empire trade, of which he has been a constant advocate.

Mr. Malcolm mentioned the dearth of pioneers made by the Canadian government for advertising Canadian food in Britain. To secure the best means of applying the money was an important object of his visit, he said.

Mr. Malcolm acknowledged that the figures of Canadian trade with Britain in 1927 showed a decrease, though he said a good deal of British trade was done Canadian products, although Canadian purchases from British sources showed a gain. He added that adequate publicity would soon help to correct the balance. There was all ways, he said, some unreliability about statistics and they did not invariably show the exact position of trade between two countries. He visited Paris and Britain

RUSSIAN TRADE AGREEMENT IS TO BE ABROGATED

Ottawa —The Government has decided to denounce the commercial treaty with Russia, it was announced following a lengthy meeting of the Council.

Premier King, in making the announcement, declared this action had been taken after a full and careful consideration of the situation created through the decision of the British Government to sever its relations with Soviet Russia. Evidence in the hands of the Canadian Government had been received, he said, that certain sections of the agreement between Canada and Russia had been violated by the Russian Government. Premier King pointed out that the agreement was subject to termination on certain conditions and added that Canada is regarded in the United States as the best outside field for investment, and every effort is put forth to encourage the movement of funds into the Dominion, it is said by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, New York

Investigating Plan to Use Sulphite Wastage

Scientists See Possibility of Making Substitute for Gasoline

Ottawa —Canadian scientists are investigating the possibility of the manufacture of a substitute for gasoline out of the wastage in the number one sulphite mills throughout the Dominion. It was revealed at a meeting of the associate committee of the council of research of the National Research Council of Canada here.

The sulphite mills in Canada produce in the manufacture of pulp for paper and wood pulp, a waste product which is run into the rivers. This waste product is known as sulphite liquor. It is believed that by the use of certain processes this liquor can be converted into a substitute for gasoline.

Dr. Arthur Stansfield, director of the mines branch of the department of mines, told the meeting that the matter was being investigated by the mines branch and by the forest products laboratories. He said that the problem was a difficult one, but that he was hopeful that it would be solved.

Joseph Bubier, who resides on the Prince Rupert Wheat Pool property, is a delegate from Alberta, and stated that the 40 shipments of grain for six months would be the season's handling for the terminal elevator last year. The Pool Manager will hand three organized commercial buyers who will have the chance.

The new Dry Dock at Esquimalt, Vancouver, is to be formed as a graving dock at Esquimalt. It is to be 1,000 feet long at the water level, and 100 feet wide at the bottom. The British Columbia Wheat farmers are greatly interested in this fact.

The territorial elevator organized by the Alberta Wheat Pool, is supposed to be one of the best locations for an elevator to be built there.

U. S. WON'T TOLERATE "SOVIETISM."

The United States ambassador, Mr. J. T. Herrick, speaking at the annual Memorial military ceremony, in Paris, France on Monday, declared that the ruling powers of Soviet Russia were engaged in paid propaganda activities throughout the world and that the United States would not tolerate the spread of Bolshevism to its shores.

Declaring that modern scientific methods were being applied to the science of war, the ambassador said that these modern scientific methods were now somewhat belatedly being actively applied to the scourge of Bolshevism.

"I believe," he continued, "that the people in every country have got to choose between order and anarchy, between honesty and thievery, between every day virtue and crime. Either we believe in orderly society, in which I, we do not ought to have all the power which we to defend our existence or the independent, self-existence of the people, and which are opposed throughout the world, has come steadily on and, in common with others, I have been forced by these events to view with increasing apprehension this sinister movement.

"Declaring that the leaders of the Soviet regime do not speak for the great mass of Russian people, Mr. Herrick said that the Bolshevist system was far away in the world in general more tyrannical and oppressive than any preceding despotism.

"We have no thought of attacking the Soviet regime in Russia, what it does on its own reservation is its own affair. But we do object with all the earnestness of a self-respecting nation, and quite regardless of material considerations, to its efforts to undermine the morals and opportunities of people that we live in order to protect our country from Bolshevism and the fact that a government secretly seeks a capital in its midst, or a bolshevist society thrives on openly disputed, that crime does not make the brave men less valorous or alter our duty to respect it."

FORMER VERMILION PASTOR MAKES PROPHECY.

The Rev. H. A. Edwards of Jasper, who for many years engaged in church work at Pleasant Valley and later his sojourn at Vermilion has made a prophecy. Speaking at Holy Trinity church, Edmonton last Sunday evening, he prophesied that on May 20th, 1928, the world would enter a period of trouble which will develop in a tremendous and finally end on July 20th, 1930. The reverend gentleman gleaned his prophecy with his future from calculations.

Slashing his wife's throat with a safety razor, and then drawing the blade across his own throat, at 5:45 Wednesday morning, at their home in the town of Lloydminster, Guy Miller, well-known auctioneer of the Lloydminster district, died on the operating table a few hours after the tragedy, and Mrs. Miller's life, and while desperate efforts were being made by Dr. G. New Ford Car To be Produced

Will Be Superior in Design & Performance

DETROIT, Ontario, May 25. — A new Ford car of entirely redesigned body and chassis was announced here today in an official statement issued by W. R. Camp, Ford Vice-President and Treasurer of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited.

"Production of a new Ford Car, superior in design and performance to any now available in the low priced light car field, will shortly be started by this Company. The Model T Ford, which, for twenty years has been the leader in the automotive industry, will continue to be a substantial factor in production in view of the fact that all models of Fords now in service will, for many years, require replacement parts."

Information as to the date on which production of the new model Ford will begin was not forthcoming, but it was indicated that the work of assembling over the huge Ford factory here, which is the largest automobile factory in the empire, will immediately be initiated. This work will necessitate the replacing and rearrangement of thousands of machine tools, will entail an enormous expenditure of money and labor but it is said that plans for the changes have been thoroughly developed and that the work will proceed with great celerity.

The new Ford car, it was learned last been designed by Henry Ford who also designed the famous model "T" and his predecessor and is the product of many years of engineering research. The present car was one of the largest factors in creating the conditions which now make the new model Ford possible.

The world wide influence of the Ford in the building of good road and in teaching the people the low cost value of mechanical power introduced. Nowadays everybody realizes that motor power but recently was looked upon as a luxury. The Model "T" was introduced, only the well-to-do could be induced to use an automobile. It had a body of time stamina, public confidence that it would last was won. The Model T was a pioneer car in this respect. It was the car that carried the farmer over rural roads in top speed in bad weather, long buggies or sleighs in spring or time without the necessity of changing from summer touring car to winter closed car. It was the Model T that introduced, and put over, the idea of closed cars to the world which, otherwise, would not be possessed by conditions in Canada and in the United States have so greatly changed that neither investment in motor car construction a new desirable and the new model is a reconstruction or two.

With the new car the Ford plant will continue in the high class field in which they operated in the same lines of quantity production giving high quality, low price and economical service. For the new model is claimed speed, style flexibility and comfort in addition to quality and the public promises to be a worthy successor to the motor world has ever produced. That it will meet the requirements of the people the present model T has all but proven conclusively.

Recalls Romance of Boer War

Woman Deserted Rider Who Married British Colonel in Dead

By the death of Mrs. Catherine Vaughan, widow of Col. A. C. Vaughan, of Irma, Alta., recalls a romance of the Boer War. Mrs. Vaughan was a relative of President Kruger, was a skilled horsewoman and rode a dispatch ride for the Boers. Col. Vaughan, then leading a British force as a captain, was wounded and captured. While he was guarding Archduke Vaughan dashed out on horseback to bring aid to the beleaguered Boers. Col. Vaughan shot her horse and captured the dispatch rider, whom, to his astonishment, proved to be a woman. The romance that had begun with the exchange of shots ended in marriage. Col. Vaughan, who was a cousin of Sir Owen Edwards, died eight years ago.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON I

PETER PREACHING TO GENTILES

Golden Text: "For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek; for the same Lord is Lord of all, and is rich unto all that call upon him."—Romans 10:12.

Devotional Acts, Chapters 10 and 11.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 67:1-7.

Explanations and Comments

I How a Gentile Was Prepared for Discipleship, verses 1-8. — Cornelius was a Roman centurion in command at Caesarea. One night he had a vision in which an angel said to him, "Cornelius, thy prayers and thine alms have gone up for a memorial before God."

Then the angel bade Cornelius to send to Joppa for Peter, who was staying with Simon the tanner by the seaside. Cornelius was a Gentile, and Jews would not enter the houses of Gentiles. Yet Cornelius obeyed the command. He called two of his household servants and one of his soldiers, explained to them his vision, and sent them to Joppa.

Great thoughts are in the air for those who are open-minded; noble impulses crowd the highways for those who are ready to receive and act upon them."—Hamilton Wright Mabie.

Not a "Vanishing Race"

Indian Population in Western Canada Shows Increase of 19,000

From Ottawa comes the statement that the Indians are increasing in population. They are no longer a "vanishing race." In western Canada the total population today is about 120,000.

It is welcome news. We should wish the Indians well. These picturesque people form the gentlest of the fine race of North America. Inroads of ancient nomads who almost probably entered the Western Hemisphere from the Orient across the strip of land that has now part of the Bering Straits, the famous redskins deserve the kindly fate which civilization has reserved for them.

Mode Remarkable Test

Sound of Human Heart Sent Amplified Test Ten Miles Across Texas

Washington.—The sound of a human heart beat was amplified ten million times before the American Medical association, meeting in convention here. This was the greatest sound amplification ever achieved in history.

In the Washington auditorium building, hundreds listened spellbound while sound, like a gigantic locomotive pounding through an empty hall, filled the entire structure. Out in the street, pedestrians paused, their ears alert to what emerged like distant cannon fire.

The main purpose of the demonstration, by means of an electric stethoscope, was the treatment of heart diseases.

Much of the question is answered by humanity is cultivated.

Studying History Of Canada

Knowledge of Dominion Best Equipment for Good Citizens

McGill University has decided to give a complete course in Canadian history for the first time in the record of that institution. The reason given for this is that the Department of History feels the necessity of allowing students a chance of obtaining a broad general knowledge of the history of the Dominion. The history of Canada will be a third year subject, following a complete course on the history of the Western Hemisphere. It is intended to enable the student here to grasp trans-Atlantic conditions, the Faculty further states.

This is a step in the right direction, when not before it was high time. Those familiar with educational conditions in this country have often complained that students were taught far too little of general world history and geography; but surely it is the proper thing, and the right thing, for every student to know his own land first, and to learn its history thoroughly. How otherwise can he fit himself adequately for the duties of citizenship and all they imply?

It is necessary to know what memories prompted the men who fought for freedom and liberty of ideas in the past in order to realize how Canada has grown to be what she is today. It is essential to have a clear conception of the ideal that lay behind the men who established the order to understand the problems this Dominion is facing today because one's own country is the best possible equipment for a career and a man who occupied the commercial or a professional career, McGill has moved wisely, and in the right direction, in this matter.

For Empire Unity

Premier Baldwin Says Empire is a Great Force for Righteousness

"We must destroy our best energies in the party fights," said Stanley Baldwin and Labor alike, to make our unity such a reality that no and women will regard this Empire as their home and it may become possible for them to move with ease to and fro from land to land. Until that is done, and Canada, as well as Britain as from Glasgow to London or from Bristol to Newcastle," Premier Baldwin declared in a Victoria Day address broadcast throughout England.

Mr. Baldwin appealed to the Liberals to help make the Empire a great force for righteousness in the world. "The British Empire is the only political instrument which we hold in our hands with which we can set up all the ideals which surrounded St. Lee we see to it that we hand it on to our successors with unimpaired glory."

Signs of True Prosperity

Making Not Hoarding of Wealth Means Glory to Nation

Bathrobe and refinements are not signs of true wealth. Not are palatial residences nor huge governmental buildings. For years million-dollar estates were the will be a thousand bowels. The true signs of wealth and prosperity are growing forests, like the Canadian hill sides, the loss of the saw in the forest, rather than to the surface of the world's wealth. It is the creation of wealth, not the hoarding of it, that brings prosperity to a nation.

Unusual Insurance Policy

A $250,000 insurance policy on the face of Fay Marbe, an American actress now playing here in what I hear is to be the first picture of its kind, the actress has insured her limbs for this amount with a British company. The policy, it is said, provides that if the actress has to retire from the stage because of accident or illness. The amount of the coverage is as follows:

Not a Judge

"You say the prisoner had been drinking" said his worship to the police court witness. "Did you smell anything what?" "Well, I didn't—replied the constable. "You didn't smell a policeman?"

The experienced do not guess if by tasting then the inexperienced eat to the man who wants to sleep.

Many a man who thinks he thinks has a wife who does not think.

Prudery is a vice often used to cover a bald character

For Empire Unity

Premier Baldwin Says Empire is a Great Force for Righteousness

"We must destroy our best energies in the party fights," said Stanley Baldwin and Labor alike, to make our unity such a reality that no and women will regard this Empire as their home and it may become possible for them to move with ease to and fro from land to land. Until that is done, and Canada, as well as Britain as from Glasgow to London or from Bristol to Newcastle," Premier Baldwin declared in a Victoria Day address broadcast throughout England.

Mr. Baldwin appealed to the Liberals to help make the Empire a great force for righteousness in the world. "The British Empire is the only political instrument which we hold in our hands with which we can set up all the ideals which surrounded St. Lee we see to it that we hand it on to our successors with unimpaired glory."

One of the strangest sights in Berlin, although unknown to the people, is a church steeple in the basement of an ancient house.

In August 14, 1724, the steeple of St. Peter's Church tumbled with a loud crash, pierced the roof and two floors of adjacent house and landed in the basement.

Nobody ever bothered to put the steeple back in place, nor even to remove it from its resting place. A new steeple was built and the damage done to the house repaired. The tall

The man to whom Graydon talked went over to the table where Eggleston sat, his head not well down into his shoulders. Other men stood at the table, too, important men they seemed, of the financial world, as was marked by large, self-assured bearing. Among them was a noted sculptor. And his artist, a well-known painter, and his architects.

On the massive table, between them and the banker, and below Joanna's blueprint now had been spread by Joanna, a shimmering white model stood, like a ghostly city of the future, a miniature of one's own country in the best possible equipment for a career and a man who occupied the commercial or a professional career, McGill has moved wisely, and in the right direction, in this matter.

Honoring the Spirit of the Pioneers

Spirit of Romance and Adventure Should Always Remain

The portion of Lord Willingdon's speech in reply to the civic address of welcome that met with a warm response in Calgary, was his refer ence to the pioneers.

"Just speak of this city," he said "as having been in the past, one of the frontiers of romance and adventure, and you see that it has happily not yet lost its distinctive features. I hope that it will always remain in these conditions may change. If I always well that the romance and adventure of the pioneers should be kept alive."

"There was much more that Eggleston said; many things that quivered in his lips, but he could not speak them. Graydon, his friend, and that you should always keep it. And I think that every pioneer who laid the foundation of a great city deserves the honor."

Calgary appreciates the pioneers. Hagen, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Stephen, we have many of the pioneers at our here, with us. This is the one day in the year when we have the opportunity to show our appreciation and love for the men who have done so much for the city which they helped to create. We appreciate the fact that they have come to us from all parts of the country to be with us today."

Prospector Sold Rich Coly Mine in Australia for Thirty-five Pounds

Death has occurred at Port Adelaide, Australia, of a Frenchman named Jean Baptiste Duprez, who for the most part of his life had been possessed world wealth among gold mines. He was the owner shares in the famous Broken Hill mine, one of Australia's richest silver, lead and zinc mines.

Duprez at 17 sailed for Australia from France. He was a prospector in the early days of the Victorian gold rushes. He made a fortune, but lost it all in speculation. Then he went to Broken Hill, where he staked out a claim which he sold for £35 ($175). The purchaser formed the Broken Hill Proprietary Company, which has since paid dividends totaling £12,000,000 ($60,000,000).

Duprez received compensation for the mine.

In 1907 he got to Australia and worked as a miner.

In 1911 he went to Port Adelaide, and was employed as a watchman on the docks. He received a pension of £1 ($5) a week.

Duprez's death leaves only two of the original 13 members of the Broken Hill Proprietary Company alive. They are Sir Sidney Kidman, a cattle king, and Mr. Hamilton Hannan, a mining engineer.

A Message from the Chairman of the Canadian Red Cross

It has become necessary for the Canadian Red Cross Society to make a nation-wide appeal for contributions in order to replenish its treasury. This the Society proposes to undertake in the period between Empire Day and Dominion Day.

Since the War the work of the Society has been in supplement governmental measure: for the benefit of disabled ex-soldiers, and to carry on the public-health programme for the improvement of health, the fulfilment of which has devolved upon the Red Cross under Article XIV of the Covenant of the League of Nations.

Its services have been of very great benefit to Canada; and since the war they have been carried on at a cost of over $700,000. The kinds of service carried on by the Red Cross since the Great War are not yet as well known as their importance deserves. But its efforts have contributed to our national prosperity; its co-operation with public and professional services has promoted the general health of our people and has helped to diminish the incidence of preventable disease with its enormous cost in time and money.

The Red Cross lays particular emphasis upon the necessity of accepting the advice and guidance of the natural and competent leaders in all health matters, namely, the doctors, public health officials, public health nurses and other qualified teachers. Only by following such well-trained leaders—men and women of high intelligence, professional ability, irreproachable integrity and devotion to the public good—can safe and continuing progress be made. The role of the Red Cross is to back up their services, to create public opinion in support of their work and to diffuse such popular information among laymen and laywomen as will make opportunity for the special professional knowledge of the few to become beneficial to the lives of all.

The Red Cross needs one million dollars with which to carry on the proposed programme of the year throughout the whole Dominion. It appeals to the people of Canada on its record of service, confident of a generous response.

During the war the Red Cross had the support of the whole community. Everybody shipped in. The funds then subscribed are now exhausted and the Red Cross, with the old Samaritan spirit in its heart and "on a good turn wherever you can" in its programme, once more appeals to the people of Canada. Will not you, who have gone generously to the Red Cross for humanitarian service during the destructive experiences of the War, give with equal generosity for the constructive peace-time efforts of the Red Cross on behalf of health, the formation of good health habits and a healthier, happier, more contented and prosperous people?

This collection was due across the ground many years ago in the district bordering Hudson Bay.

"First class" is the word that Hon George Heodley, minister of agriculture for Alberta, uses to describe crop prospects. He says that in 24 years of experience in the province he has never seen a better start in general in the fall in such good condition, and the reports that are coming in give every reason to expect a big season.

It is not only our privilege but our duty to study our child and find out precisely the child is made of through investigation of his dreams and life. Dreams life is more than half the existence of children, and the wise parent must exercise deep and persistent influence over their brains by suggestions toward right."

Will Always Bring Results

Success Assured If Anything Worth While Is Advertised

Some time ago the people of Cobourg, Ontario got the idea that there were great attractions in that place for tourists. Following up this idea they made repeated splendid efforts for several seasons to attract visitors, but without much success, so they decided if Rochester $15,000 for advertising. This helped, and the next year they increased the sum to $20,000. They advertised widely in newspapers, all over the country. Over $8,000 again visited Colorado Springs last year, carrying some 25,000 people. More than 30,000 more people came by train. These visitors spent about $12,000,000 in the Colorado Springs neighborhood. Not a bad return for a $20,000 investment! Where there is no publicity the enterprise perishes. If there is something really worth while advertising of the right sort will make a great success of it.

Supporting Mother Country

Says Canada's Attitude is Most Satisfactory Aspect of Imbroglio With Russia

Discussing Britain's break with the Soviet in his paper, the Observer, J. L. Garvin says: "Canada has set a magnificent example in supporting immediately the action taken by the Mother Country. Canada, hostile to no entrance comparable to ours, but with the good Statesman King—and the common imperial interest are at stake and on the other he brings Canada as well as Britain into line with the unchanged position of Amerbe. The decision of Ottawa is by far the most satisfactory aspect of the whole imbroglio."

Vancouver Island Mines

The Ladysmith Smelter is to be taken over and equipped with modern machinery to treat ores of the mines of Vancouver Island. It is expected this will mean a marked revival of operations of many old, low-grade ore properties.

Making the Child's Life

A Warning to Mothers to Watch Childhood Dreams

An exhortation to mothers to study and mold the all important dream life of their children, which when uncontrolled may lead to disaster, is contained in an article by Florence Hall Winterburn in the June issue of "Psychology Magazine."

Mrs. Winterburn in emphasizing the importance of the child's dream life writes: "It is from childish dreams that the stuff of good or evil later is shaded. The little child knows no much less than he believes; he believes so much more than he knows. Imagination is the king of his life, the priest of his faith. What he wants—this he dreams about. What he has is dreams, this he acquires toward in the daily life. Dreams influence reality and reality gives out the material from which dreams are built.

"If it is bored," points out Mrs Winterburn, "for even the most loyal and truthful person to accurately distinguish between the ideas obtained out of practical living and those gained from hidden unconscious sources, how much more impossible is it for a child, who is most of his time, waking and sleeping, under the action of his imagination, to be sure of what is true and what is false? Before we bring our child to account for three little idols or fancy he merely reduced to us as facts, we should investigate the sources of his belief."

Mrs. Winterburn stresses the fact that among children dreams are often hysteria. "The nebulous of a child who has learned to repeat in dreams," she writes, "a sequence of events of disagreeable experience of a hard day, are things seldom taken account of by the people who have all most forgotten their childhood. The old time practice among our Puritan ancestors of having a child rebuked his bad deeds before going to sleep, and often getting the punishment for them at the same time, bear was a deplorable misuse of authority. We should see the contrary, guard our child from trouble at night.

"In almost everybody there is a tendency toward some special type of dream," declares the article in Psychology," originating in a supposed desire of some sort. It is not only our privilege but our duty to study our child and find out precisely the child is made of through investigation of his dreams and life. Dream life is more than half the existence of children, and the wise parent must exercise deep and persistent influence over their brains by suggestions toward right."

Observing Diamond Jubilee

Large Attendance Expected at Service in Westminster Abbey

Preparations are now well advanced for the great service in Westminster Abbey, July 5, which will form the chief comme moration in London of Canada's Diamond Jubilee. The Lord of Westminster, Very Rev. Dr. Foxley Norris, has drawn up an order of service which follows as nearly as possible that used on the occasion of the Jubilee of Confederation was commemorated in the Abbey in 1917.

Owing to the King and Queen having a number of engagements to fill in Scotland so close to the date, it is feared it will be impossible for Their Majesties to attend the service. The Duke of Connaught already has intimated his intention to be present. Practically the whole of the British cabinet and a large number of representatives of colonials and legations have asked that seats be reserved for them.

Not to Be Trusted

Brent Britain has tried in many ways to house the fiction that Mussolini's diplomatic intentions are honest and that its word can be depended upon She has always found to her sorrow that the character of Italian statesmen was sadly misplaced. The Soviets are fortunate. They do not let the world know what they left hand is doing. They make prom ises to one's face and break them behind his back.

Was Once Object of Dread

People in Olden Times Were Superstitious Over Eclipse of Sun

The fact that England is to experience, on June 29th, the first total eclipse of the sun since 1724, recalls many accounts in ancient and medieval writings of the superstitions dread which eclipses caused before their nature was fully understood.

In a thousand years there have been only 13 total eclipses of the sun in England. They occurred in 975, 885, 1022, 1133, 1140, 1185, 1290, 1426, 1433, 1806, 1652, 1715 and 1724. Before the time these periods of dreaded occurrence connected with the eclipses had plenty of time to gape.

Astronomers of today are worried by the difficulties in the way of accurate observation of the total eclipse and the time of the eclipse. Four thousand years ago it would have worried them even more. Yet Chinese astronomers lie and lit, who failed to give notice of the eclipse of October 23, 2137 B.C., and added to their offence by being drunk at the time, lost their heads. Since their time it has been the practice for astronomers to be drunk during an eclipse.

Even the Solomon Islands eclipses of the sun are credited in the machinations of sorcerers, while in some parts of New Guinea they are regarded as portents of a good season or distress to battle.

The eclipse in the Philippine Islands last year caused a great excitement among the mountain tribes, who buckled on their armour and killed hundreds of gongs in the belief that crocodiles were rising from the seas and eating the sun.

New Variety of Poultry

Said to be Much More Profitable Than Barnyard Fowl

"Turkey" is the name of a new variety of poultry which made its first public appearance at the Calgary exhibition. It is said to be the result of a cross between the hen and turkey, so many have mistakenly referred to as "turkens" (a name supposed to be cross), but as a matter of fact the Turkey is a cross between the Indian Game hen and one of the pheasant species bred in Russia, and whose flesh is supposed to have the turkey flavor. The Russian bird has a long red neck like a turkey, and the progeny of the cross has the same characteristic; and this may account for the impression that a turkey and a hen have been successfully mated. By careful breeding on other lines, however, the strain has now been bred and the birds breed true to the new type.

The male Turkey has a comb on the crown like a cock, but talks like a turkey and walks like a pheasant.

This will probably be news, even to most poultrymen, but it is also a matter of interest to the general public, and the latter part of the letter of Agriculture might well direct the attention of all poultrymen. It is claimed that the new variety is that "while the flesh is similar to that of a turkey, it has more flavor and is more tender, and that the eggs are much larger than those of an ordinary chicken, that up to twenty-two will fill any ten ordinary hens, who will be glad to know where and how they can get a start in this new line of poultry.

PETER DELIVERED FROM PRISON

Golden Text: "Many are the afflictions of the righteous; But Jehovah delivereth him out of them all."—Psalm 34:19.

Lesson: Acts 12:1-17.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 34:1-8.

Explanations and Comments

I. Peter Imprisoned, verses 1-4—Peter, James and John were the three prominent disciples of Jesus, Apostles, and Herod Agrippa I. began his persecution of the followers of Christ by having James beheaded. Finding that this act greatly pleased the Jews, he selected Peter as his next victim and had him imprisoned to await his execution after the close of the Passover. Executions were not carried out during the Passover, and Herod was nominally a Jew and most careful in all Jewish observances. Peter was guarded in prison by four quaternions of soldiers, four sets of men, one set for each watch, two of whom were chained to Peter in his cell, and two were on guard outside, verse 6.

"When a man finds that a certain course of conduct is receiving popular applause he is led to go further" comment. A public speaker descended to a coarse and vulgar joke, but because it pleased the baser sort in the audience, and the speaker was greeted with a round of applause, he is prone to descend to still further depths of degradation."—Dr. J. H. Jowett.

II. Peter's Deliverance, verses 5-11.—Peter was in prison, but prayer was being offered by the church unto God for him.

"I wish I could burn those two words, unto God," said a man who declared that whenever we pray, in public or in private, they would always be "unto us; and that before we prayed a crystalline purity would be in some way cleared away that we had really come unto God, and were not merely occasionally talking to him."—R. A. Sherry.

At night, shortly before he would be brought forth for trial and death, help came. "The last recorded visiting, there are the friends who had been with Jesus and loved whom all the message and the interpretation. He suffering had at last gone and sickened himself to slumber, and the soldiers, the last of all other sleeper, finally joined the third watch. Then, during the prayer, there in the prison, beaping on the threats of the drama, by his own hands; holding the tyrants' power, and hearing the prayer that ascends to his God for deliverance, standing in the trust of his child, Peter has failing to sleep. At dawn it His time to work. The final act is ready to be launched on the stage. The moment of deliverance is approaching."—Dr. Jowett. Moreover it handed 1,199,811 dozen eggs and $10,000 lbs. of poultry. At the close of the year the pool had paid up share capital amounting to $12,374 and a reserve of $7,700. The membership is approximately 16,000.

Not Allies

Nothing But Close Friendship Between Britain and United States

Formal addresses have now been made by the British Ambassador to the United States and by the American Ambassador to Great Britain—almost identical in tone—deprecating any suggestion that there should be a British American alliance.

Both Ambassadors dwelt with emphasis upon the great wisdom and patience wrath of the closest possible friendship between these two nations. Their ideals and their moral standards are the same as similar as their language. To neither can war being anything but devastating loss, and both are in a permanent interest. An intimate and permanent mutual understanding is the best insurance that either can have against danger and the firmest guarantee of world peace that can be given to humanity today.

But an alliance would be regarded by the rest of the nations more as a challenge than as a contribution to peace. They would be very likely in regard it as an effort to impose an English leadership upon the English race. Here would be the two most powerful political entities in the world banded together in a formal military and naval alliance, and nothing to all and comely that this tremendous power, actual and potential, was ever ready to be mobilized behind Anglo-American policies.

Inevitably it would set all other nations and peoples by the ears. It would seem to be the latest reckoning of the Anglo-Saxon—a magnificent dream which had at last to do with precipitating the late war. Humanity could not stand another war, it was ever said, and statesmanship realized "Europe would never stand up to another such holocaust." And he was right, at least for a generation. The challenge, dreaded in the heart of Europe, which drove France and Russia together and which finally drew Britain into the same orbit, Pan-Anglo-Saxonism must never make the same mistake. Shoes of First Century

Leather Soles With Low Heel Unearthed in England

Leather soles of shoes belonging to the Roman women of Londinium in the first century A.D. were among the interesting discoveries in Upchurch Court, Lathbury, E.C., recently, where excavations are proceeding on the banks of the River Walbrook near the Bank of England.

Small and pointed as any modern shoe, these Roman shoes are embedded in the mud of the old Walbrook, have survived the ravages of time to show that the Roman lady was as proud of her footwear as is her modern sister.

There are soles have been found and none of them is worn in the slightest degree, apparently indicating that the wearer had discarded them as out of fashion.

The high heel had not yet made its appearance, but a low heel of the man's soles and a low heel, something like a rubber one, still clung to the leather.

Old Turtle Found

Was Tagged 37 Years Ago in Marsh Near Hamilton Ontario

The Sunday march near Hamilton, recently, was claimed by an curious catch in the form of a large turtle which bore on its shell a small copper plate, which showed that it had been caught in 1890 by M. M. Franks, Burlington street, and again released. Franks has a record of when the turtle was caught, all when Mr. Franks caught it 37 years ago it is now over a foot long. The turtle is a large one, and is a big fellow. It is said that it was caught two feet from Mr. Burlington lake by Mr. Franks, who knew on the shore of the march.

The singer who attended to add tone held by the particular producer had a good time. He stopped all her applause.

"Quite a good rub-a," said the producer, "but really, I should like to hear an aitch or two."

"If you knew anything about music," was the contemptuous reply, "you'd know there's no such thing."

"Well, I'm sure I've heard it," the producer replied.

"Then you've been misinformed," the singer answered, and added, "I'm sure you've been misinformed."

"Then you think I'm a—" and the producer was in a sort of daze, replied, "I do."

Jerry—"You have heard of the fight between Paris and Goliath?"

Mac—"I don't read the sport page, but if it's some more scandal let's hear."

Getting Rid of Weeds

The Different Methods Followed for Different Crops

The prevalence of weeds is a great drawback to farmers throughout the country. They rob the soil of plant food and of moisture, they increase the effects of drought by taking up water from the soil and wasting it by transpiration. Dodge barley, and, as a rule more profitable than the useful plants, they crowd them out. They prevent the cost of every farm operation and cause deterioration in the market value of crops, and they necessitate a constant outlay in labor, time and machinery. It therefore behooves every farmer to get as much knowledge as he can of the nature of the weeds with which he has to contend, the ways in which they are spread and how to prevent human agency from them. All this information may be found in a bulletin of the Department of Agriculture.

"Weeds and Weeds Seeds," described by the Publications Branch of the Department, Ottawa. The bulletin tells how weeds are introduced with the farms with grass, clover and other cultivated seeds and feeding stuffs, and how they spread from one district to district by railways and other means of transportation, by stable manure, by threshing machines, and how they are disseminated in many other ways. Of the different methods by which weeds are established, summer-fallowing has proved to be the most effective. Weeds are the worst enemy of the cultivation of the soil, and the operations requiring thorough cultivation are the best methods of control. Seeding to grass for hay and pasture is often a useful method of getting rid of weeds, especially annuals.

A Bit of Canada in England

Lady Byng Grows Canadian Flowers on Her English Estate

Over 2,000 different Canadian plants and shrubs have been planted at Thorpe Hall, near Clarion-on-Sea, Essex, the Governor-General's wife, Viscount Byng, resides with Lady Byng. Since their return to England Lady Byng has made wonderful changes in the grounds in front of the house. She is an enthusiast gardener, and a lady who is representative found her busy in the grounds.

There is a large lake, where various Canadian water fowl are rapidly making themselves at home. Not far from the lake is a rock garden, in the one in the target over a small entrance to the lake. The small rock garden has been going for a century and seldom varies ten seconds in it.

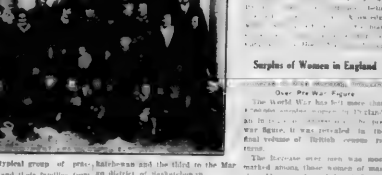
CANADA LOOKS GOOD TO THEM



Here is a typical group of prairie final farmers and their families from the United States, who have removed to and became into Western Canada, which, as one of them stated, they considered with all our advantages necessary to ensure the successful operation of a large tract of land in Western Canada, those welcome newcomers have plenty of capital to establish themselves and also a considerable amount of farming experience. There are three families in the photograph. Two of them have gone to the Lillooet district, Saskatchewan and the third to the Mar ion district of Saskatchewan.

Last year, through the efforts of L. H. Burd, superintendent of colonization of the Canadian National Railways at St. Paul, Minn., 25 families such as these came to Canada and he is responsible for many more.

In every case they brought with them a large quantity of agricultural machinery and it is entirely out that the land of every family had at least $1,000 in cash available for investment in the enterprise in the extreme right of the picture is seen Mrs. Burd, a resident of Mar ion Boyd's staff who accompanied these families to Canada and saw them safely to their destinations.

Canadian Sheep Exports

Breeders Are Reaping Reward of Raising Prize-Winners

Partly as a result of Canadian sheep exhibitors winning more than eighty per cent. of the champion honors at the Canadian National and first prizes for sheep at the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago in the United States, breeders of pure-bred sheep in Canada are now enjoying an additional measure of reward. Shipments of different breeds of pure bred sheep raised in Canada are being sent on several continents, the largest orders coming from the United States, Jamaica and Australia.

Sheep breeders in other countries have found that the climate in Canada is a helpful factor in producing fine fleeces, combined with the ideal conditions for raising the animals' resistance to disease.

The demand for Canadian sheep from different parts of the world began to reach a noticeable point about five years ago. Since then it has been increasing each year so that now there is a good market for all the pure-bred sheep that Canada can produce that the demand is likely to become more active.

Round-up of Wild Horses

Moving Bands of Those Animals in British Columbia

Hundreds of wild and vicious animals from the ranges of the Cariboo and Cranbrook districts, herding bands of wild horses, are being destroyed by cowboys under government supervision, as a result of which the animals will take no more toll in many points in the interior during the next few weeks and the useless horses, which are a menace to the stock industry, will be shot.

These wild horses are large small in the range for cattle, but they lose domestic horses away from ranches and range districts, because drawn which had a habit of mixing with the tame animals.

Only about 1,000 are to be killed in the lands department at Victoria, Hon. Dr. Pattullo, minister in charge, announced. Horses which are in good condition will be sold for further purposes. It is announced at the lands department at Victoria that a number of horses will be purchased by the Dominion Government for purposes in the Okanagan Valley are under consideration now.

Must Keep Accurate Time

Experts were busy performing a most delicate task in connection with England's shift to summer time—setting forward King George's watches and clocks. There are many more than 200 royal timepieces at Windsor Castle and their adjustment must be accomplished with the utmost precision. The most valuable clock in the collection is the one in the tower over the outside entrance to the castle. This timepiece, which has been going for a century and seldom varies ten seconds in it, was Interesting Relic of Early Days is Found in B.C.

While there may not have been many parties in pre-historic days, the Indian knew and believe what he imbibed what is now Central British Columbia, had their own methods and appliances for elaborating their charm. The discovery was made by a Dominion archaeologists' party, in the pre-historic part of the mainland Gitksan village 'Ksan immediately below Hazelton, and one of the extremely rare stone mirrors known to have been used by the Totem Pole Indians of the Skeena Valley area.

The specimen is a thin slab of black stone, one end of which is figured to a handle and the other end has its flat surface nicely polished to a mirror finish. A Little Talk of Home Nursing

Reincarnation of Living Habits Effected Through Proper Instruction

In an industrial centre in New Brunswick, a Red Cross nurse who was conducting one of the Home Nursing Classes which Miss Harding has made so popular a feature of both urban and rural life to that province, observed coming in with one of the regular members, the original, a girl who had not before attended. She was fluffily but neatly dressed, painted, powdered and "set" in appearance but the nurse noted that had both an unhealthy unhappy look, and a nervous irritability about her.

With this girl and others of her kind in her mind the instructor began her lesson that night to the connection between health and happiness, of cutting out the luxuries and living more simply. Later she had a heart to heart talk with the girl, explaining how luxuries and living beyond one's means were the cause of many nervous breakdowns, and that these things did not make for real happiness. The girl was at first somewhat indignant at the suggestion that she should change her habits of living, but she finally realized that she was not happy and that she was not well. She decided to make a change in her habits of living, and to begin by cutting out the luxuries and living more simply.

Within a few months the girl had become a changed person. She had gained in weight, her complexion was clear, her eyes bright and her whole appearance healthy. She had also found happiness in her home and in her work. She had found out that she had been living beyond her means, and that she had been living beyond her means, and that she had been living beyond her means, and

A general meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Vermilion Valley, No. 482 was held in the Municipal Office on Saturday, June 4th., Tout several present, the reeve Norman McIntee being in the chair and following councillors in attendance: Norman McClellan (division 1), Frank E. Patterson, John Lear (division 2), Peter Lord, W. Graham, David McPhee, Arthur Lord.

Norman McClellan was appointed delegate to the annual convention to be held at Edmonton during the second half of the current year. Pay sheets were passed up to the amount of the credit of each division and the secretary authorized to transfer the Tax Sale Trust account to a Tax Sale Trust account. A grant was made to the Vermilion Agricultural society of $800.00 and $100 granted to the Lloydminster Boys' Band.

An adjournment was made by council to investigate a complaint re road allowance between sections 27 and 28-50-6

A petition was presented to the meeting as follows: "That we, the undersigned ratepayers of Division 4, M.D. Vermilion Valley, No. 482 petition the council to pass a by-law for declaring Weed Law in the said district, the reason being that owing to this part of the district being practically fenced up it had become almost a condition of cattle feeding on the road allowances, making it a burden on the farmers to maintain sufficient fencing to keep stock off the crop land."

As there was not the necessary number of names on the petition to warrant action by the council, it was held over to a later date.

Accounts were passed for the sum of $665.15 general, and $567.15 divisional.

WOLF COB NOTES.

AKELA and the Cubs agreed that it was worth while getting up early to put a shine on shoes, ironing neckerchiefs and cleaning nails, etc., in order to help with the 25.00 prize awarded the Pack on June 3rd. The Pack can now purchase a Totem Pole which they are entitled to carry The Totem is a staff with the Wolf's head at the top and coloured ribbons attached to it. The 25 dollar cheque is added to the Totem every time a Cub gets a proficiency badge. The winner's name is written on the ribbon. The object of the Totem is to encourage the Cubs to make themselves efficient by forming a record of badges gained by the meeting at a glance the amount of efficiency in the Pack, by acting as a challenge to the Cubs to make themselves equally efficient and by encouraging individual effort to cooperate in making a good record for the honour of the Pack.

On June 3rd the Cubs were assisting in the Parade. Summer went forth that he had availed fever, but later the Old Wolf, spied him, all dressed up in what was obviously his first bran' new pair of long pants. Such an event was not anything like allowed—and the afternoon at 5 years old to a long time coming. It was evidently the view of Cubs' Grandmothers, Long Pants—and the long pants won out.

The four Flies met separately at the Old Wolf's home during the week for a special Pow-Wow. A trip by car to the Coyote Valley Ranch has been planned for Friday 10th. All Cubs to meet in uniform at Grove Corner at 4.45. Clean nafes and hands case-ntial.

Marks for attendance from April 1 to June 3 are as follows:

PAINTED FIRES

BY NELLIE L. McCLUNG

COPYRIGHT, CANADA, 1925

CHAPTER I.

It all began with the rustle of silks.

When Helmi's Aunt Lili came back to Finland for a visit, after ten years of the crowded ways of life in America, the older women-folk of her family regarded her with mingled feelings of awe, envy and reproach. Her elder sister, Helmi's mother, said it was fearfulness for a girl who had to earn her money hard, carrying trays, to put it all on her back and wear clothes that only queens should be wearing. At which Aunt Lili laughed, showing her gold teeth, and said it was a matter of principle with her to spend her money so that that no one could steal it from her! Helmi was the only member of the family who gave the visitor full hearted and unmixed devotion. She loved the rich sound of her silken skirts, it was so luxurious, so blessed, it seemed to raise the whole family to a higher social level. She loved to watch how anyone, even her mother, would dare to find fault with this wonder full person who wore the noble! Helmi had fur on the inside of her coat, and pink ribbons in garments that did not show at all!

Aunt Lili had not spent all her money on her own clothes. To Helmi's mother she had brought a purse which, with a crash, it had had a head on one side, and two claws which could be flapped on the other! Inside were many mirrors, mysterious chambers inside, much better than all was the delicate interior it conveyed. Aunt Lili was generous and money. To Helmi's father she brought a silk handkerchief with writing round the edge, and a magic handkerchief, for no matter how hard it was squeezed in one's hand it would spring out again with not even a wrinkle. To Anna, Helmi's big sister, who had her hair in a bunch at the back, a square bottle of powder the color of silk, and a round downy thing to put it on with. Aunt Lili used a black cork herself for this purpose, but she said powder-puffs were certainly style in America now.

Aunt Lili made many journeys between America and Finland. "You work too hard here," she said, "and you never play. We have fun in America, but we have good times, too. This country is all right for men, but what is there for women but children and work? When a woman here is married ten years she is old, and how it ages. It is all just raising in, and giving up for women, until at last they give out. I wouldn't live here if you made me a present of it. I wouldn't stand it now after I have seen what a good time American women have!"
